

TOMORROW: MINNEAPOLIS DAY AT THE STATE FAIR

CRY FOR VENGEANCE FOR BANK'S FAILURE

Patrons of Defunct Real Estate Trust Company Demand the Punishment of Guilty.

NONE WILL BE SPARED; MORE MAY BE ARRESTED

Prominent Men of Philadelphia in Danger—Gigantic Conspiracy, Bell Charges.

Philadelphia, Sept. 6.—Rumors of arrests of directors of the looted Real Estate Trust company fill the air today. District Attorney Bell declared in the most emphatic terms that no man would be spared in the effort to bring to justice those responsible for the dissipation of the depositors' money.

The statement is made that two directors who are also members of the bar, have profited to the extent of $750,000 in the past three years by accepting fees from Adolph Segal for passing on security tendered by him for loans from the bank aggregating $3,300,000.

New Frauds Revealed.

So far as is known, warrants have not yet been issued for these men, but the public is being kept with breathless interest sensational arrests of directors who stood high in the community before the crash and exposure came.

President Hipple's plaintive cry from his grave, "Segal got all," has aroused the depositors to a high pitch of indignation. Lawyers representing many hundreds of them are taking an active part in the investigation of the affairs of the trust company, and facts are coming to light almost hourly revealing new forms of duplicity on the part of the men entrusted with the depositors' money and the trust funds of large and small estates.

Segal Has Hearing.

The hearing in the cases of Adolph Segal, the promoter of many industrial enterprises, William F. North, treasurer of the trust company, and M. S. Collingwood, the assistant treasurer, who were arrested yesterday on charges of aiding in the wrecking of the company, was held before Magistrate Kockersperger today and lasted several hours. The courtroom was crowded with men well known in the financial world who came to listen to the story of the closing of the company. Segal, the principal living figure in the case, was surrounded by several attorneys with whom he had recently consulted.

Gigantic Conspiracy.

District Attorney Bell in outlining his case said he would prove that the accused men with Hipple were engaged in a gigantic conspiracy to defraud the trust company, and that as a result of their acts more than $5,000,000 had been abstracted from the institution and embezzled for the use of one man—Adolph Segal.

The active persons in the conspiracy, he said, were Hipple and Segal. The passive agents were North and Collingwood, he continued, who wickedly and wrongfully stood by and saw the others led to the institution and never gave a warning.

Church Deposits Low.

Investigation shows that the looting of the trust company will cost the Presbyterians less than $100,000, and the leaders of that faith are congratulating themselves that President Hipple chose an opportune time for committing suicide, as far as the church is concerned, the funds and deposits being low at this time of the year.

Receiver Earle expresses the opinion that President Hipple was "a money man," and that there seemed to be no end to the variety of methods by which he juggled with securities which fell into his hands and concerning which he sought to deceive the directors. "He was not content with stealing the same bond or stock over and over," said Mr. Earle, "but did it several times over."

Tricks Deceived Church.

It has been established that the substitution of bogus securities for good bonds among the trust securities of the Presbyterian general assembly board was accomplished by Mr. Hipple thru a species of sleight-of-hand.

He went to the box in the vault containing the trust securities in question on the pretext of cutting coupons in order to cash them and place the proceeds to the credit of the board. After the box was opened Hipple informed the clerk that somebody at the door wanted to see him for a moment. The clerk unsuspectingly left Hipple alone for this brief interval.

The time was so convenient to enable Hipple to substitute two bogus bonds for two genuine bonds, which he afterward hypothecated for the benefit of himself or Segal.

LAST NOTE ACCUSES SEGAL

"I Have Been Fooled," Wrote Hipple Before Killing Himself.

Philadelphia, Sept. 6.—"I have been fooled. Segal got the money. There is no one to blame but myself." This is Frank K. Hipple's last message. Today it will come, an accusing voice from the grave, to demand that justice be meted out to Adolph Segal, financial hypnotist and man of many enterprises.

Back of it, upon the witness stand, will rise a slim, youthful figure, his voice joined to those of other accusers, the figure of P. Wharton Hipple, son of the president of the Real Estate Trust company. This is the message which caused John H. Converse, hard-headed business man, even-tempered exponent of universal charity, to cry out passionately:

"Segal hypnotized Frank Hipple; turned him from right to evil; made of him a thief!"

