It was reported that a tornado struck Thomson, fifteen miles west from Duluth, on St. Louis river, but the report was unfounded. The storm struck Superior with great severity.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 29.—At 7 o'clock last evening a severe windstorm struck the central part of Grand Forks, passing near Biabeau and Conscience. Several buildings were destroyed, and one man is said to have had his back broken in the wreck of his house near Biabeau.

CONSUL FINN'S MIDDLE WEST

British Agent Tells His Government About Great Prosperity Here.

By W. W. Jermans. Washington, June 29.—The department of commerce and labor today received a report from the British foreign office on trade, commerce and agriculture in the central district of Chicago in the calendar year 1905, presented by Consul Finn. The territory embraced in this district includes the states of the Mississippi and Missouri valleys, extending from Illinois on the east to Colorado on the west, and from Oklahoma and Indian Territory to the Canadian boundary line. In his general remarks Mr. Finn says that "the prosperity of the consular district has been more marked during the past year than ever, as not only have the crops been large and all factories working full time, but prices have been good for farm products, and manufacturers have had along had orders on their books sufficient to keep them busy for several months."

The report, in its details, deals with the statistics of production of the agricultural products and manufactured articles in the entire district, and in the several states. The figures are taken from official reports published by state bureaus, boards of trade and the federal government. The increase in railroad mileage and consequent increase in business, the development of semi-arid regions by irrigation, and great influx of settlers to the middle west and northwest are commented on. In the report are statements of local business conditions in St. Paul by Vice Consul Robinson, and at Duluth and Superior by Vice Consul Taylor.

UNCLE JOE'S PLAY TIRES BIG TIM

Mr. Sullivan of New York Resigns a Seat that is Too Far from the Bowery.

Journal Special Service. New York, June 29.—Because Washington is "too far from the Bowery," and because Uncle Joe Cannon is about all there is of congress that counts, Big Tim Sullivan has resigned his seat and will return to his home in New York. "I'm thru," Big Tim told his friends. "I've had enough of making laws for the nation. I prefer to go back to my own home and my own kind. In Albany you're in among the fellows, you know, and it's interesting. Congress is dull and it's too much of a one-man game to suit me. Just imagine a game where about 300 men get in and one man takes all the pots."

BACK TO NATURE FOR A WEDDING

School Teacher and Minister Married in the Woods Near a Lake.

Chicago, June 29.—Miss Cecelia Clifford, a public school teacher, and Rev. Walter H. MacPherson, pastor of the People's Congregational church, were married at sunset last night on the shores of Lake Michigan, between Kenilworth and Wilmette. The ceremony was performed under the trees by Rev. George A. Bird, the assistant pastor of the People's church, and the honeymoon will be spent in a tent pitched among the trees and rocks and ravines along the north shore. It had been planned to have the ceremony at noon, but Rev. Mr. Bird was unavoidably delayed in Chicago, and it was late in the afternoon when he reached the north shore. It was then decided to perform the service at the hour of sunset, when nature, which is the keynote of the lives of the contracting parties, was about to relapse into sleep.

GROVER TO FISH WITH ECKELS AT OCONOMOWOC

Chicago, June 29.—There is trouble ahead for the many denizens of the waters about Oconomowoc, Wis., for former President Grover Cleveland will arrive there next Friday to guest for a week. Mr. Eckels, president of the Commercial National bank of Chicago, at his summer home. "Mr. Cleveland has promised me several times to visit me at my summer home and at the same time enjoy the splendid opportunities for fishing," said Mr. Eckels today. "His promised visit has been several times postponed on account of business, but I am reasonably sure that he will arrive next Friday."

POWER COMPANY MAY BE IN DADGER

House Passes Resolution Aimed at Chandler-Dunbar Company at the Soo.

Washington, June 29.—The movement of the Lake Carriers' association to oust the Chandler-Dunbar power company from the rapids at the Soo is apparently a serious proposition. Congressman Dwyer today called up in the house and passed his resolution ordering the secretary of war to report to the house a statement of all permits and licenses granted to any body in the river that would also allow permits for diversions of the waters from Lake Superior. The resolution went thru without opposition. This step is intended to help the department of justice which is pending a suit in the United States court at Cincinnati to remove the Chandler-Dunbar company from the river on the ground that it has no right to be there. According to the department of justice the only color of right lying in the Chandler-Dunbar company is derived from the permits issued to that company by the war department, and which permits the war department refuses to revoke.

