

KNABE PIANOS WIN by their TONE

Tschalkovsky Said:
"They combine with great volume of tone rare sympathetic and noble tone color."

You are invited to examine these artistic instruments at our ware rooms.

Price of the new style W..... $500
Convenient terms of payment.

Edward R. Dyer Pres. & Mgr.
41-43 So. Sixth St.
FINE PIANOS

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK MINNEAPOLIS EST. 1864

Capital $2,000,000
Surplus $1,700,000

BLANKETS Perfectly Cleaned

Send us your soiled Blankets. By our special process we will clean and recolor them, and give them the soft, fleecy finish they had when new. Our wagon will call if you notify us.

Minneapolis Dye House

522 NICOLLET AV.

NORTHWESTERN NATIONAL BANK

Capital $1,000,000
Surplus $400,000
Deposits $12,000,000

A GEM—$3,750

We have the exclusive sale of one of the most attractive modern-priced residences in Merriam Park. A prominent corner (50x150 to a 20-foot alley) in the very best locality in this beautiful suburb. Fine lawn, shade trees, shrubbery and flowers. Cement walks and steps.

The owner, who resides in the house, is about to leave the city. Otherwise the property would not be for sale.

The house is cozy, well arranged, thoroughly well built and easy to heat. It contains eight rooms, bath, pantry, summer kitchen and a servants' room in the attic. New open plumbing, gas furnace, open fireplace and colonial tile mantel. New decorations in four rooms. Electric burglar alarm connected with all doors and windows; also a fire thermostat connected with furnace. A comfortable home at a moderate price; only one block from Selby-Lake car line; 50 fare to either city.

R. M. & H. F. WARE,
812-813 Nat. Ger.-Am. Bank Bldg.
St. Paul.

EYES

Examined Free
Artificial Eyes
BEST
Optician, 409 Nicollet

INVESTORS

Desiring a good rate of interest with abundant security should call and examine the first mortgage farm loans for sale by

Minneapolis Trust Company
Fourth Street and Hennepin Avenue.

A NOTRE DAME LADY

I will send free with full instructions, some of this simple preparation for the cure of Leucorrhoea, Ulceration, Displacements, Falling of the Womb, Scanty or Painful Periods, Stomach or Growth, Hot Flashes, Desire to Cry, Cephalic feeling, the Spine, Pains in the Back and all Female Troubles, to all sufferers. Address: To mothers of suffering daughters I will explain a Secret Home Remedy. If you decide to continue it will only cost about 12 cents a week to purchase. Tell your friends of it. That is all I ask. If you are interested write now and tell your suffering friends of it. Address: Mrs. M. S. Summers, 2104 6th St. N. E. Minneapolis, Minn.

City News TOWN TALK

EVENTS OF TODAY
Metropolitan Theater—"The Woman Hater."
Bijou Theater—"On Dangerous Ground."
Orpheum Theater—Modern vaudeville.
Lyceum Theater—"Ranson's Polly."
Unique Theater—Vaudeville.
Dewey Theater—Merry Maidens' company.
Labor Temple Halls—Bazaar, Scandinavian Temperance union.

Invest your savings in a good farm thru Barnes Brothers.
Replaced cast iron heating boilers for sale cheap. Andrews Heating Co.
Order your tulips now from Nagel greenhouses, 1118 West Lake street.

Rev. George Soltan will speak at the Christian Workers' mission, 29 Washington avenue S, this evening.
Recent holdups increase demand for safe deposit boxes. Minnesota Loan & Trust Co., 313 Nicollet avenue, has finest vaults in city.

For Rent—Large room, 20x60, second floor 225 Third street S. Front Third avenue, well lighted, steam heat. P. D. McMillan, 200 Central avenue.

Mr. Silas H. Bates has disposed of his interest in the business and properties of Selover, Bates & Co., Andrus building, 10 Selover, Mr. Selover, Mr. Bates and family removing to Los Angeles.

