JAP SEES FLOUR MILLS

VISITORS FROM NIPPON COMES TO MINNEAPOLIS TO INSPECT INDUSTRIES, SO AS TO ENLIGHTEN COUNTRYMEN.

Socially the Japanese in the United States have profited greatly by the recent war between Japan and Russia, says G. Yakoo of New York, who is at the head of the party.

"I intend to spend two days at least in your excellent city," said Mr. Yakoo. "I am informed that it is not only the largest city of Minnesota, but also the greatest food and lumber center in the world. As I want to take all possible knowledge of your country to Japan with me, I can not, of course, neglect to visit the flour mills."

"It was a sore trial for me to be so far from home when we were at war, but at the same time I was glad that since I could be so far from the scene of action I might be in America. The sympathy and understanding with which Americans everywhere followed the movements of our arms was highly gratifying."

"America and Japan are very close together in many ways. We find it more like home here than any where else, as I know for certain by way of India and Europe. Of course, our customs differ widely, but the spirit of the two countries is much the same. I do not know if I will return from Japan, but if I do not, I shall always look upon the United States as my second fatherland."

Minneapolis Men Strike It Rich In Old Mexico.

Blasbe, the rich southwestern mining camp now holding the attention of the world, is likely soon to lose its pre-eminence, according to Minneapolis men who have interests a little farther south, in old Mexico, where rich strikes of copper and gold are again reported.

James P. Cargill, ever the Minneapolis capitalist, of the Cargill grain interests, is the latest man to enter the field. Mr. Cargill has acquired land adjoining the Belen mine, also held by Minneapolis men, in Sonora, Lawrence K. Sewie, who is a University of Minnesota alumnus and a mining engineer, is in the field looking after the interests of Minneapolis men, and Dr. R. C. Van Dorn, who resides in Minneapolis, is also identified with the Minneapolis investment. Dr. Van Dorn believes that northern Sonora will one day be the copper producing center of the world, surpassing Arizona, Montana or the Northern Michigan peninsula.

A railroad running to Montezuma will be completed with a year and much country now considered wild will then be opened up. Strikes are being reported from time to time and many prospectors from Arizona, New Mexico are crossing the line to try fortune in the older country.

BEDS FOR G. A. R., STRAW FOR FAMILY

PATRIOTIC WOMEN WILL HOUSE THE VETERANS.

Task of Finding Encampment Visitors Place to Sleep and Eat and Plenty to Eat and Drink Will Be Undertaken by Auxiliaries in Systematic Manner.

"I'll put the family on straw ticks in the attic and give the bed springs and the bed rooms to the old soldiers," said a patriotic woman when asked if she could find room for a few of the thousands of Grand Army veterans who will throng Minneapolis in August.

It is in this spirit that the members of the committee from the Woman's Relief corps is meeting in the canvass for accommodations for the vast multitude of visitors Minneapolis is to entertain.

The women really have not begun their canvass and it is up systematically until the first of July. The Denver women began earlier last year and when the veterans arrived it was found that many who had offered their homes had moved and had not left their new addresses. The Minneapolis women are determined to avoid anything of that sort and will not begin to list rooms until the moving season is over. They will work under the general direction of the Grand Army executive committee.

More than 200,000 persons coming! A large number to find accommodations for, but the Woman's Relief corps is not a bit worried. The women who will select as many assistants as she needs. Supplied with cards which are to be filled out with names, addresses, number of rooms, number of persons who can be accommodated and a statement whether meals will be served or not, these women will visit every house in town. The cards, when they are filled out, will be returned to the Commercial club building. There are twenty-one of these districts and Mrs. Bertha Allen is chairman of the committee in charge of them.

On the East Side the college men will give way to the veterans in many of the fraternal houses. There are twenty-one of these districts and Mrs. Bertha Allen is chairman of the committee in charge of them.