TAWNEY DISCREET

Retreats before Strong Combination Against Coal Testing. Washington, June 29.—With Representative Tawney, decoration is the better part of valor. Yesterday, while the conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill was under consideration in the house, a combination was formed by the representatives from the coal-producing states and those who favored the appropriation for the James O. Eastman fund, to withdraw the provision for testing coals. The debate had not proceeded very far before Tawney, who had introduced the house, discovered that the combination was strong enough to beat that one item. The result would have been a defeat for the entire conference report, and the reopening of the consideration of all the senate amendments. Tawney had fared very well in the conference and he did not want his good work thrown away, so he hastily sent word to the senate to withdraw the report, as he did in the house.

TEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL ABDUCTED IN AN AUTO

Journal Special Service. Dover, Del., June 29.—August Haas' daughter, Annie, aged 10, was abducted yesterday as suddenly and as violently as if a whirlwind had whisked her away. Two men in a touring car seized Annie, almost before her mother's eyes, gagged her with a handkerchief and whizzed away at 60 miles an hour. Haas acknowledged that Annie is his adopted daughter, over whom he is now in a legal struggle to gain custody. He claims that the kidnappers are agents, perhaps relatives, of Annie's natural mother.

THIEVES ROB PESTHOUSE; EPIDEMIC IS FEARED

Special to The Journal. Casper, Wyo., June 29.—Thieves entered the pesthouse and carried off a quantity of bedding. It is feared an outbreak of smallpox will follow, similar to that which occurred last winter in Uintah county, when ranchmen stole boards from the pesthouse and used them in constructing corrals.

Big General Store at Penock Suffers a Heavy Loss. Special to The Journal. Willmar, Minn., June 29.—The merchandise establishment of Erickson & Finstrom at Penock was partially destroyed by a fire, which originated in a stock of matches in a warehouse in the rear of the building today. The grocery department was destroyed and the drygoods damaged by smoke. The fire was confined to the interior of the building. The Willmar fire department was called upon for assistance. The loss is covered by insurance of $6,000. The building was owned by A. Benson, who formerly occupied it.

failed to get the legal proof against White and friends. In some way I think he got wind of our purpose. Girls Spirited Away. "And there was where we failed in our legal proof. Unless we could watch White's studio our work was hopeless. Our next work was to seek out the girls named by Mr. Thaw, and again the same mysterious influence was used to prevent us from doing so. Their homes were found, their relatives were found. But the girls themselves had been spirited away. More than this, their parents in nearly all cases flatly refused to aid us in reaching them, pleading that they desired to avoid the ignominy and shame attaching to such cases. "Mr. Thaw was continually visiting my office, and each time seemed more and more depressed by our failure to entrap Stanford White. His sole purpose, as he often expressed it, was to prevent the continuance of such practices and cleanse society of its moral lepers. Stanford White is a noxious beast," he said, "and must be driven out."

Believes Thaw Sincere. "And I never at any time noticed the slightest sign of a trick or deception on Mr. Thaw's part. As I have already said, was that of a quiet, earnest, honest gentleman, intent on a great purpose."

PLEA OF THAW IS 'NOT GUILTY'

