

HOW THE INSPIRING PAGEANT MOVED THRU CITY'S STREETS

tial music and led by the famous Cook girls' drill corps, the members of the band, attired in red, white and blue uniforms, adding to the color of the oncoming line and received the hearty applause of the spectators.

Former Governor S. R. Van Sant, as marshal of the parade, was the first veteran in the line of march, and his appearance was the signal for an outburst of the post-up enthusiasm of the watchers. He was accompanied by General Fred B. Wood, adjutant-general of the national guard in Minnesota, and the regimental staff officers of the Minnesota national guard.

The Commander Passes.
As the mounted members of the marshal's staff passed by the watching crowd, a mighty cheer was sent along the line of march from the reverent and the reviewing stand, announced the coming of "Corporal" James Tanner, commander-in-chief of the veteran hosts in the G. A. R. Commander Tanner occupied a carriage with Archbishop Ireland, and the two men received the undivided attention of the passing throngs of veterans and the archbishop rode with heads bowed, acknowledging special bursts of enthusiasm by bowing to the cheering thousands.

The commander-in-chief was escorted by fifty members of the Columbia post of Chicago, dressed in neat blue uniforms, and wearing white helmets. Following the commander-in-chief came a carriage conveying John Tweedale, adjutant-general of the Grand Army, and William F. Rogers, assistant adjutant-general. A. Butts, chief-of-staff and senior aide de camp, mounted on a spirited horse, and the staff of the commander-in-chief. Among the men in the reviewing stand were W. Cook, senior vice commander; S. H. Towler, junior vice commander; Hugo Philler, surgeon general; M. J. Cummings, inspector general; Charles A. Clarke, judge advocate general; J. Henry Holcomb, assistant quartermaster general.

The Flag Passes.
The colors of the national organization, borne by Eben Kneeland, official color-bearer, was the signal for a wild welcome from watching crowds.

The aides to the commander-in-chief, mounted to a man and fifty strong, followed General Butts and his staff and national officers.

Each column of seven members of the executive committee of the national council, riding together and forming the rear guard for the national commandery. All the members of the committee were in line, Thomas W. Scott, John W. Hersey, L. W. Collins, Philip Cheek, Charles E. Foote, Cleveland Tilden and M. B. V. Ives.

1st DIVISION
ILLINOIS.
Commanded by Edwin H. Buck. Aide, Colonel G. E. Thomsen. Total number of veterans, 1,500. Number of posts represented, fifteen. Number of bands and drum corps, ten.

Illinois, first to organize a department of the Grand Army and holding the place of honor at the head of the veterans, was represented in the parade by 1,500 old soldiers. Of the 700 posts in Illinois, 450 were represented in today's parade, although only ten marched in post formation.

Following the headquarters party down the line of march, the Illinois veterans were the first of the state representatives to pass in review before the crowds and the ovation which greeted them was a handsome tribute to the deeds of the Illinois soldiers.

The Illinois department was headed by Edwin H. Buck, department commander, with his staff. The departmental colors were borne by J. B. Mason of Lake county, who rode in a carriage at the head of the Illinois line.

Post No. 1 of Rockford, 125 strong, led by Colonel J. B. Lawler, headed the Illinois delegation. The post was accompanied by its own rifle and drum corps.

In numbers, Thomas post, No. 5, of Chicago, carried off first honors for Illinois, 150 veteran members of the post carrying red, white and blue canes participating in the march.

At the head of Polo post, No. 84, marched Chaucey Pemberton, attired as Uncle Sam, and accompanying the famous Shiloh battle flag.

With Illinois, too, was L. D. Howe of Streator, the youngest soldier of the civil war, who enlisted June 5, 1861, when his age was 10 years, 9 months and 8 days.

2d DIVISION
WISCONSIN.
Commanded by J. M. Jewett of Fox Lake. Aide, Major George H. Lambert. Total number of veterans, 3,000. No. of posts represented, 88. No. of bands or drum corps, 21.

Wisconsin, led by Department Commander J. M. Jewett, mustered 3,000 veterans, and made one of the longest displays of the Grand Army. Department Commander Jewett was Adjutant General Charles Pettibone.

