

Society

SOCIETY will devote itself almost exclusively to the entertainment of the visitors who are flocking into the city for the national G. A. R. encampment. Everybody will have to stand aside so that courtesies may be shown to the men and women who are wearing badges, which indicate that the soldier's blood runs in their veins. Of all the beautiful affairs to be given it will be hard to predict which is to be the most beautiful. No doubt the reception of Mrs. H. Kimball Monday afternoon will set the ball rolling in a brilliant and delightful way. Mrs. Alexander Hughes' luncheon and the many other affairs arranged in small, well followed in a bewildering turn.

Patriotism is to be the keynote of the hour, and even the suggestive details will not be omitted in the decorations. There will be pretty souvenirs and trifles presented as attentions to the out-of-town guests, and the insignias of Uncle Sam will be seen in many unique ways.

The marriage of Miss Emily Bissell and John Newell of Topeka, Kan., took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Bissell, 3833 Elliott avenue. A profusion of the season's flowers were artistically arranged through the rooms. In the reception hall yellow blossoms contrasted with the green ferns and palms. The parlor, where the vows were spoken, was completely hid the mantel and tall palms rose to the ceiling, while white asters and roses brightened the bank of green and were placed in jars and vases thru the rooms. In the gift room pink sweet peas lent their beauty as a fitting ornament.

As the guests were arriving Miss Esther De Coster, of Washington, played a program of music. As she sounded the Lehigh marching band, Misses Edna and Gertrude Dunlop stretched the white ribbons from the stair to the simulated altar. Miss Edna wore flowered net over taffeta. Attending the bride was her cousin, Miss Katherine Cutler of Whitewater, Wis. Her gown was of white muslin silk and her flowers were white roses.

The bride entered alone and was met at the altar by her father, Dr. Bissell, who gave her in marriage. She wore an imported robe of hand embroidered French mull, trimmed with real tulle lace and French insertion and she had a cluster of bride roses. Dr. Frank Bissell of Maple Lake, brother of the bride, was Mr. Newell's best man. While the service was being read by Rev. Elmer Lofstrom of Wabasha, Minn., an old school friend of the bride and a former student at the University of Minnesota, Miss De Coster played soft music.

A reception followed the ceremony, when Miss C. S. Newell of Topeka, sister of the bridegroom, and Dr. and Mrs. Bissell received with the bridal party.

Miss Lavina Nordberg of Seattle, Wash., assisted in the rooms. In the dining rooms where the Misses Dunlop assisted, marriages arranged with fern fronds in a large basket, centered the table. The same flowers appeared in vases and bowls.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Coghlan is to be a visitor in the city for a few weeks, and her coming means a chain of delightful entertaining. Mrs. Coghlan is from New York and arrived this morning. She is a sister of Mrs. G. A. Rose, and no woman was ever more charmingly entertained and feted than she was when here on several weeks' visit two years ago. Mrs. Rose will have a charming affair for her sister, but it will be deferred until after the encampment.

Miss Ella Sage, who finished school in the east last spring, will sail early in September for Europe. Miss Sage will be accompanied east by Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Martin, and in New York will be entrusted to the care of Miss Nixon, who will chaperone a party of twelve girls on the trip abroad. The Misses Nixon and Sheldon have a finishing school in Florence, Italy, and Miss Sage will remain a year.

The departure of the family of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Sewall will leave a break in the social circle to which they belong. Mr. Sewall has already left for the future home in Chicago and Mrs. Sewall and the members of her family will go about Sept. 1. Miss Carolyn Sewall was one of the debutantes of last winter and was introduced at the Hostesses' ball. She is one of the popular younger women who has a host of friends who regret to see her go.

many to the Minikahada club last evening, and a large number of dinner parties given. G. W. Harrington was one of the hosts last evening, and he entertained a party of ten. There were six in the party. O. Townsend took the club. A. W. Skiles, with a party of four, were out to dinner and H. C. Cobb, with several friends, were at the club. H. P. Abbott gave a dinner for six. Next week the coming tennis tournament will attract a large number and many of the more prominent G. A. R. men will be entertained there.

The Minneapolis travelers are homeward bound. It's a wise thing not to wait until the close of the traveling season in Europe and to avoid the rush after the end of August strenuous efforts for good accommodations have to be made. It's called "Dirty Face lodge," this most delightful of all delightful hunting and fishing reserves owned by Minneapolis people in the state of Washington. Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lamb hardly know themselves why it was christened thus; it came to its name overnight and has kept it ever since. But it is far from what its name might suggest. It is a beautiful place and the little lodge house nestles in the charming sector of the mountains with the serenely looking snow and ice-crested Rockies as a background, and a quiet and clear mountain lake stretching towards pine and fir lands. The Lamb spent several weeks every fall at their western lodge, and late last year, as will be remembered, it was turned over to Captain and Mrs. Henry Greene and his honey-moon retreat.

Word has been received from the party which is being entertained by the Lambs this year—Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Hefflinger, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Johnson, Miss McCullough and John B. Pillsbury and the families of the Lambs and of the Hefflingers are in the party—that a stopover was made at Seattle and that the travelers took side trips from Banff to the nearby beautiful lake region. Leavenworth, Wash., was not reached until Friday. From Leavenworth the trip was continued in a private stage—twenty-five miles thru the mountains. The tourists are having a splendid vacation fishing and hunting, and the women have joined the men in their zealous pursuit of the exciting sport, having changed from fashionable society women into followers of the goddess Diana. Sept. 1 will see the Minneapolis party return home.
