

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Has a dietetic value greatly beyond the conception of any one who has not used it. It will make your food of a delicious taste, a moist and keeping quality and a digestibility not to be obtained from any other baking powder or leavening agent.

But more important than all else, Dr. Price's Baking Powder carries only healthful qualities to the food.

As every housekeeper can understand, burnt alum and sulphuric acid—the ingredients of all alum and aluminum phosphate powders—must carry to the food acids injurious to health.

Avoid the alum powders—study the label

PIERRE, S. D.—The figures secured by Deane Robinson in his crop estimates place the acreage of the state for this year at 188,410 acres, with a total yield of 2,650,000 bushels, of which Spink county raised 366,000 bushels.

BRYAN SPEAKS IN WISCONSIN

Lauds La Follette and Predicts the Early Death of the Republican Party.

Milwaukee, Oct. 18.—William J. Bryan arrived in Milwaukee about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and addressed a large gathering of people who had been waiting over two hours for him to appear at the Alhambra theater. Mr. Bryan was scheduled to speak at noon, but was detained on account of a misunderstanding of the arrangements. He was given an enthusiastic reception. He spoke for the state and congressional tickets, and dwelt at length on national questions, repeating many of his views as expressed in other speeches.

The democratic party, he said, is now a united party and is united on the people's side of public questions. The republican party is now entering the valley of the shadow of death. He referred to the factional contest in the republican party in this state two years ago, the election of La Follette as governor and later as United States senator.

"When he came back here," said Mr. Bryan, "you turned down the man he thought ought to be nominated for governor and you nominated a man he thought ought not to be nominated. And I can afford to come to Wisconsin to speak against a man whom La Follette can speak against before the convention."

Roosevelt and the Party.

With regard to President Roosevelt as the leading republican of the nation Mr. Bryan said:

"Ten years ago the republicans had any number of men available for the presidency. Now they have just one. According to these republican leaders, the president himself must run again because there is no one else, and they get down on their knees to him and say, 'Oh, Mr. President, it is true that you did say that you regarded this as your second term on the night of election and you would not run again; but, Mr. President, you surely did not know what desperate straits your party would get into when you said that, or you wouldn't have said it. Will you take it back? Can't you forget that you said it? Can't you forget that Washington would not have a third term and that Jefferson would not have a third term? Can't you forget everything and make your mind a blank, just to save the republican party, for you alone are popular, Mr. President.'"

"That is what they say today. Isn't it strange that in ten years' trial they should so fail to satisfy the people? Strangest of all is that the one man who is popular in the republican party is popular because he had the courage to depart from the republican platform and adopt planks from the democratic platform.

Pleads for State Ticket.

"There is scarcely a great man in this country who has not been found crooked in his business relations. It is all because when you allow a man to gather money by immoral means, his nature becomes perverted and he cannot see things in their right proportion. You allow predatory wealth to be only to please the people, but you allow it to demoralize those who were its beneficiaries.

"Will you help us now to apply this remedy? You have a chance in the election of our democratic friends to congress and you have a chance in the election of our state ticket from Mr. Aylward down; and I have come here to ask you if you in Wisconsin will help us now to start this reform which we hope to complete two years from now, when we will make this government again a government of the people, by the people and for the people."

MORE PRAISE FOR LA FOLLETTE

Night Address by Bryan at Wisconsin's Capital.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—William J. Bryan, speaking to 5,000 persons last night, urged the election of democratic candidates in Wisconsin, and paid a tribute to the republican senator, R. M. La Follette, saying:

"In the fight for reform measures I want the respect of your senator, La Follette. He stands for popular rights, and for this reason is called a democrat by his republican colleagues in the senate.

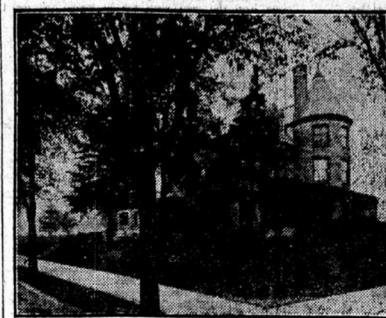

"If President Roosevelt had the moral courage of Senator La Follette he would not have allowed a group of railroad senators to dictate the railroad-rate bill."