A dog thought to be rabid attacked the young son of T. Wonlin, 3241 Oakland avenue, yesterday, and the police have been asked to investigate. The dog belongs to Tom Woodfill, 228 West Thirty-third street.

"Want Advertising" will "Do Things" for country people as well as for city people. "Want Ad." will sell your farm, sell your horse, wagon, team, farm implements, crop, cows, or poultry. Send a "Want Ad." to The Journal and The Journal will send a buyer to you.

There will be a temperance meeting in Bethel church, Seventeenth avenue and Thirty-second street S, Sunday evening. Rev. T. H. Dahl, D.D., president of the United Norwegian Lutheran church of America, Rev. H. P. Grimshaw and Gustav Eide will speak. There will be good musical program.

Eastern orders for Minneapolis flour are reported as irregular and light. The buyers seem to consider the price too high, forgetting that milling profits are figured on the price of wheat. Some of the mills are closed and others are doing a light business. A year ago the millers were working full capacity and some overtime.

Dr. Montgomery is announced to give a special service at the Fowler Methodist church Sunday morning on the subject, "The Best Likeness of Man." In the evening at 7:45 he will give an address on "The People Who Miss the Sight." More and more is the need of the new church building being dedicated, as the present structure is full at each service.

Mr. H. L. Broadbridge of the National School of Salesmanship, opened the course of Friday afternoon talks at the Minnesota School of Business today, with an address upon "Scientific Salesmanship." Talks upon successive Friday afternoons will embrace the following and other topics: "The Civil Service," "The A. B. C. of Banking," "Life Insurance," "Making the Laws," "The Importance of System" and "Commercial Credits."

The Plymouth Rogers Foot Clothing, Knex Hats, Hosiery and Footwear, for men who value the silent influence of correct clothes.

COURT IS PEACEMAKER

JUDGE KELLY OF ST. PAUL INDUCES COUPLE TO DISMISS DIVORCE CASE.

Judge Kelly of the Ramsey county district court ordered a recess of court yesterday afternoon long enough to have a heart-to-heart talk with the litigants in the divorce suit of Anna Granha charged by her husband, and when court was again called to order, the case was dismissed and the reunited couple walked out of court together, the husband and father carrying the chubby baby which the woman had taken to the courtroom.

At the opening of the trial, Judge Kelly became convinced that the young couple were making a mistake, that the husband's charges were founded on suspicion only, and the cruel treatment alleged by the wife was simply a case of misunderstanding. The judge then ordered a recess. He invited the husband to step into his private office. He then invited in the wife. Some time after the couple emerged and the case was at once dismissed, the two having agreed to make up their differences.

MAYOR'S GUNS LOADED

Jones Will Pay Attention to Haynes' Charges in Tonight's Meeting.

A rousing Jones meeting will be held tonight in the Swedish-American republican hall, 2950 Nicollet avenue. While a general invitation has been extended to all Jones supporters and all voters to attend to become acquainted and to organize for the campaign, the primary workers, whose work resulted in an overwhelming Jones majority in the eighth ward, are especially urged to attend and take their friends with them.

Mayor Jones will be the speaker of the evening and will speak at length on the charges that have been brought against his administration and on the policies of the present campaign. The meeting will be of more than usual interest and will mark a change in the present majority campaign in that all the thunder of the democratic candidate this week will be shown to be only noise; and the opposition will be occupied by the balance of the campaign in trying to repair gaps in its own fences.

AGED WOMAN INJURED

Mrs. Roxana Ingles Is Struck by a Car Which Breaks Her Thigh.

Mrs. Roxana Ingles, 2913 Bryant avenue S, had the misfortune yesterday to be struck by a streetcar, the collision breaking the bone of her left thigh. An exact account of the accident has not yet been secured, owing to the serious condition of Mrs. Ingles.

The 89 years old, Mrs. Ingles is active and generally makes her trips about the city unattended. Yesterday she visited friends on the East Side and on Washington street NE was waiting to board a Monroe and Bryant car for her home. The car, in rounding a curve, struck Mrs. Ingles, breaking her thigh.

She was taken to her home, where she is doing well, considering her age.

