LAND SALES GROWING LESS

STATE'S COMMISSION THIS YEAR AMOUNTS TO $9,651 AGAINST $28,310 TWO YEARS AGO.

Governor John A. Johnson Saturday sent a letter to the state auditor containing a draft for $9,651.28 on the federal treasury at Washington. This draft represented 5 per cent of the money received for the sale of federal lands in Minnesota for the fiscal year ending June 30. The money goes to enrich the state road and bridge fund.

This is the smallest amount of money the state has received for one year's sale of federal lands since 1900. This is directly indicative of the decrease in demand for farm lands by new settlers in Minnesota. The highest amount ever received in one year from the government was $28,310.54 in 1904, when Minnesota lands were in the greatest demand they have ever experienced. The money received for federal land sales during the fiscal year of 1906 shows that the demand for Minnesota federal lands has fallen off until it is less than one-third of what it was in 1904.

The amounts received from the federal treasury for sales of federal lands in Minnesota each year since 1900, as shown comparatively in the following figures: 1906, $9,651.28; 1905, $14,533.73; 1904, $28,310.54; 1903, $25,103.87; 1902, $11,422.04; 1901, $10,103.87; 1900, $9,996.99; 1899, $3,664.90; 1898, $4,525.37.

LACEY PICKED FOR PLACE

Iowa Congressman Likely to Head Government Land Department.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Representative John F. Lacey of Iowa, now out for years chairman of the house committee on public lands, is picked at the department of the interior as the man who is likely to succeed Commissioner Richards at the head of the land office. There is only gossip in connection with the matter. President Roosevelt did not know positively of Mr. Lacey's defeat when he left Washington and there is no reason to believe that the suggestion of Major Lacey's name has yet been made to him.

The appointment, it is urged, would be natural because of the general belief that the president wants an expert in this office, and Major Lacey probably knows the public land business better than any other man who could be found.

STATE TO SELL TIMBER

Many Isolated Tracts Will Yield Profit to Commonwealth.

Samuel G. Iverson, state auditor, is arranging for a series of sales of state timber in northern Minnesota. They will be held as follows: Morning of Dec. 10, Two Harbors; afternoon of Dec. 10, Duluth; Park Rapids, Dec. 11; Walker, Dec. 12; Bemidji, Dec. 13; Grand Rapids, Dec. 14; Aitkin, Dec. 15. These sales will be for the disposition of "small stuff," scraps left on out-crover lands and small isolated patches of standing timber, being timber which a few years ago lumbermen would not bother about, but which now can be sold for some profit to the state.

BUTTERMAKERS CHOOSE ST. PAUL

The next annual meeting of the National Creamery Buttermakers' association will be held in the St. Paul auditorium next October. E. K. Rater, Minnesota dairy and food commissioner, is expected to attend the meeting, which was decided at a meeting of the executive committee of the association. The St. Paul Commercial club offered the association the use of the auditorium and a contribution of $4,000.

GOMPERS COVERS FEDERATION YEAR

PRESIDENT OF TRADES UNIONISTS REPORTS TO CONVENTION.

Takes Up the Political Campaign Made by Labor Representatives Against Certain Congressmen, and Deals with Other Work of the National Organization.

Advance sheets of the annual report of President Samuel Gompers at the convention of the American Federation of Labor today was an address at Oliver Bryson's church last night by Rev. Charles Stelzle, New York, superintendent of the church and labor department of the home mission board's work. Mr. Stelzle was formerly pastor of Hope chapel in Minneapolis. He will attend the sessions of the federation.

The most interesting subject in the report is labor's political campaign against those congressmen who were branded by the federation leaders as legislators hostile to the interests of the laboring man. President Gompers' report was written before the elections Nov. 6, and so is not conclusive as based upon the results of those elections. The report, however, asserts that if labor's efforts may not have filled its hopes, the federation will continue their efforts in behalf of labor's betterment. The report declares that whatever the result, the endeavor was successful from many points of view. The political campaign opened late and was hampered by a lack of funds. The subject is to be covered more fully when the executive council of the federation reports.

The laborer makes his gains by hard work and Mr. Gompers finds that his advance along industrial lines has been beset with difficulties and opposition where there should have been co-operation.

Growth of Unions.

Charters have been issued within the year to 6 intransigent states, 53 city center, 167 local trade and 87 federal labor unions, a total of 317. There are now affiliated with the A. F. of L. 119 international, 36 state, 538 central labor, and 759 local trade and federal unions.

Ideals of unionism, Mr. Gompers says, are not perfect, and all growth is made by adapting the principles, not always clearly defined, to the workmen as they are, not as they should be. The work is one of patience, education, and fraternal association. Emphasis is laid on the city center bodies, of whatever name, as efficient courts in which local disputes are neutralized, and for their help in furthering the general interests of labor.

Mr. Gompers comments with satisfaction on the growth of unionism in Canada and the increasing fraternity existing between the laboring men of that land and this. Organizations among the working people of Porto Rico are increasing, and in general condition there are more satisfactory than heretofore.

Eight-Hour Contest.

The eight-hour contest of the International Typographic Union has been on the whole successful. Of 20 odd unions involved in the eight-hour controversy, about one hundred have been successful. Thirty-nine thousand printers are now working under the eight-hour rule, and 5,000 are still on strike. Mr. Gompers can see no reason why the universal working day should not be eight hours, and argues that a day of that length has proved to be better for the material, moral and intellectual advancement of all concerned.

