Quickly cooked. Delicious as it is. Dr. Montgomery speaks at Fowler church this morning on "A Summer Time Poem." This evening on "The Double Name."

Mr. A. W. Herder filed his candidacy for nomination for the third ward of the republican party, largely to the pressure brought to bear by his many friends. He was born and bred in the third and has spent the thirty-seven years of his life in the same locality. Mr. Herder has been closely affiliated with the republican party, having been a member of the Third Ward Republican club for a number of years. His friends assure him of their hearty support. Dr. Montgomery is announced to speak at the Fowler Methodist church this morning on the subject, "A Summer Time Poem." This evening he will read "I Am Alpha," by Stainer, and "Hear, O Lord," by Watson. This evening Dr. Montgomery will give a popular sermon on the subject, "The Double Name." The choir will sing "Fear Not, O Israel," by Spieker, and "A Voice That Bids Us Come," by Hartwell-Jones. Dr. Montgomery will take his vacation this summer, but will be in Fowler pulpit each Sunday morning and evening.

HENNEPIN M. E. SITE IS YET TO BE CHOSEN

Church Committee Decides Not to Consider Welles Property or Any South of Loring Park.

The statement comes officially from the site committee, composed of W. J. Dean, T. B. Walker and R. M. Bennett, that Hennepin Avenue Methodist church will not choose a location south of Loring park. This settles the Welles tract at Oak Grove and Hennepin avenue, so far as the Hennepin M. E. church is concerned, and shows a disposition on the part of the church not to encroach on Fowler church property. In fact, this is the reason given for making Loring park the southern limit in selecting a site for the new church. The committee has been getting prices on other property in the neighborhood of the present church, but it is not at all certain that any change will be made when the new building is erected. "The committee has not yet decided where we are going," said W. J. Dean yesterday. "The committee will not recommend any location south of Loring park. We take this stand because we do not want to go into the territory of any other Methodist church. We have not thought of the Welles place, but it is true that a member of the church said that this would be a nice place for the new church, and it would be, being on a hilltop, but it would be at the door of Fowler church. "It is not decided that we shall move from the present location. We have no intention, in any event, of going south of the park."

We have testimonials mountain high, saying the world's best food is Mead's Flaked Rye. A two-pound pkg. makes 12 to 14 pounds of cooked food.

MANNIX AND SCOTT ARE FRIENDLY RIVALS

Candidate for Auditorship Drops in to See the Auditor, Who Will Try to Succeed Himself.

Joseph T. Mannix had a friendly chat at the county auditor's office yesterday with Hugh R. Scott, who will be one of the principals in a lively contest at the primaries, for the republican nomination for county auditor. Mr. Scott is a candidate for renomination after six years' service. Mr. Mannix is a champion of the "pass-around" theory. Mannix learned the way to the auditor's office two years ago, when he invested $10 and pulled out a seat in the lower house of the legislature. He introduced several bills during the session, and when he dropped into the auditor's office yesterday he had another bill in his hand, marked "X." Scott had some premonition of his designs, and instead of the leaving the transaction to a clerk, brushed to the desk and did the honors himself, taking the $10 and seeing to it personally that his rival got properly entered. They had no difficulty in agreeing about the weather, and then Mannix said: "Hugh, I am going to make a quiet, clean canvass for this nomination, and I don't believe anything will happen to prevent us from being good friends. At any rate, if you hear at any time that I have done anything that is not becoming in a gentlemanly politician, don't you believe it." Scott said he wouldn't, and they parted with the agreement to fight it out on that line, if it took all summer.

ST. ANTHONY PIONEER DIES IN MANITOBA

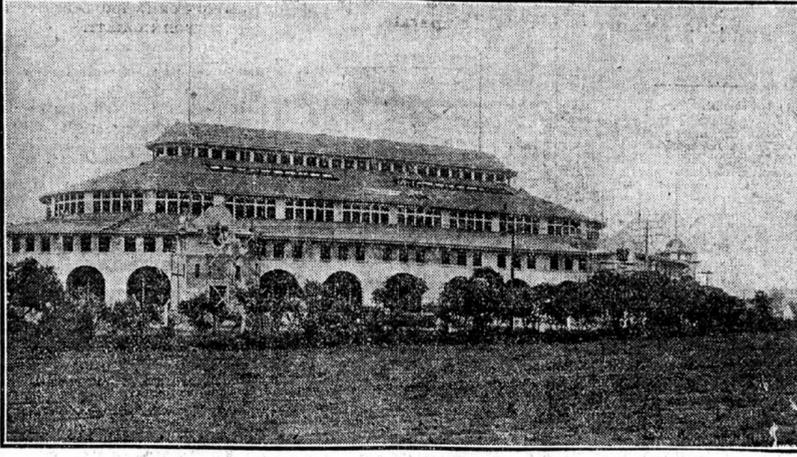

Charles C. Secombe, Who Came to Minneapolis in 1855 to Engage in Paper Making, Is Dead After Long Illness.

