WRITES FOR PLEASURE

Clubs and Charities

Mrs. J. R. Marfield and Mrs. Frank G. Carnahan were hostesses at a buffet luncheon today at the Minnikahda club. The club room was screened with curtains of southern smilax, and the vines festooned in pink and green, and clusters of pink roses mingled with traceries of maidenhair ferns and smilax. Receiving with the hostesses were their sisters, Mrs. R. E. Teare and Charles Crangle of Winona and assisting about the rooms were Misses A. E. Merrill, J. B. Gillilan, Louis K. Hull, H. L. Staples, E. J. Carpenter, Charles S. Jelley, W. H. Lees, John H. McMillan, George B. Lane, G. T. Jaffray and Misses Grace Harrison and Merrill. There were eighty guests.

Mrs. S. H. Davis gave a linen shower today at her home, 2140 Irving avenue S., for Miss Gladys E. McDonald, a bride of October. Twenty guests were present. Roses, carnations and maidenhair ferns carried a color scheme of pink and green in the parlors and in the dining room. Miss Allen assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter gave an informal reception last evening at her home on Groveland avenue. Mrs. Frances Potter received with Mrs. Winter, and assisting in the dining room were Misses Arthur E. Martin, Andreas Ueland and W. C. Johnson. Clusters of fall flowers were placed about the rooms.

Mrs. Potter has recently returned from Cambridge, Eng., where she spent a year in studying and teaching the guests with an informal but intensely interesting talk on English university life and some of the problems of education as they exist in England and America. Her description of the English university, with its exclusiveness and apartness from the world of trade and politics, made the life of the student under such favorable conditions and in an atmosphere so saturated with tradition appear especially attractive. Her own experience in breaking the crust of exclusiveness and gaining access to the literary treasures of the Cambridge library was delightfully told. There were sixty guests.

The marriage of Miss Helen Virginia Gilbert and Jay Downer of New York, took place last evening at the residence of the bride's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Johnson, 328 Fourth street SE. Rev. George R. Merrill read the service in the library. Robert McCall and Arthur E. Martin, the ushers, and stretched the white satin ribbons for the aisle. The bow window simulated a chapel and masses of ground pine, which had been sent from Great Britain, in the 200-inch shire Hills, were used to make a background for clusters of pink dahlias. Chrysanthemums topped the bookcases and the mantel shelf, and the rooms were lighted with candles. In the center of the pink dahlias and pink carnations mingled with smilax and palms and ferns, while red dahlias were in a mound of asparagus ferns in the dining room.

Miss Florence Garlock played the Lohengrin wedding march as the bride entered. Miss Gilbert's wedding gown was of ivory duchess satin, made with a train and lined with garniture of old lace. The imported net veil was held with a wreath of white roses, and white carnations and maidenhair ferns were her flowers. Miss Marie Lundeen was the maid of honor, she was in pink silk, and carried pink roses. W. E. Downer of Muscatine, Iowa, was the best man. A reception for which about 200 invitations had been issued, followed from 8 to 10 o'clock. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Downer were Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Downer of Muscatine, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lundeen of St. Francisco, and Judge and Mrs. E. M. Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. Downer left for New York, where they will reside. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. Davidson and Miss Davidson of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kirby of Hibbing, and B. M. Hungerford of Aitken.

A double wedding was solemnized last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Cole, 811 East Fifteenth street. The brides were their two daughters, Miss Marian Alice Cole, who was married to Rev. M. J. Hanson, and Miss Phoebe Cole, who became the bride of Verne Franklin Ludwig, Rev. G. W. Case of Portage, Wis., a friend of the family, read the service, which was witnessed by both the immediate friends and relatives. Miss Marion Clark played the "Lohengrin" wedding march. Miss Marian Alice entered first and her marriage was followed by that of her sister. The brides wore white and carried bride roses. After the wedding a supper was served in the salvia-decked dining room. The appointments in the parlors were autumn foliage, palms and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Hanson and Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig left for Beloit, Wis., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hanson, Mr. Hanson was formerly secretary of the Beloit University, and is now secretary at Beloit university. Rev. and Mrs. Henry Hanson will go to Helena, Mont., to reside, and Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig will make their home in Fishawaka, Ind.

Miss Belle McBeath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McBeath, and Ira C. Aldrich, were married last evening at the family home, 221 West Thirty-third street. Miss McBeath is the first member of Elizabeth Starkweather tent, No. 1, Daughters of Veterans, to marry, and a great deal of interest was roused by the wedding in G. A. R. circles. Rev. Stanley B. Roberts of Bethany Presbyterian church read the service in the presence of a group of 150 relatives and friends. Miss Susie McBeath played the wedding march.

