PRISONER IN COUNTY JAIL DRINKS POISON

WILLIAM McEWEN, AWAITING SENTENCE, SEEKS DEATH.

Dissolving Match-heads in Coffee, He Swallows the Poison Before the Eyes of the Special Guard, Who Watches Him in "Murderer's Cell," His Prison Till His Sentence Monday.

Imprisoned in murderer's row in the county jail, and under the guard of a specially appointed watchman, William McEwen, convicted and waiting sentence for robbery, attempted to commit suicide early last evening by drinking sulphur and phosphorus, dissolved from matches, in his coffee.

A tragedy was averted by the narrow margin. The wraiths of the prisoner attracted the guard, who summoned help. After working over the patient for several hours the doctors pronounced him out of danger, but he will be a sick man for some days to come.

McEwen is a man with a record. He has been implicated in several robberies in this and other cities. Since his arrest here some months ago on a charge of being one of a well-known trio who held up and robbed Martin V. Shaw on Fourth street X some time ago, he has been watched closely. During his incarceration in the county jail he had given the authorities to understand that beside being the ring leader in a recent daring attempt to break jail, he had several charges of conspiracy against him.

McEwen was tried and convicted of robbery in the first degree thru the efforts of County Attorney Al J. Smith, who has taken personal charge of the prosecution of these robbery cases.

Early yesterday it became known to County Attorney Smith and Sheriff Dreger, thru information furnished Jailor Nels Clausen, that McEwen had formed a plan to assassinate the night jailer and, failing of doing so, to commit suicide. The officials took up the matter and searched the jail and the suspected prisoner. This search revealed nothing of importance, but the county attorney decided that the case warranted special precautions and he authorized the sheriff to hire a guard and place McEwen in a safe cell.

Before being locked in his new abode the prisoner was thoroughly searched for the second time and nothing left upon him that could be used to do him bodily harm. The cunning of the desperate man was equal to the emergency, however, and the few matches left in his cell were soaked in the coffee brought him for supper. He drank the poison before the eyes of the unsuspecting guard.

Soon after the doctors had appeared, both Sheriff Dreger and Jailor Clausen arrived, having been hastily summoned. The desperate man is now under closer surveillance than ever and no opportunity will be given him to harm himself before he is sentenced Monday, by Judge Andrew Holt and taken to serve his sentence in the state penitentiary.

If you want to know who her the shoes you wear are all that they ought to be, there is an unflinching test.

PUT THEM ON AND WEAR THEM SIX MONTHS.

If they feel right from the first day you put them on,

If they keep their shape as long as they hold together,

If they don't run down at the heel or break at the sides or stub out the toes or get lop sided,

And are comfortable as long as they last.

Then you know you are getting good shoes.

But while you are about it, what is the use of trying experiments?

When you know that the GOTZIAN SHOES meet all of these tests.

ROMEO, THE MINNEHAHA BEAR, IS DYING OF A BROKEN HEART

Romeo, the sole inhabitant of the Minnehaha park bear cages, is mourning for his mate, and the task of assuaging the inconsolable grief of the animal is puzzling the caretaker of the animals in the zoo. Since the killing of Juliet, his mate in captivity, by order of the Humane society, Romeo's condition has become pitiable.

When Juliet was in the throes of a last sickness Romeo gave almost human care. At meal time he refused to eat from the common trough until his companion had her fill, and he caressed her tenderly with his rough tongue when pain got the better of her taciturn nature and she moaned her anguish. When the Humane society officer entered the bear cage last Monday to put an end to Juliet's misery Romeo seemed to realize that harm was intended his mate and he refused to budge from his side or permit an officer to approach. Forced into a separate cage, he growled his anger and when the body of Juliet was taken from the cage, Romeo, the gentlest of all Minnehaha animals, became a terror to his caretakers. Pacing incessantly up and down his cage, refusing to eat or to allow anybody to approach, he growled his defiance to those he held responsible for the death of his mate.

But at last Romeo seemed to realize that anger could avail nothing, and lying down in the middle of the cage he gave himself up to grief. Food placed beside him has been left untouched and he gives no sign of recognition when his keeper enters his cage. For three days he has lain in his cage without food or drink, and he seems to be dying of a broken heart.

BUYING MINNEAPOLIS SQUIRRELS FOR WEST

FORMER RESIDENT OF CITY YEARS FOR SIGHT OF PETS.

E. H. Bawer of Portland, Ore., Wants to Purchase the Playful Little Animals and Take Them to His Home, to be Liberated in the Parks of Portland.

Live squirrels, red, grey or black are wanted by E. H. Bawer, 534 Thirty-fourth avenue S., and the small boy who doesn't like to kill the little animals, but who makes a specialty of taking them home and doing a profitable business by selling his "catch" to Mr. Bawer. At the same time the small boy, he is anxious to know that no harm is to come to his pets, may rest easy, for the squirrels procured by Mr. Bawer are to be liberated after a ride in a passenger train across the continent.

It is isn't often that a common Minnesota squirrel has the opportunity of a train ride of 2,000 miles, but Mr. Bawer stands ready to furnish transportation, meals and berths to Portland, Ore., for all squirrels turned in to him, to pay a reasonable remuneration for the squirrels, and to enter into a contract to liberate the little animals at the end of the trip. Mr. Bawer, formerly a contractor in Minneapolis, now a resident of Portland, wants to see his favorite animals running loose in the parks of Portland, and he has come to Minneapolis to accomplish his object.

