

A REFINED HOME

Boutell's Good Furniture.

Reflects the refinement of its occupants. Nowhere is personality more plainly shown than in the home Furniture. A tasteful person has a tasteful home. Just as one is judged by the company he keeps, so one is judged by one's Furniture. Choose your Furniture with as much care as you would your friends. You do not ask a questionable character to dine with you. Why then admit a questionable table, sideboard, chair, or what-not? What we have is Good Furniture, Furniture that is made to last and is worthy of being kept. We prefer to sell this better kind, and our prices are no higher than other stores charge for the other kind.

Storks Leave Scania.
Storks, which were once very numerous in Scania, particularly in the neighborhood of Lund, are rapidly disappearing. Twenty years ago there was always a pair of storks about every farmstead, and now the birds are rarely seen. It is believed that their absence is due to the disappearance of swamps and ponds thru modern drainage systems for making the land tillable.

French to Spitzbergen.
Captain Kjeldsen of Tromsø, Norway, a noted Arctic sailor, has been commissioned to conduct the big French tourist steamer Isle de France to Spitzbergen next summer. The party, which will be a large one, will spend about two weeks on the Arctic islands. A number of Norwegian horses will be taken on board at Tromsø, for use in exploring the country, also several Lapps, who will conduct the chase for wild reindeer.

Generous Gifts to Charity.
In honor of its golden jubilee, the J. Moresco company of Copenhagen, Denmark, has distributed 400,000 kroner to various benevolent institutions and funds. The bulk of this splendid gift, namely 300,000 kroner, went to the J. Moresco fund for seamstresses, which was thereby increased to a half million. The sum of 50,000 kroner was given to the pension fund maintained by the employees of the firm. Generous sums were given to orphan asylums, free schools and for other purposes.

Library for Gefe.
Gefe, Sweden, is to have a public library if the city is willing. The heirs of the late S. Nordstrom of Stockholm, have offered to present his valuable library to the city on condition that proper quarters are provided, and the library enlarged. The collection contains 7,000 volumes and forms a fine nucleus for a public library.

BARONESS VON SUTTNER INSPIRES FRIENDLY SENTIMENTS.

Dinner at Christiania Made Notable Thru Remarks of Mr. Gunther, the Swedish Minister, Who Expresses Hope that All Disputes Will Soon Be Settled—Latest News from Northern Countries.

BARONESS BERTHA VON SUTTNER. Leading Apostle of Peace and Winner of Nobel Prize.

Like a true dove of peace, Baroness von Suttner has prompted the first official expression of good will between Norway and Sweden since the dissolution of their union last summer. At a dinner given in her honor at Christiania on April 18, the Swedish envoy, Mr. Gunther, in response to a toast to himself as the representative of Sweden, declared that he was consistent friend of peace and international amity. He urged all those present to prevent quarrels and disputes between nations, and particularly between Sweden and Norway, and expressed the hope that all differences between the two neighboring nations would soon be dissipated.

The sentiments were cordially received, and as the gathering was attended by many of the leading officials and most influential men in Norway, the kindly words cannot but fail to make a profound impression. Baroness von Suttner, who is one of the most prominent advocates of international peace and the abolishment of war in favor of settlement by arbitration, came to Christiania to deliver an address, as required by the conditions of the peace prize of $40,000 provided for in the will of the late Alfred Nobel, and which was awarded to her last fall by the Norwegian Nobel committee. At the time she was unable to leave her home, and it was not until last month that she was able to comply with the conditions of Dr. Nobel's will.

In the course of her address she spoke highly of Dr. Nobel, whom she had known personally and exchanged many letters as an ardent friend of the peace movement. It was on account of the prominent position taken by Norway in the conference of 1891, when Norway, thru Premier Steen, became the first government to contribute to the maintenance of the international bureau at Bern, that Dr. Nobel entrusted a Norwegian committee with the privilege of awarding the peace prizes. The speaker spoke very highly of the efforts of President Roosevelt to prevail on the foreign powers to settle their disputes by treaty and arbitration rather than by the sword.

At the close of the address Foreign Minister Lovland, who is also chairman of the Nobel peace committee, gave a dinner which was attended by Premier Michelsen, the president of the storting, several foreign ministers, Bjornstjerne Bjornson and a number of other invited guests.

John Lund, on behalf of the committee, thanked Baroness von Suttner for her interesting address and the zeal with which she labored for the cause, and also greeted Minister Gunther, the representative of the country which had given Dr. Nobel to the world.

In her response the baroness spoke more personally of Nobel than in her address, and expressed the most profound gratitude for the cordial reception.

PREMIER'S MEMORY HONORED Thousands Turn Out for Steen Funeral—Other Norway News.