The bride wore white Persian-lawn trimmed with baby Irish lace, and held white carnations. Miss Martha Cook was the maid of honor. She wore cream silk with cream silk with trimmings of lace, and her flowers were pink carnations. Frank B. Way was the best man. Autumn leaves and foliage decorated the rooms, and suspended from the roof of a floral bow was a large wedding bell. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich were Mr. and Mrs. McBeath and Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Aldrich. The centerpieces in the dining room were a family heirloom—an antique candelabrum which had been a wedding gift of the bride's grandfather. Miss V. A. Randall, Clinton and Mrs. J. Cross served, and Misses O. Derry, Ida and Florence McCullough assisted. Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich will be at home at Currie, Minn., after Oct. 15.

MRS. EDITH WHARTON.

It is not necessary that Mrs. Edith Wharton, the brilliant authoress of "The House of Mirth," should write for remuneration, although she receives a large income from her works. Her husband is a man of wealth and her home, The Mount, at Lenox, is sumptuously appointed.

Mrs. Wharton began writing to see what she could do with her pen, as well as to beguile the hours of a semi-invalidism. After years of practice in this way she was a finished writer. It was not until then that her works came before the public.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Allard, 3811 Fifth avenue S. The bride was unattended. The decorations were autumn foliage. Mr. and Mrs. Kilbourne read at once to their new home at 806 West Lake street.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Feigl was the scene of a quiet wedding last evening, when their daughter and in an atmosphere so saturated with tradition appear especially attractive. Rev. Othmar Ergen officiated at the marriage of Miss Louise Winkler and J. P. Zeppenfeld at 9 o'clock yesterday. The ushers were Winkler, a sister of the bride, and Charles Froumer, a cousin of the bridegroom, and little Anna Baker, a niece of the bride, were the attendants. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 1143 Aldrich avenue S., and a reception followed.

What the Market Affords

Halibut, 18 cents a pound.
Lake Superior trout, 15 cents a pound.
Pike, 15 cents a pound.
Eggs, 3 bunches for 10 cents.
Potatoes, 50 cents a bushel.
Fresh eggs, 23 cents a dozen; stamped, 25 cents.
Apples, $2 and $2.50 a barrel.

Stuff the halibut steak and bake it. Secure two well-shaped steaks; wash them and thoroughly dry them with a towel. Make a stuffing of a cup of crumbs, a tablespoon of butter, one of chopped parsley, one of onion juice, a dash of cayenne, a teaspoon of black pepper, just a grating of nutmeg and a saltspoon of salt. Put one of the steaks in the baking pan, lay the stuffing over it carefully and place above it the other steak. Put small pieces of butter over the top and just lightly with salt and pepper. Serve it on a hot platter with lemon quarters. For the popular potato röstiess make them into small balls; dip in beaten egg, fry in a little oil, and have enough beaded lace, 1 1/2 inches wide, to trim the waist, but if it is not desirable I do not want to use it. It is for a person of middle age and of slender build. May a loose close-quarter length coat be worn over a corselet skirt and Eton jacket, and may the suit be worn indoors, or is the Eton only for street wear?

Beaded Trimming.

My Dear Miss Lee: Are beaded trimmings being used this fall? I have black taffeta for a waist to wear with a black cloth skirt and I have enough beaded lace, 1 1/2 inches wide, to trim the waist, but if it is not desirable I do not want to use it. It is for a person of middle age and of slender build. May a loose close-quarter length coat be worn over a corselet skirt and Eton jacket, and may the suit be worn indoors, or is the Eton only for street wear?
—A. R.

Spangled trimming is very much worn, both in black and colors, and so are the glass beads in colors, the seldom seen in black, the genuine, the passementerie. From the description of the piece you have on hand, I fancy it might trim successfully the black taffeta waist.

A loose three-quarter ease may be worn over a corselet skirt and Eton coat when necessary. As to the propriety of wearing an Eton suit in the house, it depends largely upon the size and style of the coat and of the bolero affair, not reaching the waistline, then it may be worn, but if the conventional Eton, then I think it will look more house gownlike if a wide girde is added outside the coat, giving a blousy effect as it were.

Bretelles of the beaded lace edged with little frills of the taffeta would be pretty if you have not already decided upon the disposal of your trimming.
—Elizabeth Lee.

Miss Olive Nott entertained Monday evening at her residence, 2713 Portland avenue, in honor of her cousin, Miss Marguerite Hague of Toledo, Ohio, who is visiting relatives in the city. Old-time parlor games were played and light refreshments were served. Miss Hague left for her home last evening.
