

DR. ANNA HOWARD SHAW BEFORE N. C. ASSEMBLY

Addresses Joint Meeting of Committees in Behalf of Woman Suffrage Bill. MANY ADVOCATES TURN OUT

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., February 2.—Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, to-day addressed a joint meeting of committees of the North Carolina General Assembly in behalf of a woman suffrage bill now before that body. Many suffrage advocates and members of the assembly attended.

Senator Gardner, of Cleveland, led a lively and successful fight in the Senate to-day for the bill from the House to divide the State into two judicial circuits to take the place of the present State-wide rotation of the twenty judges that keep them far away from their home districts during the greater part of their terms of office. Senator Gardner had charge of the bill, and pitted against it were Senators Weaver, McMichael and McNair. Senator Ward joined with Senator Gardner in the active argument for the bill, and the vote was 24 to 6 for passage, the measure being ordered enrolled for ratification.

The Asheville commission government bill was introduced in both houses, and is expected to have smooth sailing, being an agreed measure that gives the people of that city the right to vote on adoption of the commission government.

Long, of Union, offered a bill in the House to limit freight trains to fifty cars.

Representative Stacy, of New Hanover County, offered a bill to provide for formation of districts on the order of those for drainage for the purpose of purchasing implements with which to clear lands, such as stump-pullers and the like.

A new bill by Long, of Halifax, would penalize clerks of courts for failure to transmit appeals to the Supreme Court in proper time.

A great number of local bills passed in the House, and there were dumped into both the Senate and the House an unusually large number of petitions for the State Anti-Saloon League bill to stop delivery of liquors for beverage purposes. The committee hearing on this issue will be on February 3.

TO WIRE REPRESENTATIVES VIEWS ON SEGREGATION BILL

Most Important Matter Taken Up at Session of Farmers' Union of Virginia.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] ROANOKE, VA., February 2.—The most important matter taken up in the executive session of the Farmers' Educational and Promotional Union of Virginia, which opened its meeting to-day, was the resolution requiring delegates whose counties are opposed to the segregation plan of taxation to be in session for the purpose of transmitting appeals to the Supreme Court in proper time.

Following the meeting a short business session was held when the committee on the to-night's session was an address delivered by C. S. Barrett, president of the National Farmers' Union. The convention will be in session through Wednesday and Thursday. Most of the evening meetings are held behind closed doors.

Mrs. R. B. Munford, of Richmond, president of the Co-operative Educational Association of Virginia; Mrs. J. M. Otey, a State officer of the Equal Suffrage League, and representatives from the Virginia Federation of Labor, are attending the convention as fraternal delegates.

SCHOOLFIELD POST-OFFICE ROBBED AGAIN BY YEGGMEN

For Third Time Within Twelve Months Money Is Stolen—Nearly $500 Taken.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] DANVILLE, VA., February 2.—For the third time within twelve months the post-office of Schoolfield was broken into, and the contents of the safe dynamited, and the money stolen. The robbers, stylishly dressed men, were caught beneath a box car near Danville two hours after the third of the nitroglycerine awakened people near the station. The robbers were quicker with their guns they gave the officers the slip, and to-night are still at large. A police officer who walked up the track towards Schoolfield shortly after the alarm was given found a freight train about to start south beneath one of the cars and actually on the ties his flashlight revealed a crouching man. Pulling his revolver, he called to the officer to come out, but a voice behind his shoulder told him drop his weapon. Looking round the policeman found himself covered with a revolver. The man beneath the car was the driver of the train. His partner, a police officer, backed away and dodging around the rear of the train fled into the night. One of the robbers dropped an overcoat and hat in his flight. In one pocket were 300 pennies and in the other two bottles of nitroglycerine. All marking in the coat had been torn out.

ADDRESSES DELIVERED BEFORE BUSINESS MEN

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] FREDERICKSBURG, VA., February 2.—A largely attended meeting of the Business Men's Association was held to-night at which three special addresses constituted the feature of the meeting. These addresses were delivered by Professor E. H. Russell, Captain R. Conroy Vance and W. L. Branigan, all local men, and the subjects had particular reference to the interest and welfare of the city of Fredericksburg. The addresses were heard with much interest and appreciation. Sam Berger, son of Alex Berger, of "Hayfield," on the Rappahannock River ten miles below Fredericksburg, arrived here to-day from France. Mr. Berger was last year appointed by President Wilson to be United States vice-consul at a point in France, but resigned soon after the war broke out in Europe, to engage in the American Red Cross work in Paris. He has now returned to this and left France recently on a return trip to the United States, and will spend some time at his home here. Alex Berger is at present in Arizona visiting his daughter, Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, Jr.

Daniels Transmits Report That Measure Would Jeopardize Preparedness for War.

House Spends All Day on Bill and Remains in Session at Night, Debate Centering on Provision to Abolish "Plucking Board."