Charles C. Secombe, an old resident of Minneapolis, died Friday night at Elkate, Manitoba, of pneumonia. He will be buried at Winnipeg, where a son lives. Charles C. Secombe came to St. Anthony falls, near East Minneapolis, in 1855, from Milford, N. H. He was associated with General A. T. Averill and E. W. Cutler, under the firm name of Averill-Secombe & Co., who built and operated the paper mill, erected in 1857, on the banks of the Crow Wing river. It was subsequently operated by Averill, Russell & Carpenter. Mr. Secombe was twice married; his first wife being Elizabeth Crosby, who died in 1873, leaving a daughter, now residing in Milford, N. H. In 1877 he married the wife who survives him, Mrs. Emma Tomlinson of Minneapolis. The late Secombe resided at 1324 Second avenue S., which has been the home of Mr. Secombe for thirty-five years, was built by him in 1871. Last October Mr. Secombe concluded to make a change of climate, with the hopes of benefiting his health, and, accompanied by his wife, spent the winter in California. In May he decided to make still another change by proceeding to Barrows, Saskatchewan, which is nearly 400 miles beyond Winnipeg, where he has a son-in-law engaged in lumbering. Mr. Secombe, on account of impaired health, had not of late years taken an active part in city affairs, but had always been deeply interested in what ever was for his best interest, and was always considered an honorable and upright citizen. Mr. Secombe was a brother of Judge David A. Secombe, who died in Minneapolis several years ago.

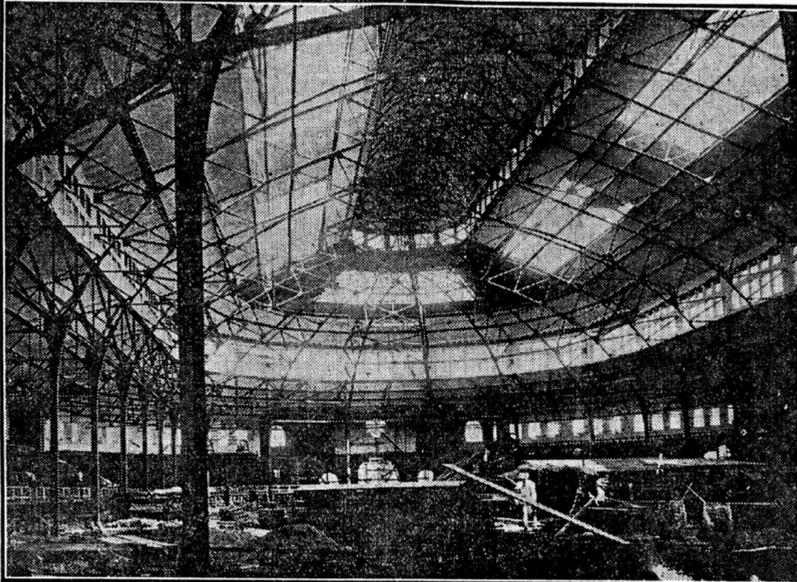

SANDBERG TO FILE Says He Will Seek the Nomination for Sheriff.

Captain Andrew Sandberg said yesterday that he would file early next week as a candidate for sheriff. "I have been working for other people for the last twenty-four years in Hennepin county," he said, "and it is the first time I have ever been a candidate for office. There are several candidates for sheriff, but I will be the only old soldier and the only Swedish republican in the race, and I think my chances ought to be good." Captain Sandberg was turned key at the county jail during the year of Harry Hayward's incarceration. Yerxas in Their New Location. "Beyond our fondest hopes," says Mr. Yerxas today, "we succeeded in taking care of our enormous trade to advantage. Moved in a day, that the glorious Fourth, assisted by our faithful help who have ever stood by us. Our patrons, too, have been more than good, realizing the enormous strain we were under in moving, and have borne with us. But we are now so situated as to handle things to the very best advantage, and have filled orders as good as ever—better than in our old location, which is being rapidly torn down. We expect to be back in our new building by Oct. 10th."

