BOOMS CUT-OVER LANDS

Impressario Speaks in Glowing Terms of Northern Minnesota Possibilities.
W. H. Eichman, formerly a well-known singer and impressario, is in the city telling enthusiastic stories about the rapid development of northern Minnesota. His present headquarters are at Floodwood, forty miles west of Duluth on the coast line of the Great Northern, in a district where the loggers have not yet finished their operations.

At the old rate of development, the good pine would be taken out and then, when the second growth has come to be about as large as a man's arm, the settlers would come in and stake out truck gardens and grazing plots. In fifteen years the district would assume a half-baked agricultural aspect. Under the present regime, Mr. Eichman says, the settlers are not waiting for the loggers to get out, but are following right on their heels and yielding for the most part to hurry.
Once the pine is thinned out, the land is promptly broken and is made productive at once. All kinds of vegetables flourish and the grass growing in the open areas is rich and nutritious.
At Floodwood, Gil Hartley of Duluth has been carrying on experiments for several years with a view to ascertaining the value of the soil for celery culture and as a result he is now establishing a bonanza celery farm. Five acres are already prepared and more will be used. A storehouse 200 feet long has been built and altogether an investment of $50,000 made.
The dairy interests have already assumed such importance that a co-operative creamery association is now organized and will begin operations as soon as equipment can be secured.

PRIZES FOR BEST ESSAYS ON CITY

REAL ESTATE BOARD STARTS AN EASY CONTEST.

Old and Young May Compete for Rewards Aggregating $110, with Articles on Owning Homes in Minneapolis; Special Class for School Children.
Both opportunity and grown people are to have a chance to express their patriotism for Minneapolis in the form of essays on the owning of homes in their beautiful home city. Prizes are offered today by the Minneapolis Real Estate board for these essays, and the best of them will be printed in the daily papers.
This is the first step in which the board's publicity campaign as it bears on the city's advantages and the desirability of Minneapolis real estate as an investment.
The essays must conform to simple requirements. They must be mailed before May 15 to H. P. Newhall, secretary of the Minneapolis Real Estate board, 850 Temple street, under the following subjects:
Class A, which is open to all, "Why I Should Own a Home in Minneapolis"; six prizes of $30, $20, $10, $5, $3 and $2 are offered.
Class B, open to all pupils in the public schools of Minneapolis, the subject being: "Why Father Should Own His Home and Not Rent." Prizes of $15, $10, $5, $3, and $2, and five prizes of $1 each are offered.
These articles are not to be judged solely upon their literary merits. The thoughts to be the first point in consideration. Composition, spelling and neatness in the articles by school children will all be taken into consideration also.

Prizes aggregating $110 are offered for the best articles, containing not to exceed 1,200 words, on the following subjects:

Y. M. C. A. SECRETARIES ARE SCARGE ARTICLES

Specialism in religious work has been found to have its drawbacks, by the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian association. In looking for a secretary for the Minneapolis association to succeed Harry P. Goddard, who has gone into business in North Dakota, they have discovered many willing and capable specialists, but they are in search of an all-round man.
The one exactly suited for the position is hard to find. Altogether the country has been gone over thoroughly the committee has lighted upon only one or two men whom the members think qualified to take the Minneapolis position. They have finally spied out someone whom they believe will be entirely satisfactory, and it is possible that negotiating a result in his coming to Minneapolis.
The position of secretary of the Minneapolis association is not a sinecure. It requires a man with great adaptability, a ready wit, a ready pen, as well as spiritual endowment. Diplomacy of the highest type is necessary to the successful management of the several branches of the association work, and for the establishment of a close relationship with the business men who support the association and who are serving as directors.
With the counsel and enthusiasm for the work of several active young business men who have been added to the board, and the association out of debt, the new secretary will come to the field under the most favorable auspices for doing a great service to the city.

