CORNELL FIRST ON THE GRIDIRON Work of the First Day Was of a Very Ragged Nature.

Journal Special Service. Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The first football practice of the season on Percy field was held yesterday afternoon. Coach Warner, Assistant Coach Lueder and Captain Cook were on hand to put the dozen men thru two hours' hard work on the down pass. The practice was very ragged. Warner says the boys are in the best of health, where he tried some of the new-fangled ideas on the Redskins in scrimmages.

Dasheill Gets Raise. Annapolis, Sept. 11.—Paul J. Dasheill, who has for two seasons past coached the naval academy football team, is now a lieutenant in the United States navy, having been commissioned a professor of mathematics, whitticeries that rank with it.

GAME LAWS IN A CONCISE FORM Special to The Journal.—Every person who contemplates a trip into the woods and fields after game this fall should write Secretary Wilson of the department for agricultural services, a copy of Farmers' Bulletin No. 353. This bulletin is entitled "Game Laws for 1906," and it can be had for the asking. Indeed, nothing less than the secretary would be to "find Jim" to all the people of the country, and you can give him no greater satisfaction than by writing him for a copy of the bulletin. It is not only a concise form of the laws, but it also contains a list of the various states that any hunter can have any use for, and it also covers the game laws of Canada. In it will be found both the new laws and the old ones, the seasons and the open season, all the rules and regulations relative to the shipment of game, also the states and provinces that prohibit the export of game, the laws covering the sale of game and all the painful details about the licenses required of alien hunters by the states of the union and the provinces of Canada. There are also maps showing at a quick glance the states and provinces where residents must obtain a hunting license and where the same is required of non-residents only; where the export of game is prohibited and where the sale of game is not permitted at any time. It is a remarkably complete little work. The chapter on licenses is alone worth money to anyone who has any interest in the sport. For instance, in the state of Arkansas non-residents are not permitted to hunt at all unless they buy a license to do so. In thirty-six states and territories it is not permitted to hunt any game that is not a resident of the state. In sixteen states and four Canadian provinces a license is required of non-residents, but the fees are usually very much smaller and are often merely nominal. The fees for non-resident licenses for both big and small game range from $10 in a number of states to $50 in Wyoming, British Columbia and the Yukon. In some states licenses for 75 cents in Illinois and North Dakota to $5 in Washington and $7 for deer and moose and caribou and $2 for deer in Montana. Several states require the non-resident license from unnaturalized residents, and Manitoba has a special $100 license for all who are not British subjects. The tendency of all recent legislation in both the United States and Canada is to take the sport of hunting out of the hands of poor men.

Licenses are generally issued only for the open season and therefore they are fixed. Minnesota issues a $25 non-resident deer license, limiting the number of deer to be killed, and North and South Dakota and Wisconsin have similar laws and regulations. Washington imposes a $10 fee on non-residents and a $50 fee on aliens, and issues licenses good for one year. Some of the western provinces of Canada issue a bird license at reduced rates for one week, while some of the states have a bird license good only for one day. These latter are generally referred to as guest licenses. Eight states issue licenses good only in the county named therein, with fees ranging from $1 for residents in Washington to $50 for residents hunting ducks for market in South Carolina. In twenty-two states and seven Canadian provinces non-resident licensees are permitted to ship out of the state or province a limited amount of game, while the privilege is denied in eleven states and two Canadian provinces. Maine, Michigan and Montana issue export permits additional to the hunting licenses. In Colorado, Maine, Montana, Wyoming, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Ontario guides are licensed, and in some of the South Dakota for instance, non-residents may not hunt unless accompanied by qualified guides. In New Hampshire the hunter is required by law to show his license to any person asking to see the same.

Those who visit Canada to hunt must deposit with the customs officer at the port of entry an amount equal to the duty—30 per cent of the appraised value of their guns, knives, traps, cooking utensils, etc. If these articles are taken out of the country within six months at the same port the amount will be returned. But members of shooting or fishing clubs that own preserves in Canada and have filed a guarantee with the Canadian and Montana customs may present club membership certificates in lieu of making the deposit. They must, however, pay duty on all ammunition and provisions. Secretary Wilson's literature tells all about these things, and a brief study of it will save the prospective hunter annoyance, and also prevent him getting into the police court.

VIM CAPTURES ROOSEVELT CUP

Final Race for Trophy Results in a Defeat for the Germans. Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 11.—The Roosevelt cup, presented by the Eastern Yacht club to inaugurate yachting contests between Germany and America, was won yesterday by the American yacht Vim, owned by Commodore T. E. Parks of the American Yacht club of New York. By taking yesterday's race the Vim scored her third victory, which gave to her owner the cup as well as the honor of showing that her yacht was the best all-around craft of the six that started to race in the series began a week ago.

Of the five races sailed the Vim won the second, third and fifth, while the Auk captured the first race, and the Wanneuse the fourth. The designer of the Vim was William Gardner, and Clifford Buckman was in command. At no time after the first mark had been passed yesterday was the Vim in danger of being beaten. She led the Auk, the second boat, by more than a minute, when the weather mark was reached and she sailed so far ahead of the next two legs that she was nearly five minutes ahead when the first round of the triangular course was completed.