Thanks to its nearness to the scene of action, the badge staff had many posts in line as organizations. Wolcott post of Milwaukee, 127 strong, acted as the escort of Commander Jewett. O. H. Pierce was in command and thirty men were in command and thirty men were in command and thirty men were in command.

Eagle post of Eau Claire was one of the most conspicuous in the department. Carried aloft upon its standard was a stuffed eagle, and "Old Abe," whose stuffed body was destroyed in the burning of the state capital. T. J. Hill, who carried "Old Abe" thru the war, carried the standard. Mr. Hill still bears scars on his left cheek made by "Old Abe," who was very much alive in the stirring days of the war.

Company C of the Eagle Regiment, which fell in with his old command, has been confined to his bed. John W. Ganes of Fox Lake, was in command of the post. R. H. Chute of Minneapolis, and Steve Stewart of Grand Rapids, who followed "Old Abe" to battle, followed "Abe, Jr." in the parade. One hundred and thirty men were in line. Colonel E. M. Barrett of the 30th Wisconsin, also followed the eagle standard.

Wilson Colwell post of La Crosse, under Colonel J. M. Holley, lined up seventy strong. R. A. Nichols post of River Falls, under C. G. Knowles, marched sixty-seven strong, headed by representations of Uncle Sam and Minnesota.

Survivors of the Twenty-ninth Wisconsin infantry marched under the command of Captain C. A. Holmes and Captain O. C. Bissell. John Flynn post of La Crosse, marched under G. Jenks and John M. Hawley led the Wilson Colwell post of the same city. Lieutenant George Brown of the First Wisconsin cavalry, carried a rebel ball and led fifty of his old command. Robert Chitt was post of Milwaukee, marched twenty-five strong, under John Albert. B. J. Humphrey post of New Richmond, twenty-five strong, marched under E. Hand. Baraboo had 175 men in line. Gards post was led by its own drum corps. The Thirty-second Wisconsin infantry lined up seventy-five strong, under Lieutenant B. L. Cornish.

3d DIVISION
PENNSYLVANIA.
Commanded by James Bloom of Allegheny City; aide, Lieutenant George W. Dulaney. Total number of veterans, 1,863. Number of posts, 25. Number of bands or drum corps, 15.

Pennsylvania was one of the largest contributors of troops for the civil war. Accordingly the keystone state has ever since been sending some of the largest delegations to G. A. R. national encampments. Today Pennsylvania had 1,863 men in line, representing 248 different posts. The men marched in a solid column, starting with the men of post No. 1 and ranging back in numerical order, the men of each post being kept together as much as possible.

The Pennsylvania column was headed by Major John Kirk of Harrisburg with the state colors. Major Kirk has carried the state colors at national encampments for a dozen years. At the rear of the division marched Patrick Bear of Washington county, Pennsylvania, a veteran 7 feet 1 inch tall, who looks much taller by reason of wearing a high silk hat. By his side marched a little veteran barely over 6 feet in height.

These two demonstrate that Pennsylvania veterans come from all degrees of men, from the high and the low, "is the way one old soldier put it.

The First Minnesota Ready

VETERANS OF THE FAMOUS NORTH STAR REGIMENT READY TO MARCH.

3d DIVISION
MAINE.
Commanded by Frederick S. Wallis, Vinalhaven, Me. Total number of veterans, 150.

The department of Maine made a good showing of veterans, with the folds of three large flags waving above them. C. B. Tinal, Vinalhaven, Me., was the bearer of a beautiful peace flag, presented to the department by Harry Wisander of Louisville, Ky., an ex-confederate and member of Morgan's cavalry. Frank Pullen of Camden, Me., carried the national colors and three department department flags. Two officers were present, Thomas G. Libby, Vinalhaven, assistant adjutant general, and James F. Armbrust, assistant quartermaster general and three department commanders, James S. Merrick, Waterville; Wainwright Cushing, Foxcroft, and William Z. Clayton, Bangor, who commanded the First Minnesota battery all thru the war.

CALIFORNIA AND NEVADA
Commanded by W. C. Alberger, San Francisco. Total number of veterans, twenty-five.

