TWO BANDITS CAUGHT IN POLICE DRAGNET

PRISONERS CONFESS TO BOLD HOLDUP.

Edward Camiller and John Smith Assault Edward Smith in Alley and Rob Him of $50—They Admit Crime When Sweated by Police—Other Arrests Coming.

The police dragnet for highwaymen has brought results. Edward Camiller and John Smith, self-confessed bandits, are locked up at Central police station, charged with beating Edward Smith, 28 First street N., in an alley near Hennepin avenue and First street and robbing him of $50.

The two men were arrested yesterday by Detectives Morrissey and Savio and Patrolmen Delair and McDonnell. Smith has identified the two men. He says he was drinking in a saloon on First street Friday night when he met Camiller and Smith. They saw his money and when he left the place they followed him into an alley and when he turned on them one of them struck him with a heavy club, knocking him senseless. When he came to, his money was gone.

Saloonkeeper Is Wise. As the robbers followed Smith out, the saloonkeeper called to them saying, "Look out, you fellows! If that man is robbed I'll know who did it." Camiller turned and swore at the saloonkeeper. Immediately after the robbery Smith went back to the saloon and notified the police. Early yesterday Camiller was arrested and locked up at Central station, charged with highway robbery. Later in the day John Smith was arrested, and when the men were brought together they lost their nerve and admitted that they robbed the man.

Police Superintendent Doyle is well pleased with the results obtained so far, and says clues have been found which may lead to other arrests. He is convinced that this is not the only robbery the two have committed. Neither of the men answers the description of the robber who shot Joseph Gardot, near the Minikahda elab Oct. 13. The police are still looking for the dark man with the corduroy trousers, hunting hat and striped sweater. Gardot is improving and there is little doubt that he will recover.

BROTHER AND SISTER FINALLY REUNITED

EIGHTEEN-YEAR SEARCH ENDS IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Cleveland Children Are Separated When Girl Was Only Two Years Old, and the Boy, Now a Man, Follows Uncertain Clue—Pleasant Reunion Follows in Mill City Home.

MRS. JOHN G. MOLDAN, Sister Who Has Just Been Found by Ohio Brother.

Eighteen long years of separation ended Friday when William Yunker of Cleveland, met Mrs. John G. Moldan, 2115 Second street N., and discovered that she was the sister for whom he had been searching all that time.

Her brother William grew up and made his own way in the world, until today he is the proprietor of a prosperous business in Cleveland. From time to time he renewed his efforts to trace his sister with no avail.

SWEDEN NEEDS PUSH

Returned Tourist Says that American Energy is Sadly Lacking. With American energy and plenty of laborers Sweden would rival any country in the world in production, says Rev. John Teelen, who has just returned from a trip to Sweden, Norway and the British Isles.

Mr. Teelen had been absent from Sweden for more than fifty years and he noticed many changes, especially in religious matters. Religion has lost much of its hold on the lower and middle classes, but has gained strength in the upper classes and among the soldiers.

SCHOOLS ARE GROWING

Fourteen Hundred New Pupils Are Enrolled in October. More than 1,400 new pupils were enrolled in the Minneapolis public schools in the month of October. The actual number, not including the figures from the Prescott school, which has not reported, is 1,407, and it is estimated that the Prescott school will increase this by fifty or more.

BODY AT MORGUE IS STILL UNIDENTIFIED

RESEMBLANCE TO IAN SEKULOFF PERFECT IN DETAIL.

Only Two or Three Persons Call at Morgue and Little Interest Is Shown in Fate of Unfortunate—Remains Will Be Buried Monday Unless Claimed by Friends.

Unless the body of the aged man taken from the river late Friday, is claimed early today it will be buried at the county poor farm. Aitho the police worked all day yesterday trying to find someone who could positively identify the man not the least interest was shown. Usually when a body is found in the river crowds flock to the morgue out of mere curiosity, but yesterday only two or three persons called.