RECEPTION AT LAWRENCE SANATORIUM, 820 EAST 17th STREET

Large Assembly of Physicians, Clergymen and Business Men Gather to Review Work Done by the Medical and Surgical Staff of the Lawrence Sanatorium—Dr. W. D. Lawrence Highly Endorsed and Praised on the Success of His Enterprise.

A MID hearty greetings and expressions of commendation, several hundred Minneapolis citizens, representing all professions, gathered last evening to mark the completion of the new buildings erected by Dr. Lawrence for the Lawrence Sanatorium. The affair in every way was an overwhelming success. The handsome residence and sanatorium was in gala array. The perfume of one hundred dozen roses scented the atmosphere, while beautiful palms, ferns and smilax formed artistic decorations.

The assemblage was entertained in true old-fashioned style and many were the men who recalled the beginning of the Lawrence Institute, way back in 1889. At that time the founder, Dr. W. D. Lawrence, became convinced that there was urgent need of such an institution, and the Minneapolis Medical and Surgical Institute was established, the dominant idea being the association of a group of physicians and surgeons, each an expert in his chosen specialty. The Institute was a little later merged in the Lawrence Sanatorium and a broader scope afforded, although the central idea was retained. The growth of the institution has been constant and substantial, patronage being drawn from an area comprising six great states and a considerable portion of western Canada, and every variety of chronic disease is treated and cured. Twice during these years has a change of quarters been necessitated, in order to secure larger accommodations and increased facilities, and early in 1904 the magnificent property, at the corner of Ninth avenue and Seventeenth street was purchased as a permanent home for the Sanatorium. The original cost of this property was nearly $75,000, and the additions and improvements in the past two years represent a further investment of approximately $25,000.

Age does not always imply merit, but each year of successful work lends added prestige and a steadily swelling volume of business indicates an appreciation, that continued year after year, is proof positive that such success is built upon a solid foundation. Tensely stated, the prime factors in this upbuilding have been ABILITY and FAIR DEALING; professional ability of the highest order, supplemented by elaborate scientific apparatus and appliances, and liberality and honesty in every business transaction. Although the fine buildings and spacious grounds represent a great outlay, the most valuable asset are the THOUSANDS of cured patients scattered throughout the Northwest, in every county and almost every village. Every cured patient is an enthusiastic friend of the Sanatorium, and such loyal allegiance can not be bought with money nor inspired by aught but the complete confidence that is born of experience.

Dr. Lawrence and his associates are to be congratulated upon the enviable reputation which the Lawrence Sanatorium has made and sustained throughout almost two decades. They are to be congratulated upon securing the magnificent quarters in so choice a location. Right in the heart of the residence section, occupying as pre-when he enters this charming office and is greeted by Dr. Lawrence in the cordial manner peculiar to him. Last evening the doctor took great pleasure in showing his guests through the entire establishment. From the office one passes into the drawing room, parlor and private dining room, which are simply a dream of elegance, with their rich mahogany and cherry finish, beautiful furnishings and artistic draperies and paintings. The second floor is used exclusively for lady patients. The rooms are all large and well lighted, high, airy, and such furnishings! A guest at the best hotel in Minneapolis would pay double if he could get a room furnished as well. At the head of the stairs is a large, commodious library, fitted up with plenty of books and lounging sofas and chairs. Dr. Shipman, the well-known specialist on eye, ear, nose and throat troubles, occupies a beautiful office on this floor. His laboratory is a revelation of instruments and appliances. Dr. Shipman enjoys an enviable reputation in his line and receives patients from all over the country. Another feature on this decorations and capable of seating about seventy-five persons, which, by the way, is more than many small hotels can do. The cuisine, one of the most important things, is above criticism. Only palatable and healthful foods are served and in a great variety. People dining in well cared for well envy the delicious viands prepared for the patients of the Lawrence Sanatorium. The kitchen represents a scene of hustle and bustle. Several cooks and helpers are kept continually busy and under the direction of an experienced chef. The most modern kitchen appliances are installed and work to perfection.

The Electric Room is also in the new part. Here one sees a complete electrically equipped laboratory, containing every necessary instrument for therapeutics, the X-ray machine, etc., etc.

Detached from the main building is the new annex. This is a three-story structure devoted exclusively to men. A large club room is on the main floor. Games, literature, music and everything are contained to make it pleasant for the patients. In the rear is a large bath parlor, fitted up with all kinds of bathing requisites, showers, steam, vapor, tub baths predominating. A number of private rooms are also on this floor. The second floor is principally one large dormitory containing about twenty-five individual beds. These are principally for men waiting quarters at more reasonable prices. Large balconies extend way across the front of the annex, affording plenty of lounging room outdoors. Everything is so clean and light in the annex that one feels comfortable despite they may be indisposed through their ailment.