WASHINGTON, February 2.—Secretary Daniels sent to the House to-day a report from a special board of naval officers expressing the opinion that the navy's preparedness for war would be jeopardized by the Hobson amendment to the naval appropriation bill forbidding the purchase of twelve or fourteen-inch armor-piercing shells unless it is demonstrated that they can pierce ten-inch armor at 15,000 yards. This amendment was adopted by the House several days ago, but probably will be voted on again when the bill is advanced to the point of final passage. The House spent all of to-day on the measure, and remained in session until late to-night, most of the debate centering on the provision to abolish the so-called "plucking board."

GERMANS RENEW FIERCE OFFENSIVE NEAR WARSAW

Violence of Attacks Compels Some of Russian Units to Retire to Second Line of Trenches.

POSITIONS LATER WON BACK

In Counterattack Zar's Forces Inflict Enormous Losses on Enemy. Fighting in Carpathians Continues. Over 4,000 Soldiers Captured.

PETROGRAD, February 2.—Renewal of a fierce offensive by the Germans in the region of Sochaczew and Bolimow, on the road to Warsaw, is admitted in an official statement issued here to-day. The violence of the German attack, the statement says, compelled some of the Russian units to retire to the second line of trenches. The communication was as follows: "On the right bank of the lower Vistula on January 31 our cavalry made a sudden and successful assault upon the German line along the front between Brezun and Lake Orzelejo, fifteen verstas (ten miles) north of Sierpek, capturing many officers and soldiers. The attempt of the Germans on the 30th to open an offensive movement in the direction of Lipno and Dobryzn, supported by artillery fire, was checked. On the left bank of the Vistula front, at the villages of Makow and Dyblin, the enemy was thrown back to the line of the villages of Wleczka and Naszewn, northeast of Wolczek. The Germans in retreating abandoned at Makow many of their dead."

GERMANS DEVELOP ACTIVE OPERATIONS

In the course of the day of January 31 the enemy, after having concentrated in the region of Sochaczew, Bolimow and south of Bolimow, a large force of artillery, developed active operations against our positions with very considerable forces. The German offensive was distinguished by great tenacity, advancing in close ranks, strongly supported from the rear. "After having concentrated a violent fire in the morning upon that region, the fierceness of the German offensive compelled some of our units to retire to the second line of trenches. "In the meanwhile a counterattack from another detachment of our forces drove the enemy from all the trenches occupied by him, inflicting upon him enormous losses. "Similar operations with this attack the Germans delivered a series of ferocious assaults against our front between the villages of Gounine, Bourgade and Mogelzy. These attacks were supported by very heavy artillery fire. Up to midday of January 31, every one of these assaults was driven back by us, some of our rifle fire and some with the bayonet. But between midday and 2 P. M. of January 31 the Germans were successful in occupying a part of our trenches. In this they were helped largely by an energetic and sustained artillery fire. A little after 2 o'clock we undertook a general counterattack. This was successful, and as a result of it the enemy, the evening of January 31, retained but a little portion of our first line trenches, together with a certain chateau in the country. It can be said that the successes of the Germans the day of January 31 in the vicinity of Borlimow were relatively insignificant, compared to the losses we inflicted on the enemy with our artillery fire, our counter-attack and our bayonet charges. According to reports from our military chiefs, the Russian artillery inflicted immense damage on the Germans. Our tanks dispersed dense gatherings of German infantry and reduced their batteries to silence; this made it possible for us to resist their fierce attack. "The fighting in the Carpathians continues. In spite of the reported participation of fresh Austrian troops, which up to the present time have not actually appeared on our front, we were successful in repelling every endeavor of the enemy to assume the offensive in the vicinity of Mount Beskid and Mount ferred against him at first, arrangements were made to have a warrant issued, if necessary, in order to make certain his detention. Van Horn, the officials state, could be charged with damage to a railroad bridge, which is an extraditable offense, or with damage to property on the American side of the border, where windows were broken by the explosion. Up to to-night Van Horn had not seen a lawyer, and appeared indifferent as to what charges may be preferred against him. The Attorney-General of New Brunswick, J. B. M. Baxter, telegraphed to officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway here, asking them to make a complaint against Van Horn which might be the basis for extradition proceedings to be begun forthwith. Ottawa was also advised of the situation. The attempt on the bridge was well timed. RUMORS OF SPIES ARE SET AFOAT

DEPENDS ON INTERPRETATION OF WORD "POLITICAL"

WASHINGTON, February 2.—Whether the man who damaged the Canadian bridge across the St. Croix River, at Vanceboro, Me., may be extradited to Canada depends largely on the interpretation of the word "political" in the extradition treaty of 1859, which declares "a fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offense in respect of which his surrender is demanded, be one of a political character."

REACHES BRITISH EMBASSY

WASHINGTON, February 2.—Application for the extradition of Werner van Horn reached the British embassy here late to-night and probably will be presented to the State Department. Officials of both the embassy and the department declined to discuss the case, pending formal presentation of the application. Secretary Bryan said he had heard nothing about the case and, of course, would not have anything to say until it was before him officially. There was much comment in official circles upon the probability that Van Horn would set up a claim of immunity from extradition on the ground that his offense was political, not criminal. It was said, however, that even if such a claim were recognized, the prisoner probably would be prosecuted under the neutrality laws of the United States.