The department of New Jersey had presented the veterans of California and Nevada with a beautiful set of colors to replace those burned in the Frisco disaster, and these appeared in the parade today, the stars and stripes in the hands of H. C. Anderson, Pomona, Cal., and the department flag raised on high by Levi Garrett of Fresno, Cal. The number of the little band marching side by side was only half of what would have appeared but for the recent catastrophe. The aged commander was accompanied by the assistant adjutant general, John H. Roberts of San Francisco, and a past department commander, Charles T. Rice, Riverside, Cal.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.
Commanded by O. B. Warren, Rochester. Total number of veterans, forty.

Leading the battle-scarred warriors of New Hampshire was Frank C. Grant of Lancaster, 71 years of age, who passed 114 days in Andersonville prison. He held the national colors on high and beside him was T. O. Leary of Lakeville, Minn., who marched with his former command, the 1st New Hampshire infantry. The assistant adjutant general, Frank Battles, of Concord, Me., was there beside his commander.

RHODE ISLAND.
Commanded by George L. Greene, Providence, R. I.—Total number of veterans, twenty.

The veterans of the Rhode Island department were accompanied by Walter Scott, senior vice commander, John Kenyon, junior vice commander, and Philip S. Chase, assistant adjutant general, all of Providence. Three past department commanders, William E. Stone and James S. Hudson of Providence, and Charles F. Moles of Pawtucket, marched along, urging their comrades to present the same splendid showing made in the years when they were commanded. The national colors, carried by John M. Burdick, Riverpoint, were equally inspiring, and the flag, borne by Thomas M. Johnson, Providence, was the stimulus that caused the real veterans of Rhode Island to march with their former jaunty steps.

NEW YORK.
Commanded by John S. Maxwell, department commander; Major G. H. Spear, aide. Total number of veterans, 855. Number of posts represented, 2. Number of bands or drum corps, 1.

New York's showing was especially strong in the commander's staff, one of which is the best made by the empire state veterans in five years. In line there were 855 men who had served their country in its extremity. They came from all over New York and represented an indefinite number of G. A. R. posts.

There were but two posts that marched as posts. These were E. S. Young post, No. 33, of Amsterdam, and Bourke post, No. 1, of Rochester. The other men in line marched simply as members of the New York department.

The New York contingent was headed by Pike's Peak drum corps and band, an organization of twenty pieces. The department was under the command of John S. Maxwell, department commander, assisted by Assistant Adjutant General William F. Miller, Assistant Quartermaster General Frank C. Jones and Isadore Isaacs, chief of staff. There were no special decorations except that each man wore a spray of valley goldenglow, presented by members of the Women's Relief corps.

6th DIVISION
CONNECTICUT
Commanded by V. F. McNeal, Aide, Major Nicholson. Total number of veterans, 40.

Connecticut was first in the sixth division, with Department Commander V. F. McNeal at its head. There were forty veterans in the parade, none of these marching as organizations.

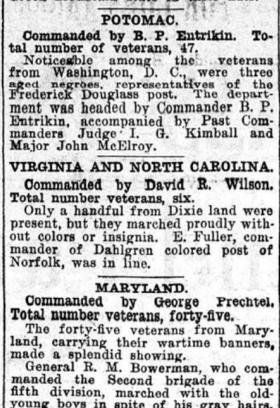

MASSACHUSETTS
Commanded by J. Payson Bradley. Total number of veterans, 120. Number of posts represented, one. Number of bands or drum corps, one band, Battery B, Minneapolis.

The department of Massachusetts was preceded by the full band of Battery B, N. G. S. M. Department Commander J. Payson Bradley leading the delegation, then followed Post No. 15 of Boston with twenty representatives, the only post represented as a post. One hundred other veterans followed.

NEW JERSEY
Commanded by Alfred Atkins, department commander. Total number of veterans, 50.

New Jersey was commanded by Department commander Alfred Atkins. The department was represented by fifty veterans.

He "Marched" on Wheels

WILL H. MASON OF MILWAUKEE, HAS BEEN PARALYZED FOR MANY YEARS, BUT THIS DOES NOT KEEP HIM FROM "MARCHING" WITH THE OLD COMRADES.

POTOMAC.
Commanded by B. P. Entrikin. Total number of veterans, 47.

Noteworthy among the veterans from Washington, D. C., were three aged negroes, representatives of the Frederick Douglass post. The department was headed by Commander B. P. Entrikin, accompanied by Past Commanders Judge I. G. Kimball and Major John McElroy.

