The fact that you have a horse, cow, dog or something to sell is a secret, shared by yourself and a few friends, perhaps, until you have advertised it in the "Want Columns" of The Journal; then the people who want to buy are well informed and a sale is made. The contest scheduled for last night, for the purpose of choosing the student who is to represent the university in the annual Hamilton club oratorical contest at Chicago, was postponed, as those chosen to act as judges were engaged elsewhere on election matters. The event will probably come off Wednesday night, if judges can be secured.

After a series of sensational escapes from custody, Walker Gross, alias Burt Williams, 17 years old, was arrested last night by Detective Wirtensohn, and will be sent to his guardians in Chicago. Gross was sent to South Dakota to work on a farm, but he ran away from his employer and was apprehended only after great trouble. Passing thru Minneapolis on his way back to Chicago the boy broke away from his captors and has been at liberty for the last week.

Cup of Acid Is Dashed from Lips in Nick of Time.

Raising a bottle of carbolic acid to his lips, Clifford Souleitz, 324 First avenue SE, attempted to drink its contents last night, and was only saved thru the quick action of his roommate, who dashed the bottle from his lips. The incident occurred in a saloon at 206 1/2 Central avenue.

The two men came to Minneapolis from Michigan and no motive is assigned for Souleitz' act. He is at the city hospital, but will probably recover, as the bottle was dashed from his hands before he had time to drain it.

SAVED FROM DROWNING

Two Boys Narrowly Miss Death in Lake Calhoun.

Thrown from a canoe into Lake Calhoun, John H. Blackburn, 107 Washington avenue S, and John O. Charleston, 1416 Fifth avenue S, two 16-year-old boys, narrowly escaped drowning last night when they were rescued by the fact that they were both carrying revolvers loaded with waterproof cartridges, and were able to summon aid by firing their weapons.

The boys had stepped out on the lake hoping to see a stray duck, and when about one hundred and fifty feet from shore their canoe overturned. Holding the overturned craft they fired their revolvers and called for help. Dr. M. Russell Wilcox, 3343 Calhoun boulevard, heard the cries of the boys and with the help of two other men and a rowboat, the boys were rescued.

MUSICIANS OF NOTE

Leoncavallo's Orchestra Composed of Artists from La Scala.

As a matter of information to the general public who are not so well acquainted with the methods employed in Italian operahouses, it is announced that Messrs. Cort and Kronberg, managers of the first American tour of Leoncavallo, the great Italian composer, that the orchestra accompanying the tour is the organization now employed during the regular opera season at La Scala theater, Milan.

The organization which Messrs. Cort and Kronberg have brought to this country with Leoncavallo comprises the seventy-five men who played last season at La Scala, when Leoncavallo's new opera "Zaza" was produced, and who complete their term the coming season. The American impresarios are under bond to the Italian government to return the musicians and singers in time for the Christmas season at Milan, which opens at La Scala Dec. 24.

The ship of seats for this great concert in Minneapolis will open tomorrow morning at the Metropolitan music store. The prices are popular so as to allow everybody to hear the greatest musical organization which ever came to this country.

"TURKS" SCARCE AND POOR AT THAT

SEASON WAS POOR FOR THANKSGIVING BIRD.

Bulk of Supply Will Be in Hands of Big Packers at High Prices—Chickens Will Be Plentiful, Good and Reasonable in Price—Ditto Ducks and Geese.

Turkeys will not be "prime" for Thanksgiving this year.

That is what the market men say, who have agents buying birds from the farmers to meet the Thanksgiving demand.

The weather has been against the development of the birds. It has been chilly and wet. Young turkeys do best in dry, bright weather. There will probably be as many birds on the market for this Thanksgiving as a year ago, but they will be small and will fall short of the average amount of meat on their bones. They will sell at wholesale, probably, at 15 to 17 cents a pound; 20 to 25 cents in retail markets.

There is a good deal of change in the way the turkey market is controlled and the supply handled, compared with a few years ago. It used to be the small commission houses which handled the bulk of the turkeys, sent in by farmers. But now the big packing houses have their agents throughout the country, who buy the birds in carload quantities, ship them to the city and store and freeze them. It is therefore to the big packers that the public will have to look for the bird of the birds for Thanksgiving. The district tributary to the twin cities is looked upon as exceptionally good for turkeys, and the big packers are planning to send Minnesota turkeys to various points for Thanksgiving consumption, even to the Pacific coast.

The turkeys will be high and poor for Thanksgiving, who buy the birds in quantity to be found in the fact that chickens will be comparatively cheap, good and plentiful, Thanksgiving season will find tender turkeys at 10 to 12 1/2 cents a pound, retail.

Ducks and geese are reported to be a little shy of the probable demand, but a commission man says they will be able to offer them at about the same price as chickens.

Direct wires from every political battlefield will lead to the Auditorium this evening, when as many hundreds of the hilarity of the election returns will be given the public in the Auditorium. The first and most complete returns from various elections from The Journal's unexcelled bulletin service. Unusual preparations have been made, not only to give the public the returns of the election news before it has ceased to sizzle, but also to present a program of such varied amusements as to add to the hilarity of the returns. On the right side of the election, and to temper the wind to the storm lulls.

There will be a general admission to the Auditorium organ by Miss Eulalie Cheever, many numbers from the marvelous auxetophone, heard tonight for the first time in public in the northwest; selections in our general admission program of the sunny southland; stirring military music by the Journal band; impromptu organ selections by Rev. G. L. Morrill; a pie-eating contest; a tug-of-war and a boxing match by the Journal newsboys, for whose benefit the entertainment is given.

