GOVERNOR'S CAMPAIGN OPENS IN MINNEAPOLIS

Governor Johnson will open his campaign in Minneapolis this year, as he did two years ago. He will speak at the Auditorium next Monday evening, and his associate on the platform will be Mayor E. F. Dunne of Chicago. Speech and address of the keynote for the democratic state campaign, so it will have more than local interest. The democratic managers are planning a series of public demonstrations. They expect to fill the hall, bringing a crowd from St. Paul and from other adjoining towns, and to muster thousands of the local democracy. Many republicans will swell the crowd, of course, going out of curiosity to hear what the governor has to say.

READY FOR JUBILEE

Gethsemane Church, Improved, to Be Reopened Next Sunday. Gethsemane Episcopal church, which has been closed for six weeks undergoing repairs and improvements, will be reopened next Sunday. These repairs and improvements are anticipatory of the jubilee services which will be held in October, in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the church. Gethsemane was the first religious body to have a building of its own for public worship on this side of the river, and the services next month will, therefore, be of a very interesting character. The improvements that have been made are the complete redecoration of the interior, the tiling of the central aisle and the substituting of electric light for gas. At the close of the morning service next Sunday the jubilee committee will make a report of its progress.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, WIS.—The annual payment of bonds here begun by Agent Young. About $14,000 will be paid here. The payment is two months earlier than usual.

HIGH GRADE PIANOS AT LESS THAN COST

Included in the 250 pianos offered at our Eleventh Annual Sale are many high grade instruments priced at actually less than it cost to make them at the factory. They are not perfectly new pianos. Some of them have been used as samples, and the polish shows the effect of it a trifle. Others are "shop worn"—have stood in our showrooms longer than they should. Still others have been actual service in the home. But all are in perfect shape—perfect in action, newly tuned and right in every way. We wouldn't offer them at any price if they weren't. Besides these there are nearly 125 brand new pianos with the prices cut way down, because we are going to discontinue carrying those particular kinds. All of these were bought by us for less money than any other house in this city can buy them—because we are the largest buyers, and the only large-quantity spot-cash buyers in Minneapolis. We bought them for less—and now we offer them at ridiculously low figures to close them out. That, in short, is the exact situation. In the list of used and shopworn pianos can be found such famous makes as Hardman, Mehlin, Krakauer, McPhail, Behning, Sterling and "Crown." Used pianos going for $15, $25, $40, $55, $60, $70, $80, $110, $120, $140, $155, $160, $170, $190, $210, $230, $245. Terms reduced for this great sale to $2, $3, $4, $5, $6 and $7 a month. OPEN EVENINGS Representatives for the Knabe-Angelus Piano.

EQUALIZERS MEET BUT DO NO WORK

STATE AUDITOR STILL LACKS COUNTY REPORTS.

Rule Is Adopted to Devote Forenoons to Board Sessions and Afternoons to Committee Work—Committee on Corporations Will Not Meet Until Next Week—List of Committees.

The state board of equalization met today in its first business session, and it sat till noon, accomplished little beyond preliminary work. The chair announced W. A. Hardenburg of St. Paul as reading clerk, and W. R. Hodges of Sleepy Eye as recording clerk. There are still a couple of counties whose abstracts are not in the hands of the state auditor, and hence the state totals cannot be made with exactness in any of the various classes. Last year the board met in the retiring room of the senate. This year the board has been given larger quarters, the main hall of the atrium on the third floor of the building.

Only Half-Day Sessions.

A motion by Mr. Hardenburg of St. Paul was unanimously adopted to the effect that the board shall meet every day at 9:30 a.m. and continue in session till 1 p.m., and that the afternoons be given to committee work. This probably means that the democratic board will not hurt itself in trying to outdo its republican predecessors in hard work; that the board will meet really for half-day sessions, for the committee meetings amount to little after the first week. One of the most important committees is that on corporations. This committee will not meet till next week. It is likely the public service corporations will be considered under the board has about completed all its other work.