men and others during his brief stay, but declined to say anything whatever concerning his case. "How do you find the beds?" Thaw was asked. "Well," he replied, "they are not just what I have been used to, but I guess I'll get accustomed to them." His Plea Entered. When Clerk Tenney had read the charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of Stanford White, he asked Thaw whether he had anything to say in regard to the indictment, and the prisoner answered distinctly, "Not guilty." His counsel immediately interposed an amendment to the plea, asking the court to leave to the jury the plea any time up to next Tuesday. This was granted and a moment later the prisoner was taken away from the bar and returned to his cell. Thaw was remarkably cool and collected. His face was pallid, but his eyes were bright and every glance he took at the passing to and fro of the prisoners showed that he was keenly alert and more than interested in the surroundings. The only carelessness in the prisoner's make-up that was noticeable was the fact that his hair was ruffled and did not seem combed for over a week. White $600,000 in Debt. According to the Globe today, information has been received to light the fact that Stanford White, who was supposed to be wealthy, had been living beyond his income and was heavily in debt, owing $600,000 to one young member of prominent family and as much to other persons. In addition to this, the Globe says White had drawn so heavily from the architectural firm of McKim, Mead & White, that he had been notified that he could draw no more, but would be allotted a weekly sum, which was not to be exceeded. Prosecution's View. At the conclusion of the court proceedings Assistant District Attorney Nott was approached by a friend, who asked: "What is there in this case?" "It is a simple question," said Mr. Nott, "of whether New York has got down to the level of a mining camp or whether a man has got some chance for his life here."

