CUT OUT PASSES, SAYS MAYOR JONES

EXECUTIVE SHOWS ALDERMEN WHERE THEY GET OFF.

Movement by Four Cities for Reduced Street Railway Fares Finds Favor, but Ideas and Demands Are at Variance—Conference with Officials Called for Today.

"Eliminate passes and you will be in better position to ask the street railway company for concessions to the public," said Mayor David P. Jones to the representatives to the joint committee to secure lower fares on the street railway systems of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Superior. The committee held its first formal meeting late yesterday and discussed the matter at great length without coming to any conclusion. It was decided to hold an executive session today and to ask the street railway officials for a conference at 10 a.m.

Mayor Jones commended the movement and urged the committee to act with unanimity and to make an earnest effort to secure some concession. "The time for concession has come," he declared. "What we get is not so important as the fact that we get something and establish the principle of co-operation and mutual negotiation with the street railway authorities."

It is not my place to advise you to ask for any specific concession, it may be advisable to secure a flat rate reduction for all the street railway patrons for all hours or to ask for a classified rate for working people or school children for certain hours. Possibly it might be easier to secure a flat rate of six fares for a quarter. At any rate you should ask earnestly, but goodnaturedly. They can only say well afford to make some reduction."

"Another thing you can do is to help the company eliminate passes. The system is wrong in principle, just as wrong as the giving of passes by railroads to members of the legislature and the judiciary, and it is essential that it should be abolished."

Duluth Folk Approve.

The address was received with approval by the delegates from the head of the lakes.

When the meeting was called to order the following accredited delegates were present: Aldermen A. J. Lyle, who started the movement, B. Getchell and S. F. S. Staples.

Superior—Aldermen W. R. Hallam and F. H. Crampton. Mayor Victor Linley was also present.

St. Paul—Assemblymen R. D. O'Brien, H. P. Keller, James Regan, and Winn Powers.

Minneapolis—Aldermen G. A. Westphal, W. E. Satterlee, H. G. Platt, B. Walker and F. L. Schoolmaker.

The committee organized by selecting A. J. Lyle of Duluth as chairman and Platt B. Walker of Minneapolis as secretary.

It did not take long to discover that almost every one of the fourteen members had a different opinion on what ought to be done. Alderman Satterlee of Duluth informed the committee that his city was greatly interested in reducing fares for school children, as some of the fares for school children are as high as 10 cents, the tickets for such a concession would benefit 2,000 children. The trolley line on Park point had already made a concession to the school children by running a special school car each week. The fare was half the usual rate. It had not been possible to secure any concession from the local superintendent of the general system, who simply said that he had no authority to grant any special half-rate tickets to school children between 7:30 and 9:30, 12 m. and 1:30 p.m. for 5 cents, the tickets on all school days would be a great benefit.

What St. Paul Wants.
Assemblyman James Regan of St. Paul was convinced that a special rate for school children would be of no benefit to St. Paul, as practically all the pupils lived within walking distance of the schools. What St. Paul wanted was reduced fares for the working people. Anything that could be secured for this class would be of great advantage to them and would bestow a favor where it was most needed. He thought that the committee should ask for eight fare tickets for the working class between the hours of 5 and 8 a.m. and 5 and 8 p.m.

Assemblyman O'Brien explained that the St. Paul delegation was in a rather delicate position. Having recently voted the company a franchise and obtained a number of concessions, the representatives of the city were not so situated that they could insist upon any further concessions. It was hardly proper to ask under the circumstances.

Alderman Platt B. Walker of Minneapolis thought that class distinctions should be avoided and that the committee should be concentrated in an effort to secure reduced fares for all the people all the time. Six fares for 25 cents, which meant a reduction of nearly 20 per cent, would be of great good. Aldermen Satterlee and Hertz approved of this, arguing that it was

WOMAN STABBED BY JILTED SUITOR

MRS. SILAS BRIGGS ASSAULTED BY HARRY BROWN.

