

GARNERINGS OF NEWS FROM THE GREAT NORTHWEST

Candidates Nominated by the Party Delegates at Sioux Falls Convention.

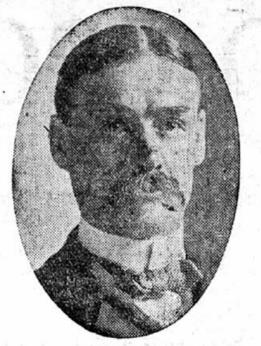

INSURGENT REPUBLICAN LEADERS WHO WILL BEAR STANDARDS OF THE PARTY IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

Victors of the Fiercest Pre-convention Fight Known in the State's History.

ROBERT J. GAMBLE, Slat for Re-election to the United States Senate.

The Journal presents engravings of all but three of the candidates nominated by the South Dakota insurgent republicans at Sioux Falls this week. Senator Gamble is a New Yorker by birth and his early life was spent on a farm, his pleasures and his duties being those which fell at his time to the average country-born boy. Besides the state of his nativity he has lived in Wisconsin, and it was there that he earned an education and studied law. He has been a Dakotan since 1875 and has always made his home at Yankton. At the present attorney general and a nominee for a seat in congress, was born in Wilton, Waseca county, Minn., in 1865. He has always lived in the west since 1883. His Brookings. He is a fine example of the successful western man and should make a good record at Washington.

OEO I. CRAWFORD, Original Leader of the Insurgent Forces in South Dakota.

C., and has practiced it since 1868 except for three years when he was collector of internal revenue in the territory of Colorado, having been appointed by President Grant. He located in the Black Hills in 1877. His wife is the daughter of General George H. Thomas, the "Rock of Chickamauga." The opportunities for the foreign-born in this country are well shown in the careers of David D. Wipf, the nominee for secretary of state, and of John Hirling, candidate for state auditor. Both were born in southern Russia and live in two of the best-known German-Russian settlements in South Dakota. The former came to America when a stripling, but the latter remained in the old country long enough to be graduated from a college there. Since coming to South Dakota Mr. Hirling has attended the state agricultural college at Brookings and the state normal at Madison. The country has had no difficulty in assimilating men of the character of Wipf and Hirling and they in turn seem to have no trouble in making their way.

PHILO HALL, Attorney General of the State and Candidate for Seat in Congress.

Mr. Clark, the next attorney general, was born at Platteville, Wis., in 1873, and was brought to South Dakota when he was 9 by his parents. He studied law while herding cattle on the prairie. He earned his way thru college by teaching district schools. He was admitted to the bar in 1897 and three years later, when but 27, was elected state's attorney of Spink county.

George Rice, candidate for railroad commissioner, is one of the old-timers in the state and has been prominent in official life for years. He is a member of the legislature, and, like Mr. Cassill, also a senator, made a gallant fight for the submission to the voters of a primary election law. Mr. Crawford and the part he has taken in anti-machine campaigns in South Dakota are known to thousands of voters in South Dakota. He was the original leader of the insurgent republicans. It was no groundswell, no tidal wave which carried these men to victory. They had to fight with desperation for the prestige and the honor which they now enjoy. True, their majority in the convention was a large one, but no insignificant part of their vote was cast by the representatives of counties who would have been with the other side issued in Deuel county. Minnehaha remained true to Mr. Kittredge. A change in a very few votes in the fifth ward of the city of Sioux Falls would have given Minnehaha county the machine, and with it would have gone the bandwagon candidates and the bandwagon county.

D. D. WIPF, Nominated for a Second Term as Secretary of State.

Had Mr. Kittredge returned home at the psychological moment, or had it not rained cats and dogs the night that Congressman Martin spoke in Sioux Falls, or had the state capital commission been on politics in conducting the preliminaries for building a wing of the proposed capitol that no room was given for raising the "stone house," Minnehaha county might have sustained the machine and perpetuated its power in the state.

SEPARATE BUILDINGS FOR ASYLUM NURSES

Innovation Will Practically Drive Male Nurses From the State Institutions.

Special to the Journal. St. Peter, Minn., June 9.—Nursing methods in the Minnesota state hospitals for the insane are to be revolutionized by the erection of dormitories for the use of female employees. This will mark the practical disappearance of the male nurse from the sick wards of the various institutions and will also greatly reduce the number of male attendants engaged in other branches of hospital work. Two of the dormitories, those at the St. Peter and Fergus Falls state hospitals, were under construction this summer, and the institutions at Rochester, Anoka and Hastings will be similarly provided for within a few years. Also the training schools maintained at Rochester, Fergus Falls and St. Peter annually graduate classes of nurses who are very well qualified for the duties of their profession. It is an admitted fact that the state has been very slow to adopt the plan of having women care for male patients—a practice that is universal in general hospitals. Seemingly, the views of the surgeons in charge have not coincided with those of the critics who declare that it was as impossible to make a good doctor out of a man as to make a good doctor out of a woman, but it may be said that the failure to keep abreast of this particular phase of hospital development has not been due so much to lack of appreciation of the good points of the system, as to the conservatism of putting the plan into operation.

