MRS. LILLIAN M. HOLLISTER, Supreme Commander of the Ladies of the Maccabees of the World.

added under her administration, and 17,079 new members have been initiated. Mrs. Hollister is particularly well gifted for the work which she is doing. She has held the office of state parliamentarian for the Women's Christian Association and Temperance union of Michigan, and during that time has gathered sufficient material on parliamentary laws to publish such in book form. Mrs. Hollister has been present at all the large women's conventions at home and abroad. Miss Bina M. West, who is to be in Mrs. Hollister's party, has served the society for the past twelve years. Miss West has been a visitor in Minneapolis during several occasions, which brought the Maccabee members together, and she will share the honors with the supreme commander. Friday afternoon Mrs. Hollister and Miss West will deliver addresses at a public meeting to be held at the A. O. U. W. hall, 15 Seventh street S. After the meeting a reception will be held.

Veterans' Daughters Organize.

Miss Bertha M. Martin of Massillon, Ohio, the national president of the Daughters of the Veterans has arrived in Minneapolis, and will organize a tent of the D. of V. Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Richmond hall, Fifth street and Third avenue S. Miss Martin expects to institute a tent of at least twenty-five. The tent will be called Tent No. 1, and all those who have signed applications for the charter are requested to be present. Sons of Veterans can become honorary members.

This evening will be Daughters of Veterans' night at the Thirteenth Avenue Methodist church, and the services for these will be of a patriotic character. Rev. B. Sharpe, the pastor, who is a son of a veteran, has given the use of his church for this purpose. The program will consist of remarks by Department Commander Lev Longfellow; from Governor S. B. Van Sant; G. J. Commander-in-chief El Torrance; Past Division Commander of the Sons of Veterans Arthur L. Jones; Department President of the W. R. C. Ida K. Martin; chairman of Soldiers' Home Ward Mary L. Starkweather; and address by Miss Bertha M. Martin of Massillon, Ohio, national president of the Daughters of Veterans. There will be appropriate music by the choir. Bryant Post quartet and others. All comrades, members of the Woman's Relief corps, Sons and Daughters of Veterans and their friends are cordially invited. Services will commence at 7:45 o'clock.

Art Aids for Busy People

By MARTHA C. WELLS, Chairman of the Art Committee of the State Federation.

Fine Arts at the Biennial of the General Federation—Seven Different Departments.

CONSPICUOUS over other biennials in its progress in art is the eighth, now in session at St. Paul. The national and local art committees have their headquarters in the senate chamber of the old capitol. The well-arranged pictures have a harmonious setting on the soft green color of the front-tinted walls, the rich tints of rare rugs, vases of flowers and the beautiful contents of four large glass cases of art handicraft make it a delightful picture to linger and give a hint of the amount of work which accomplished such excellent results. Between the morning and evening session of the federation, members of the art committee assist: Mrs. John B. Sherwood of Chicago, chairman of the national art committee, in explanations of the exhibit, Monday evening, June 4, the session is entirely devoted to art, when the enthusiastic chairman, who has devoted years of study and foreign travel to art, gives an address on the "Gospel of Art"; the address following, by Mrs. Bertha K. Baer, is, "Art as a Social Dynamic."

A little book on art study is for free distribution in the senate room. The art exhibits which occupy the well space of the large chamber and several adjacent ones, are extremely interesting in their merit, purpose and history and cover seven distinct phases.

First—The Traveling Art Gallery. This comprises 150 paintings in oil and water, besides etchings. It was started in January, 1905, for the purpose of bringing exhibits of good pictures to smaller towns, and thus doing for art what the traveling libraries do for those communities who are removed from large libraries.

How great its success has been is told by Mrs. Sherwood's record. It has visited twelve states and forty-eight different towns, in an east and west territory extending from New York to Denver and north and south from Texas to Minnesota. Of the four Minnesota towns, it came to St. Paul from Fergus Falls, the last point visited. So great has been the interest that 150 applications for it have been declined for lack of time. All express their appreciation and it is doing for the states what the Minnesota state art commission has begun here. Next year it is planned to have two such traveling galleries. The only expense being the transportation and local, the opportunity and educational value to smaller places can hardly be overestimated. The pictures are loaned by American artists, and at the close of the biennial will be returned to the owners and other loans made. There have been sufficient sales of the pictures to satisfy the artists. There is a preponderance of water colors, as they are easily framed with mats and economical in transportation. The main wall of the senate chamber, divided by a central door gives an opportunity to arrange the impressionists on the left and the others on the right side. Among the artists represented is Ethel Hassam of New York, with a brilliant "Sunrise," and a painter one, "Off Shore." This Boston artist, with French training, is a member of more than a dozen famous art societies and adds honor to her medals each year.

