ST. PAUL YIELDS HONOR TO STATE

SINKS ALL FEELING TO SECURE CAPITOL APPROACHES.

After long discussion, St. Paul Business Men Unanimously Agree to Permit the Taxpayers of Minnesota to Share in the Purchase of Broad Avenues to the New Capitol.

After months of hesitation, and after some hours of debate yesterday the business interests of St. Paul have unanimously decided to permit the state of Minnesota to share with the city of St. Paul the honor of providing a suitable setting for the new state capitol. Yesterday afternoon a meeting of representative business men and property holders was held in the St. Paul council chamber to pass upon the report prepared by a special committee of the council before its submission to that body.

Only $2,000,000 would be required for this project. This would be raised by a bond issue to be redeemed in forty years. These bonds would be sold by the state, which would also guarantee the payment of interest. To take up these bonds the city would provide a sinking fund thru a half-mill tax.

Minor details such as the time when the different bonds shall become due, the administration of the sinking fund and the collection of the $7,000 interest from the state at large each year to be left to a special committee of the legislature. Bond issue experts figure that the total interest to be paid by the state on the $2,000,000 bond issue under this arrangement would be only $1,400,000.

Great enthusiasm for this plan was manifested at yesterday's meeting. Everyone was agreed that inasmuch as it would be a fine thing for the state, St. Paul should be willing to sink every feeling in the matter and permit the state to help. Louis Betz, chairman of the capitol approach commission and president of the capitol approach association, was the principal speaker.

General M. D. W. P. Soren, Justice E. A. Jaggard, R. A. Kirk and William Hamm gave the scheme their hearty endorsement.

The scheme of approaches drawn up by Cass Gilbert, architect of the capitol, was adopted in entirety. It is comprehensive in its scope and well calculated to make the magnificent capitol building visible from every quarter of St. Paul. The proposed cathedral, Seven Corners, and several other points are in the proposed system.

SUNDAY'S CONCERT

Program is Unsurpassed for Tuneful and Popular Classics.

Full of attractive and tuneful melodies, embodied in several most famous compositions ever written for both orchestra and piano, the second popular program by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, will be given Sunday afternoon in the Auditorium. The program to exceed in popularity even that which made the first of these concerts such a success.

The purpose of these concerts in mind, which is to give to everybody the pleasure of hearing favorite music played on the greatest instrument in the world, a full orchestra. Mr. Oberholzer has prepared for the second popular concert a program that contains even more popular selections than the first that are of a truly popular nature. Among them is Handel's "Messiah," which is never really heard in all its majestic beauty until it is heard in full orchestral form; Schumann's tender "Traumerei" arranged for the strings only; the lovely "Pastorale" in the "Mistral" program; and the plaintive of Judea with the shepherds watching their flocks by night; Grieg's charming musical pictures told in the "Norwegian Bridal Procession"; Moszkowski's "Scherzo" and the "Lullaby" and the Weber overture to "Oberon."

Miss Clara Williams will sing "I Know that My Redeemer is Living" from Handel's "Messiah." "Spohr's Tenets" and pure love song, "Rose Softly Bloom." Roy Solving's song from Grieg's second "Peer Gynt" suite.

GUESTS ARE FEW

St. Paul Man Dines on Pioneer Residents.

Simon P. Folsom, 521 Whittall street, St. Paul, yesterday celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday by giving a dinner to St. Paulites who have resided in the state for fifty years and who were 21 years of age when they came to Minnesota.

There were only four guests, William P. Atwater, who has lived in the state for seventy years; L. A. Larpenour, who came to Minnesota in 1842; Judge W. H. Baker, a resident of the state for more than a century, and John Canfield. The latter did not quite come to the fifty-year requirement, but was close enough to it to be admitted on a par with his pioneer friends.

CLEARED, HE SAYS Franklin Anderson Tells His Connection with Bemidji Case.