HENNEPIN SOLONS STRONG FOR G.O.P.

THIS YEAR'S DELEGATION WILL BE LARGELY REPUBLICAN.

For the Most Part It Will Be Made Up of New Timbers—Prohibits Are More Active than Ever Before and Hope to Land Some Members.

With only a little over two weeks remaining until election day, Nov. 6, the campaign is waking up some in the seven legislative districts of the county. Although the Hennepin delegation will be for the most part new timber it will nevertheless be strongly republican. The prohibitionists, entertaining high hopes of a much pre-election campaign putting up a hot campaign and are playing some politics.

At least four and possibly five of the old senatorial delegation will be back. If the Comstock-Elwell contest in the thirty-ninth district favors Comstock there will be five. The four who are certain are McGowan of the thirty-eighth district, the only democrat of the district, Calhoun of the fortieth, Wilson of the forty-first and Smith of the forty-third.

But four former house members are in line to run for house. Timberlake in the thirty-ninth, Lennon in the forty-first, Nolan in the forty-second, and Johnson in the forty-third. Possession of the thirty-ninth district last session is the republican senatorial nominee this year. The four house members who will return are all republicans.

The results are thought to be little in doubt for the most part, there is still some lively work in several districts. In others the nomination is equivalent to election as no party has a complete legislative ticket in every district and in some districts the democrats have no candidates.

The Thirty-eighth District.

In the thirty-eighth district comprising all of the first ward and part of the third ward, the district of the tenth the republicans have but one candidate for the three places. J. B. Murphy, an active young first ward republican, is a candidate for the house and is making a strong pre-election campaign for months before the St. Louis meeting just closed. Mr. Crane was elected without opposition. The treasurer is considered one of the honors of the convention, and its award to Mr. Crane is a recognition of the city as well as of Mr. Crane himself, and his bank.

Minnesota fared well in that it secured practically everything it was after. D. S. Culver, cashier of the National German American bank of St. Paul, was made a member of the executive council, and C. W. Gress of Cannon Falls, former president of the state association, was made vice president for Minnesota. J. S. Chapman, Jr., remains as a member of the council.

Mr. Crane, the new treasurer, has been connected with the National Bank of Commerce for eleven years. In January, 1896, he was appointed assistant cashier, and in January, 1900, he was elected cashier. He has been active in the St. Paul and Duluth, and was a member of the executive council for several terms. Mr. Crane was also a member of the executive council of the national association, until his term expired at the time of the 1905 meeting at Washington.

LECTURES ON BROWNING

Dr. James W. Strong at Stanley Hall Speaks of Great Poet.

Speaking from a personal acquaintance with the poet, Dr. James W. Strong, president of Carleton college, last night delivered a lecture in Stanley Hall, discussing the life and work of the poet. Dr. Strong is believed to be the only living American who had a personal acquaintance with Browning. He met him while traveling in Europe in 1878 and has since been a frequent companion for some time.

Dr. Strong discussed the dominant personality of Browning, his traits of character and his personal characteristics. He laid emphasis on the friendship between Browning and his wife, and stated that, although Mrs. Browning had been dead seventeen years when he and Browning met in Europe, Browning could not refer to her without emotion.

Dr. Strong asserted that the home life of the Brownings was ideal and he made an interesting comparison between the character and the poetical works of husband and wife.

MONEY RATES FIRMER

Action of Bank of England Is Felt in Minneapolis.

When the Bank of England, in far off London, advanced its interest rates this week, from 5 to 6 per cent, the impulse was felt in Minneapolis. Opinion varies as to the exact impression that the advance will make in the city, but there is no doubt expressed about its strengthening the tone of the money market.

Minneapolis money rates will not go down, whatever the effect of the increase may be in New York. Neither will it likely advance much, but the rates will be strengthened at 6 per cent.

Money has been loaning at a maximum of 6 per cent for a long time, and is often below eastern figures. Some loans are being made at 6 1/2 per cent here, and the action of the management of the Bank of England will doubtless result in holding the rate firm here.

