CLUBWOMEN HONOR MRS. PLATT DECKER

Nominating Committee Presents No Other Name at the Biennial Convention and Her Election Is Assured—Other Officers Are Also Named for Re-election.

MRS. PHILLIP CARPENTER, New York, Who Will Speak for Women Lawyers Before the Biennial This Evening.

MISS MARY E. WOOLLEY, President of Mount Holyoke College, a Speaker at the Biennial This Evening.

TOMORROW'S PROGRAM

Morning, armory—Household economic session, report of the chairman, Mrs. Mary Moody Pugh; address, "The Power of Initiative in Home-making," Mrs. J. H. Meredith; pure food session, report of the chairman, Mrs. Walter McNaught Miller; address, "The Necessity of State Food Laws," Congressman C. Adams; "How Can the Consumer Aid the Pure Food Official?" Professor J. H. Shepard.

Afternoon—Household economic conference, 2 o'clock; pure food conference, 4 o'clock; art conference, 5 o'clock.

Evening, armory—President's program; speakers, Miss Caroline Beaumont, Mmes. Jerry V. Penzacker, Walter S. Irons, William Douglas Turner. Report of the committee on resolutions, Mrs. Charles F. Stoutenborough, chairman; introduction of new officers.

Mrs. Sara Platt Decker of Denver, Col., has been practically unanimously re-elected president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, in session at the St. Paul armory. The nominating committee presented no other names for the executive office in its report today. Mrs. Decker has always been popular with the clubwomen, and this convention has only strengthened the love and admiration that they feel for her. When Mrs. A. J. Newbury, chairman of the nominating committee, read the phrase, "for president, Mrs. Sara Platt Decker," there were cheers and applause.

The biennial gossip that there might possibly be a rival proved to have no foundation, and if New York ever had another candidate the nominating committee did not hear of it.

Mrs. J. L. Washburn of Minnesota nominated Mrs. Decker and every other state seconded it, making it unanimous. Every delegate was in her place early today and not even "champagne days" found the convention hall so well filled at 9:30.

The Other Officers.

The report of the nominating committee, which was made up after four hours of work last evening, was layed out, and if New York ever had another candidate the nominating committee did not hear of it.

Miss Louise Poppenheim of South Carolina, who has been working for two terms as corresponding secretary, is constitutionally disbarred from re-election, and Mrs. Charles Perkins of Knoxville, Tenn., is proposed in her place.

Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of Los Angeles, Cal., was nominated for treasurer, in place of Mrs. Percy V. Penzacker of Texas, who is slated for auditor.

As Minnesota asked for no representative, she is not mentioned in the list of officers or directors. Fourteen names were presented to the committee for election to the directorate. From this list the committee chose the following: Mmes. Sara A. Evans, Oregon; Allen M. Johnson, Rhode Island; Philip Carpenter, New York; Frank Shick, Wyoming; O. P. Kinsey, Indiana; W. A. Johnston, Kansas; G. R. C. Allen, West Virginia; and W. F. O. of the St. Louis Convention.

Mmes. Charles Yardy, New Jersey; J. H. Hart, Connecticut; H. M. Bushnell, Nebraska.

Mrs. Thomas Fletcher of Iowa was named as chairman of tellers, Mrs. J. C. Buchanan of Minneapolis as chairman of inspectors. Mrs. Buchanan declined to serve and Mrs. Barney of Massachusetts was named.

The ballot boxes, which were made by the manual training school pupils of Minneapolis and were used for the first time at the biennial in St. Louis, were placed in the rear of the convention hall and the balloting began at 2:30 o'clock. The boxes will be closed at 8:30.

President Roosevelt has added his endorsement to the work of the club women in trying to preserve the big trees in California, as well as the Appalachian and White mountain forestry reserves. This telegram was received from him this morning:

"I cordially agree with you and hope for the immediate passage of that bill I trust that the clubs composing your federation will do all in their power to secure favorable action thereon by congress, which has the exclusive power in the premises."
"Theodore Roosevelt."

Women's Suffrage.

The banner of women's suffrage was waved in the convention this morning and greeted with applause by the convention, which indorsed Margaret McCarter of Teneka, Kan., when she said, in her talk on the methods of legislation, "That which would make legislation strong is the ballot of women. It must be granted wisely and used intelligently, or it will do no more good than that of most of the men-some men."

GLAD THE WOMEN VOTE

Judge Lindsay Tells Clubwomen About Juvenile Court.
"Thank God! Women vote in Denver! It was the women in Colorado who smashed the political bosses and the political machine in Denver and won for us the juvenile delinquent court."

He said Judge Ben Lindsay of Denver, known as the father of the juvenile court, before the biennial convention of the clubwomen's federation, today.

There are a lot of ignorant mothers in the country who do not understand the difference between justification and brotherly love," he went on. "Parents should teach their boys the difference of brotherhood; not to fight other boys; not to fight laws, but to fight the evil that is in them. The difference between the boy bandit and the boy from Capitol Hill is rather in the environment than in the child. The most important duty of the state is to take away the opportunity for evil and give opportunity for good. It should control men and women to set good examples."

Judge Lindsay told a number of stories illustrating what the juvenile court has done for the boys in Denver. He said that the juvenile court has helped them. They believe they have the power to keep him in office and if they fail to do their share that he will lose his job. "We teach them to be good thru the law of love and it is the only law that will reach them," said the judge.

WOMEN AND LEGISLATION

Long History of Club Influence in Law Making.

