THE PACE IS TELLING

GOVERNOR JOHNSON'S VOICE BADLY OFF—A. L. COLE THRIVING ON CAMPAIGN WORK.

Governor Johnson's voice is nearly gone as a result of the strenuous speaking campaign he has been conducting for three weeks. After his Minneapolis speech Saturday night, his throat was in bad shape. He has gone up into the Red River valley for a few days, but will have himself as much as possible. Arrangements have been made to fill his dates, if he gives out.

S. M. Owen has agreed to go out and take the governor's dates on a day's notice. A. L. Cole spent yesterday and today resting in St. Paul, after a lively week of speaking. He is feeling first-class and seems to get better as he goes along. He said today that he never felt more confident of the outcome. In every county he has visited, the verdict is that he will gain votes over two years ago.

Mr. Cole speaks tonight at Lake City. Wednesday he will begin a tour of the iron range country, covering the same ground Governor Johnson did two weeks ago. He will be accompanied by Senator Clapp and Congressman Bede, and they will wind up with a big meeting in Duluth Saturday night.

DEMS SAY HAYNES HAS MADE NO ISSUE

"LID" DECLARATION LEAVES THEM NOTHING TO FIGHT.

In Spite of the Declaration, However, the Saloonmen Are Still Backing the Democratic Candidate—The Mayor Declines to Discuss the Haynes Platform.

Comment on the opening speech of J. C. Haynes, democratic candidate for mayor, is generally heard in political circles today, and it may truthfully be said that the effort of the former mayor was carefully prepared and for the most part committed to memory, it has already been shut out of holes.

Following the primaries and his nomination, Mr. Haynes started out to find what plank to incorporate in his platform and, who speak openly and squarely, a palpable play for votes. The declarations of the democratic candidate on Saturday night are the result of three weeks of hard work with his acquaintances about the city.

Among the democrats there is dissatisfaction on other points. The Haynes municipal-ownership declaration is regarded as a play for the votes of that wing of the party. These who have been fighting Mayor Jones' reform policy say "he has left us nothing to fight on." Despite the "lid" declaration, however, the saloon men still talk Haynes and say he will be all right.

Politics in Hennepin

Mayor Jones refuses to make any answer or reply to the remarks of his opponent, Mr. Haynes, at the present time, but later in the campaign it is probable that certain speakers participating in the Saturday night meeting may be given some attention in the mayor's own characteristic manner. Speaking of the plan of his own campaign in the coming fight the mayor said today:

"There will be no significant departure in the coming campaign from the line that was followed during the primaries. I shall, however, broaden the scope of arguments and shall go into greater detail on features of the administration that were not brought strongly to the front in the primary campaign. I am working for greater things ahead. I hope to contribute a share to the future advancement and greatness of Minneapolis. To that end in the coming campaign I shall emphasize the business and economic value to the city of the course that has been pursued. I have the record of the administration to show that results have more than justified it. When this campaign is over I shall consider the first step accomplished, the cleaning up of the city and the enforcement of the law in the face of the deplorable conditions existing, these preliminary steps had to come first before the business and economic advancement could be brought about. I shall make a definite promise to the people of this city in the coming campaign. I shall review the work of the administration in detail. I am not afraid of that record. Furthermore, if expedient, I shall draw comparisons with the previous administration, even that of the police department, which has been pushed to sudden prominence, but it will be done in the kindest manner possible and not in an attempt to detract or depreciate the efforts of another. My promise will be a continuation of that which I have already done, with the support of the people of this city, and which has been endorsed by the republican party of the city, and for the future will devote my energies to the promotion of the business and commercial prominence of Minneapolis."

BLAKE WILL FIGHT CASE

Arrests in Gambling Raid Plead Not Guilty.

Carl Blake, arrested Saturday night charged with being the proprietor of a gambling house at 41 Third street S, was arraigned in police court today. He pleaded not guilty and the case was set for Oct. 18. Blake has already served a straight sentence in the workhouse, and a lively legal fight is promised in this case. The eight men found in the place at the time of the raid were also arraigned and their cases set for the same day.

Workingmen who have been engaged in the completion of the armory interior took pity on the birds and threw them crumbs at lunchtime. Harper, the caretaker, finding a number of young birds dead on the drill hall floor each morning, brought water into the armory and left it for the birds to drink.

The number of workmen employed in the building has gradually decreased, however, and food has become scarce. As the young birds have grown up they have become wilder and they do not drink the water set out for them by the kind-hearted caretaker. Every morning the number of dead birds increases, and within a week, according to the workmen left in the armory, the entire sparrow contingent will be dead. Doors have been left open and an attempt made to drive out the birds, but sparrows on the outside of the building, looking for warmth and protection, fly into the building, increasing the number of feathered captives.

BANK OF DENBIGH ROBBED OF $2,400

Yeggen Blow Safe of a State Bank in a North Dakota Town.

Special to The Journal. Denbigh, N. D., Oct. 15.—A yeggen band struck this town in the dead of Saturday night, and at 2:30 on Sunday morning blew the safe in the State Bank of Denbigh.

Citizens were aroused by the explosion, but lacked leadership and were too confused to make an effort to catch the cracksmen. The bank's loss is $2,400 in cash. It was insured in a company represented by a Minneapolis agency.

There is every reason to believe that the robbery was committed by the gang which operated at Underwood and other points in this state and northern Minnesota.

Denbigh has but a handful of population and is on the Great Northern road in McHenry county, in northern North Dakota.

Some of the big guns of the republican party in the state will be in Minneapolis in a short time for the state ticket. Senator Nelson and J. F. Jacobson are both scheduled for Minneapolis dates, and others will be assigned later.

Next week the organizations of both parties will be busy bringing out for registration the vote that did not participate in the primaries of Sept. 18. They are still two days, Tuesday, Oct. 23, and Saturday, Oct. 27. The latter date is the last on which any voter may register to vote at the coming election.

Mayor Jones will speak tonight at the opening of the Scandinavian temperance bazaar in Labor Temple.
