WHAT SOME OF THE PHYSICIANS SAY

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 19, 1900.
Dear Doctor: I take pleasure in saying a good word for Mr. Edwin Murray, proprietor Murray Institute, of Minneapolis, Minn. I have known him for the past ten years, and know him to be honest and sincere. I know nothing personally about his institution, but have at various times been invited by him to investigate his treatment for alcoholic and morphine cure. Have understood that he made no secret of his remedies or methods of treatment. Have known of cases treated by him that are all right, and were I to recommend a case that I thought needed care and treatment for the above named habits, would much prefer sending them to him than to any of the other institutions.
Yours,
—W. J. BYRNES, M. D.,
City Physician, Minneapolis, Minn.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 19, 1900.
To Whom It May Concern:
Repeated evidences of the good work done by the Murray Cure Institute, of this city, in the cure of the liquor and morphine habits have come to my professional notice.

I have upon several occasions sent patients to this Institute for treatment, which has been successful and permanent in every case.
I also know personally a number of other persons who have been cured of these addictions by the Murray Cure.
I have, therefore, no hesitancy in recommending the Murray Institute, not alone for its efficiency, but the businesslike manner in which its affairs are conducted.

Henry C. Aldrich, M. D., Minneapolis, writes:
Minneapolis, Minn., March 22, 1898.
This is to certify that I have had under my care the past six months many cases of the opium habit that have been taking the "Murray Cure," and I must say that I have never seen such marvelous results. The habit in each instance has been broken up in a short time, and with but slight inconvenience to the patient.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20, 1900.
To Whom It May Concern:
I have sent several patients to the Murray Institute to take treatment for inebriety and cure of the liquor habit. In every case the treatment has been satisfactory and complete to the fullest degree.
The Murray Institute is doing an excellent work and it seems to me they are deserving their quota of patronage from this state.
C. M. FERRO, M. D.

From Secretary of the Minneapolis Humane Society.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 30, 1899.
To Whom It May Concern:
The Minneapolis Humane Society in its work, has had a splendid opportunity to test the merits of the cure for the liquor habit given at the Murray Cure Institute, in this city, and with pleasure adds whatever weight of indorsement it possesses to the good work which is being done by the Murray Institute.
In one case, in particular, in which

To Whom It May Concern:
This is to certify that I have a number of times attended patients in the Murray Institute, and can testify from my experience that there is nothing of the mysterious quack nostrum medication in the treatment of the cases which pervades the other institutions of this kind.
Mr. Murray is rational and sensible in his efforts to relieve his patients, and as far as my knowledge and experience extend, eminently successful, so much so that I feel that I can unhesitatingly indorse his method of treating this class of cases.

A. J. Murdock, M. D., 504 Masonic Temple, Minneapolis, writes:
Minneapolis, Minn., March 16, 1898.
This is to certify that I have tested the treatment given at the Murray Institute in several cases, one of which was taking daily sixty grains and had been using the drug continuously for 25 years, with results so remarkable and entirely satisfactory to myself and the patient that I have no hesitation in recommending it to those desiring to be cured of this terrible habit.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 10, 1900.
Mr. Edwin Murray, The Murray Cure Institute, Minneapolis, Minn.:
Dear Sir: A year ago I sent you a testimonial stating that after several months' trial I was absolutely satisfied as to the permanence of the Murray Cure. Now another year has rolled around and I am only so much more certain that the Murray Cure will cure anybody of the drink habit that will give it a chance. I hope you will have many more to write you as I am doing, for I want to encourage you all I can. You certainly did a great act in curing me of the drink habit.
JOHN HOLEN,
Glenwood, Minn.

Still Praise Murray Cures

Roberts, Wis., Oct. 14, 1897.
Murray Cure Institute:
Gentlemen: I take pleasure in sending you this voluntary testimonial of the splendid results achieved in my case. When I presented myself at your institute for treatment I had little faith in any cure, but I went more to please my family and friends. I can now say that after four weeks spent at your institute I find the appetite and desire for drink totally removed from me. I feel better physically and mentally than I have for years, and am thoroughly satisfied.
HARRY BROWN.

FOR THE DRINK AND DRUG HABITS

Not a Gold cure, but a sure cure—no failures. That's what the Murray Cure is. Induce yourself, your brother, father or friend, addicted to the drink or morphine habits, to come to us and be made men. The Murray Cure leaves no bad after-effects. There is no bichloride of gold or mercury in this treatment—a simple vegetable preparation that builds but does not injure the system. Patients are under the care of the founder of the cure and a skilled physician, and they always improve in general health under treatment.

I Will and Can Cure You of the Liquor or Morphine Habit.

The Murray Institute for the cure of those addicted to drugs and drink is ideally located in a splendid residence district of the city. The grounds surrounding the Institute are spacious and inviting and the institute itself is a large, handsome building, newly furnished with every modern convenience. The rooms are commodious and every effort for the convenience of patients has been put forth to make this institute the peer of any in the Northwest.