The record shows the lake was at its highest in May, 1882, when it was 3 1/2 feet above the level of the present lake dam. This was not a flood from natural causes, but the result of the water backing up of water by the building of the old Minnetonka mill dam. Much property was inundated, and angered lake residents finally took the matter into their own hands and cut a hole in the dam.

In 1883 the water was 2 1/2 feet above the present dam level. In '92 it dropped to 1 1/2; in '93 it was 2 1/2, and in '94 it was 3 1/2. The water gradually fell till, in 1891, the lake was at the lowest stage ever known, three feet below the dam elevation. No water flowed over the dam till April, 1903, with the exception of thirty days in the summer of 1899, when it ran over some two inches deep.

Since 1903, the dam has been overtopped several times. In 1905 the level was fourteen inches above the dam; in 1904, five to six inches. In 1905 the extreme overflow depth was again fourteen inches. This year the water has increased from an overflow depth of twelve to eighteen inches.

Services in memory of the brothers who died in the last year were held yesterday in Elks' hall by the Minneapolis chapter of the Order of the Sons of the American Revolution. The services were held in the morning and were most impressive. As the presiding officer called the assemblage to order, the officers, in single file, passed the altar, placing a spray of myrtle on the altar. The platform was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and flowers.

The principal address was by former Mayor James C. Haynes, who spoke of the beauty and value of charity and brotherly love.

"The greatest of these is charity," he said. "The love that one brother bears toward the other that has been the means of making our civilization and our country the most powerful and most respected of the globe. My brother will help you if you will only try to help yourself. He will forget the past and treat you as one brother should treat another. This is the reason why we are here to-day. My brother has yet to be named."

Miss Tena Murphy sang "In That Beautiful Land" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The choir of F. band sang several appropriate songs and Clarence Rodelle furnished two numbers on the violin. The services were opened and closed by prayer by the chaplain.

TICKETS FOR SNELLING ARE READY FOR CADETS

Tonight, 7:30, at the Parade: Companies A, B and C.

At the company drills, beginning tonight, tickets will be given to the Journal. The cadets will be ready to start transportation to and from Port Snelling next Friday afternoon, when the regiment is to witness the drill there of the Twenty-eighth United States Infantry. The cadets will assemble at the parade at 3 o'clock and march to Sixth street and Hennepin avenue, where they will take streetcars. They will be accompanied by the Journal Newsboys' band.

A practice march will be taken Thursday morning, when Colonel Sprague will go with the boys to Cedar lake. These outings parties can be made up any time upon giving notice to Colonel Sprague. Tomorrow afternoon Company E has arranged for an excursion to Lake Minnetonka. It is proposed also this week to organize a basketball team, which will be organized from the twelve companies.

Cadets should remember that it is required that they attend drills at least once a week, and that if a company drill is missed it should be made up by attending the regimental drill Friday night or the drill of some other company.

MINNETONKA TRULY 'SOUNDING WATER'

LOUD APPEALS FOR RELIEF COME FROM THE LAKE.

County Commissioners Hear Reports of High Water and Consider a Plan to Dredge Oak Narrows so the Surplus May Pass Off—Johnson Says Ditches Are the Cause.

From all parts of Lake Minnetonka come complaints of high water and the county commissioners are being besieged with appeals for help. A half a mile of the lake is now under water and taken under consideration by the board today. Tales of buildings flooded, beaches and beach improvements destroyed and meadows inundated are numerous. What to do is the question with which the commissioners are now laboring.

A plan proposed today that appeals to the commissioners as practicable is the dredging of Oak narrows between Gray's bay and Minnetonka Mills. It is argued that if this narrow place were dredged and widened a trifle, the water would pass off more easily, and the work commenced within a few weeks.

"It is a very serious condition that confronts us," said Chairman J. B. Johnson today. "The high water in Lake Minnetonka is not the cause of the wet spring, although that, of course, has augmented the trouble. Owing to the large and increasing number of ditches over the county that are being run in the lake, its water supply is being continually enlarged, while its outlet remains the same. Naturally the water in the lake will continue to be raised every year, and only a quiet time when it will be less than a quarter to provide some way to let the surplus water out of the lake, and the sooner we get at it the better it will be for everyone concerned."