In point of happy location and accommodations, the Auditorium will undoubtedly be the most comfortable place in the whole city to get the election returns tonight. The general admission tickets sold at 25 cents each. The entertainment continues until along in the morning.

HELLSTROM IS MISSED

ROYAL OPERA OF STOCKHOLM RELUCTANTLY ALLOWS PRIMA DONNA ASSOLUTA LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mme. Anna Hellstrom, the prima donna of the Royal opera of Stockholm, who has been the star of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra's first concert of the season at the Auditorium Friday evening, is a great favorite here.

For the sangarest in 1903, Mme. Hellstrom came here directly from her first triumph at the Stockholm opera. Up to that time the now famous opera singer had only appeared in strictly typical or soubret parts. At the time of her second appearance in 1905, she had just begun to assume the position of prima donna, and was making headway between older and younger competitors at the Royal opera of her native city. This year Mme. Hellstrom returns as the prima donna assoluta of that institution.

"Prima donna assoluta" does not mean a fine title added to Mme. Hellstrom's name, but stands for a position of power and authority in the leading opera of northern Europe, where Jenny Lind, Nilsson, Michaeli, Arnoldson and Oestberg have been her predecessors.

Mme. Hellstrom had the greatest difficulty in obtaining a leave of absence for the two short months her present tour will occupy. The Royal opera will suffer artistically and financially while she is in the United States. Mme. Oestberg has just been forced to retire on account of advanced age, and Mme. Hellstrom has succeeded her in name, as she had already done in fact. Herr Forsell was recently taken down with appendicitis, and has not yet been able to resume his position at the opera.

Mme. Jungstedt, Sweden's great contralto, has married into the nobility and gone abroad. Under such circumstances Mme. Hellstrom's absence will be severely felt.

NEW WORK APPEALS TO PRESBYTERIANS

PROMINENT MINNEAPOLIS MEN TO ATTEND CONVENTION.

First Convention of New Brotherhood, to Be Held in Indianapolis, Will Be Addressed by Dr. Bushnell—Many Men Prominent Nationally Will Attend Meeting.

Rev. Dr. John E. Bushnell of Minneapolis will deliver the opening address at the first national convention of the Indianapolis Brotherhood next week in Indianapolis. About fifteen delegates will go from Minneapolis, including C. T. Thompson, D. D. Dayton, W. S. Harris, J. H. Riheldaffer, Rev. D. D. McCarty and Rev. Dr. Stanley B. Roberts.

The convention is to be the first meeting in the new Knights of Pythias hall. A banquet on the evening of Nov. 13 will be the opening event. The convention will last thru Nov. 13 and 14. Among the speakers will be Rev. Charles W. Gordon, "Ralph Conner," and William Jennings Bryan.

Permanent organization of the brotherhood was made at the first meeting. The idea is taking with an enthusiasm as nothing ever suggested before in the Presbyterian church, according to C. T. Thompson, a member of the organization committee of ten appointed by the general assembly.

Workers Enthusiastic.

The brotherhood convention is to be open to any organization of men in any country, and is a movement which has started ten years ago, it has received its present impulse from the success of the Presbyterian Union of Chicago in the effort to move the headquarters of the Western Passenger association. The report of the committee appointed to find out whether the time was ripe for a national organization was almost unanimous. Rev. John Clark Hill of Springfield, Ohio, was chairman. Mr. Thompson was one of the most active members of the committee of five ministers and five business men appointed to carry out the initiative of the first meeting. Indianapolis has been selected as the central headquarters of the national organization will leave early next week.

CRISIS IN MILK HITS EAST SIDE

ADVENT OF ARMOUR HAS STRANGE EFFECT.

Great Packing Plant Will Occupy Lands Formerly Devoted to Sanitary Dairies and Dealers in Pasteurized Bottled Milk Go Out of Business—Housewives Complain.

A milk famine, or more properly speaking, a bottled-milk famine, is confronting the housewives of Southeast Minneapolis and as a result the enthusiasm which crowned the successful efforts of Minneapolis business men to bring J. Ogden Armour, with his packing plant, to the city, has experienced a noticeable change. The cordiality between the two facts may not be apparent until it is stated that the housewives indirectly blame Mr. Armour for the dearth in the milk supply.

At least three of the largest dairies in the city were situated on the land which Mr. Armour needed for his proposed packing plant. When the land was bought, the dairies naturally went out of business. The transaction was rushed thru in such short order and the prices paid for the land were so tempting that the dairymen did not have time or inclination to look for new locations, and their traffic in milk and cream came to an end.

It so happened that the dairymen who figured in the New Brighton episode were the dairymen of the east side, and their business was not so entirely confined to the pasteurized and sterilized product. Clean glass bottles were conspicuous features of their business, and the appearance of an old-fashioned milk can, with its suspicion of lurking bacteria, would have frightened the cows on the New Brighton dairymen's pastures.

Bottles No More.

When the New Brighton dairymen went out of business they turned over their cows and their goodwill to the dairymen in other parts of the town, who showed the greatest financial interest in the two assets. In the transaction, however, the New Brighton dairymen must have forgotten the milk bottles, for during last week, and despite the strenuous protests and concerted opposition of East Side housewives, the old tin milkcan has done business on the East Side. To pleadings and demands the successors of the New Brighton milk men have turned obturate ears. Milk there is in plenty, but milk in hermetically sealed bottles, bearing the date stamp and inspection tag, is not to be procured.

And that is why the housewives of East Minneapolis are opposed to the establishment of the New Brighton plant.