Labor is more generally employed now than a year ago. In 1905 the percentage of the unemployed was about 3, while for this year it will probably be 2.75. The "no wage reduction" policy is considered wise and humane, and there is no reason to believe that a general decline in production will be undertaken in the form of a perfected eight-hour labor bill, anti-injunction measures, Chinese exclusion, convict labor and employment on the Panama canal.

Ship Subsidy.

The protest against the ship subsidy bill is reported, with stress on the contention of the federation that the bill contained provisions which practically made conscription of men for the transportation of mail over the Panama canal.

Touching on the defeat of an immigration bill in the national house of representatives, Mr. Gompers says that the course taken by Speaker Cannon. The passage of the denatured alcohol law is noted with satisfaction. Regret is expressed that little or no progress has been made toward the passage of a bill limiting railroad men's hours of labor, and the federation is urged to renewed efforts for the measure.

The report counsels a conference of railroad organization heads over the Erdman arbitration act which prohibits discrimination by railroads against members of labor organizations because of such membership. The conference is necessary because a court has declared this provision of the act null and void.

The employers' limited liability law is hailed as a basis for future action pending its provisions to all persons employed in interstate commerce.

The federation is urged to renew its efforts to secure the passage of a resolution in congress directing the department of commerce and labor to investigate the industrial, social, moral, educational and physical conditions of women and child workers in the United States.

Hearst in Congress.

Reference is made to Congressman W. R. Hearst's proposed bill for the enactment of a bill limiting the number of barges towed out to sea or off a coast by a single vessel.

The San Francisco disaster is referred to with a partial report on the relief measures taken by the federation for trades unionists in San Francisco. Workmen are advised not to go to Frisco in hope of finding employment.

Continued efforts to relieve humanity from the scourge of tuberculosis are recommended. Further attention is urged to secure the use of schoolrooms as meeting places for labor unions.

Arrest of Miners.

The arrest and imprisonment of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with complicity in the murder of former Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, are termed an outrage and a travesty on the law.

REV. CHARLES STELZLE OUTLINES UNION PRINCIPLES.

TENETS OF LABOR TOLD FROM PULPIT

Former Minneapolis Pastor Here to Attend Big Convention, Delivers Address in Which Is Pointed Out What Organized Labor Stands For, and What It Has Done.

An unofficial preliminary to the meeting of the American Federation of Labor today was an address at Oliver Bryson's church last night by Rev. Charles Stelzle, New York, superintendent of the church and labor department of the home mission board's work. Mr. Stelzle was formerly pastor of Hope chapel in Minneapolis. He will attend the sessions of the federation.

"The Other Side of Trades Unionism," was Mr. Stelzle's subject. In part he said: "The time has come for a sane study of what Charles called 'the universal vital problem of the world.' It is sometimes forgotten that the labor union is not the labor question. If every labor union in existence were to be wound out, the labor question would still be present, and that, too, in a more aggravated form than it is today. It cannot be denied that in spite of its shortcomings, trades unionism has brought nearer a solution of the industrial problem.

"Organized labor welcomes employers' associations, which are organized to safeguard the interests of their members, but it deplores the organization of 'union smashing' alliances of any kind, which deny the same right to organized labor. There is nothing in the laws of the American Federation of Labor, which prevents an employer from paying an employee as much as he pleases. It does not insist upon the employment of incompetent men. The American Federation of Labor does not draw the color line. A portion of the pledge taken by every candidate reads as follows: 'I promise never to discriminate against a fellow worker on account of creed, color, or nationality.'

Mr. Stelzle's address in continuation was for the most part a working out of a series of statements regarding federation principles. These were outlined as follows:

What It Stands For.

"The American Federation of Labor does not object to the use of labor-saving machinery. Trades unionism is not a 'labor trust.' Its officers are not high-salaried officials.

"The leaders of organized labor are usually men of unquestioned character. At any time they compare favorably with men in other walks of life.

Value Ethically.

"The labor union has an ethical value which is rarely appreciated. Labor halls have become social centers. Frequently helpful lecture courses are given. Social features, uplifting character, are often supported. The labor press, the labor school, the labor library, technical matters, presents higher ideals and urges better living.

"Organized labor has done much for the cause of temperance among workingmen. Officers of the union declare that an injured man will not receive the weekly sick benefit if the cause of his injury was intemperance. More and more labor union meetings are being held in halls which are free from saloons. Rarely do they meet on Sundays.

"Trades unionism is doing more to Americanize the immigrant than any other institution. The labor hall, church, according to the United States labor commissioner in the bimonthly report issued January, 1905. It is teaching him the nature of the American form of government. In the labor union he gets away from his clannish instinct, which even his religion has not heretofore been able to accomplish.

"Organized labor has done much for the abolition of child labor. For its doing away of the sweatshop, unsanitary conditions in the shop and tenement, and the long hours which left the workingman with a mental or moral improvement. I realize that isolated cases may be cited which seem to disprove some of these statements, but the principles presented are those for which organized labor as a whole stands.

Number of Arrests for Drunkenness Much Smaller than Usual.

As a result of St. Paul's "lid" being taken down at midnight Saturday there were only thirteen arrests made Saturday night and early Sunday morning, of which eleven were for drunkenness. The St. Paul saloonkeepers are said to approve of the midnight closing order, on the ground that the business secured by the saloons after midnight is only from the riffraff of the city.