Special Correspondence of The Journal.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, April 17.—All the way from Vossevangen, in the far north of Norway, to Christiania, people turned out at every place where a stop was made to pay homage to the body of Premier Steen. The funeral took place at Christiania, from Trinity church (Trefoldighed Kirken) which was tastefully decorated. The church was filled to overflowing. Seats had been reserved for the cabinet members, foreign diplomats, the members of the storting and other dignitaries. King Haakon was present. The ceremony was very impressive. The funeral oration was delivered by Pastor Herman Lund, who set forth the great services the deceased had rendered his country during his long and active life. Wreaths were placed on the coffin by Mr. Berner, president of the storting, on behalf of that body; by Premier Michelsen from the cabinet, and by many others, who all, in appropriate words, remembered the achievements of the deceased. To the tune of Chopin's funeral march the coffin was carried out of the church, and a funeral procession numbering thousands of people moved along to Our Savior's cemetery where the Steen family burial lot is located, and where so many of Norway's great men have found their last resting place. Since the funeral of John Sverdrup, the other famous leader of the liberal party in Norway, such a funeral procession has not been witnessed in this city. Flags at half mast were displayed on all public, and on many private buildings.

Norwegian Turners at Athens. Like most other countries, Norway also took part in the International Olympic games at Athens. There were twenty regular turners, mostly from Christiania, who represented the "free sport," and nine sharpshooters. There were certainly some very able men among them, especially among the sharpshooters. Regarding the turners it can be said that their performance is "clean sport," free from all acrobatic tendencies.

The members of the troupe were the guests of the Athens during the games. Reduced rates were secured on the railways, for all participants, all the way from Christiania and back again. It is a pity that they cannot be included, as the Norwegians would be right at home, and the smallness of the troupe would in such case be evened up by the superiority of the performance. King Haakon was "protector" of the undertaking.

The Easter Holidays. The new Easter bonnet may not be so much of an item here in America, but this year the new spring hat had a fair show during Easter, as the weather has been exceptionally fine and warm lately. While the spring hats arrived in earnest in the capital, hundreds of people are taking to the mountains to have the last taste of winter sport. But they have to go away up into the mountain regions of Gudbrandsdalen and Valdres, where snow is still plentiful. In Christiania and vicinity the winter robe has disappeared. Even on high hills like Egeberg and Holmenkollen no trace of snow is visible from the city.

According to Norwegian customs, Easter consists of four holidays, Thursday and Friday preceding Easter Sunday, and also the Monday following that day. Thus for the man with leave of absence on the Saturday that comes in between, it gives five continuous days of liberty, and it is therefore not natural that many as possible try to take advantage of the occasion. Some youngsters even found the temperature high enough to take their first sea bath of the year in the Christiania bay.

More About the St. Olaf Tour.

Mr. Randall, the impresario for the St. Olaf college band, has made a trip up to Trondhjem, and from there around the coast back to Christiania, making the necessary arrangements at all places where the boys are to give concerts, and he reports favorably as to the outlook for a successful trip. The people everywhere display much interest in the undertaking, and everything points toward a hearty welcome for the Northfield musicians. As an item of special interest, it should be mentioned that it is quite likely that the boys will have an opportunity to give their concert at Trondhjem in the famous old cathedral, where the coronation of King Haakon and Queen Maud also will take place.

From here Mr. Randall went down to Berlin to make final arrangements with Miss Beatrice Gjersten, daughter of Senator Henry Gjersten of Minneapolis, who is to star with the troupe as a vocalist. She is now studying with Mme. Mallinger, the well-known singing teacher at Berlin, and her participation in the concert will, no doubt, be of much value to the undertaking.

About twenty concerts will be given by the band in Norway. Mr. Randall returns to America on the Oscar, which leaves here on the 20th, and I have reason to believe that a large number of others will grasp the opportunity of traveling in such bright company.

An American Artist Here.

It is seldom that real American artists visit Christiania, and it is not real American, or else not real artists. For once we have had one here, both real American and real artist in her particular line. Her name is Miss Lida Fuller, known as the original inventor of the serpentine dance. For years she has been in Europe, where she is in all leading cities has become famous for her "fire" and "light" dances. And it is indeed far more the wonderful display of colors than her dance as such, which is worthy of attention.

She travels with about ten assistants, of which six are electricians. She is the only person appearing on the stage. Since she left America she has improved and perfected the mechanical devices to such an extent that her display, or rather play, of colors which is marvelous in the several dances is marvelous in its effects.

She appeared at the Fahlstrom theater for three nights only, and while I do not believe she made much money here, she was received with enthusiasm by the audience every night. It was the well-known Norwegian painter, Fritz Thaulow, who induced her to give this color treat to Christiania.

Corporal Against Colonel.

Corporal Karl Granberg of the Norland dragoons has lodged formal complaint against the commander of the regiment, Colonel G. W. Ascham, for violation of the military regulations and the matter has been taken under consideration by the high court martial. The corporal charges that his application for discharge made in proper manner at the expiration of his term was denied by Colonel Ascham.