List of Committees.

The chairman announced the appointment of those committees named at the special meeting of the board last February, as follows: Board of Equalization—W. A. Hardenburg, chairman; W. R. Hodges, J. P. Brown, John Heinen, William Gausewitz. Estimating House, etc.—James W. Weatherhead, chairman; C. O'Brien, C. E. Vassily. Logs and Lumber—L. B. Elwood, chairman; R. D. Daly, J. P. Brown, James Weatherhead, T. J. Meighan, W. A. Hardenburg, E. T. Champlin, C. E. Vassily. Sewing Machines—W. R. Hodges, chairman; J. P. Brown, James Weatherhead, T. J. Meighan, W. A. Hardenburg, E. T. Champlin, Andrew Notte, T. J. Meighan, E. T. Champlin, Andrew Franchises—Thomas J. Meighan, chairman; R. T. Daly, L. B. Elwood. Goods and Merchandise—W. A. Hardenburg, chairman; S. J. Mealy, S. B. Nelson, C. O'Brien, E. T. Champlin. Manufacturers' Tools and Machinery—Classes 17 and 18—William Gausewitz, chairman; H. L. Shirley, James Weatherhead, H. L. Shirley. Public Service Corporations—S. J. Mealy, chairman; T. J. Meighan, W. A. Hardenburg, E. T. Champlin, C. E. Vassily. Little Falls; eighth, Theo. Welland, chairman; ninth, W. R. Hodges, Sleepy Eye; tenth, James Weatherhead, Sleepy Eye; eleventh, James Weatherhead, Duluth; twelfth, R. T. Daly, Itasca; thirteenth, James Weatherhead, Nelson, Duluth; fourteenth, James Weatherhead, Brainerd; fifteenth, E. L. Shirley, Blue Earth City; eighteenth, B. J. Mealy, Monticello.

CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE CONVENTION IS NEAR

The Minneapolis branch of the Christian and Missionary alliance will hold a three days' convention Sept. 9, 10 and 11, at the First Baptist church, Tenth street and Harmon place. The following persons will be present and address the meetings: Dr. W. T. Gray, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Henry Wilson, New York city; Dr. J. E. Marsh of Sunderland, England; Rev. W. T. MacArthur of Chicago, and probably others. The convention will begin Sunday at 3 p.m., and only one service will be held that day. On Monday and Tuesday there will be three services each day at 10 a.m., 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., at which addresses will be delivered by the different speakers. The Christian alliance is not a denomination, it is strictly undenominational and all evangelical denominations are represented in it.

OCTOGENARIAN TO 'WORKS'

James O'Connor, 80 years old, who assisted Charles Schulzander, an inmate at the county poor farm, was sent to the workhouse today for thirty days on a charge of vagrancy. When O'Connor is released his case will be a puzzle for the charitable organizations, for he is incorrigible at the poor farm and other institutions have refused to keep him for the same reasons.

New Tube a Marvel.

"In many respects this new tube is remarkable. Instead of forcing the carrier thru by compressing the air behind it, it is drawn thru by a vacuum in air in front and letting in a low-pressure current of air behind. Back traps are arranged in this tube which make it necessary to supply power only to that section of the tube thru which the carrier is traveling, thus cutting down the cost. The inventor claims, and his assertions look reasonable, that he can send a carrier from New York to Chicago at the rate of 400 miles an hour thru a four-foot tube at less expense than it costs in New York to send a carrier three miles thru an eight-inch tube. The absence of pressure makes a light tube possible and thus the expense which would attend the construction of a tube heavy enough to stand the tremendous pressure of fifteen or more atmospheres used in the compressed air system. "With all these improvements coming in a short time the task of designing the new Minneapolis office will be largely one of reading the future. It is certain that the city will have enough city to need a fully developed substitution system with all the best mechanical appliances."