The theory that it is the body of Ian Sekuloff, leader of the Macedonians, is given much credence by the police, who saw the man a few days after the murder of his six countrymen at 243 Tenth avenue S. He came to Minneapolis from Duluth, made a hasty trip to the morgue where he identified all the murder victims, and then disappeared. He said he was going to Duluth that afternoon and the police saw nothing of him after noon that day. He had lived in the house where the murder occurred, but said he had left the Monday before the bodies were found. He would say nothing about the past lives of the men, but said he thought they were killed by robbers from their own country.

RESEMBLANCE IS PERFECT.

Peter Morton, morgue keeper, says that if Sekuloff and the man drowned in the river are not the same their mothers could not tell them apart. He saw Sekuloff when he identified his countrymen and was impressed with the resemblance at once.

Altho no autopsy was held on the body some facts indicate that the man may have been dead before reaching the water. The body was floating when found, altho it was in excellent state of preservation and had evidently been in the water only a day. This would indicate that there was no water in the lungs and that the man did not drown. If he had leaped or was thrown from the Tenth avenue bridge heart failure could have caused death before reaching the water. It is considered certain that the body did not go over the falls for in that case it would have been badly bruised on the rocks.

SEARCHES FOR SISTER.

Two blocks from where the body was found is the little shack where the six Macedonians met their death.

SUPREME COURT GIVES NOMINATION TO ELWELL

Famous Primary Election Contest for Senator Is Awarded to Contestant with Lead of Two Votes.

After a recount and hearing before the district court and an appeal to the supreme court, the Comstock-Elwell contest for the republican senatorial contest in the thirty-ninth district has been finally settled by the higher court. The decision of the higher court, announced yesterday afternoon, gives J. T. Elwell the nomination by two votes.

The decision of the supreme court puts an end to a contest that has excited considerable interest and has been hanging fire since the primaries. On the city return Elwell seemed to lead for a time. Then Comstock finished on the primary returns with five to the good and four more from the town of St. Anthony. Elwell appealed and the court and judgment of the district court gave him the nomination by one vote.

Before the supreme court the attorneys for Comstock at the hearing Friday asked that all voting machine ballots in the district be thrown out and that thirty disputed votes be given to Comstock. Elwell's attorneys asked that marked ballots registered in the precincts using machines and a majority vote be given to Elwell. Elwell contended that no ballots should be used in machine districts and Comstock questioned the legality of the Dean machine used.

The supreme court allowed all regular votes by ballot and by machines to stand and settled the disputed ballots with Elwell a winner by two. Elwell will go on the regular ticket as the republican nominee for senator, and as there is no democratic nominee, he will represent the district this winter in the legislature.

