

MURDER FOR GOLD CHARGED TO HAU

Professor of George Washington University Charged with Foul Crime in Germany.

Baden Baden, Germany, Nov. 9.—Karl Hau, the lawyer of Washington, D. C., who was arrested in London yesterday, and held for extradition, is wanted by the local police on the charge of murdering his wife's mother, Frau Molitor. The motive of the crime, it is alleged to have been an insane greed for money. Frau Molitor, who was wealthy, refused many times to comply with Hau's requests for money, having given her daughter a considerable dowry and arranged that she should inherit her fortune.

Lured to Her Death.

The evening of Nov. 6 Frau Molitor received a telephone message asking her to go to the postoffice and get a parcel. Accompanied by her young daughter, she started at once for the postoffice. While passing thru a quiet street she was shot from behind and fell dead. The man who committed the murder was described as being of medium height and seemingly under 40 years old. He wore a beard, but it is said that it was false. The police believe the murderer was the man who called up Frau Molitor on the telephone. The telephonic message was received by a servant of the household, who says she thought she recognized Hau's voice, and so informed her mistress, but the latter insisted on going to the postoffice.

Hau's Peculiar Actions.

Hau, after leaving Baden, sent his wife and child to London, and stopped at Frankfurt, where he attracted attention by his long beard, which is now asserted to have been purchased from a hairdresser at Frankfurt. The day of the murder Hau left Frankfurt at 11 a. m. on the Baden train and returned to Frankfurt at 5 o'clock the same evening.

After his arrival here he sent the following telegram to his wife at the hotel: "Arrive tomorrow night. Don't be afraid."

Friends Say He's Innocent.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Dr. Charles W. Neesham, president of George Washington university, in common with many other friends of Karl Hau, who is charged with murdering his mother-in-law in Germany, declines to believe Hau guilty of the crime at the university. This telegram gave the police a clue and Hau's arrest followed.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 9.—The winter session of the dairy school at the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture, which opens today, will materially increase the efficiency and interest of the work for dairy students. FROM NEW DAIRY DISTRICTS

Manufacturers of butter and cheese have come from all parts of the state to enter the dairy school for the purpose of learning to improve the grade and quantity of their products. Many have come from Kewaunee county and the vicinity. The registration from the northern part of the state demonstrates the growth of the out-of-town dairy country as a dairy district. Professor E. H. Farrington, in charge of the dairy course, stated that during the summer and predicted it to be the largest dairy country of the United States on account of the fine lower country there, the proximity to Minnesota bran mills and the fine soil which he had had through the year for dairy purposes.