SPECIAL EVENTS IN CHURCHES TOMORROW

OLIVET BAPTIST—Noon, address by Judge Edward P. Waite of the charter commission, on "The Duty of the Christian Voter in This Campaign."
FIRST BAPTIST—Morning and evening service in charge of Rev. George Soltan of England.
GETHESEMANE—10:30 a.m., consecration of the church.
WESLEY—Morning, Dr. David S. Spencer of Tokio will speak.
EPISCOPAL—Pulpits of all Episcopal churches in the city occupied morning and evening, Sunday by visiting bishops and prominent clergy.

There is no contest in the forty-third district, comprising the eighth and thirteenth wards, and part of the country. Senator E. E. Smith won his nomination and election in a hard primary fight in which there was no democratic candidate. There is a prohibition house candidate, who is not known, however, in the district, and Lawrence Johnson, one of the old house men and E. P. Allen will represent the district in the house. There are no democratic candidates.

Forty-fourth District.

The forty-fourth district has a little excitement. It includes the greater part of the third ward, all but one precinct of the third ward, all but one precinct of the fourth ward, and all but one precinct of the fifth ward.

Both the republican and democratic candidates for the senate are new men, and both are young men, not putting up an active fight. E. G. Dabbs, the republican candidate for the senate, is opposed by John W. Pauly, a democrat. Both are in business in the district and well known, but Dabbs has the advantage in that the district is normally republican and he has the backing of the former senator and his friends. George

THINKS COMPANY SHOULD CUT FARE

MAYOR JONES THINKS STREET RAILWAY UNDER OBLIGATIONS.

He Says He Believes It Would Gladly Improve Opportunity to Make Concession to Show Appreciation of Valuable Privileges It Enjoys at the Hands of the Community.

Mayor D. P. Jones is in hearty sympathy with the idea of lower streetcar fares for Minneapolis. Before any action looking like compulsion is taken, however, the mayor believes that the case should be put up to the company on the grounds that its obligations to the municipality and to the public would make a voluntary reduction timely.

Regarding the movement to secure the co-operation of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth in a campaign for lower fares, Mayor Jones said today: "I am in hearty sympathy with all efforts along this line. So far as Minneapolis is concerned, accepting the assumption of the Twin City Rapid Transit company that the city council has no power to regulate or fix its traffic rates, I believe the company will be glad to improve any opportunity to make such voluntary concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community."

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

MINNEAPOLIS BANKER GIVEN NATIONAL HONOR

ARCHIBALD A. CRANE, Elected Treasurer of American Bankers' Association.

Archibald A. Crane, cashier of the National Bank of Commerce, was elected treasurer of the American Bankers' association last night at St. Louis. Mr. Crane is a prominent banker in Minneapolis and has been active in the national association for months before the St. Louis meeting just closed. Mr. Crane was elected without opposition. The treasurer is considered one of the honors of the convention, and its award to Mr. Crane is a recognition of the city as well as of Mr. Crane himself, and his bank.

Minnesota fared well in that it secured practically everything it was after. D. S. Culver, cashier of the National German American bank of St. Paul, was made a member of the executive council, and C. W. Gress of Cannon Falls, former president of the state association, was made vice president for Minnesota. J. S. Chapman, Jr., remains as a member of the council.

Mr. Crane, the new treasurer, has been connected with the National Bank of Commerce for eleven years. In January, 1896, he was appointed assistant cashier, and in January, 1900, he was elected cashier. He has been active in the St. Paul and Duluth, and was a member of the executive council for several terms. Mr. Crane was also a member of the executive council of the national association, until his term expired at the time of the 1905 meeting at Washington.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its streets by responding to the reasonable requests of the public in advance of any legislation to that end. With a franchise of increasing value and earnings, both gross and net, growing rapidly from year to year, comes at least a moral obligation to make such concessions as will show its appreciation of the valuable privileges it enjoys at the hands of this community.

There is always an opportunity for public service corporations to show a spirit of compensatory co-operation with the city for the free use of its