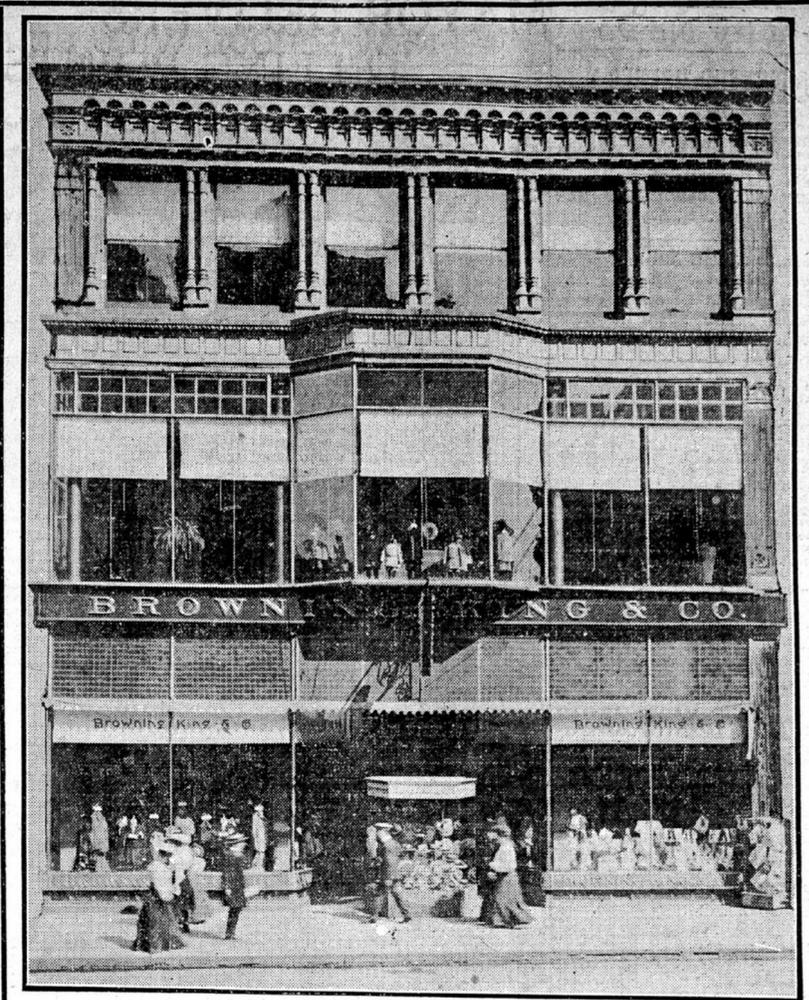

ST. PAUL ORPHEUM OPENS

State and City Officials Grace First Performance with "Box Parties."

The new Orpheum circuit theater at St. Peter and Fifth streets, St. Paul, was formally opened last evening. For weeks workmen have been busy adding the finishing touches, and last night it was universally admired by the audience which filled every seat in the house.

The entrance and lobby of the theater were banked with palms and the auditorium was made brilliant by the illumination of every available electric light. The sale of seats of the opening began at 10 a.m. last Thursday and by 11:30 every seat was sold. Hundreds were turned away last night. Governor and Mrs. Johnson and party occupied one box near the stage. Other boxes were filled by Mayor R. A. Smith, J. O'Connor, chief of police; city officials; J. P. Elmer and party; George H. Prince and party; Harry Dranger and party, and Alexander Cathart and party.

The new Orpheum has a seating capacity of 1,600 and is in charge of Jules Bistes as resident manager. Last evening's offerings were enthusiastically received. They included Margaret Wyckherly and Company; Gus Edwards' Schoolboys and Girls, catch dancing and singing comedians; Belmont and Moore in "A Bit of Laudeville"; the Salvaggi Troupe of acrobatic dancers; Maxine Remington and her "Black Buster Brownies"; Ida Day, comedienne and banjoist; and Dixon Bros., "musical grotesques."

Browning, King & Company 415 to 419 Nicollet Avenue.

The best reports of the clothing that is made by Browning, King & Company are not those set forth in our advertisements, favorable as we deliberately try to make them, but those of the customers of our stores, whose number is greater to-day than at any time before in the history of this house.

The essential principle of our method of production is good faith—good faith, first, in the selection of materials from the world's best markets; in the designing and cutting; in the tailoring and finishing, and lastly in the selling.

Our own workrooms at 16-26 Cooper Square, New York, occupied exclusively in the production of clothing, are appointed with every appliance for the execution of the work, and under conditions, sanitary and otherwise, that remove every suggestion of the so-called "sweat shop."

We avoid the economical blunders of the "piece-work" system by which the work is hurried through and slighted. On the other hand every detail has faithful attention.

Every particular of our factory work comes under the immediate supervision of our designer and of the principals of the business.

The fabrics that we select are made exclusively for us, for the most part, after a thorough inspection of the season's samples as submitted by the best woolen and worsted mills.

All our goods are guaranteed to be absolutely and honestly all wool, without adulteration of any kind, and they are thoroughly "London shrunk" by a process that is somewhat more expensive than steaming, but is far more satisfactory in the results.

We were the first to introduce the making of half-sizes in clothing; and our scale of regular and half-sizes gives to the clothing made by Browning, King & Company every advantage in the matter of exact fit that is possessed by the garments of the best custom tailors.

Our mail order system brings the advantages of our stores practically to the doors of our out-of-town customers; and we invite correspondence regarding clothing, furnishings and hats for men and boys from all who are interested.