On the second beat over the windward leg the Auk gained forty seconds on the Vim, chiefly because she caught a couple of favorable blasts of wind. The Vim still had a long lead, however, when she was again in the lead, and she was considerably behind the turn was made. On the broad reach over the last leg of the first beat the Auk and the Vim were between Captain Adams of the Auk and Captain Adams of the Vim, for a dense fog had settled down on the water. The Auk had the finish line by the compass. The Vim strayed from the course on the homeward leg, but was caught by the sound of the whistle of the committee's tug. He crossed at 5:23:28, more than four minutes ahead of the Auk.

Ball Players Turn Woodsmen Duluth, Minn., April 11.—Big game, moose, deer, wildcats, bear and other wild animals that make their home in the primeval forests of northern Iowa, are destined to have a rough session. Not that the Indians have already made predictions of a severe winter, but that the Indians have indicated that three members of the white oak baseball team of this city have taken to the woods in the far and untamed north and will leave Duluth Tuesday to settle upon them. Captain Artie O'Dea, Pitcher Treadway and Third Baseman Fagin compose the trio. They have each secured a timber claim, and will spend the next six months doing a resident stunt.

Some of the members can tell a jack pine from a Canadian thistle, and their familiarity with backwoods life is about as extensive as a schoolgirl's with prize fighting. Each secured a Winchester rifle and had to read over instructions before they could get the cartridges. In making up the list of supplies, the boys provided. A package of $25 will be divided each day for the best individual averages, and $50 will be given in the general averages for the two days, which will be divided $10, $8, $7 and $6 from first to fourth, $5 for sixth and seventh, and $4 for eighth. Several good consolation prizes are also offered.

Eventually a list of supplies was agreed upon, the guide making it up to suit himself. The party left Duluth this morning and go directly to their claims, which adjoin each other. Each will erect his home, which will be built of logs, and it is expected that it will take about a month to complete this work and get straightened around. During October all of the crew will come to Duluth for their winter supplies and then immediately return to their tents on the winter.

Journal Special Service. Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 11.—A postmortem examination of the remains of Con Griffin, who expired suddenly after a terrific boxing encounter with Charles Smith in South Little Rock Sunday, shows that death resulted from a ruptured spleen, caused, it is alleged, by a blow which landed below the belt. Griffin died shortly after the fight and Smith is said by physicians to be temporarily insane from the hard fight.

PURSES NOT SO HIGH IN NEVADA NOW Journal Special Service. San Francisco, Sept. 11.—According to Referee Siler, who arrived here yesterday with his wife, the Manhattan (Nev.) Athletic club has offered a $5,000 purse for a final fight between Jimmy Gardner and Willie Fitzgerald. It is expected that both fighters will accept the offer, even if the purse is insignificant compared with the rich purse at Goldfield. The pair, both sluggers, should furnish a great battle, and would certainly please the miners in every way.

MINNESOTA TOWNS TO SEE A SERIES OF INTERESTING HARNESS EVENTS. Special to The Journal. St. Peter, Minn., Sept. 11.—Officers of the Minnesota state fair harness meets will open in this city Friday, are greatly pleased with the prospect for a successful season. They have received a larger number of entries than had been expected, and the best of harness racing is now assured for the fair at St. Peter, New Ulm, Mankato, St. James, Winona and Mendota.

This is the first season that the circuit has been in existence. Prior to its organization all the agricultural societies acted independently, and as there were frequent conflicts in dates, horsemen could attend but a small portion of the meets. In the interest of better racing six of the associations formed the circuit and arranged their dates consecutively, and the interest which was immediately shown by the horsemen augured well for the success of the enterprise. For weeks it has been known that an unusually large number of trainers would campaign in this part of the state, but now that the entries have closed E. B. Miller of this city, secretary of the circuit, finds that thirty different owners have entered, many of them sending several animals. Every race in the circuit has been filled, and in all there will be fields of from eight to a dozen horses.

Heretofore seven entries have been considered a large field, and in many instances races would be put on where there would be but three or four starters. None of the circuit points have tracks of sufficient width to send the animals of abreast, and for that reason it will be necessary to start the heats in sections. All of the fairs have memberships in the American Trotting association, and D. K. Stacy, formerly a trainer at the Minnesota state fair, will be the official starter.

NORTHWEST BASEBALL MAROONS DOWN MANKATO. Mapleton, Minn., Sept. 11.—The Mankato team and about 200 rooters came over to Mapleton Sunday and the Mapleton Maroons proceeded to whip the visiting team in the first game of ball and the final score was 4 to 1, with the locals on the big end. Sam Grednick, formerly of Maroons, played with Mankato. "C" Dahlgren was on the slab for the local team and he had the visitors guessing from the first to the last. The visitors had the many Mankato spectators. Batteries, Dahlgren and Parhle for Mapleton; Shelby and Baby for Mankato.

LOCALS WOKED UP. Waterville, Minn., Sept. 11.—The Waterville team defeated the Sunshines of Fairbault Sunday and the Waterville team had the game won until the sixth inning, when the locals woke up and walked in nine runs.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT IN GAME. Hastings, Minn., Sept. 11.—The Pioneer Business college of St. Paul and the local team engaged in a fast game of ball here Sunday and the game was a close one. The visitors had the score 3 to 3. The game was called on account of the Hastings team breaking his leg.

SEASON CLOSED AT LUVERNE. Luverne, Minn., Sept. 11.—The Luverne Regulars closed their season yesterday afternoon by defeating Edgerton in this city by the score of 9 to 5. During the past season the Regulars have won the seven league games, winning seventeen of them. The score: Luverne 9, Edgerton 5. Batteries—Cowan and Larson; Green, Peterson and Mencham.
