Light Receipts and Export Sales Send It Up a Little to Start.

Lack of Trade and a Bearish Modern Miller Summary Break It.

Again-News of the Trade.

Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, Oct. 19.—
Most of the traders thought the market ought to go up today, especially when they saw the light receipts posted, but it was a hard matter to put any new life into it, and the market stuck, December holding around 74c and May around 78c. Argentine shipments were only 664,000 bu. Daggett had a Duluth message reporting the sale there late yesterday of 18 loads wheat for export and of 200,000 bu c 1 f Buffalo. This looked pretty good, altho Rosenbaum offset the price effect partly by a report of larger marketing of winter wheat southwest, and receipts at kansas City and St. Louis snowed the southwest movement much more liberal, the first market getting 212,000 bu against 174,000, the other 84,000 against 53,000 lit was at home first market getting 212,000 bu against 74,000. the other 84,000 against 53,000 It was at home that the light run appeared, only 321 cars turning up here against -407, and 233 against 263 at Duluth. This was disappointing to the bears, who had thought that the increase of the few days very recently was a permanent turn. Chicago had 45 cars against 57 and Winnipeg 344 against 436.

cago had 45 cars against 57 and Winnipeg 344 against 436.

Liverpool was the weak market that held prices down, wheat closing there ½d lower.

Minneapolis elevator stocks will increase about 875,000 bu for the week. Conditions are favorable for a free movement of grain. The weather forecast reads: Illinois, fair tonight and Saturday, cooler in northeast portion; Indiana, lower and upper Michigan and Wisconsin, fair tonight and Saturday, cooler; Missouri, fair tonight with cooler in east portion, Saturday increasing cloudiness; Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana, fair tonight and Saturday; Iowa, fair tonight and Saturday; Nebraska and Kansas, increasing cloudiness, with probably showers late tonight.

showers late tonight.

Broomball says that according to the New South Wales official report the area under wheat is 2,200,000 acres against 2,253,000 acres last year, but the indicated outturn is placed at 24,800,000 bu against 20,944,000 bu, the final figures for last year.

Primary receipts were 1,076,000 bu against 1,079,000.

The market broke after the noon hour on the Modern Miller summary, which was bearish. Then the clearances for the day appeared at 696,000 bu, which was raised later to 876,000 bu, and this was favorable enough to turn the market form can't market firm again.
The Modern Miller says: "Winter wheat seed-The Modern Miller says: "Winter wheat seeding is rapidly nearing completion. Farmers are rushing this work where not already done, as the season for planting is getting late. A large acreage has been put in and the soil is in fine condition to start the growth of the plant, as there has been an abundance of moisture in most localities."

Broomhall cabled: "Wheat was guidt at the

there has been an abundance of moisture in most localities."

Broomhall cabled: "Wheat was quiet at the opening, with values ½d lower, being influenced by weaker advices from Chicago. Later there was further disposition to sell, and the market eased off an additional ½d on the advance in the bank rate. The undertone was steady, owing to the scarcity of Argentine offerings. Corn was quiet with values unchanged. The undertone was steady, as the strength of La Plata cargoes offset the poor spot trade. The weekly Argentine cable says the wheat market is firm with a good home demand. Arrivals from interior light. General rains have fallen which have been very beneficial to the crops, which are now doing well. The corn market continues weak with large offerings. Arrivals from the interior are large, with quality satisfactory."

The estimate of the Market Record gives the three states 187,910,800 bu wheat instead of 170,000,000 as rumored yesterday.

The transportation situation as viewed from Chicago is given in the Record-Herald as follows: "Car shortage is having a detrimental effect on the grain trade in every direction, and complaints are multiplying rapidly. Western roads are short of cars, and are not bringing grain to the lake ports as rapidly as shippers would like, and there is much the same situation on eastbound lines which prevents all-rail shippers to the east operating freely from here. Both buyers and sellers of grain were seriously handicapped by the blockade east of Buffalo, where the situation has grown almost intolerable. Enstern buyers of lake and rail grain were afraid to take hold because of the uncertainty that the grain could be forwarded in a reasonable time after arrival at Buffalo. The eastern buyer is not yet up to the point of paying the necessary premiums for all-rail shipments from here, as his stock of both corn and oats, tho moderate, is not small enough to cause any immediate alarm. One of the prominent export houses claimed last night that the stock of red winter wheat thru the east Broomhall cabled: "Wheat was quiet at the

MINING AND CURB STOCKS

It is a pretty big bet to carry stocks over election with the conditions as mixed as they are here.