The message was found in Hipple's room the morning he was found stretched stark and stiff in the bathroom of his home with a bullet hole thru his head. The son, who will testify against Segal, found it. The message was a mere scrawl. It was written in ink on the back of an envelope. Near the end of the last sentence, the ink spread out into a pale blot. The blot may have been caused by the splash of a tear that came from the very soul of the tortured man.

They asked the commission to make a ruling compelling the defendants to desist from their alleged unlawful practices and to accord such further relief to which they may be entitled.

The crimes for which Williams and Combs were executed were murders of a most atrocious character. Their victims were women of their race.

Williams shot and killed Mrs. Mary Quincey, his mother-in-law, at her home in this city on Sept. 16 last year, without any apparent provocation.

Turning Back on Pleading Brother, Man Goes to Fulfill Suicide Pact.

SEARCH FOR MOSES TO REPAIR DAMAGE

Conservatives of Party Already in Hunt for Candidates to Oppose Radicalism.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Bryan's Jefferson club speech in Chicago has set the east and south by the ears even more than the Madison Square Garden keynote sounded on "homcoming" day in New York. Text democratic congressional headquarters genuine consternation reigns.

This is "heaping Ossa upon Polon" a certain way in New York. "Bryan may climb to the gods on the mountain he is building, but it is doubtful if it will elevate him to the head of the democratic ticket in 1908."

Let eye and ear be alert to see and hear something of a new candidate of the safe and sane variety rising in opposition to the Nebraska wildcat in the next few weeks. Conferences looking to such a development are being held in New York and Washington right now, and perhaps very soon public statements from some of the big party guns, who a week ago regarded Bryan as a sure thing will give the cue for seizing upon some other piece of supposedly available timber.

May Be Bailey.

It may be Bailey of Texas, the biggest statesman democracy has had in the senate in many years. If things go a certain way in New York, it may be Jerome or whoever, aside from Hearst, may be nominated for governor by the Buffalo convention this morning.

Whoever is chosen, a fight for control of the national convention two years hence between somewhat the same elements that struggled for mastery in 1904, now seems to be on, with Hearst and his personal followers outside the breastworks planning a ticket and a party of their own.

Bailey Is Disgusted.

New York, Sept. 6.—Disgusted by Bryan's government ownership declaration in Madison Square Garden, Senator Bailey of Texas has withdrawn his acceptance of an invitation to take part in the reception to Bryan in Louisville, Ky., next Wednesday, and will not be present. Senator Bailey in a few days will make a statement expressing his emphatic dissent from Bryan's views.

It was learned that for forty minutes immediately prior to Bryan's going upon the stage at Madison Square Garden, Senator Bailey was with him, begging him not to deliver that part of his speech relating to government ownership of railroads.

When Bryan reached the government ownership paragraph in his speech, Senator Bailey arose and left the Garden.

Dunlap and John Stark, prominent farmers of this county, over herding cattle in a roadway between their farms, resulted in a suit by Stark upon Dunlap with a loaded buggy wheel, seriously injuring him. Easton, Conn., Sept. 6.—Miss Eliza Falchold Wheeler, mother of Professor A. M. Wheeler of Yale, died yesterday at the age of 101 years.

TURNING BACK ON PLEADING BROTHER, MAN GOES TO FULFILL SUICIDE PACT.

New York, Sept. 6.—A dramatic scene occurred at the French line pier today, just before the steamer La Provence left for Havre. Among the passengers was Luigi Contarini, 34 years old, who was bound for his old home in Locca, province of Lombardy, Italy, to keep a suicide pact to die on his sweetheart's grave.

Antonio Contarini, a brother of the passenger, created the scene and afterward shot his brother's steamer.

He said that Luigi became betrothed to Josephine Ballatini, a girl in his native town. Her parents opposed the match, preferring a wealthier suitor and Luigi, with his sweetheart's promise to keep faith, came to this country to seek his fortune. He established himself at Beaver, Okla., where he secured a farm. Then he wrote for Josephine to come, but she replied that she could not; that her parents forbade; that she intended to commit suicide and that she expected Luigi to join her in death.

Turns Back, Goes Abroad.