Minnesota Live Stock Amphitheater Is Greatest of the Kind in the Country

EXTERIOR VIEW OF THE GREAT LIVE STOCK PAVILION AT THE STATE FAIR GROUNDS.

INTERIOR VIEW OF THE LIVE STOCK AMPHITHEATER, CAPABLE OF SEATING 25,000 AT A CONVENTION.

Altho much has been said about the new livestock amphitheater at the state fair grounds, many people are not yet aware that the state is to have the largest and finest building of its kind in the country. Of all the great structures designed for cattle shows, horse shows and similar exhibitions, not one in America has the capacity of the Minnesota amphitheater and with the exception of Madison Square Garden in New York city, none has cost as much. Other state fairs will not be in it at all in comparison with Minnesota. For instance, the great Illinois state fair has an amphitheater 275 feet long, 175 feet broad and covering approximately an area of 48,000 square feet. Compared with this the Minnesota livestock amphitheater is 359 feet long, 200 feet wide and has an approximate area of 70,000 square feet. In the Illinois building the central arena is 225 feet long and 125 feet broad, while that of Minnesota is 270 by 120 feet. And the Illinois building is the largest state fair amphitheater outside of Minnesota. Some Comparisons. Madison Square Garden in New York has a total length of 310 feet, a total width of 194 feet, as compared with 359 by 200, the dimensions of the Minnesota building; and the arena is also a little smaller. The big Chicago International amphitheater lacks 50 feet of length of the Minnesota building and the arena is 20 feet smaller each way. The Iowa state fair amphitheater is only 225 feet long, as against 359 in Minnesota, and the arena is less than two-thirds the area of that of the Minnesota building. Entirely completed, the Minnesota building will cost $110,000. The walls are of solid brick, covered with cement plaster and enormous steel girders or arches, which carry the timbers on which are laid handsome red tiles. The effect will be pleasing. The architecture is a modified mission style. Inside Arrangements. Inside, the arrangements are simple but excellent in every way. Outside the arena rail wide will be a space, perhaps 15 feet wide, for the promenade. Immediately beyond this will be a tier of boxes elevated so that people seated therein can easily see over the heads of those passing in front. Behind the boxes the regular amphitheater seats rise in tiers and are so placed that there will be an excellent view from every one of them. In all these arrangements the Minnesota building is much better planned than most amphitheaters. The box seats especially will be much more desirable than those in Madison Square Garden. During the state fair, the amphitheater will be used for the judging of cattle and horses for the three great auction sales of pure bred cattle, and for any other display purposes which may be found desirable. On the opening day, Monday, Sept. 3, at 11 a.m., the building will be dedicated in an address by James J. Hill. During the week there will be music in the amphitheater and it will be the center of attraction. Vast Opportunities. The possession of this great auditorium will give Minnesota opportunities for holding great gatherings, which the state has never before enjoyed. For instance, it will now be possible to invite one of the national political conventions to the state, the two cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul naturally joining in endeavor to recover. For convention purposes it would only be necessary to lay a temporary floor in the arena to secure seating capacity of at least 25,000. The hotel capacity of both cities would be available and the street railway facilities are ample to handle any convention crowd which might assemble. Indeed, the amphitheater will be an ideal place for any great summer convention, for indoor baseball or other sports, for autumn horse shows, and possibly for some winter gatherings, altho at present no means for heating the building have been provided. Detroit and Return $16.75 via the Soo Line. Toledo and Return $17.50, via the Soo line; Cleveland and return $18.25, via the Soo line; Buffalo and return $20.25, via the Soo line.

YOUNG GRANT NOT DEAD Father Hears Son Is Drowned, but Son Corrects Statement.

Fred Grant, Sibley, Iowa, an art student in Chicago, was reported drowned in Lake Saugutuck in yesterday's Chicago dispatches. But Mr. Grant is alive and well, and his father, H. S. Grant, who is visiting in Minneapolis, is busy answering telegrams of condolence with reassurances. Mr. Grant received a telegram from his son late yesterday stating that he had been prostrated by Thursday's heat, but was fast on the road to recovery. The error which included young Grant in the list resulted in a telegram to Mr. Grant from his home in Iowa, asking if the report were true, and this telegram conveyed the first information to the father that his son was reported drowned. A message to Saugutuck brought a quick reply from the young man himself, but not until Mr. Grant had passed several strenuous hours.