Chicago artist, with Munich instruction, has a brilliant "October on the Des Plaines." Two water colors, "Farmer's Daughter" from Oshkosh, and "Morning" by Forsyth of Indianapolis, another impressionist who sold two paintings in Mankato. A group of Washington, D. C., painters are Grace Atwater, two marines, Edward Moore of "East Wind"; Lesley Jackson, with two sea studies at old Gloucester, Mass.; and Robert Childs, "Lily Pond" and "The Valley Spring." Kronberg of Boston, a Julian academy man, often eccentric in choice of subject, shows "The Fan."

Mrs. Bixbee of Boston has a good study of "Bass Rocks," Cape Ann. Elizabeth Bonnell of Philadelphia, who is often called the "cat specialist," has two small tabby pictures, besides "Solid Comfort," a pig in clover, but is the Barbizon artist, Jacques so famous for his sheep scenes, has been called the "Raphael of pigs" this is not to be despised.

Good color and handling are seen in Campara and Adams of Denver; both evening scenes. Chicago is well represented by Charles F. Brown, Ralph Clarkson, Albert Fleury, Oliver Grover, Mrs. Balfour, Mabel Packard and the Vanderpoels.

Second—The Collection of Copies of Old Masters. These oil paintings are loaned by the Velasquez club of New York city, an organization of society people, who realizing how comparatively few could see the European originals, have employed our best American artists, like William Chase, for instance, to make copies of such masters as Rembrandt, Velasquez, Van Dyck, Hals, Reynolds and many others. It is a pleasure to see in this room Sargent's portrait of the late Henry G. Marquand, one of the most liberal American art patrons. He was president of the Metropolitan museum of art from 1889 to 1902, the year of his death.

Third—The Collection of Old Japanese Prints. loaned by Professor Bolton Coit Brown of Boston. This has merited the admiration of all not only from the exquisite coloring and individuality, but also from the large influence of Japanese art in America. The simplicity of design, the effectiveness of a single blossom or spray is most suggestive, especially when we consider how overcrowded American decorations are, the beauty of the bird being imparted by proximity to those lacking harmony of color or design. Japanese books, calendars, etc., are also shown here.

Fourth—The Arts and Crafts. arranged under the direction of Miss Bessie Bennett of Chicago art institute. China, metal, leather, show how great the field is in art handicraft.

Fifth—The Pottery is under the direction of Mrs. S. Frackleton of Chicago. This well-known ceramic artist so long identified with Milwaukee, has for several years delivered lectures on the plastic arts. She has a demonstration with the potter's wheel, and with her experience and success in china decorations is interesting many.

Sixth—School Decorations all one room consisting of the beautiful collection of pictures for the public schools which have been sent out to clubs by the art committee of the Illinois state federation. Illinois stands in the front rank for this important work. The pictures are reproduced in original colors and sepia and offer a large choice of subjects, published by a prominent school educational firm. Among the examples are interior views of a Florentine church and a desert, Raphael's Madonna Della Sedia, typical Dutch views, Whistler's Mother, Corot's landscapes and others.

Seventh—Home Decorations. This practical exhibit has examples of color schemes for every room under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Hessler of Chicago, who will take charge of the conference on art, June 7.

MACPHERSON & LANGFORD SKIRTS

A LADY with one of our perfect-fitting skirts on will never be a wall flower. They are smart and attract attention.

Do not let the merchants or salespeople cheat you. A garment without our name woven in the hand is positively not our make. Be sure the name is in the one you buy. If they won't show them to you, come to us—we will.

MACPHERSON & LANGFORD 209 E. 4th St. St. Paul, Minn.

Monkey Language. Some years ago Professor Garner stated that monkeys had a language of their own. To prove it, he went to Africa, studied the monkey in its native haunts and came back with a vocabulary of 62 words. These words or sounds, when articulated before a cage of apes in Central Park, New York, instantly drew their attention and the animals charged back to the professor. Today golden grain belt beer is the home beverage. To the family that uses it daily, comes health, strength and happiness. It is the guide post to a cheerful temperament and a good disposition.

Everybody will get a "Square Deal." Everybody will get a "Square Deal." Insist on getting a "Square Deal."