VIRGINIA AND NORTH CAROLINA.
Commanded by David R. Wilson. Total number of veterans, six.

Only a handful from Dixie land were present, but they marched proudly with-out colors or insignias. E. Fuller, commander of Dahlgren colored post of Norfolk, was in line.

MARYLAND.
Commanded by George Frechtel. Total number of veterans, forty-five.

The forty-five veterans from Maryland, carrying their wartime banners, made a splendid showing. C. B. Governor, who commanded the Second brigade of the fifth division, marched with the old young boys in spite of his gray hairs. Past veterans in line were Senior Vice Department Commander John F. Holmes, Junior Vice Department Commander Cyrus Sears, Adjutant General J. A. Thompson.

9th DIVISION
NEBRASKA.
Commanded by John E. Maxon, Aid, Major Nicholson. Total number of veterans, 18. Number of bands or drum corps, 1.

Headed by the venerable bugler, O. C. Bell of Lincoln, with the instrument used by him during the war, came Department No. 17, Nebraska. Department Commander John E. Maxon with his staff, senior aide, F. Wambaugh, Adjutant General C. M. Parker and Governor J. H. Mickel, led the column, numbering 394 men, representing 289 posts.

General and three past department commanders, James S. Merrick, Waterville; Wainwright Cushing, Foxcroft, and William Z. Clayton, Bangor, who commanded the First Minnesota battery all thru the war.

10th DIVISION
MICHIGAN.
Commanded by James B. Griswold, Captain Kelly, aide. Total number of veterans, 325. Number of posts represented, 18. Number of bands or drum corps, 2.

Michigan department was headed by the Michigan departmental band. Fairbanks post, No. 17 of Detroit was the only post which marched as such. With its rifle and drum corps it brought up the rear of the Michigan department.

Along with the rifle and drum corps of the Fairbanks post came two of the oldest men in the department. John Benjamin, who plays the fife, and Mr. A. Moon, who plays the bass drum. Mr. Benjamin is a staunch veteran of 70 years and Mr. Moon is, at 76, the humorist of the department.

11th DIVISION
IOWA.
Commanded by Commander C. A. Clark, aide, Major Pearson. Total number of veterans, 2,068. No. of posts represented, 6. Number of bands or drum corps, 1 band, 1 drum corps.

The Iowa department turned out strong for the parade. Crooked No. 12 of Des Moines, in white hats and gloves, marched at the head of the parade as escort to Commander Clark. The Ireton band preceded it as music escort.

The Iowa has 354 posts, most of her veterans marched in other groups than posts. The Iowa department turned out strong for the parade. Crooked No. 12 of Des Moines, in white hats and gloves, marched at the head of the parade as escort to Commander Clark. The Ireton band preceded it as music escort.

12th DIVISION
INDIANA.
Commanded by E. R. Brown, department commander; aide Captain E. G. Falk. Total number of veterans, 314. Number of posts represented, 2. Number of bands or drum corps, 1.

Indiana's contingent of 314 veterans was especially well supplied with post flags and tattered war emblems and their appearance was more than ordinarily reminiscent of the days of '61-'65. Department Commander E. R. Brown was in command and he was assisted by E. R. Pesler, assistant adjutant general and J. D. Gallaher, chief of staff.

The department was headed by Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' Home band from the state orphan's home of Knightstown, Ind. This musical organization organization is made up of little chaps of unusual musical ability. They were in charge of S. Eldridge, bandmaster, and delighted the crowds with their music.

Assistant adjutant general of his state, and sixteen years ago assistant quartermaster of the Minnesota department.

KENTUCKY.
Commanded by George T. Grinstead. Total number of veterans, 123. Number of bands or drum corps, one.

Kentucky had no posts marching as separate organizations in the line of march. The Kentuckians marched in one body as a state division, headed by their own drum corps.

WEST VIRGINIA.
Commanded by Thomas M. Mills, New Martinsville. Total number of veterans, 93.