News that the girl had carried out her purpose followed and Luigi sold his property at Beaver and started for Italy to kill himself on the girl's grave. He finally turned back to the pier and on the pier today Antonio made his final appeal. He clung to his brother affectionately, imploring him not to go. Luigi finally turned back to the pier and half dragged his brother to an open space on the pier, fell on his knees, raised a crucifix aloft and renewed his pleadings. Luigi could not be moved, and finally turning his back on Antonio, went on board La Provence.

When the ship sailed Luigi stood at the rail watching Antonio, who had again fallen to his knees and, with outstretched arms, was beckoning to his brother.

GAVE HIS LIFE TO SAVE STRANGERS

Mountaineer Rescues Mountain Climbers and Is Then Dashed to Death.

Interlaken, Sept. 6.—Two Lucerne tradesmen who started from Goeschene on a mountain excursion without guides, broke thru the treacherous snow and fell into crevasse while crossing Si Fellen glacier. They undoubtedly would have perished had not the accident been observed by Joseph Gehrig, a peasant so poor as to be occupied on that high mountain gleaming handfuls of hay. He was forced to mow with a rope around his waist and carry home his harvest in a package on his head. Gehrig heroically let himself down to crevasse with the aid of his two lists, but at the last moment he himself was dashed down by the breaking of the ice and killed.

A Goerliche committee has sent out an appeal for donations to aid the peasant's family, saying: "He had nothing but his life to give and he gave it for strangers. Let some strangers give for the family, a widow and eight children, of whom three are blind and all utterly destitute."

TERRITORIAL DAY AND A BIG CROWD

More Thousands Attend the Great Exposition of Minnesota Products.

Tomorrow Is Minneapolis Day and Records Are to Be Broken.

Today was a day of great gatherings and reunions at the state fairsgrounds, as state and territorial day always is. From an early hour until well into the afternoon emphasis was given the fact that the state fair is the pride and property of the state at large by the long processions of people who pushed thru the gates at every entrance.

The reunion of the Pioneers' association up at the log cabin was, of course, the greatest and most significant of all; but this was the day apparently picked out for the picnic parties, without which no week at the state fair is fully fledged. The Journal building was the scene of a coronation of these reunions within an hour, while wherever one went, the shady spots were shelter for groups of old friends or of new ones, who were plucking to make a state-fair holiday.

Table with 2 columns: Day, Attendance. Monday 63,687, Tuesday 47,973, Wednesday 43,283, Thursday 15,000, Friday 34,215, Saturday 34,017.

Many More Thousands. This spirit of congeniality became more marked at the coronation, thousands swelled the total of attendance at the gate until at noon there were 26,075 admissions recorded against the 15,000 who were present before noon on Thursday. It was every reason to believe that the record of last season's Thursday attendance, 34,000, would be distanced before the day was over.

While the happy habit of having reunions on state and territorial day contributed much to the big attendance today, the continuance of the livestock show in its big new fairtheater had not a little to do with it, and those who ever saw a horserace was agog over the coming race between the "Broncho," "Hazel Patch" and "Castlerood," scheduled for this afternoon. The "Broncho" horse, "Castlerood," did not arrive from the east, but the knowledge that "Broncho" would have two of the best horses in the state packing class gave promise of the hottest race of the day and there was a sharp demand for grandstand tickets early in the day.

Big Horse Show Tomorrow. Many features of tomorrow's program will go toward making Minneapolis day the banner day of the fair. Among these will be the greatest horse show the state has ever known. From 9 o'clock on the day of the fair the grandstand will be filled with hundreds of the finest horses long years of expert breeding can develop, and a some are led away to the packing class to give promise of the hottest race of the day and there was a sharp demand for grandstand tickets early in the day.

At the county fair here George Karno f Sumers and Frank Connelly of Fort Dodge came to blows in an argument over a race which Connelly had won. Dugan went to Karno's assistance. Tuller interfered and struck Dugan several blows in the face. Dugan walked a short distance and fell dead.

A crowd at once formed and Tuller was placed under arrest. On the way to jail several tried to take him from the officers, and on that account he was later taken to Fort Dodge in an auto.

Dugan was a popular farmer living south of Manson. He leaves a wife and two daughters.