REDS FILE ON MANY QUARTER SECTIONS

Town of Culbertson, Mont., Does Not Want So Many of Them for Neighbors.

Special to the Journal. Havre, Mont., June 9.—Reports to the Muddy Landseakers and Immigration association show that 130 quarter sections have been taken in the vicinity of Culbertson by the Indians of Fort Totten, N. D., under the recent ruling regarding their treaty with the United States, which for twenty years was ignored by the authorities, but finally upheld by the United States supreme court. Culbertson does not want these Indians for neighbors, contending that by right they belong in North Dakota, but the decision being otherwise, the Landseakers and Immigration association has provided a commission that will endeavor to induce the Indians to take lands north of Lake creek and as far away from the city as they can be induced to go. It is admitted, however, that nothing can be done if the Indians insist upon any location which may please them, no matter where it may be in the territory allotted. This land allotment under treaty is almost as large as Louisiana, and larger than either Rhode Island or Delaware, and the territory is all within Valley county.

GOPHER SCHOOL BOY'S REMARKABLE RECORD

Thorburn of Marshall Neither Absent Nor Tardy in an Eight-Year Period.

Special to the Journal. Marshall, Minn., June 9.—Without doubt the record for attendance and punctuality at school of Lloyd Thorburn, a graduate of the Marshall high school class of this year, has no equal in the school history of this state. Young Thorburn was born in Marshall, and has attended only the Marshall schools. During a period of more than eight years he has not been once absent or tardy. Upon three or four occasions he was too ill to walk, but insisting upon attending, he was taken to school in a carriage. His department has been that of a studious pupil and a gentleman in all respects. His scholarship has been in keeping with his department, attendance and punctuality. While he has always been a baseball enthusiast, he has never allowed the sport to interfere with his school work, and always declined to accompany his associates at home or abroad in school periods. He was graduated from the Marshall high school with honors last week. Marquette, Mich., June 9.—John Gleason, supervisor of Wells township lays claim to the distinction of being the champion wolf slayer of the county. So far this year he has bagged seven.

SHAW TO ADDRESS BANKERS

Moneyed Men of Hawkeye State Will Meet at Cedar Rapids.

Marshalltown, Iowa, June 9.—The twentieth annual convention of the State Bankers' association will be held in Cedar Rapids, June 13 and 14. Among the speakers will be Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of state of Missouri; Robert B. Armstrong of the Irving National bank of New York, and F. A. Vanderlip, of the National City bank of New York. A banquet will be tendered by the Cedar Rapids Clearing House association.

WILL TRY TO MAKE A MINE OF OLD HANCOCK

Million to Be Raised on the Shares of New Copper Company.

Special to the Journal. Calumet, Mich., June 9.—The Hancock Consolidated Mining company has been organized with a capitalization of $5,000,000, divided into 200,000 shares of $25 par-value each, to acquire and operate the old Hancock mine and other important properties adjoining the "Old Reliable" Quincy. The new corporation has issued only 100,000 shares, at $10 each, and of this number fully three-quarters was taken by the leading interests. The other half of which will remain in the treasury for mining operations; the other half goes to the landowners in payment for the properties. Interested in the new concern are some of the strongest factors in the copper mining industry in this country: Thomas F. Cole of Duluth, president of the Oliver Iron Mining company, the iron-ore end of the Steel corporation; John D. Egan of Butte, managing director of the Amalgamated Copper company and its subsidiary concerns; Captain James Hoatson of Calumet, president of the North Butte; Charles Briggs, president of the Calumet & Arizona Mining company, and several others. The old Hancock discontinued operations in 1884, when the price of copper went down to 9 cents a pound. The vein averaged twelve feet in width, and an old Cornish stamp head was in use at the mill and treated an average of about 225 tons of rock daily.

DRILLS RENEW ATTACK ON MENOMINEE RANGE

More Diamond Outfits at Work in the Region Than Ever Before.