EAGLES PLAN MEMORIAL

Every Aerie in State to be Invited, to Send Representatives.
The joint committee in charge of the public memorial exercises for the Fraternal Order of Eagles has decided to invite every aerie in Minnesota to send representatives to the meeting at its intended to make it one of the most impressive and also most elaborate public meetings of a fraternal order ever held in Minnesota.
The exercises will be held at the Metropolitan opera-house, Sunday afternoon, May 6, at 8 o'clock. Addresses will be delivered by Rev. J. S. Mont, H. Ellis will deliver the address, on behalf of the order. Music will be furnished by the full Metropolitan orchestra and the Knights of Pythias quartet. Miss Frances Vincent will sing.
The time of the meeting is presented by the officers of Minnesota and St. Anthony aeries, as follows: N. C. Darro, past worthy president; John O'Keefe, secretary; C. E. Peterson, inside guard; George Payette, conductor; Thomas Gleason, chaplain; Walter Walsh, vice president.
The committee on arrangements is made up of the following: Joseph Cohen, chairman; F. W. W. Murray, secretary; W. B. Murray, Louis Miller, Joseph Ellis, F. M. Morris, J. C. Shadewald, Frank Hoffman, John Witte and George Wagner.

SCHOOL BOARD 'SASSY'

Tells Kicking Citizens Their School Is No Worse than Others.
St. Anthony Park residents are up in arms against the St. Paul school board because of the lamentable condition of the Murray school at that park. The St. Anthony Park North Improvement league met last evening in the St. Anthony Park Congregational church and listened to a report on the committee which had in charge an investigation of the school building. Former Judge W. B. Douglas was chairman of the committee.
It was shown that the school is in an unsanitary condition, imperiously ventilated, and with an inadequate heating plant. The school has seating capacity for 220 pupils, and an enrollment of the complaint filed with the school board was the reply that the school building is no worse than the other public schools of St. Paul.

RESCALE ORDERED

Several sections of state timber cut within the last two or three years were ordered rescaled by the state timber board yesterday. The timber was out in Hubbard county, and charges are made that the state was defrauded in the scale.
Cruisers will make a thoro top-and-stump scale and find whether more timber was cut than the surveyor generally reported. The timber board sent several small trespass cases at the meeting.

Members Fear Legislature Went Too Far in Delegating Its Powers, and Attorney General is Called On to Define Its Limitations—Purity Standard for Milk.
Can the legislature delegate law-making powers to the state board of health? This question has been raised by members of the board, and Attorney General Young has been asked to construe the public health chapter of the new code. The board is willing to assume any powers lawfully given it, but wants to be sure of its ground before proceeding.
Under the code the board of health can make rules that have all the force and sweeping effect of laws. It can make rules to prohibit the contamination of water supply by city sewer systems, and it can issue licenses to cities allowing them to break such rules. It can condemn the Mississippi river as a water supply, and shut off the water system of Minneapolis or any other city. The board has some cities in mind that need to be brought to secure better water supply, but wants to know how far its powers go before taking action. Legislative power is also given in making rules for controlling tuberculosis and other diseases. The attorney general will be asked to decide whether such extensive powers can be delegated by the legislature.
An instance of the troubles that arise over contamination of streams came yesterday when Bemidji again presented its request for permission to install a sewer system emptying into Lake Bemidji. The city says it cannot afford to put in a system purifying the sewage, but as Mississippi flows thru Lake Bemidji, the plant would contaminate the very headwaters of the river and the water supply of all the cities on its banks. To grant such permission would be a dangerous precedent, for unless the plant is soon installed, Bemidji is threatened with an epidemic of typhoid. It will probably proceed to install the system and let the board bring injunction proceedings to determine the matter in court. It would be possible for any city lower down on the river to bring injunction proceedings also.
At the meeting yesterday the board recommended that Minnesota cities adopt a bacterial standard of purity for milk. If cities will pass ordinances and provide for such a standard, the state will co-operate by furnishing laboratory assistance in making tests. The only standard for milk now in use is of richness, and purity is not considered. Milk in proper condition should not contain more than 500,000 bacteria to the cubic centimeter, and this is recommended as the standard.

DEFENDS SOLDIERS

Major Bullard Tells Loyal Legion About Rebellious Moros.
A spirited defense of the charges that American soldiers have wantonly killed women in battle with the Moros in the Philippines, was made by Major Robert L. Bullard of the Twenty-eighth Infantry last evening at the banquet of the Minnesota command of the Loyal Legion in the Ryan hotel, St. Paul.
"You can't make American soldiers shoot women and children," declared the major. He told of his own experience in commanding expeditions against the Moros. He said the women marched with the men in battle; that the men wore their hair long, and the women wore trousers. It is impossible for the attacking soldiers to distinguish the men from the women."
Lieutenant Colonel William Gerlach read a paper on "The Necessity for the Development of Our Military Power." He strongly indorsed the Dick bill, passed in 1903. Short addresses were made by General M. D. Flower, P. M. Woodman and Rev. J. T. Henderson.