Indorsed by Church and State

Rev. Fr. J. M. Cleary, president of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, and pastor of the St. Charles Church, after an investigation of the Murray Cure, wrote the following indorsement:
Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, Rev. James Cleary, President.
Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 19, 1898.

To Whom It May Concern:
I know Mr. Edwin Murray personally, and I have had sufficient personal knowledge of the effects of his cure for the liquor and morphine habits to justify me in giving the same my unqualified indorsement. I have no hesitation in stating that the Murray Cure will do all that is claimed for it, if properly taken. I sincerely hope that many unfortunates will avail themselves of the benefits which this speedy cure can confer upon them. Respectfully,
J. M. CLEARY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 18, 1900.
To Whom It May Concern:
I am well acquainted with the manager of the Murray Institute of this city and it is a pleasure to recommend him as a reliable and honorable business man.

I also know of the good work done by that institution in curing victims of the liquor and drug habit, and know that many remarkable cures have been effected, and these cures seem to have been permanent.
I believe the institution is conducted in a thoroughly business-like manner, and that it is doing a most commendable work in this community and take pleasure in recommending both the institute and its manager to anyone who may desire to secure the services of such an institute. Very respectfully,
JAMES G. DOYLE,
Superintendent of Police.

My Dear Mr. Murray:
It is with pleasure that I lend my voice to sound the praises of your "Murray Cure." From personal observation and from patients that I advised to take your cure, I am certain that the "Murray Cure" is a blessing to unfortunates and is calculated to promote the interest of sobriety. I have seen several practical illustrations of what your cure has done, and it is but just that I should recommend the "Murray Cure."
Wishing you the fullest measure of success in your noble work and praying the bounteous blessings of heaven upon you and your institute, yours, with esteem and respect,
WM. E. DEGNAN.

Speaks from Experience

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 27, 1898.
To the Opium Users of Minnesota:
I speak as one of you. I have been where you are now. I needed my doses every day, or I was in misery, just as you need yours. But I have been cured. If you don't believe it, I will prove it to any man or woman by any kind of proof that you may ask. I took the Murray Cure. I have now only one concern—to make an honorable living and to devote my spare energies to getting opium habitues cured. It will be a pleasure to me to tell you all about the Murray Cure. It has cured me, and will cure you.
J. F. DYER,
2614 Nicollet Avenue.

(Mr. Dyer has now been without the desire for morphine or any narcotic for over one year, and an amount of money would induce him to take the dread drug.)

From Albert Lea

To Whom It May Concern:
My friends and acquaintances about Albert Lea are well aware that I have been drinking very hard for fifteen years, and found that I had to do something to help me quit, so I went to THE MURRAY CURE INSTITUTE in Minneapolis, stayed there four weeks, and came home cured of the habit of drinking. I thought I was a bad case, but they had a great deal worse cases that were cured just as easy as I was. They are very kind at the INSTITUTE, and it is like being at home. I would recommend everyone to go and be cured if they have the habit. I am a very happy man now.

Jefferson & Kasson, Lumber.

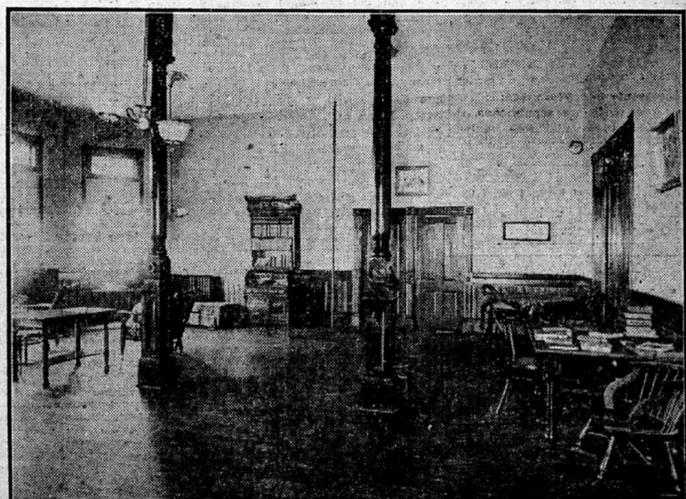

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 21, 1899.
To Whom It May Concern:
Having seen a practical illustration of the benefits of the Murray Institute, I do not hesitate to recommend said institute to those who require a cure of this character.
Will be pleased to answer any personal inquiries. Very truly yours,
JAMES KASSON,
Of the firm of Jefferson & Kasson.

Parish of the Immaculate Conception, Minneapolis, March 1, 1898.

To Whom It May Concern:
I take pleasure in saying that I have watched with great interest a number of the persons treated for the liquor habit at the Murray Institute, in this city, and every one of those who came under my personal notice has been permanently cured and greatly benefited by the treatment received. I feel I am perfectly safe in indorsing the Murray Cure.
MICHAEL M'INTYRE,
Assistant Pastor,