Randolph, New York, to Piper—From what I can gather, the resignation of the French cabinet is of great significance to Russian financial affairs, as the new cabinet is opposed to extending any further credit or assistance to the Russian government. They believe that a collapse is inevitable and that the sooner France pulls out from Russian affairs and faces the situation the better it will be. Russia, we understand, has very heavy interest obligations maturing Nov. 1, and, altho default is probable, it is not inevitable, and this is a situation foreshadowed by the unusual action of the Bank of England meeting on Friday and advancing its rate to 6 per cent, which in London indicates a panic process. It is hard to say whether our market, which has been taken completely by surprise, has yet discounted the situation. I certainly favor waiting further developments before buying stocks, even if our own situation is perfectly sound and the courtry in a most prosperous condition. One thing to be said that a default by the Russian government has generally been expected by foreign bankers. When I was abroad last year it was the general topic of conversation, therefore the situation is probably more or less discounted.

Rosenbaum reports the southwest selling wheat cal affairs, as the new cabinet is opposed to extending any further credit or assistance to the Russian government. They believe that a collapse is inevitable and that the sconer France pilitation the better it will be. Russia, we understand has very heavy intercet obligations maturing Now 1, and, altho default is probable, it is not table, and this is a situation to relate the property of the situation in the petron of the situation of England meeting and advancing its rate to 6 per cet, which in London indicates a panic process. It is hard to say whether our market, which in London indicates a panic process. It is hard to say whether our market, which is less than completely by surprise, has been taken completely by surprise has been taken completely by surprise has been taken completely by surprise has been taken completely by surprise. MARK TWAIN TURNED DOWN

His Autobiography Tells of His First Experiences as an Author.

North American Review.

My experience as an author began early in 1867. I came to New York from San Francisco in the first month of that year and presently Charles H. Webb, whom I had known is San Francisco as a reporter on the Bulletin, and afterward editor of the Californian, suggested that I publish a volume of sketches. I had but a slender reputation to publish it on, but I was charmed and excited by the suggestion and quite willing to venture it if and afterward editor of the Californian, suggested that I publish a volume of sketches. I had but a siender reputation to publish it on, but I was charmed and excited by the siggestion and quite willing to venture it if some industrious person would save me the trouble of gathering the sketches together. I was loath to do it myself, for from the beginning of my sojourn in this world therewas a persistent vacancy in me where the industry ought to be. ("Ought to was" is better, perhaps, tho the most of the authorities differ as to this.)

Webb said I had some reputation in the Atlantic states, but I knew quite well that it must be of a very attenuated sort. What there was of it rested upon the story of "The Jumping Frog." When Artemus Ward passed thru California on a lecturing tour, in 1865 or 1866, I told him the "Jumping Frog" story, in San Francisco, and he. asked me to write it out and send it to his publisher. Carleton, in New York, to be used in padding out a small book which Artemus had prepared for the press and which needed some more stuffing to make it big enough for the price which was to be charged for it.

Webb had made an appointment for me with Carleton; otherwise I never should have gotten over that frontier. Carleton rose and said brusquely and aggressively:

"Well, what can I do for you?"

I reminded him that I was there by appointment to offer him my book for publication. He began to swell, and went on swelling and swelling and swelling and swelling and swelling and a swelling and a swelling and s

The Marquis de Custine once defined the Russian government as "an absolute monarchy tempered by assassination." The present situation is described by Constantin Waliszewski as "an anarchy tempered by a state of siege."

An inmate of the Home for Needy Confederate Women in Richmond. Va., is Captain Sally L. Tompkins, the only woman who received a commission from President Davis of the Confederacy. She was a captain of cavalry.

It was a severe criticism made on New York city by a visitor from Nebraska last week, who said: "Yours is a 'short change' town. In three days I have had seven different persons try to cheat me by returning too little change."

The Japanese war department has made ar-

The Japanese war department has made arrangements to send teachers and students of the middle and higher schools and colleges to Manchuria and Korea free of charge during their vacation. More than 50,000 persons expect to make the trip.

A quaint superstition is prevalent in many English villages. When a woman is going to be married every effort is made to prevent her from seeing her wedding ring before the ceremony, as it is considered that a sight of it except at the altar is bound to bring bad luck.

The kea is a greenish-brown parrent of New Except at the altar is bound to bring bad luck. The kea is a greenish-brown parrot of New Zealand, which is as dangerous to sheep of that country as wolves would be. These carnivorous birds fasten themselves on the backs of grazing sheep, tear thru wool and skin to the kidney fat, which they devour, leaving the unfortunate animal to perish in agony. There are not enough qualified dentists in Great Britain to meet the demand, is the assertion of a London medical journal.