Franklin Anderson, who was arrested last Sunday on a warrant from Bemidji charging him with complicity in alleged fraudulent deals, says his arrest was the result of an error that had misled himself as well as he saw the complainant.

He was arrested with J. R. Moore and W. H. Cherry, who are now in jail, on charges that he had had nothing to do with the deals, except that he became acquainted with Moore and by request introduced him to bankers and business men of Bemidji. The matter was cleared out, he says, and the case will be stopped. Mr. Anderson is employed in a Minneapolis clothing store.

$1,000 REWARD FOR DEPLORES COURSE OF SAN FRANCISCO

FORMER MINNEAPOLIS MAN IS MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING.

Bookkeeper for Crookston Lumber Company Disappears While on Vacation Trip to Milwaukee and Relatives Fear He Has Met Death.

LeRoy J. Kelly of the Crookston Lumber company, a well-known young business man of Crookston, has mysteriously disappeared from Milwaukee and a reward of $1,000 has been offered for information which will lead to discovery of his whereabouts.

Mr. Kelly was bookkeeper in the Crookston office of the company, and he went to Milwaukee Nov. 20 to spend his vacation. The last seen of him there was when he left a house and walked toward the river.

The Milwaukee police have been asked to look for him, and it is feared that he was either drowned or met with foul play. He had a valuable gold watch and about $100 in cash with him when he disappeared.

Kelly's accounts with the company are said to be in excellent shape and he had intended returning to his work in a few days. He is well known both in Minneapolis and Crookston, and no one has seen him in either of the cities.

His father, Michael Kelly, is connected with the Shevlin-Carpenter company. The Crookston Lumber company has asked Police Superintendent Devine to look for Kelly. They say he had a bank account of several hundred dollars in Crookston, and that this was drawn out before he went to Milwaukee. He left his accounts in excellent shape and said he would return.

His grips, containing his clothes and a few personal effects, are left in a highly unaccountable manner. They are either hidden or someone has taken them. He was a young man of good habits, say his employers.

AMATEURS GET A CHANCE

They Furnish a Good After-Bill at the Dewey.

Vaudeville veterans were compelled to take a back-seat at the Dewey theater last night when the amateurs were given a chance to show their finished work.

The amateurs went on after the regular bill, and the bashful young performers waded thru their acts in spite of the fact that the audience applauded at the wrong moments, and the gallery roared indiscriminately.

The idol of the gallery gods was John Lind, billed to do some fine cakewalking and clog dancing on his hands. He filled the bill and contrasted the crowd, closing his act with the difficult feat of standing on his neck without the support of his hands. Lyle Vincent, a young tenor, has an excellent voice, and his number last night was more than is heard in the ordinary vaudeville performance.

McDonald and Luchers, two clever youngsters, put on a very acceptable acrobatic act, and invited the crowd to join as much as they pleased. Four small boys made a hit in their pie-eating contest, but kicked for an extra pie, saying they were in too great a hurry to enjoy the feast while performing. Roy Burnett's "Ever" in his performance in the black art, and incidentally gave a monologue that was original and bright.

Nieman and Wiseman closed the bill with three round boxing matches, in which they showed some of the finer points in the game. The first prize went to Lyle Vincent and the second to McDonald and Luchers.

NEW COUNTY ASSURED

Governor Johnson Will Proclaim Creation of Mahanomen at Early Date.

After a hearing on the subject of a proclamation for the creation of Mahanomen county, Governor J. A. Johnson has decided to issue it. The county is formed from the northern part of the present county. The new county contains 663.3 square miles, and the population is 2,040. The new county is necessary for the formation of a new county; that White Earth Indians who are not living on their allotments are illegally counted in the census returns which show a population of 2,700.

On advice of the attorney general, Governor Johnson holds that he must take the census returns as prima facie evidence of the population, and that the only recourse of the objectors is to the courts in quo warrant proceedings.

ATWATER WILL FILED

Son and Several Local Institutions Named as Beneficiaries.