No division made more noise along the line of march than did the comparative handful of veterans from West Virginia. These men hailed with them the famous Custer memorial cannon, a brass two-pounder which has become famous in past national encampments. There are an even dozen men in the West Virginia division who were with Custer in the civil war. They were designated from others marching by red scarves tied around one arm. The Custer cannon is cast entirely from war relics. These include army spears, eagles, bugles, army spurs, seventy belt buckles, four pounds of brass buttons, thirteen spoons, 4 1/2 pounds harness trimmings, thirteen spoons, three gold dollars, etc. The cannon was in charge of James Dix, now of Newcastle, Pa., but a member of the G. A. R. post at Parkersburg, W. Va. He has had personal charge of the field-piece for twenty-one national encampments past, twenty-two state reunions and three regimental meetings. Along the line of march Trax fired sixty rounds of ammunition. Trax is not only proud of the best displays of the day.

KANSAS.
Commanded by B. H. Coney, Topeka. Aide, Captain W. J. Murphy. Total number of veterans, 50. Number of posts represented, 25. Number of bands or drum corps, 5.

Kansas with 500 veterans in line, made a splendid showing. Wearing sunflowers in coat lapels and carrying canes decked with sunflowers the men from the "jayhawk" state made one of the best displays of the day. F. E. Coney of Topeka, a candidate for the leadership of the Grand Army, headed the Kansas and every one of the Kansas veterans wore a Corey belt.

The department was led by the Modoc Glee club of Topeka and the Kappa Gamma Clay Center band, and rifle and drum corps were scattered at intervals thru the line. The Lincoln post rifle and drum corps was one of the largest military organizations of the character in line.

Lincoln post, No. 1, of Topeka, had 200 men in line and made a splendid showing. Four members of the post drew the famous "Billy Sherman" howitzer the length of the march. The gun has been prominent in Grand Army parades since 1866.

DELAWARE.
Commanded by Lewis Cooper of Wilmington. Total number of veterans, 15. Number of posts represented, 4. Number of bands or drum corps, none.

Delaware's delegation in the Grand Army parade was limited to 15 veterans, but the handful of Delaware men were given as hearty a reception by the crowd as if they had come to Minneapolis a thousand strong.

Six of the Delaware men came from Wilmington but there were no post distinctions and the Delaware fifteen marched shoulder to shoulder under the departmental standard.

14th DIVISION
MISSOURI.
Commanded by J. M. Williams. Total number of veterans, 324. Number of posts, three. Number of bands or drum corps, one.

Three Missouri posts marched in line in separate bodies, all three being of St. Louis, Blair post, No. 1, Azendabing No. 13 and Ranson No. 131. Blair post was accompanied by a drum corps. The other veterans of Missouri, not in the posts, marched as one body under the state colors.

OREGON.
Commanded by Homer Sutcliffe of Portland. Total number of veterans, twenty-seven.

Twenty-seven men marched in line representing the G. A. R. veterans of Oregon. Among this number it is interesting to note was R. V. Pratt, as-

WASHINGTON AND ALASKA
Commanded by C. B. Dunning. Total number of veterans, 41.

The Washington and Alaska department was led by Miss Grace McCarty. She is one of the veterans said, "a production of the Washington, also her name is French."

General H. A. Bigelow, a past department commander, was in the formation.

16th DIVISION
NEW MEXICO
Commanded by Captain W. B. Brunton. Total number of veterans, 3.

New Mexico had a small but distinguished contingent in the parade. Captain Brunton of the Second Iowa cavalry led the party. A. D. Higgins of the One Hundred and Fourteenth Illinois infantry, the assistant adjutant general, was the rank and file. Rev. Thomas Hartwood, late chaplain of the Twenty-fifth Wisconsin infantry and for twenty years department chaplain, carried the colors.

UTAH.
Commanded by E. M. Sperry. Total number of veterans, eight.

Utah's department was one of the smallest in line, but the gold miners marched as steadily and proudly as any of the larger departments.

TENNESSEE.
Commanded by General John T. Wilder. Total number of veterans, twenty.

General Wilder, who is still reviewed from Tennessee from his chamber window at the Brunswick. Captain A. J. Gahagan, post district commander, led the marching line. General W. J. Smith, a veteran of the Mexican war, who is 87 years young, marched with the department. George W. Rodebaugh of the regular army, who was with this division, claims the distinction of being the oldest veteran in line. He is 92 years of age. Mr. Rodebaugh visited the present site of Minneapolis with the General Carr expedition.