After leaving Minnesota Mr. Bawer went west, settling in Portland. He has done well in a business way, but he occasionally yearns for the associations of the Gopher state and he particularly missed seeing squirrels running wild in Portland parks.

An investigation showed that the only squirrels in Portland were to be found in the big City park, and these were of the small red variety. In vain he searched for the stately grey and black squirrels of his Minnesota boyhood.

For twelve years Mr. Bawer has been obliged to frequent the Portland parks without the companionship of his favorite pets and he finally decided to come to Minneapolis and secure enough gray and black squirrels to insure their introduction as a permanent feature in Portland parks. He expected no trouble in securing all the animals he wanted, but during the last few years the small boy and the slingshot have been busy and also he has advertised for squirrels and made a thorough search of the country around Minneapolis but he has been unable to secure a sufficient number to insure the success of his venture.

Mr. Bawer announces that he will stay in the city until he secures fifty squirrels and he stands ready to purchase a hundred if that many are offered him.

TRACTION COMPANY WILL SOON ORGANIZE

MINNEAPOLIS AND DUBUQUE TO BE JOINED BY TROLLEY.

Electric Cais Will Connect Twin Cities with Thriving Towns of Southern Minnesota and Northeastern Iowa, Drawing Trade Which Now Goes to Chicago—Towns on Line.

Organization of the Minneapolis, Rochester & Dubuque Traction company, which will construct the new trolley line from Minneapolis to Dubuque, will be made at a meeting called for 2 p. m. Thursday in the Columbia Heights building. The company is capitalized at $500,000 under the laws of the District of Columbia. The list of backers of the company contains the names of prominent business men along the line.

W. P. Mason, promoter of the new line, will start for Dubuque Monday to drive back over the right of way. Work on the new road will begin when the snow leaves the ground in the spring. The construction will cost $3,500,000.

VOTERS' LEAGUE WILL CONTINUE CAMPAIGN

Chairman of Executive Committee Sees Grounds for Encouragement in Primary Results.

John Crosby, chairman of the executive committee of the Voters' league, expresses himself as fairly well satisfied with the results of the primary election of last week. The league is still in the field and plans to conduct an aggressive campaign against the men it has picked as unworthy of public confidence. In an interview Mr. Crosby said:

"In nearly every ward in the city, and in both commissioner districts, the voters will have the chance at the November election to choose creditable representatives. The Voters' league will again make recommendations at that time."

"Five of thirteen candidates for alderman recommended by the Voters' league were nominated—Merrill in the fourth, Clark in the eighth, Wilson in the tenth, Orquist in the eleventh, and McHale in the twelfth ward. The nominations of Sheldon in the second and Hill in the third wards are satisfactory."

"The nominations of Rand in the sixth ward and McCoy in the ninth were inevitable. They are too strongly entrenched to be shaken loose at a primary fight."

AD CASE ARGUED

Street Railway Company Demurs to Herald's Complaint.

Briefs are to be submitted in the case of James H. Burns and the St. Paul Herald against the St. Paul City Railway company in which Mr. Burns pleads that the company, under its franchise, must do business exclusively in transportation of passengers.

The purpose was to compel the street railway company to stop posting advertisements in street cars. A demurrer interposed by the defendant was partly argued Saturday. The demurrer means that the street railway company believes that the plaintiffs cannot maintain such action.

MISSIONARY SUNDAY

Many Men Bound for Foreign Fields Will Speak Today.

This is Missionary Sunday at Central Baptist church. At the morning and evening services collections will be taken for the support of the Baptist work in both the home and foreign fields. Envelopes for the missionary collections have been distributed among the members of the congregation and these will be collected today.

A missionary mass meeting will be held at 8 o'clock, to which all evangelists and missionaries are invited. A group of missionaries bound for different stations in Japan, China and other parts of the far east will be present and will address the assembly. Several of these visitors will also be at the different churches at the regular services and will tell of their work.

TRY THIS FOR YOUR COUGH

Mix half ounce of concentrated Oil of Pine with two ounces of glycerine and half a pint of good whiskey; shake well and use in tablespoon doses every four hours. This is the formula prescribed by Dr. Wallace, the renowned throat and lung specialist who established the camp for consumptives in the pine woods of Maine, and whose remarkable cures attracted wide-spread attention among the medical fraternity. Dr. Wallace declares that it will heal the lungs and cure any cough that is curable and will break up an acute cold in twenty-four hours. The ingredients can be secured from any prescription druggist at a small cost and is easily mixed. The only care necessary is that it be thoroughly shaken.

Be sure not to buy the ordinary bulk Oil of Pine; this will produce nausea on account of the quantity necessary and the impurities that it contains, consequently cannot be effective. The concentrated Oil of Pine is put up for medicinal use in half-ounce vials enclosed in small round wooden cases, which protect it from heat and light. It is also said to be an excellent remedy for lumbago and all forms of uric acid rheumatism. For this purpose it is taken raw a few drops on sugar night and morning.
