SCHOOL SHOULD BE MOVED

GOVERNOR FINDS THAT IDEAL CONDITIONS ARE NOT POSSIBLE AT GIRLS' TRAINING SCHOOL.

Governor Johnson's message to the next legislature will strongly recommend the establishment of a new girls' training school, either outside of Red Wing or in some other part of that city, so as to be entirely separated from the boys' school. L. A. Rosing of the board of control who accompanied the governor on his visit to the state institutions of the east, is of the same mind, and his views will doubtless be embodied in the report of the board of control.

"The ideal institution we found," said the governor today, "was the girls' school at Middletown, Conn. The best feature there was the outdoor freedom of the girls' lives. They make garden and take delight in it, and are contented and glad in their work. This is not possible in our institution because of its proximity to the boys' school. The school should be quite apart and under separate management."

"One thing we noticed about the insane asylum at Middletown was the abundance of light in all the rooms and corridors. It makes the buildings more cheerful and tends to be of benefit to the patients. Similar results could be secured at our hospitals at small expense by putting in large windows at the ends of the corridors."

While in Washington Governor Johnson was assured by Minnesota members of congress that the Indian war interest claim for $70,000 would be put thru at this session. The state was reimbursed long ago for $100,000 spent in putting down the Sioux outbreak in 1862, but $70,000 claim in interest for the interest on that money was not included in the omnibus bill, but hopes to get a separate bill thru. The measure is being drawn by Congressmen Stevens and Volstead.

IDEALS HAVE NEW STUNTS

Burlesquers at the Dewey Introduce Some Real Novelties.

A vaudeville bill of good variety and balance is presented by Williams Ideals in the closing show of the season at the Dewey theater this week.

Both the burlesquers are especially arranged to permit the frequent introduction of specialties. In the first act the scene represents a circus ground and several circus stunts are presented. Frank O'Brien has a tramp act that is as good as the best. Grant and Grant give their popular musical specialty and incidentally do some clever dancing. Alto late in the season, several songs that have not grown old are featured by the chorus and principals.

Chief of these is the song "The Moon Has His Eye on You," sung by Lillian Carter, a female baritone, assisted by a juvenile singer whose name does not appear on the program. A musical first part is given by the chorus and the necessary jokes are not altogether bad.

At the close of the regular performance, moving pictures showing the ruins and homeless people of San Francisco are shown. The pictures are clear and give an excellent idea of the magnitude of the disaster.

HOUSE STAYS IN STREET

Injunction Issues Against Kistler, in Tree-Cutting Case.

Judge H. D. Dickinson today granted the plaintiff's prayer for an injunction in the case of Frank Guertler against E. M. Kistler and others. This means that the Kistler house cannot be moved further on Lyndale avenue N until it is cut in two. The plaintiff declared that the moving would ruin his trees, and the court found, from the evidence, that this contention was based on fact.

LAW'S INTENT IS 'SPOTLESS TOWN'

ALDERMAN WALKER POINTS OUT CITIZENS' RESPONSIBILITY.

Improvement League Work Should Be Directed, He Says, to Arousing the Public to a Sense of What Each Man's Rights and Duties Are Toward the City.

Personal rather than public responsibility for the appearance of the city's streets and alleys—this is what Platt B. Walker, chairman of the improvement league, urged, and the alderman puts it right up to the property owner, too.

"The ladies who have so energetically inaugurated the cleaning-up campaign are entitled to the appreciation and hearty support of every citizen," said Mr. Walker today. "Successfully to accomplish their laudable ambition, however, they cannot rely too much on their own personal exertions, but rather should endeavor to arouse the public to a sense of its individual responsibility in this good work. The newspapers and the various civic associations must also assist in their campaign of education. Even with the small amount of money at the disposal of the committee, supplemented by the help of various enthusiastic persons, the city can undoubtedly be put in holiday attire for the reception of our Grand Army guests. But why not at the same time make an earnest effort to lay the foundation for a clean city in the future?"

Statutes Violated. "Few people realize that they themselves continually violate our statutes and contribute to the untidiness and ugliness of our city," continued Alderman Walker. "Daily the alderman and street commissioners are denounced by many persons because certain streets or alleys are not cleaned, although the rubbish complained of has been dumped on the public ways by these same individuals or their neighbors contrary to the ordinances, and should be removed at their expense. It would require an almost all-day procession of men and teams to pick up the litter deposited daily and, even then, as fast as one section of the city was taken care of, the other end would be in as bad a condition as before the work was inaugurated."