The report today of Mrs. S. Porter of Marysville, Kan., chairman of the legislative committee, was a long one. Printed in full, it would cover two solid pages of The Journal. It was a history of the legislative work accomplished by the women's clubs. One of the most important measures was the pure food bill, which has been acted upon in many state legislatures thru the influence of the club women.

Next year Connecticut will ask for a woman factory inspector, and for several educational bills. Rhode Island wants a home for the feeble minded, will ask for a state library commission; the Illinois women will work for an epileptic home and they are watching all legislative measures that concern women and children.

From Montana comes word of future efforts for the passage of a child labor regulation bill, compulsory education, the establishment of a children's bureau, an investigation of the labor of women and children and the pure food bill. Work has been done for the establishment of a department of domestic science in the state university, the passage of a child labor bill, and manual training in the high schools.

"The women vote in Wyoming," said the chairman, "so that they are pretty sure to get what they ask for."

Work for Pure Food.

The Wisconsin and New York clubs are interested in civil service reform and will continue their work along that line. Oklahoma and Indian Territory are doing bravely in spite of the fact that the pending statehood bill is a disadvantage. They want a pure food bill, one for compulsory education, another for child labor, territorial libraries for child labor, territorial libraries for child labor, territorial libraries for child labor.

Oregon has secured an excellent pure food law and a fairly good child labor law thru the efforts of the club women. South Carolina, New Hampshire, Texas, and Louisiana are devoting their energies to education, and South Carolina clubs offer sixty-one scholarships in educational institutions. In Illinois there are scholarships with which to reimburse widowed mothers who are deprived of the wages of their children whom the state forces to comply with its education laws.

Tennessee for Education.

Idaho secured its state traveling libraries thru the club women; Tennessee wants educational legislation that will reach the mountains and is asking for a fund for rural schools; California stands for civic improvement and is also working for pure food and drug laws, forestry textbooks in the public schools, the prohibition of race baiting, and the preservation of the California wild flowers, humane education and the establishment of state sanatoria.

Massachusetts has chosen nine bills, now before the legislature, to work for, and the clubs are asked to watch them. The bills, if passed, will regulate the taking of security in certain cases, prohibit advertising certain diseases, provide for the protection of public school children, concern the adult blind, and relate to the conservation of a salt deposit property. South Dakota wants a library commission; Pennsylvania is wide-awake and will ask for pure food laws, more restricted immigration, the preservation of Niagara Falls, the establishment of forest reserves in New Hampshire, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia, and protest against the repeal of the Morris law, which protects the forests at the headwaters of the Mississippi.

Clubs and the Ballot.

When the power of the clubs and the power of the ballot are brought together the public may expect women to do great things in the legislative world. In her talk on "Methods of Legislation," Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter of Topeka, Kan., told the club women how they can get what they want from the tightly-closed hand of the legislature. That there is need for legislation on the part of the club women, nearly every speaker has emphasized, and the convention has indorsed the fact by its many telegrams to congress.

Mrs. McCarter laid stress on the sentimental preparation of the legislature which is an important factor, and emphasized the importance of being backed by organization and system. She outlined the plan of action which a legislature may be approached, as by petition, campaign and lobbying. "The club women must exercise much patience and persistence," she said, "and they must not be discouraged. All the splendid results which have been gained were not won without some effort, and they are worth even more effort than they cost."

MUSIC IS BY WOMEN

Program of Rare Harmony Is Enjoyed by Federation Visitors.

A musical program from women composers was the most appropriate offering which was given to the biennial delegates last evening. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Phillip N. Moore of St. Louis, and Miss Elsie Shawe of St. Paul, and was a real treat.

A chorus of female voices sang a cantata setting of Tennyson's "Sea Drift," and the club women, who were the featured performers, sang "A Summer Day," both by Mrs. H. A. Beach. U. S. Kerr of Minneapolis gave a group of three delightful vocal selections, Carlo Fischer, also of Minneapolis, contributed musically solo numbers. Mme. Samaroff, the Russian pianist, gave a number by Chaminade and chose a composition by Liszt in response to an encore. Her playing was one of the features of the program.

Mme. Hiscem de Moss shared the premier honors with the Russian, when she sang four songs by Miss Harriet Ware, who played her accompaniments. Miss Moss has a most delightful voice, and it was heard to full advantage.

Mrs. Moore presided over the program and at the close she introduced to the audience Miss Amelia Buchanan, the actress, who will speak this evening on "The Stage," in the program on "Women in the Professions."

ANXIOUS TO DIE

St. Paul Man Cuts Both Wrists and Then Swallows Poison.

John Styvis, 1147 Farrington avenue, attempted suicide in St. Paul yesterday morning at the home of his sister, 840 Congress street. He told his sister he was going upstairs to shave. A little later the sister, hearing groans, went to him and found both his wrists slashed and that he had also taken poison. He was hurried to the city hospital, where his recovery is doubtful. His wife was recently divorced while he was in the workhouse. She resides on Farrington avenue, St. Paul, with their six children, four boys and two girls.

READS "SPANISH STUDENT"

Miss Grace Gerrish Gives a Dramatic Reading.

Miss Grace E. Gerrish, who recently returned from Emerson college, Boston, gave a dramatic reading of a longfellow's "A Spanish Student," Monday evening at the First Unitarian church. The selection, which is a difficult one, was handled in a capable manner, and showed the young reader to have excellent control of her voice in delineating the thirteen characters of the cast. The poise and steadiness of her delivery, appealed most to her audience, and she held the interest of her audience well.