PLANS AUTO MATINEES

Minneapolis Auto Club May Wait Till Sept. 22. Saturday matinees, planned by the Automobile club for every alternate Saturday commencing Sept. 15, may not materialize until a week later, according to the committee on arrangements, which met last night at the club in the Plaza. The postponement of the first meet may be made necessary by the horse show, which is to be held on the fair grounds the week commencing Sept. 15. The following committee on classification was appointed: C. A. Patton, P. H. Brooks, L. H. Pflger, Assa Baine.

PENCE BLOCK LOTS PUT UNDER OPTION

COMMITTEES PREPARE TO TENDER POSTOFFICE SITE.

Question of Location Still Open But Indications Are That Block Opposite Old City Hall Will Be Chosen—New Building Will Embody Ideas for Future Improvements.

Options on the Pence block are being secured today for J. Knox Taylor, supervising architect in charge of the postoffice investigation for the government. The committee has prepared yesterday to give a full list of the property and is completing the list today. As an open expression went yesterday at the conference in the Commercial club between the special committees and Mr. Taylor, the Pence block was favored. It is understood, however, that several independent tenders will be made to the government by citizens who own suitable property and by real estate men who are interested in getting a site farther south. No bitterness is expected to result from the site selection, as the matter has been open for a long time, and the government will make its choice, it is presumed, independent of local differences, and solely on the merits of the site as a location, proving it is within the appropriation.

Built for the Future.

Future developments in the system of receiving and dispatching mails will be amply provided for in the designing of the new Minneapolis postoffice, no matter where it may be located. Many of the characteristic features of the present day postoffice will be missing, and provision will be made for improvements in system and mechanical handling which may not be installed in the next decade. This was the statement made today by Mr. Taylor. "Great forward steps are being made in the handling of mails," said Mr. Taylor. "Our task in designing a postoffice for Minneapolis will be to provide for the changes already made and so to construct it that the improvements of the future can be readily installed. "The substitution system, belt carriers, and pneumatic tubes are three of the features of the advanced postoffice. Many of the old-fashioned methods and the building will be built accordingly. Allowance for the installation of the last two will have to be made in the original plans.

Central Shipping Office.

"Central postoffices in large cities are becoming great shipping offices rather than distributing points. The function of the central office is to sort and dispatch the outgoing mail and turn the incoming mail over to the sub-offices as rapidly as possible. Few if any boxes or parcels of considerable weight will be installed in the new office. Under the substitution system the city is divided into districts, as equal as possible in population, each with a substation. The railway clerks sort the city mail by substations and make it up in sacks for them just as they would for delivery to country towns. These sacks are opened at the central office but are sent intact to the substations, where the carriers distribute them. This does away entirely with the sorting of incoming mail at the office of the central office work almost half. Of course all the outgoing mail is sorted and sacked at the central office. "This is the system of the future, and the new Minneapolis office will be designated to handle mail in this way. It reduces the floorpace, does away with the delivery of mail by pneumatic tube, and greatly increases the dispatch with which the mail is distributed. The extra work comes on the railway clerks, who have to be thoroughly familiar with the routes by which they run and to be able to tell at a glance from an address what substation should handle that piece. "Two mechanics are being developed to get the most out of this system. They are the belt carrier from the depot to the central station and the pneumatic tube to the substitution.

Endless Belt System.

"At St. Louis an endless belt runs thru a tunnel from the central office to the railway station. All mail sacks are thrown on this belt, which conveys them quickly to the postoffice and dumps them into a hopper. The possibility of installing such a conveyor in this city is one of the reasons why the site selected must be near the railway station. "Pneumatic tubes, heretofore crude affairs, are now coming into their own. Those in Chicago are eight inches in diameter and the mail is carried in special carriers before it can be transmitted. In Pittsburgh they are experimenting with a tube four feet in diameter, which is exhausted by a tube of the accepted type, but which works on a new principle, cheaper and more effective than the compressed air system. If this system proves efficient as it promises to be we can install two-foot tubes leading to substations and shoot the mail without removing it from the sack.

New Tube a Marvel.