Special to the Journal. Iron Mountain, Mich., June 9.—Never in the history of the region have more diamond drills been in commission on the Menominee iron range than are in operation at the present time. In the Crystal Falls and Iron River-Stambaugh districts of Iron county more work of the kind is in progress than in any other field. Physically, the Menominee is the largest of the Michigan ranges, its ore measures stretching over a greater area than either of the other fields. Physically, the Marquette and Gogebic districts combined, yet there is more work in that line on the Menominee ranges than will be accomplished for decades to come. There was a time when the diamond drill was not in favor on the Menominee. Test-pitting was considered the best and cheapest method. Now the drill is supreme. There is a reason for the change. In the days of the test-pit only properties that were stacked with ore were explored. Properties that possessed but little overburden. Options were not in demand on others, and in consequence not much of the ore-bearing area was explored. In the days of the diamond drill, however, the prospectors are attacking the ground in which the ore lies deep, and the cheapest and quickest way of doing this is by diamond-drilling. In the Iron River-Stambaugh district diamond-drilling is under way for Piekands, Mather & Co. The Fogarty property, which was explored in 1898, is one of the most promising explorations in Spring valley. A similar showing has been made at the Tully, or Hooligan tract, where drilling is in progress for O'Riordan, McKinney & Co. A large body of ore is understood to have been cut. The drill is being operated underground in the Hivataha mine for the Buffalo & Susquehanna company, which has an option to purchase the property, and two more are at work on surface in the field for the same company. Walt Youngs of Iron River, who recently sold his Section 12 mine to eastern furnace interests, in whose employ he was engaged in exploring the Welmer property near the Iron River baseball field. He is operating a churra drill. In the vicinity of Stambaugh the Stambaugh corporation has a drill in commission at the edge of a swamp almost within the limits of the village. It is understood the company will also do exploring in the Fair river country eight or ten miles north of Iron River. The Mineral Mining company has transferred its exploratory operations to the old Sheridan mine tract within the limits of Iron River. The big Champion mine, a Marquette range property of the Steel corporation, is to resume mining operations in a week or two. The ore shipping record over the Chicago & North-Western road from Ironwood to the Ashland docks was broken recently when in one day sixteen trainloads, 22,000 tons in all, were delivered at the lake port. The Penn Mining company is making excellent progress with the work of harnessing Sturgeon falls, Menominee river, for the purpose of generating electrical power for the operation of its group of mines at Norway. It is expected the new plant will go into commission before snow flies.

LIFE SAVERS IMPROVE COAST PHONE SYSTEM

Submarine to Supersede Part of Overhead Line Out of Grand Marais.

Special to the Journal. Grand Marais, Mich., June 9.—The telephone system of the United States life saving service has been constructed and maintains Grand Marais and Vermilion point, forty-eight miles to the east and in the stretch of Lake Superior, is being provided with added improvements. New long-distance transmitters and receivers of the latest model are being installed at all stations west from Whitefish point to Grand Marais, adding materially to the efficiency of the communication, of great importance in time of disaster along this stretch of treacherous shore, and in addition the distance between the local station and Lonesome point is to be covered by means of submarine cable, doing away with the present overhead line. Except for the lack of power boats for the various stations, the lifesaving service along the shore at the east end of Lake Superior is not excelled in equipment anywhere on the great lakes. There is need of power craft, however, especially in case of the Grand Marais station, the limits of which extend to the dangerous Sable reef, to the west, where numerous marine mishaps have occurred in the past five years, and for 20th it has been promised that a line for nine miles to the east and in this respect the service is handicapped. There are four lifesaving stations between Grand Marais and Whitefish point—Deer Park, Two Heart, Crisp Point station and the Vermilion point station. The country between Grand Marais and Whitefish point is a wilderness, bleak and uninviting.

MURDO TO HAVE FIRST TRAIN BY THE 20TH INST

First Child Born in the New Town Is a Boy and Has Been Named Murdo Gage.

Special to the Journal. Murdo, S. D., June 9.—Great preparations are being made here for the arrival of the first train over the Milwaukee, which is expected by the 15th or 20th. It has been promised that a train carrying passengers would reach this point by the 15th, but the rainy weather necessitated a cessation of work on the grade. Meanwhile work on dozens of new buildings goes merrily on, and today there is a town of 400 persons where five weeks ago there was nothing but the prairie. Citizens who believe in law and order petitioned the sheriff of Lyman county to appoint a deputy in this part of the county and Sheriff Pickett in response to the demand has named George Joy. The first child to be born since the town sprung into existence is a boy, and will be known as "Murdo Gage."

SISTERS BUILD A $60,000 HOSPITAL AT ST. CLOUD

The patients will be on the second and third floors. Each floor has a room with bath, three double rooms, two wards and four private rooms.

St. Cloud, Minn., June 8.—The Sisters of St. Benedict have just completed their new hospital at a cost of $60,000 to take the place of the one destroyed by fire last year. It is a substantial fireproof four-story building with basement. The first floor is devoted to the business offices, parlors, waiting rooms for patients, private consultation rooms and a beautiful little chapel where the sisters worship. The chapel is artistically and handsomely finished. The decorations are in cream and gold. Six stained-glass windows diffuse a subdued light. Adjoining the sacristy are two well-furnished rooms, the living apartments of the priest at the hospital.

JEW TO HAVE A COLONY IN CANADIAN NORTHWEST

Communal Experiment Which Failed in South Africa May Be a Success in the North.

Special to the Journal. Calgary, Alberta, June 9.—A communal colony conducted by fifty Jewish families is the latest excitement promised in western Canada. Several weeks ago representatives of this prospective colony were here and sought a desirable site for farming purposes. Application has been made to Ottawa for two townships, consisting of seventy-two square miles of land. As soon as the preliminaries have been arranged these Jewish families will sail from England and start the commune. Several years ago they went to South Africa with the same end in view, but found life there not suited to their plan. Efforts were then begun to induce them to locate in Canada. With the Doukhobor commune in the north and prospects excellent for a Dowieite colony, there will be every opportunity to prove the success of communism when conducted on a large scale.