"Thru the health department, the city removes garbage and ashes provided the citizens do their part in material in proper receptacles. Rather than incur this expense, many elect to use the alleys or adjacent vacant property for a depository to the annoyance and disgust of the public. This practice of indiscriminate dumping has continued so long that a majority of the citizens look upon it as a matter of course, and under separate management."

"One thing we noticed about the insane asylum at Middletown was the abundance of light in all the rooms and corridors. It makes the buildings more cheerful and tends to be of benefit to the patients. Similar results could be secured at our hospitals at small expense by putting in large windows at the ends of the corridors."

'DEKES' DEDICATE CHAPTER HOUSE

PHI EPSILONS' FINE NEW HOME IS TO BE OPENED.

MR. COOLEY BELIEVES ONE CAN BE BUILT IN NEAR FUTURE.

George W. Cooley, state highway engineer, believes that the "tricity highway," between the twin cities and Duluth, may be accomplished within a few years. Sentiment was strongly in favor of such an enterprise at the recent good roads meeting at Duluth, and it will be discussed again at a meeting scheduled for June 12, the day before the republican state convention.

The route of the proposed road follows the line of the Northern Pacific's Duluth line rather closely, connecting at White Bear with the suburban road system. Mr. Cooley expects to go over the entire route this summer by automobile, so as to be able to give advice on the construction of the road for each section of the 150 miles.

The state can do little for the road. Under the highway commission law no county can receive more than 3 per cent of the state funds in any one year, which would limit each county next year to about $2,000. That would only build about a mile of macadam or gravel road in each county. It will be necessary for the counties to do most of the work, and to issue bonds for it. The cost would fall on the counties of Washington, Chicago, Pine, Carlton and St. Louis.

FROM BUENOS AIRES; MET IN MINNEAPOLIS

Martin Kittel and W. S. Taylor, two men in the farm implement business at Buenos Aires, South America, left that place four months ago and today met in Minneapolis. Kittel, hearing that Taylor was at the West hotel, went there this afternoon and called on his friend, whom he had last seen thousands of miles away from Minneapolis.

Taylor is here on business. Kittel is here on a vacation and will visit for two months at his former home at Castleton, N. D., which he left for South America four years ago.

Amanita has the bulk of the trade in the farm implement business in Argentina," said Mr. Kittel at the Hotel Nicollet today. "There is a small amount of English machinery sold here, but American threshers and American plows are to be found on every hand. There are many Americans engaged in the farm implement business in Buenos Aires, but only a few of them remain all year round. They are there in the harvest season, which is from October to January."

ANNOUNCE JOINT MEETING

Ministers of the Methodist, Presbyterian, Congregational and Baptist churches will hold the last joint meeting before the next convention next Monday morning. The Methodist Ministers' association will adjourn for the summer June 18; the Congregational ministers will hold their last business meeting on the 19th, and the Baptist ministers have also adjourned until next fall.

At the meeting in Plymouth church this morning Rev. H. K. Painter reported on the proposed young people's missionary movement, and read letters of instruction from the general New York committee, and Rev. C. A. Hilton appointed Revs. H. K. Painter, C. T. Clark, and J. E. Smith a local committee to report at the next meeting. Ed. Will Ewell of Anoka spoke on "Shall Our Theology Be Philosophical or Scriptural?"

Review of Bishop J. M. Thornburn's book, "The Church of the Pentecost," was given by Rev. J. J. Noe at the Methodist ministers' meeting. The after discussion led to a general expression of opinion that the Church of the Pentecost is the ideal church of today.

Owing to the absence of Baptist ministers who are attending the Baptist convention at Dayton, Ohio, only routine business came up for discussion at the meeting in First Baptist church.

Tony Skelley, a St. Paul saloonkeeper, was arrested in this city yesterday morning, charged with working a gambling game on William Cullen, a stranger. Cullen told the police he met Skelley on the street and asked him to change a $20 bill. Skelley took the bill, then returned it, saying he did not have the change. Cullen then told Skelley he had given him a $1 bill instead of returning the $20. The police arrested Skelley in a house on Washington avenue S.