It is unnecessary for a patient to leave the grounds for anything. A barber shop is maintained in the annex, cigars can be purchased and even pool and billiards are available in a charming billiard hall.

One of the most noteworthy features about Dr. Lawrence is the manner in which he attends his patients. Each and every one receives his personal attention and he alone is aware of their particular trouble or disease. The embarrassing position some patients are placed in by the character of their diseases is thus entirely eliminated.

W. D. LAWRENCE, M. D. (Founder.)

tentious a mansion as may be found anywhere, the institute is particularly favored. Large, spacious grounds are at the convenience of the patients as is also plenty of fresh air, which is so much needed by them.

But the outward appearance alone is not sufficient. When one enters the richly furnished interior he would hardly take it for that of a sanatorium. True Dr. Lawrence maintains one portion of it as his residence, but he always keeps open house to his patients and has furnished the sanatorium so as to make it a home for them as well as for himself while they are here. Upon entering the sanatorium we pass through a large business office where stenographers, the bookkeeper and H. M. Lawrence, secretary and treasurer, are found. From here one enters Dr. Lawrence's private office. What a feeling of ease, comfort and rest immediately passes over a person floor is the ladies' massage room, which contains a new specialty, the electric blanket. By this process a person receives a thorough sweating, combined with electrical treatment, which is much superior to the old steam method.

On proceeding to the third floor we are again shown a superb line of rooms, which are principally for men, but also very attractively furnished and absolutely clean and sanitary. Lavatories, toilet and bath rooms are on every floor, as is also adequate telephone service.

Now, passing into the new portion of the building, one enters the general dining room first, and it is a beauty. Large, high, airy, beautiful stained glass windows, fine polished floors, handsome wall decorations and capable of seating about seventy-five persons, which, by the way, is more than many small hotels can do. The cuisine, one of the most important things, is above criticism. Only palatable and healthful foods are served and in a great variety. People dining in well cared for well envy the delicious viands prepared for the patients of the Lawrence Sanatorium. HONORS FOR MRS. DAVIS

Soldiers Will Attend Body of Confederate President's Widow.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 18.—Contrary to the best opinion that prevailed yesterday after the announcement of the death of Mrs. Jefferson Davis in New York, the funeral Friday afternoon will be marked by a military display. The following telegram has been received by Lieutenant Governor Ellison, who has the arrangements in charge:

"Mother wished every mark of respect and a military funeral, such as Winnie had. Please advise me. Yours gratefully—Margaret Jefferson Davis Sayer."

Mrs. Sayer is the daughter of Mrs. Hayes, the only surviving child of Mrs. Davis. The funeral will be conducted from St. Paul's Episcopal church, telegram from General Lee was handed him advising him of the fall of Richmond.

When You Take Cold One way is to pay no attention to it; at least, not until it develops into pneumonia, or bronchitis, or pleurisy. Another way is to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. If he says, "The best thing for colds," then take it. Do as he says, anyway. We have no secret! We publish T. O. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

NOTHING HID!

A Specifications Tag with Every Pair

We are the only manufacturers who give you a signed list and description of all the materials in the shoes we fit to you—and that fact ought to be mighty suggestive. You don't buy any other article of wearing apparel with your eyes shut. You realize the importance of the hid/en parts and you take pains to be sure of their quality. Why should you select your shoes by mere outward appearance and ask no questions?

You can't afford to do that any longer—and neither do you need to. In a Regal store you get all the inside particulars of your pair of shoes without asking—on the signed Specifications tag that goes with them.

12 pounds is what you get out of one package of Pillsbury's Best Breakfast Food—VITOS, at a cost of 15 cents. The same amount of the ordinary ready-to-serve foods at ten cents a package would cost you about $1.82. That means a saving of $1.17 on every package of Pillsbury's Vitos you use. Pillsbury's Vitos contains two full pounds of the "white heart of the wheat." When simply and quickly prepared, it makes 12 pounds of the most delicious food. The ordinary cooked food, 10 cents a package, usually contains about 7/8 of a pound. 12 pounds would cost $1.32. It is only a matter of simple arithmetic to prove the real economy of