John B. Atwater is the principal beneficiary in the will of the late Isaac Atwater, which was filed today in the probate court. Several local institutions and different relatives of the testator are also named in the will. Mr. Atwater is deceased of which, it is estimated, is valued at $30,000.

In addition to leaving $20,000 in cash to his son, Mr. Atwater provided that his son should not have any more which should be received thru the disposal of his third interest in property at Hennepin avenue and Ninth street. The $8,000 resulting from the sale of his interest is to be divided between the Sheltering Arms hospital and the Children's Hospital in St. Paul. St. Barnabas hospital also comes in for $1,000, and $4,000 is left in trust for a sister, Mrs. Lucy Richards of New York. Very small bequests are made to other relatives and Judge Atwater's law library and office fixtures are bequeathed to his son, who is named as executor of the will.

DEPLORES COURSE OF SAN FRANCISCO

JAPANESE MERCHANT THINKS SCHOOL TROUBLE LOCAL.

S. Tamura of Kobe, Flour Importer, Spends Day Visiting Mills, Grain Market and Other Points of Interest—Has Faith in Common Sense of United States and Japan.

"The unfortunate San Francisco incident should not embarrass Japan and America. President Roosevelt's action has pleased the Japanese people. The increasing pleasant relationship between our countries should not be broken. We ask only fair treatment. We believe the American people are fair and that this matter will be settled with satisfaction. We know that the feeling in that one part of your country does not represent the feeling of the whole country."

W. S. Tamura, a Japanese merchant and flour importer is in Minneapolis today. Mr. Tamura visited the exchange room of the Chamber of Commerce and watched the traders in the wheat pit, then he had a conference with some of the millers and with W. G. Crocker of the Washburn-Crocker company viewed the mills and some of the points of local interest. In the private offices of the company, Mr. Tamura spoke of the matter that is uppermost in the mind of the Japanese world over—the San Francisco incident of the exclusion of Japanese children from the public schools.

Most Unfortunate. It was, he said, a most unfortunate thing that it should have happened. Japan desires only the good will of the United States and respects and admires this country. But the Japanese are a proud and sensitive people. They were hurt by the action of the San Francisco school authorities. But they realize that it was a local matter and that the sentiment of San Francisco is not that of the whole United States.

There is a feeling, Mr. Tamura said, on the part of some Japanese that the United States does not represent the views of the American people. There are powers in the world that look with jealous eyes upon the growing friendship between Japan and America, and would be glad to see a rupture. They are jealous of the friendly political relationship and the growing commerce of the two countries. It may be that some such influence had its part in creating an unfavorable feeling in San Francisco.

"Your great country has the balance of power," said Mr. Tamura. "It is important to the world to which side it gives its power. We believe in the honesty and fairness of your people. In my country all children, foreign or native, may attend the common schools."

Differend in Chicago. "In Chicago I visited a steel works and found Japanese machinists who were among the best workmen. Some of them were married and had children born in Chicago. These children may if they like attend the Chicago public schools. This is different."

"I should like to visit San Francisco," said Mr. Tamura, humorously, and with a twinkle in his eye, "but I have a family and for their sake must keep my good health." Assured that a man of his stamp would probably be received with great respect, he only smiled and shook his head doubtfully.

AMATEURS WIN APPLAUSE. Bore a highly appreciative audience at the Johnson School of Music, the Home Dramatic club, "Les Gosses," and the adaptation of William Gillette's "All the Comforts of Home," under the name of "Apartments to Let." Much care had been taken in the preparation of the play and the appreciation of the club's efforts was manifested during the evening by generous and enthusiastic applause. Lewis Helppin was Alfred Hastings; Abe Kaplan was Tom Mellow; H. B. Sander, Charles Davis, Miss Bertha Sanford, Brangeline Bender; Maudie Brin as Mrs. Thomson, and Miss Susan Kohen as Fil Ormiston. The rest of the cast acquitted themselves with credit. The proceeds go to the Adeth Yeshurin Synagogue benefit fund.