DEFENSE IS CONFIDENT It Even Looks for a Prompt Acquittal. New York, June 29.—William K. O'Connell and Terrence J. McMannus of Black, O'Connell & Bonny, counsel for Thaw, firmly believe that, once the entire story of what led up to the killing of White is told, there cannot be a man twice as wealthy in the United States, certainly in the county of New York, who would find young Thaw guilty of murder in the first degree. They believe the verdict will be one of acquittal. During the trial, which the defense hopes will be begun soon, it is proposed to lay bare the entire life of White, especially his association with young Thaw, and the circumstances in his studio in the tower of the Madison Square Garden. It will be proved, it is asserted, that White was induced to commit the murder by White himself—that the architect constantly annoyed Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the prisoner's wife. Drugged by White? It is stated that the former chorus girl will tell how she met White, and there is a report that there will be testimony that Miss Nesbit, when brought to trial, was drugged by White. White the first time she called upon him in his den in Madison Square Garden. It will also be brought out that since Thaw married her, White has been unkind to her. It is said that White had at least a dozen times in the past year and a half, and that when they met socially, he had tried to renege on his promise to marry her. It is charged that White was accustomed to ogle the girl-wife in theaters and other public places. It is said that White had a habit of kissing her on the cheek at the Cafe Martin and that he stared at her and tried to catch her eye until she became nervous. Worked on Thaw's Mind. Mrs. Thaw pleaded with her husband not to pay any attention to White, but Thaw said something must be done. It will be stated that the constant annoyances finally worked the young husband up to such a pitch of nervous and emotional excitement that his mind gave away. It was while in a state of emotional insanity that he killed White. It is said that in the letters White addressed to Evelyn Nesbit before she took up with Harry Thaw there are statements which show the architect's treatment to which the architect subjected the girl. PROBING THAW'S PAST Prosecution Investigating in Home City of Murderer. Pittsburgh, June 29.—Before Harry Kendall Thaw comes to trial for the murder of Stanford White there will have been gathered here for use by the prosecution a mass of material considered as good proof that Harry Thaw fully knew before he married Florence Evelyn Nesbit here in April, 1905, of the previous relations existing between Stanford White and Miss Nesbit. The story of Mrs. Harry K. Thaw, and how she came into the Thaw family, with restrictions, was told by Mrs. Thaw before she married her. It was her husband's habit to visit her in Pittsburgh. The story, as it appears to have been told by Evelyn to her husband, is that Harry knew all about the history of the girl's life before she married him. Mrs. William Thaw was his wife and before the marriage, sent for her and asked her point blank some questions about White and perhaps about the girl's life before she married him. She said a Pittsburgh woman, naming her, had introduced her to White before he married her, and that she was a millionaire. She was introduced with apartments in Madison Square Garden, and that on meeting him she "should do anything he wanted, as he would be the making of her." It was then demanded that Evelyn promise to never see or speak to this woman again. The complete retirement of the woman leads to the belief here that the money of the Thaws has already been sent to work here and that an effort will be made to shut out any testimony she may be able to give. At her home it is said she has left the city, but this is denied by her neighbors. WHITE HAD FATAL DISEASE Harry Thaw's Victim Could Have Lived Only a Few Months. Journal Special Service. New York, June 29.—After the inquest yesterday Dr. Lehn, the coroner's physician declared that Thaw's bullet wound was fatal in its nature. He said Stanford White probably died a few months before the autopsy revealed that White could not have lived longer than a year at the most. He had Bright's disease, well developed, his liver gave indications of fatty degeneration, the right lung was tubercular and the left lung was also affected. The heart was the only vital organ that seemed normal. The bullet Harry Thaw sent into the brain of Stanford White inflicted a tremendous blow upon the life insurance companies. It was said yesterday that Mr. White carried more than $500,000 insurance on his life, chiefly in the Big Three. In the equitable settlement alone he has five policies aggregating $250,000. WHITE'S NEW PROTEGE Little English Miss of 17 Was Being Aided by Architect. New York, June 29.—It was disclosed yesterday that Stanford White had a new protegee whom he hoped to place on the stage, in Josephine Brown, a beautiful English girl, who will soon celebrate her seventeenth birthday. Little Miss Brown lives with her mother in a fine apartment at the Hotel, Fifty-fifth street and Broadway. Their apartment is on the ground floor, and there is a private entrance on the street, which White used on his frequent visits. At one time she attended one of his studio parties in the Madison Square garden tower. Miss Brown's stage aspirations are said to be based on a fine voice, which is rapidly gaining strength under instructions from high class teachers. She has also been taking violin lessons and has developed considerable skill with the bow. Gates Will Back Thaw. Journal Special Service. Chicago, June 29.—One of the close associates of John W. Gates here announced that he had received a message from the millionaire to the effect that he stood ready to turn over $54,000,000 to aid in the defense of Harry Thaw if the money was needed. Gates, who is a member of the family of Thaw, with whom he was on close terms of friendship, was justified in his act. White Is Buried. New York, June 29.—Stanford White was buried yesterday with simple ceremonies at St. James, L. I., where he had a summer home. The services were held in the St. James Episcopal church, and interment was made in the graveyard surrounding the quaint little edifice. FOUR PERISH IN RIVERS WISCONSIN FARMER'S RELATIVES BELIEVE HE WAS MURDERED AND THROWN IN THE WATER. Specials to The Journal. Watertown, Wis., June 29.—The almost nude body of John Hanlon, a wealthy farmer of Richwood, was found in the river here yesterday. His pocketbook was practically empty. A pair of shoes and stockings were found on the river bank. No clue. Relatives claim murder and robbery. Park Falls, Wis., June 29.—Henry Kelly, aged about 14, was drowned this morning while bathing in the Flambeau river. His body has not been recovered. Mankato, Minn., June 29.—Henry Doerr's 12-year-old son was drowned in the Minnesota river yesterday afternoon while bathing. Dickinson, N. D., June 29.—Guy Kerr, a Killdeer mountain cattle-raiser, was drowned in attempting to cross Knife river on horseback near Fayette. He was single and about 25. DOWIE'S BANK ACCOUNT OVERDRAWN $481,000 Chicago, June 29.—In the hearing of the Dowie case before Judge Landis in the federal court, E. E. Harwood, teller in the Zion City bank, testified that the books of the bank show that Dowie's account in the bank is overdrawn to the amount of $481,337. He said that since 1899 Dowie had withdrawn from the bank a total of $34,000 a year. From the nature of the checks, Mr. Harwood said, it appeared that this money had been used by Dowie for personal expenses. PACIFIC COAST BOXING UNDER OFFICIAL EYES Journal Special Service. Oakland, Cal., June 29.—President McCabe of the Amateur Athletic Union, who is looking over the athletic situation, had a conference yesterday with some of the prominent athletes at which the local boxing situation was discussed. That boxing was in a bad way on the coast was stated by McCabe. He realized that something must be done to clean the department of amateur boxing in the Pacific Athletic association. After the discussion McCabe said: "This is one of the most serious questions that has come before me. It is a matter of life and death to the athletes who are members of the Pacific Athletic association and as such have a right to be heard and to be considered." A British and a native regiment, making forced marches a barefoot race in India had six as their only food.
