

season at a series of matinees in Boston. The experiment of last year of giving a number of matinees at which the programs included translations of one-act plays seldom seen on the stage anywhere, was such a success that the college and literary people were interested and want more next year. Mr. Gilbert has already planned an afternoon of Breton folk plays and he will meet Anatole Le Braz, the authority on matters connected with Brittany in Paris and then go down to Brittany to make special study of the people, their plays and their ways. Although he goes abroad for work Mr. Gilbert will find time between meetings famous actors and managers for a holiday trip thru Switzerland and Holland.

Mr. Gilbert brings back splendid news of some of the Minneapolis young people who attended Emerson college last year. Miss Fay Latham, who took post-graduate work, has had several offers for next year and so has Miss Bessie Bull, who won her diploma this year and is now in New York. Miss Emma Gallagher, a graduate of last year, has been in professional work for a year with a well-known company, while Bernard Lambert has all he can do reading and teaching in Boston.

The rooms were decorated in pink and white, and carnations and Japanese ferns made the pretty setting. Large bows of pink and white ribbon were fastened to the chandeliers. In the dining room a centerpiece of pink carnations rested in a bed of asparagus ferns, and pink ribbons were stretched over the cloth. Music and games formed the amusement of the evening.

Mrs. Mary Anderson and Martin Benson of Red Wing were quietly married at high noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Schneider, 606 Taylor street NE. The bride wore her going-away gown of blue with a lingerie blouse, and carried a bouquet of mock orange blossoms and bride roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Schneider, wore tan and carried a cluster of white roses. Walter Schneider was best man, and the service was read by Rev. S. E. Schull. White roses and peonies were clustered about the rooms and foliage of ferns made a pretty background. In one corner the music ranged blossoms from Mr. Benson's home in Red Wing, were massed to simulate an altar. In the dining room red roses centered the table, over which the bride and groom sat in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Benson left for Red Wing, where they will make their home.

Miss Josie Fralick became the bride of Herbert Doble Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's sister, 703 Twenty-fifth avenue NE. Rev. W. L. Jordan read the service. Miss I. E. The marriage of Miss Grace V. Forster and Ernest H. Butler was solemnized Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Forster, 1817 Bryant avenue N. The bridal party descended the stairs and entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Nellie McAllister. Thomas Forster, brother of the bride, ushered in the party, which was led by the flower girl, Betty Gretchen Miller. Master Forest Price carried the ring on a tray in the heart of a white rose. Miss Cora Lawson, the bridesmaid, wore a gown of blue silk batiste and carried pink lily-of-the-valley. Miss Amy Forster was her sister's maid of honor and wore white net trimmed with insertions of Irish chochet, and her bouquet was of red roses. The bride was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white crepe de chine with an arrangement of rose point lace over taffeta and carried a shower bouquet of brily lawn with trimmings of cluny lace. Her flowers were roses tied with pink illusion. The bride couple stood beneath a wedding bed of roses, in front of the mantel, which was banked with ferns. The service was read by Rev. Elmer Lofstrom of Wabasha, a cousin of the bride, in the presence of eighty guests. Asparagus ferns and peonies contrasted pleasantly in the decorations.

A wedding supper followed the service. Bands of white ribbon and pink rosebuds were dropped from the chandelier to the corners of the table. The pink rosebud centered the table. Mr. and Mrs. Butler will be at home after Aug. 1 at 1315 Bryant avenue N.

The marriage of Miss Carrie Monks and William McPherson took place Wednesday evening in Holy Rosary church, in the presence of the relatives and friends. The bride was attended by Miss Agnes Kearns as maid of honor, who wore a white gown with trimmings of cluny lace. Her flowers were roses tied with pink illusion. The bride was gowned in French lawn with trimmings of Arabian lace, and carried a bride rose and white illusion. John McCormick was best man and Rev. J. D. Fowler read the service. The "Lohengrin" march was played by Mme. Rose O'Hara.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Keenan. The parlors were prettily arranged with palms and cut flowers, while in the dining room carnations and smilax were used. Assisting the young couple in receiving were Mrs. T. Kieckey and Miss Kate Monks, sister of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. McPherson left in the evening for the east, and before returning they will stop in Chicago and Elkhart, Ind. Aldrich, Misses Ida Fitch, Mabel Hazel, Laura Murphy, Rosalind Whitcomb, Jennie McGrade, Mattie Jensen, Alice Tozer, Lucille Shore, Enola Loring and Harriet Jewell.
