Convention Aftermath.

The recent annual convention of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs in Winona will be memorable for more than one reason. It was the first federation meeting held outside of the twin cities at which the attendance was large enough for visitors to secure a railroad rate and yet it could not be called a large convention. It was the visiting women who aided the delegates in securing a rebate, for the report of the credential committee showed only eighty-seven accredited voters and of this number less than fifty cast their ballots.

Many of the women who have been active in federation work ever since there was a Lydian were not present and their absence was noted with regret. Mrs. Lydia Phillips Williams, Mrs. E. M. La Penotiere, Mrs. W. W. Sykes, Mrs. M. B. Lewis, Mrs. H. A. Towne of Minneapolis, Miss Margaret Evans of Northfield, Mrs. F. S. Allen of Dodge Center, Mrs. C. A. Dibble and Mrs. J. W. Edgerton of St. Paul were all absent and they have always been familiar figures at a state convention. The convention was a week later than usual this fall, and to this postponement is due the absence of many of the club leaders. The biennial is also blamed for the attendance, as the club women of the state spent the whole days in June attending club meetings and they had no time left to give to the fall convention. Then, too, there was no burning question, no election of a state president to arouse any unusual degree of interest.

The delegates devoted themselves almost entirely to business and there was no brilliant reception and few of the smart women of the state marked so many conventions. It was Mrs. Washburn's wish that the formal reception should be given up and as many delegates did not study their programs thoroughly enough to note the omission they carried their evening gowns all for nothing. The Winona chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held an informal reception in one of the parlors of the church every afternoon, but the club reception that was to follow the last afternoon program was given up, as the delegates preferred a drive to a party. The Winona women were untiring in their hospitality and carriages were always ready to take the club women wherever they wanted to go.

The next state convention will be held in Faribault, but before that the club women will come to Minneapolis for the midwinter gathering, when the women of the fifth district will be hostesses.

Hand-Woven Treasures.

A Minneapolis weaver has in her possession a wonderful old yellow linen tablecloth, more than century old, showing Abbotsford castle, and a border of Scotch thistle and English rose, designed and woven by her great grandmother in Scotland. It will be one of the interesting hand-woven articles to be shown at the Arts and Crafts exhibition in November. Beautiful examples of the old blue counterpanes, which are treasured in so many homes, will also be shown. They have an artistic as well as monetary value now that was undreamed of in the days when our grandmothers made them. Some of them are really marvelous with their elaborate floral designs and whole villages around the borders. Weaving is one of the most ancient of all crafts, for the weaving of rush baskets preceded even pottery making. Since the beginning of history there have been woven stuffs and fabrics, but there is no record of the invention of the loom or the discovery of the textile value of wool and flax. Hand-woven fabrics have been little seen for the last few generations and doubtless the modern housewife is glad that the household weaving does not fall to her lot. But factory-wrought textiles cannot compete with hand-woven stuffs, and now a demand for them for decorative uses has arisen and the Arts and Crafts exhibition will show some of the really beautiful things that the present taste for colonial furniture has produced.

New England Women.

Since the biennial in St. Paul in June there has been a movement on foot in Minneapolis to form a society which shall be a branch of the National Society of New England Women, which has its headquarters in New York. Such a society was formed in St. Paul and it has been found that one here would have a large following, as every one of New England birth, parentage or ancestry is eligible. A mass meeting will be held in the directors' room of the public library building Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. to organize and elect officers. The purpose of the new organization can embrace all that its members wish to stand for, social, patriotic, philanthropic and progressive in every way. The national president is Mrs. Theodor Frelinghuysen of New York.

Gatherings of the D. A. R.

The annual meeting of the Colonial chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held Friday at 2:30 p.m. with Mrs. Albert Harrington, 1223 Park avenue.

The Keewauwin chapter, D. A. R., will meet Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. with Miss Jessie Simpson, 2124 Girard avenue S.

College Women Entertain.