"In many respects this new tube is remarkable. Instead of forcing the carrier thru by compressing the air behind it, it is drawn thru by a vacuum in air in front and letting in a low-pressure current of air behind. Back traps are arranged in this tube which make it necessary to supply power only to that section of the tube thru which the carrier is traveling, thus cutting down the cost. The inventor claims, and his assertions look reasonable, that he can send a carrier from New York to Chicago at the rate of 400 miles an hour thru a four-foot tube at less expense than it costs in New York to send a carrier three miles thru an eight-inch tube. The absence of pressure makes a light tube possible and thus the expense which would attend the construction of a tube heavy enough to stand the tremendous pressure of fifteen or more atmospheres used in the compressed air system. "With all these improvements coming in a short time the task of designing the new Minneapolis office will be largely one of reading the future. It is certain that the city will have enough city to need a fully developed substitution system with all the best mechanical appliances."

HARD-PRESSED FOR ANTI-JONES ISSUE

FOLLOWERS OF DR. WILLIAMS SEEK CAMPAIGN THUNDER.

At Two Meetings the Spellbinders Tie Themselves Up in a Tangle of Contradictory Statements and Flounder About in the Meshes, Never Meeting Law Enforcement Issue.

That the U. G. Williams campaign seeking to overthrow the administration of Mayor Jones is hard pressed for some issue, anything that will do as campaign material, is demonstrated at every meeting where the Williams cause is advocated to any extent. The issue of strict law enforcement laid down by Mayor Jones is avoided and never squarely and directly met. The result is a mass of contradictions. That this is true was demonstrated at two meetings last night, one in the eighth ward and one in the thirteenth ward, and by two speakers, Paul Fontaine and Dr. T. J. Reid. Dr. Reid, who is a candidate for the legislature in the forty-fourth district, spoke in the eighth ward meeting at 2050 Nicollet avenue, and Mr. Fontaine spoke at both the eighth ward gathering and the thirteenth ward meeting at Nicollet and Forty-third street.

Attack Civil Service.

Dr. Reid attempts to bring some new charges against the mayor. First he attacked the civil service of police. "It is a known fact," said Dr. Reid, "that Mr. Jones turns his back on nobody but his friends. Think that that means. He says he has applied for a position in the police department. That may be a good thing; it means putting democrats on equal footing with republicans when he has favors to live up to. This feature of failing to live up to the old victor-and-spoils system of politics was expatiated on to some length. Another charge brought by the same speaker was failure to be led by the nose at the dictation of political bosses and refusal to stand for and support a man he believed unfit. Dr. Reid went on to assert that the saloon policy of the mayor has cut off a valuable source of information for the police. "The policy of the mayor, I am told, has alienated the saloon men, and longer assist the police department. Many of the old-time saloon men are well-known fact that every police force a certain number of the detectives must live with and be close to who are not the friends of crime. To hide itself in their haunts, the police policy has cut these people off and they no longer give any assistance. "The speaker had continually referred to the promise of his candidate for a clean administration and law enforcement, he intimated that all this would be different with Mayor Jones and that the friendly interest of the dive keepers cultivated.

Do What Is Best.

"Do what is best," said the speaker, "is the function of the mayor. It is the function of an executive serving the public. That is what Dr. Williams has said he will do. What more is necessary to prove this? "The speaker then giving tribute to Dr. Williams, extolling him as a man and as an official. Mr. Jones was painted as a man without friends, one who lacks the friendly interest and could have a stronger grip on the city than one breath the speaker announced that all the Williams supporters will support Jones if Jones is nominated. In the next breath he proclaimed Jones' utter defeat at a vote against the democratic candidate because he would not have the party support. This is a republican party. An effort was made to bring in a large percentage of the labor vote of the city, but the speaker stated that the labor vote of the city will not support Mr. Jones and that it is in a body behind Dr. Williams. "The statement was 'called' from the audience by C. H. Axelson, a teacher. "If Dr. Williams has the labor vote solid behind him, why is it that he is supporting a candidate of his own on the democratic ticket?" asked the questioner. "There is a candidate, W. H. Williams, state labor commissioner, who is running for mayor on the other ticket and has the support of labor, both organized and unorganized." Dr. Reid made an attempt to evade the question at first, but finally made a loophole by saying that he would vote for the democratic candidate if the republican party. Another supporter attempted to take up the argument outside and declared Dr. Williams has the endorsement of labor and no solid labor vote. When pushed to prove up on his statement he retired inside the hall. Mr. Fontaine covered a wide field in his remarks, but succeeded in contradicting himself rather than proving anything. He also brought up the importance of close relationship with the underworld for bringing about the detection of criminals. He once more announced that he and his candidate favored closing the saloons and would close them, and the next moment he said they must be given more latitude.