What Cooley Says. George W. Cooley says that, the water in Lake Minnetonka is now higher than it has been for several years, and that it has been at odd times in the past twenty-six years.

During this length of time, Mr. Cooley, who is now state engineer of the high way commission at the capital, has kept a daily record of the lake-water levels. This is the only record of Minnetonka water levels in existence.

The record shows the lake was at its highest in May, 1882, when it was 3 1/2 feet above the level of the present lake dam. This was not a flood from natural causes, but the result of the water backing up of water by the building of the old Minnetonka mill dam. Since 1903, the dam has been overtopped several times. In 1905 the level was fourteen inches above the dam; in 1904, five to six inches. In 1905 the extreme overflow depth was again fourteen inches. This year the water has increased from an overflow depth of twelve to eighteen inches.

Plans are making for a complimentary farewell dinner for Professor Conway MacMillan, who is soon to leave Minneapolis to enter the advertising business in Philadelphia. The dinner is to be a formal affair, and will be held June 28 at the Commercial club.

SOUTHWEST RAINS SEND PRICES DOWN

BEARS HAVE INNING ON EXCHANGE FLOOR.

Reports from Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas that "Soakers" Had Revived Crops Have Reactionary Effect on Corn and Oats—Wheat Also Is Influenced.

With the country on the edge of a drought scare, Omaha, the center of bad news, dust clouds sweeping over Nebraska Saturday and Sunday, calamity feared, Minneapolis responsive, a bull market impending and corn, oats and feed prices already climbing the ladder, a heavy rain fell up last night and soaked the stricken land.

Reaction Comes Quick. Reaction quick and severe followed. In Wall street the bear party had been selling railroad securities, especially the grangers, on the prospect of heavy crop losses and decreased business for the roads. This pressure ceased and a waiting tone prevailed. The grain markets were materially lower. July oats closed Saturday at 42 1/2 cents and were down this morning to 39 1/2 cents. September oats were off from 38 1/2 cents to 36 1/2 cents and May oats from 41 1/2 cents to 39 cents. Corn eased back from 53 1/2 cents for July, to 52 cents, and from 54 1/2 cents to 53 1/2 cents for September. Wheat was the least affected, and in the early morning fell only about a cent, July and September both steadying around 82 cents. It was a hot market for speculators in corn and oats, but the bears in wheat, who had figured that rains would smash the market 2 to 3 cents, were disappointed over the comparative firmness displayed.

Rains Are Copious. Omaha got 2.02 inches of rain, Sioux City 2.04 and Dodge City 2.58. Other points down into Kansas and Oklahoma had rain, and at Sioux City it was still raining when the morning weather bulletin was issued.

The speculative situation in wheat is most interesting. There is a powerful clique backed by Minneapolis house of wealth and prominence and supported apparently by Chicago firms of influence, that is bearish on wheat. Arguments are that damage in the winter wheat fields has been exaggerated; that there is old wheat to carry over into a new crop year; that four business is dull; that there will be a surplus of wheat in the country; that American prices are too high to permit sales to Europe, and so wheat must go down.

Many Bulls Active. A powerful element may also be found on the bull side, but there is a lack of unity. A majority of all in the grain trade believes in wheat. Arguments are that the country is the sentiment of scattered firms here and elsewhere, individual grain men, and farmers, and country elevator men, and speculators. They are praying for the country is gaining in population at the rate of 1,500,000 a year, more wheat is being consumed annually and prices must remain at a figure higher than in years past. They figure also upon possibilities.

Conditions promise a big crop, but anything that might happen thru the summer would probably be of a nature adverse to the crops and favorable to the price. These bulls are acting without uniformity and their efforts are of scattering effect. They are praying for a leader, a Valentine, Patten or Joe Leiter, to come out of the woods and lead them on, but no such leader has appeared to date.