SENATOR HORTON FUNERAL

Friends of Prominent St. Paul Man Will Meet Tomorrow.
It is probable that the funeral of the late Senator Elmer M. Horton of St. Paul will be held Friday afternoon. Friends of Senator Horton and associates in the state senate will meet tomorrow afternoon in St. Paul to set the time of the funeral. Lieutenant Governor Ray W. Jones and others of the Hennepin county senatorial delegation will be present. The funeral will be largely attended by members of the senate from all parts of the state. Senator Horton being one of the leaders and having many friends in the upper house.

BAPTISTS MEET

Officers of the First Baptist Church Are Re-elected.
The fifty-fourth annual business meeting of the First Baptist church was held last evening. All the officers whose terms expired were re-elected to service: As trustees, to serve for every month, Dr. C. M. Hueston, as des. com. to serve for four years, W. M. Lawrence, Grove A. Gruman, Dr. S. M. White and Dr. W. H. Hollowell; as Sunday school superintendent, Charles J. Miller; as treasurer, S. E. Robb; clerk, John Blackmer.
The clerk's report showed 141 accessions during the year, making a membership April 1, of 1,119. The report of the treasurer showed $14,077.26 received on current expense account. Gifts of various benevolences were $19,886.86.

BROKE VERTEBRA IN A WRESTLING MATCH

William Peter of St. Paul, brother of T. C. Peter, the wrestler, was severely injured while engaged in a friendly wrestling bout with James McAuley, who has been added to the board, and the association out of debt, the new secretary will come to the field under the most favorable auspices for doing a great service to the city.
The match was a friendly bout and McAuley, who is well known in local wrestling circles, was giving Peter a few pointers at the game. McAuley secured a full Nelson on Peter and the younger man was thrown heavily to the mat. A snap was heard, and Peter relaxed his hold, rolling over motionless on the mat. Peter did not revive immediately and Dr. Whitcomb was called. He found a fracture of the vertebra was discovered. The entire body is paralyzed. After three or four hours, Peter was able to move his legs somewhat, but the upper extremities were still paralyzed. Today his condition was somewhat improved.

The attorney general will be asked to decide whether such extensive powers can be delegated by the legislature.
An instance of the troubles that arise over contamination of streams came yesterday when Bemidji again presented its request for permission to install a sewer system emptying into Lake Bemidji. The city says it cannot afford to put in a system purifying the sewage, but as Mississippi flows thru Lake Bemidji, the plant would contaminate the very headwaters of the river and the water supply of all the cities on its banks. To grant such permission would be a dangerous precedent, for unless the plant is soon installed, Bemidji is threatened with an epidemic of typhoid. It will probably proceed to install the system and let the board bring injunction proceedings to determine the matter in court. It would be possible for any city lower down on the river to bring injunction proceedings also.
At the meeting yesterday the board recommended that Minnesota cities adopt a bacterial standard of purity for milk. If cities will pass ordinances and provide for such a standard, the state will co-operate by furnishing laboratory assistance in making tests. The only standard for milk now in use is of richness, and purity is not considered. Milk in proper condition should not contain more than 500,000 bacteria to the cubic centimeter, and this is recommended as the standard.

DEFENDS SOLDIERS

Major Bullard Tells Loyal Legion About Rebellious Moros.
A spirited defense of the charges that American soldiers have wantonly killed women in battle with the Moros in the Philippines, was made by Major Robert L. Bullard of the Twenty-eighth Infantry last evening at the banquet of the Minnesota command of the Loyal Legion in the Ryan hotel, St. Paul.
"You can't make American soldiers shoot women and children," declared the major. He told of his own experience in commanding expeditions against the Moros. He said the women marched with the men in battle; that the men wore their hair long, and the women wore trousers. It is impossible for the attacking soldiers to distinguish the men from the women."
Lieutenant Colonel William Gerlach read a paper on "The Necessity for the Development of Our Military Power." He strongly indorsed the Dick bill, passed in 1903. Short addresses were made by General M. D. Flower, P. M. Woodman and Rev. J. T. Henderson.