CHILD ACCIDENTALLY SHOT AND KILLED BY COUSINS

Charge Penetrates Back of Ten-Year-Old Girl, Causing Instant Death.

LARGER SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

Second Session of Term Starts With Marked Increase—Charlotte County Man Assaulted and Robbed by Negro—Other Petersburg News.

PETERSBURG, VA., February 2.—Little Miss Elizabeth Reese, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Reese, of near DeWitt, in Dinwiddie County, was accidentally shot and killed Sunday afternoon at the home of her uncle, J. E. Reese, a few miles from DeWitt. Exactly how the accident happened is not known. The little girl was in an upper room with her little cousins, who were romping and playing. The supposition is that the playing of the children caused a shotgun resting against a bureau to fall, and in the fall to be discharged. The charge of shot penetrated the back of Elizabeth Reese, near the hip, causing almost instant death. The adults of the family were in a lower room, and could not see what was going on. The charge of shot penetrated the back of Elizabeth Reese, near the hip, causing almost instant death. The funeral of the little girl took place yesterday afternoon.

Increased School Enrollment

The second of the 1914-15 sessions of the public schools opened yesterday with a marked increase of attendance, especially in the white schools. At the High School there was an enrollment of 319 pupils, the highest record in its history. Enrollment at the other white schools was as follows: Lee, 594; Jackson, 445; Brown, 438; Hill, 172; seventh grade, 145. The schools are now well filled, and until additional accommodations are provided, the compulsory educational law will not be strictly enforced.

Robbed on the Highway

W. B. Jordan, a young man from Charlotte County, reported to the police here at a late hour last night that he had been assaulted and robbed by a negro, and showed a bleeding scalp as evidence of the assault. Mr. Jordan stated that he arrived in the city last night on his way to obtain employment at the DuPont works. Finding that he could not get to City Point by train he decided to walk there, and had not gotten far from the city when he was knocked over by the negro by a blow on the head with a heavy slender iron pipe. The negro was seen to have stolen the man's watch and a pocket knife, which he brandished and threatened to use. This was the second highway robbery by negroes in the same neighborhood in the past few nights.

Educational Campaign

In the course of the educational campaign in the interest of simplified form of government for Petersburg, especially of the city manager plan, the Chamber of Commerce has had two public addresses, and the Retail Merchants' Association has heard one address on the subject of the city manager plan. The Chamber of Commerce proposes at the proper time to enter vigorously in the campaign to fully inform all the people on the subject.

Civic League at Work

At a called meeting of the Civic League last evening, matters of interest were discussed. Among them that of securing work for the unemployed and the great need of a plumbing and plumbing inspector. It was decided to petition the City Council in behalf of the unemployed, and also to ask for the creation of the office of building inspector. As regards the latter influence are to be brought on the Council from other sources.

Two Marriages

This morning at 9:30 o'clock, at the home of James Carr, on Dunlop Street, Miss Marie Studor and Joseph C. Simpson, both of this city, were married by the Rev. J. B. W. Smith, pastor of High Street Methodist Church.

At 11:30 o'clock this morning in the Tabb Street Presbyterian Church, by Emma Vassko and Vactav Kreger, a young Bohemian couple, of Prince George County, were wedded. A number of friends of the couple were present. The bride was becomingly attired, and carried a white rose. She was attended by the bridesmaids, all tastefully gowned, and carrying bouquets. The bridal party entered and retired from the church to the air of wedding marches played on the organ.

Personal and General

Information has been received of the safe arrival at Petrograd, of Dr. John the Red Cross, on his way to join the Red Cross forces in France. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Morgan, a venerable and respected resident, widow of the late Andrew Morgan, died last evening at her home, on East Washington Street. She was survived by one daughter, Mrs. R. E. Blakey. The school board furnishes school-books free of cost to children, whose parents are unable to buy them.

UNFAVORABLE REPORTS ON SUFFRAGE MEASURES

Committees of both North Carolina Senate and House Oppose Bills.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., February 2.—Unfavorable report in both the Senate and the House is to be the fate of the woman's suffrage bills now pending in the hands of executive committees, the Hobcock bill in the Senate, and the Roberts bill in the House. This is the outcome of the joint hearing on these bills this afternoon, when Representative Hall was crowded to its utmost with a brilliant assemblage of women. However, the committee heard Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, head of the Woman's Suffrage movement for the nation; Mrs. Archibald Henderson, of Chapel Hill, head of the movement for North Carolina; Mrs. Eugene Riley, of Charlotte, president of the Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Gooden, of Raleigh, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union; Al Fairbrother, Greensboro, in an most stirring appeals and arguments for their cause, and then retired to committee rooms and voted unfavorable reports for the bills.

The Senate Committee on Election Laws voted 5 to 3 for unfavorable report, and the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments, 5 to 3 for unfavorable report. Notice was given on both committees that there would be shortly favorable reports to give the bills a footing for fighting the floors of both ends of the capitol. Lieutenant-Governor Daughtridge remarked when he heard this that this means about three days of argument in the Senate, and about a week or more time consumed in the House.
