THE COMMERCIAL GATEWAY TO THE GREAT NORTHWEST.

IN ALL the world there is no life as independent as that of a farmer. Let him once get a start and a great and benevolent nature will work for him.

Sunshine and rain—free to all the world—will start the seedling on its journey of growth and development until the ripened fruit shall be garnered by the hand of man.

It is true that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, it must be likewise true that the hand that feeds the world must be the master thereof.

There are countless young men working out a toiling existence that has no future in it, and if they had but the courage and determination, a start and a small tract of land would carve out an independent livelihood for themselves and families.

The feverish hand of get rich quickly stalks through the land, and men triumph through the ruin and stupidity of the countless multitude that fall unknown by the wayside.

Do the soil is the mother of all riches; get next to it and you of small means, ambition, and willing to labor will make an independent home that will prove of ever increasing income.

Not every farmer makes a success of his calling, any more than every merchant makes a success of business. Some lack the staying power, others make a mistake in location, and right here on this latter point let us take up with you the all important point of location, for if you have not much means it becomes of vital consideration to you during the early stages of your developing farmstead.

One of the prime factors of success is not merely the productivity of the soil, but above all, a market for your produce that will insure remunerative returns for your labor.

In many instances it will be of advantage to the small beginner to work out for wages part of the time for the time being, along, provided always that your capital is small.

If you select a timbered piece of land the first year or two may be helped out in cutting your timber into marketable wood and so have a money return at once.

Up in Northern Minnesota the finest chances for success await the newcomer. The very best condition of market and productiveness of soil are open to all, and in the articles that will follow in this paper we will endeavor to lay before your earnest consideration all the facts in an honest and straightforward manner that will lead you to be the owner of a snug little farm which will forever make you master of all you survey.

FARMERS AFTER TWO OLD OFFICERS

ANETA ELEVATOR COMPANY WANTS AN ACCOUNTING.

Charges Its Former Treasurer and Secretary of Holding Back the Records Which Revealed the Profits of the Concern.

Special to the Journal.

Grand Forks, N. D., April 25.—The Aneta Farmers Elevator company has brought an action against John G. Gunderson and M. E. Sperry, former treasurer and secretary, demanding an accounting.

At the annual meeting last fall new officers were elected and the company now alleges that the defendants conspired to retain and withhold the books, papers, records, books of accounts and vouchers, to the end that the new officers of the company are unable to make an investigation of the conduct of the former officers while holding the offices of treasurer and secretary.

The company was organized in 1903, and it is said the profits of the first year's business amounted to $5,000, and that the last year before the change in officials 270 cars of grain, more or less, were handled. The only dividend declared amounted to 10 per cent, something over $600 in round numbers.

The stockholders intimate that the books will disclose a much larger profit, hence the suit for an accounting.

At a meeting of the democratic state central committee yesterday afternoon the state convention was arranged for Aug. 2 at Minot. The appointment makes a convention of 44 delegates, including 27, Walsh 22, and Grand Forks 23.