Mrs. Frances S. Potter and Mrs. G. Peck will be the honor guests at a reception given by the College Women's club Tuesday afternoon in the directors' room of the public library from 4 to 6 o'clock. It is the policy of the club to pay women of distinction due respect by having them as honor guests at its social gatherings, and the return of Mrs. Potter and Miss Peck after a year's absence in Europe is the occasion of the first gathering this season. Mrs. T. G. Winter, president of the club, will receive with Mrs. Potter and Miss Peck, and the members of the club will assist in an informal way. Misses Agnes Belden and Nellie Merrill will introduce the guests to the hostesses, while Mrs. F. E. Barney, Dr. Mabel Ulrich, Mrs. W. A. Willard and Miss Hope McDonald will preside over the tea table.

At the Y. W. C. A.

The vesper service at the Young Women's Christian association this afternoon at 4 o'clock will be addressed by Rev. P. A. Cool, his subject being "The Victory of Courage." E. R. Wilson will sing. These Sunday afternoon meetings have been particularly enjoyed this fall by a large number of young women, and the at home hour when light refreshments are served following the meeting, has proved a delightful addition to the usual program.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson of Chicago, who is at the head of the national secretarial training school of the Y. W. C. A., will be the guest of honor Sunday afternoon, and will speak informally. Miss Wilson had charge of the American delegation to the world's conference in Paris last May, and will be the guest of Miss Jameson over Sunday.

Halloween will be duly observed by the association. The noon rest committee is arranging for a jolly time Tuesday night, and the social committee is planning an informal evening of games and appropriate Halloween decorations Wednesday at 8 o'clock. Both occasions are free to all young women.

Championed by Illinois.

The club women of Illinois will champion the women's trades union movement. At the recent state convention in Chicago it was decided to concentrate the work of the year on the following lines: To have the United States government undertake a comprehensive investigation in the working conditions of girls, women and children.

To have the Illinois state legislature pass laws requiring factories to install protection from gangways machinery.

To promote a "trade school" movement for girls, similar to the one in Massachusetts.

To help the girls and women to organize into unions.

To further far-reaching legislation as will "make the trade bear the burden of its own accidents" as is done in Germany thru "compulsory insurance" laws.

For Asbury Hospital.

A delicate sale for the benefit of Asbury hospital will be held every Saturday evening in Boutelle's store, where the women interested in the hospital work will preside over a daintily arranged table. Minicome will be one of the special articles, and other home-made goodies are to be on sale.

Afro-American Clubs.

The M. T. C. Art club held an interesting meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. R. S. Brown, 608 East Fourteenth street. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Emma Helm; vice president, Mrs. Jennie E. Watson; recording secretary, Mrs. Jennie E. Gibbs; corresponding secretary and editor, Mrs. Mattie Wade; treasurer, Mrs. Mary L. Joyce; critic, Mrs. Kate Smith; sunshine committee, Mmes. Brown, Watson and Eva Abbey; department of literature, Mrs. Jennie Sample. Light refreshments were served after the transaction of business. The club will hold its next meeting with Mrs. Harvey Moss, 2919 Columbus avenue.

The executive board of the Minnesota Afro-American federation will be held in St. Paul Nov. 14.

Among the Clubs.

Fowler and W. W. Ireland were chosen delegates to the state convention at Winona. The club has a balance in the treasury of $130.24. The rest room is still conducted by the club and is very popular.

The Tourist club of Rochester entertained the Fin de Siecle club of Chatfield last week. In the morning the guests visited the state hospital grounds, at noon there was a luncheon and in the afternoon a program was given at the home of Mrs. William Withers where a supper was served.

The Tourist club of Superior, Wis., will study England and Ireland the coming year. The new officers of the club are: President, Mrs. H. A. Johnson; vice-president, Mrs. L. S. Larson; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Roycraft; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jesse Patrick. Last week the members were entertained by Mrs. Frank Burke at her home in Froster.

The Homecroft movement is being partially demonstrated by the Woman's Social Science club of Newton, Ground has been purchased and divided into lots large enough to make the practical experiment of raising vegetables for family use. A guild has been formed in which handicrafts are taught, such women may learn and carry on in their own homes. Later on it is the intention to gradually acquire more land by which factory workers may have their individual homesteads, with what that will mean to their families.