FLORIDA.
Commanded by William Emerson of Tampa. Total number of veterans, twenty-five.

Florida was distinguished in the parade by close surmounted by pineapples and decked with Spanish moss. With Commander Emerson was Captain

James of Jacksonville, post district commander.

MONTANA.
Commanded by Colonel A. J. Fisk. Total number of veterans, twenty.

One of the youngest and most vigorous departments in the line was the Montana contingent of twenty-five.

LOUISIANA AND MISSISSIPPI.
Commanded by Colonel Charles W. Keeting. Total number of veterans, thirty-two.

Carrying stalks of sugar cane, decked with rice and cotton bolls, the veterans of Mississippi and Louisiana, mostly from colored regiments, presented a striking appearance. With Colonel Keeting was Assistant Adjutant General Charles H. Shute, Paul Bruce, F. C. Antoine and Louis Herman.

17th DIVISION
TEXAS
Commanded by W. H. Harvey. Total number of veterans, eighteen.

About thirty Texans are here, but only a portion of them felt in mind to march. The distinctive insignia of the department was a forehead and horns of a longhorn Texas steer mounted on a pole.

IDAHO.
Commanded by Alfred Anderson. Total number of veterans, twenty-five.

The Idaho veterans did not bring a band with them, but secured the Independent in the first place. The four platoons into which the department was divided were led by Post Senior Vice Commander Charles H. Shute, Paul Bruce, F. C. Antoine and Louis Herman.

GEORGIA.
Total number of veterans, twenty-seven.

A stuffed alligator mounted on a pole was carried at the head of the Georgia delegation. Commander Kimball said that he brought forty men with him, but did not march that number in line.

ALABAMA
Commanded by Junior Vice Commander W. M. Campbell.

North Dakota was preceded by the State Military band of Lisbon, N. D. At the head of the delegation was Commander B. F. Bigelow. Following the commander were Comrade John F. Briggs, dressed as Uncle Sam, and Miss Marion Mercer, adopted granddaughter of the Willis A. Gorman post of Grand Forks. Comrade Briggs is 87 years of age and has Mercer 11. Briggs participated in the First Wisconsin cavalry. Each veteran in the march had cockade, boutonniere and a cane of wheat on the stem.

18th DIVISION
NORTH DAKOTA
Commanded by B. F. Bigelow, Aide, Captain O. E. Smith. Total number of veterans, 400.

North Dakota was preceded by the State Military band of Lisbon, N. D. At the head of the delegation was Commander B. F. Bigelow. Following the commander were Comrade John F. Briggs, dressed as Uncle Sam, and Miss Marion Mercer, adopted granddaughter of the Willis A. Gorman post of Grand Forks. Comrade Briggs is 87 years of age and has Mercer 11. Briggs participated in the First Wisconsin cavalry. Each veteran in the march had cockade, boutonniere and a cane of wheat on the stem.

OKLAHOMA AND INDIAN TERRITORY
Commanded by Captain H. Vesteh, chief of staff. Total number of veterans, Oklahoma 50, Indian Territory 10.

The department of Oklahoma and Indian Territory marched together. They were preceded by the Oklahoma City drum corps, with Comrade Anderson at their head. The corps is composed entirely of veterans. Each veteran in the parade carried a ear of Oklahoma corn and a Wolfriver apple.

19th DIVISION
MINNESOTA
Commanded by Lewis Longfellow. Total number of veterans, 5,000. Number of posts represented, forty. Number of bands or drum corps, twenty-five.

To Minnesota, the entertaining state, comes the honor of having the largest number of veterans in Wisconsin cavalry. Last Minnesota veteran passed the reviewing stand it was announced that more than 5,000 old soldiers representing the Grand Army of the Republic every part of the state and representing every post in the state, the veterans of the war had flocked to Minneapolis to participate in the review of the Grand Army host.

Minnesota as hostess came last in the line of march, but the crowd had been waiting for the appearance of the home veterans and the coming of the wave of enthusiasm equalled only by the ovation given Commander Tanner swept down the line of march, keeping pace with the veteran line.

The posts marched in the following order:
First Division.
Miller Post No. 1, Stillwater.
Cady Post No. 2, Ancker.
Burdick Post No. 3, Spring Valley.
