THIS COLUMN FOR JIM KEY MERCY BANDS

PRIZE ESSAY CONTEST AND JIM KEY

The wonderful horse, Jim Key, is the central figure in the humanitarian work which his owner, A. R. Rogers, hopes to accomplish. But the horse's benefit exhibitions, which are now over, are only a small part of the work.

Jim Key Bands of Mercy are now forming the public schools. Any child in the city may join and the organization will number thousands.

To maintain the enthusiasm and give it direction, the Journal, in co-operation with Mr. Rogers, has arranged a prize essay contest for pupils in the fourth to eighth grades, inclusive in the Minneapolis public schools. They are asked to write brief essays, based on their own observations, showing how animals respond to kindness and patience.

Papers should be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and should not exceed 300 words.

Each paper should bear the name, address, school and grade of the writer, and, of course, all must be original and neat. Spelling will also be a factor in the consideration.

If you have done or seen any act of kindness to any animal, just write the story simply and send it to "Uncle Bert," care of The Minneapolis Journal, 215 East Hennepin street, Minneapolis, Minn.

Rogers is known to some 700,000 Band of Mercy members in the United States, and he keeps closely in touch with them.

Prizes are awarded each week for the papers from each grade, each class receiving three prizes, $1, 75 cents and 50 cents, respectively. From now on, for a month, the best of these papers will be published every day, by which time the Bands of Mercy will be in running order and the Jim Key Band of Mercy column will be a regular feature of The Journal. SEND IN YOUR ESSAYS AT ONCE.

The First Band of Mercy.

Emerson school, Miss E. F. Whitmore, principal, wins the honor of sending in the first list of the Jim Key Band of Mercy. The children are exceedingly enthusiastic and 651 signed the pledge to protect all harmless animals. A number of the children are absent, owing to sickness and they will sign later.

Emerson school also won one of the first prizes last week in The Journal Jim Key contest.

The Prize Stories.

The teachers report there is considerable misunderstanding among the children as to the prizes offered by The Journal for the best essay on kindness to animals. Many of them think it is necessary to be a Band of Mercy member before competing for the prize.

The contest is open to all Minneapolis public school children from the fourth to the eighth grades inclusive, and it is not necessary to wait to join the bands of mercy. The Journal will publish stories from all the children about their own pets or other children's pets, or any little incident of appreciation dumb animals have shown for kindness and love given them. The prize stories will be published Sunday and the winners will be sent an order to bring to the cashier's desk to obtain their money. Three prizes will be given in each grade. Send in your stories at once.

SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST

A Righteous Crusade Against Patent Medicines Containing Inert and Dangerous Drugs.

A vigorous war is now being waged against the manufacture and sale of proprietary articles which are found to contain substances injurious to health and subversive of the public good. Nearly all the great nations of the earth, including the United States, are engaged in this struggle, which, it is predicted, must result in completely purging the markets of the world of an evil so deep-rooted and far-reaching in its consequences.

Happily, Germany has, in this movement, taken the initiative and has placed on her statute books the most stringent laws against the sale of patent medicines containing injurious or noxious drugs. She has established a National Board of Pharmacists, composed of eminent chemists, to analyze and pass upon the merits of all proprietary articles before being offered for sale. It is with unfeigned pleasure that we have to announce to our readers that Warner's Kidney and Liver Cure has passed this severe German test, and, as a result, is today the only kidney and liver cure permitted to be sold in the German Empire. It is an absolutely pure vegetable compound and pronounced such by eminent chemists. Each package bears the certificate of an analyst of the New York State Board of Health, with the words, "entirely free from all poisonous and deleterious substances." Assuredly this is a flattering compliment to the curative worth of this great American Kidney and Liver Cure, and ought to insure with the American public an increased confidence and a wonderfully increased sale.

Since purity and value are needed in the patent medicine we purchase, we note with pleasure this successful outcome of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. The marked success of Warner's Safe Kidney Cure in passing the rigid tests of the foreign analysts and microscopists will be hailed with gladness by all suffering from kidney and liver diseases, as well as by the multitude who have been cured and are today living witnesses of its healing power and high standard of excellence.

A sample bottle of this wonderful remedy will be sent absolutely free of charge to any reader of The Minneapolis Journal who will write the Warner Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y.

A GREAT NOVEL BY ANTHONY HOPE

Sophy of Kravonia

The serial rights of the greatest work that this famous author has yet produced are exclusively for our Sunday Magazine Section. There is no preliminary drag. The first instalment shows all the strength and delightful qualities notable in his first great work, The Prisoner of Zenda. The principal character stands out with all the force and interest of the prisoner. Spirited illustrations by George Wright.

- OTHER FEATURES
- Shakespeare and Plagiarism. By WILLIAM ALLAN NELSON, Professor of English, Columbia University.—This noted authority suggests a point of view concerning literary borrowings in his review of Shakespeare's method of work that will command very decided interest. What he has to say is both logical and entertaining.
 - Capturing Wild Animals. By GEORGE McLEAN BUCHANAN.—It sounds like one of Kipling's stories, this quaint, lively tale of jungle, ship's deck and what not in connection with this exciting profession. It is full of the excitement of the unusual.
 - The Dreamland Tryst. By HALLIE EMINIE RYVES.—This entertaining story hardly suggests a side serious enough to formally apply the word psychological to it, yet it's a very real dream thought that is laid bare and done in a wonderfully interesting and clever way.
 - The Blue Cat of Cordish. By CHESTER PEAKE.—The trouble, and incidental, entertainment, that can come from a lively combination of cats of unusual color, and the appalling condition of local opinion, is here most delightfully set forth. It is worth reading.

Suppose you were to divide your wash next Monday. Suppose you were to do half of it with ordinary laundry soap in the old-fashioned, wash-boiler, hard-rubbing way; and the other half with Fels-Naptha soap in the easy Fels-Naptha way. And you found, in the first place, that the old-fashioned way took twice as long and twice the labor of the Fels-Naptha way; and, in the second place, that the old-fashioned washed clothes looked old and dingy, alongside of the snow-white purity of the Fels-Naptha washed.

What would you do?

You'd do what lots of other women have done, for whom we have made just such a test: You'd turn your wash-boiler into an ash can, and the laundry soap you ordinarily use, you'd throw into the garbage pail.

One thing to remember above everything else is that Fels-Naptha soap is made to wash clothes in cold or lukewarm water. And that Fels-Naptha is not only a soap but a way of washing clothes. Follow the easy directions on the soap wrapper, and you'll find Fels-Naptha the easy way.

All grocers sell Fels-Naptha soap.