FEW TRANSFERS GRANTED

The office of the superintendent of schools was flooded yesterday with applications for transfers from one school to another, few were granted. Superintendent Jordan holds that in most cases it is drawn better for children to remain in buildings where they are familiar with the teachers than to transfer every time their parents move. The school opened yesterday with about 75 per cent of the attendance expected by the end of the term. The teachers deprived of their rooms by the burning of the Rosedale school have been given temporary vacancies in the teaching force.

PIGS AND CHICKS KILLED BY HAIL

STORM IN GRAND FORKS COUNTY ESPECIALLY DAMAGING.

85 Per Cent of the Flax Crop Is Ruined, Grain in Shock Shelled and Many Promising Pieces of Corn Out to Pieces—Some Farmers Are Plowing Damaged Fields.

Special to The Journal. Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 5.—It was not until yesterday that reports reached the city of the most destructive hailstorm that has visited Grand Forks county in years. The storm came from the northwest, striking south of McClure, and extended in a southeasterly direction to the Red river in the vicinity of Belcourt and Caledonia. It covered an area four miles wide, and it is estimated that 85 per cent of the flax crop in that path was ruined. South of McClure the hail struck the section farm of W. E. Holt, Linton, and Mr. Holt's Edson farm ago. It is estimated that at least 2,000 bushels of wheat in the shock there was some damage to wheat in the shock. The hail followed the Turtle river to the street where that small piece of the hail was referred to. A hundred acres of oats on the Edson farm were killed, and the fine field of corn that had been referred to often during the season was cut to shreds. All of the windows on the north and west sides of the buildings in that neighborhood were broken. The hail missed the Barrett farm, south of Arvilla, which was directly in its path, but much damage was done on the Richard Hobbs farm, as well as on that of Bert Green in the immediate neighborhood.

More Destructive Near River.

The storm increased in violence as it moved toward the river, and at Thompson much damage was done. J. M. O'Neale expects to plow under fifty acres of flax, which he says was entirely ruined, and he reports the flax crop in the south of the storm as practically ruined, estimating the loss at 85 per cent of the flax crop. Other fields were not so badly damaged as those on the O'Neale farm, but there is very little left in the path of the hail that will be worth cutting. The hail did some damage in Hegton, Arvilla, Chester, Fairbairn, Alameda, Wallis, Americus and Sued townships.

Estate Sued for $10,000.

J. H. McVeety, who lives at Fargo, and is a member of the Western Collection agency in this city, has filed a claim against the estate of A. J. Gallagher, for $10,000, for injuries by falling on the floor of the toilet room in the Lynch & Gallagher saloon in East Grand street. B. S. Brynjolfson is the North Dakota administrator of the Gallagher estate, and the claim has been filed with the latter. Gallagher, a partner of M. J. Lynch, under the firm name of Lynch & Gallagher, died suddenly in St. Paul last night. Since his death Mr. Lynch has conducted the saloon, and recently Mr. Gallagher's interests were sold.

Out of these, two first certificates, two state certificates, 109 first grades and 602 second grades were granted. Of those who applied for first grades, 82 were granted second grades on their applications, 204 of the first grade applicants failed entirely, while 294 of the second grade applicants failed to meet the requirements.