Bride of a Week Visited by Rejected Lover, Who Demands That She Fly with Him—She Refuses and is Severely Cut with Kitchen Knife—Assailant Arrested.

Angered because he had been jilted, Harry Brown, colored, stabbed and painfully injured his former sweetheart, Mrs. Silas Briggs, also colored, at her home, 915 Fifth street S., early today.

Brown was arrested by the South Side police shortly afterwards and was charged with assault in the first degree. Mrs. Briggs was married about a week ago, but prior to that time Brown was an aggressive suitor. He was turned down, however, and was ordered to stay away.

Shortly after Briggs left his home to go to work today, Brown entered the house and asked his former sweetheart to go away with him.

Mrs. Briggs told him she was perfectly satisfied to live with her husband and ordered Brown from the house.

In his rage Brown snatched a blunt knife from the table and struck the woman several times, inflicting several painful but not serious wounds. He then ran down the stairs and was picked up by the police.

It was not necessary to take the injured woman to the hospital, and she was treated at her home by a surgeon. The police say Brown admitted that he stabbed the woman. He will be arraigned in police court tomorrow.

CLEAR DAY FOR FOOTBALL

Warmer, too, Tomorrow, a Menace to Skating Plans.

Tomorrow will be an ideal day for the final football contest of the year in Minneapolis. Clear sky and warmer weather is assured by the local weather bureau, and there is some indication of a thaw which will melt the newly-formed ice in the city lakes and ponds and make the traditional skating on Thanksgiving Day impossible.

Chalmers, Man., reports the coldest weather for yesterday. The thermometer in the Canadian city went to six degrees below zero, while in Jacksonville, Fla., a broiling sun drove the mercury to the 82-degree mark.

DEBATERS ARE CHOSEN

High Schools Prepare for Usual League Contests.

John Friebe, Marie Wilcox, and Benjamin Shaheen are the three debaters chosen to represent North high in this year's interscholastic contests. Eloi Bauers will be alternate. Six students, chosen in previous preliminaries, tried out the speakers were allowed five minutes for direct argument and three for rebuttal. The Rev. Robert Benedict, Mrs. C. A. Donaldson and W. J. Gallagher acted as judges.

Three of the men who are in the race for positions on the East high debating team, William Merrill, Haddon Ostlund, and William Hodgson, in a practice debate at the university, defeated three men at the university. Making a series of preliminaries before making the choice of five eligible to the team, which will take place the last of December.

HINT OF EGG FAMINE

Minneapolis is not far from an egg famine, if prices are any indication. Eggs have never before commanded such a price at this time of year as they command today. Commission men sold at $8 a case, thirty dozen eggs in the case, and guaranteed the freshness of only twenty-seven dozen. The man who bought eggs at wholesale was forced to pay 25-3 cents a dozen and take chances on one egg out of every ten.

As a result of the dearth of eggs in the wholesale market, a jump in the retail price of the poultry is expected, and it is probable that Minneapolis housewives will soon be obliged to pay 40 cents for eggs. The situation, however, may be relieved by the cold storage plants.

Good Luck of Brainerd Man.

H. A. Rollins, the discoverer of the new justly named scalp fertilizer and hair grower, is still doing things to convince the public he has the only hair grower. He has now added six more new heads of hair to his list and more will be added as he completely covered his long-lost hair. His discovery is one of the long-sought-for lost arts sought for by all of the leading scientists and found at last by him.

BURNED WITH POWDER

Master Yarnell Severely Injured While Playing with Explosives.

Master Clyde Yarnell, the 10-year-old son of Charles S. Yarnell, 2728 Chicago avenue, is today in Northwestern hospital recovering from the effect of a flash of powder, which he received in the face yesterday. Another boy had procured a supply of powder and some matches, and the two lads were having fun with it. The fun ended when young Yarnell was burned severely about the face. At the hospital it is said that he is doing well and will suffer no permanent injury.
