DROWNS WHILE SWIMMING

Richard Childress Meets Death in Petersburg Harbor—Funeral Here.

Mrs. Susan Childress, 3221 Fourth Street, Fenton, was notified by Police Headquarters last night of the accidental drowning of her brother-in-law, Richard Childress, in Petersburg yesterday afternoon. The message of the police was that the body was recovered here from Lieutenant Donahue, of the Petersburg police department.

Childress, who was thirty-five years old and employed as a huckster, went in swimming near Alton's wharf, in the Petersburg harbor, last yesterday afternoon. After swimming around for some time he was seen to suddenly throw up his hands and disappear. Efforts were made to reach him in vain, and the body was not recovered for some time. Efforts to resuscitate him proved unavailing.

Police Officer Leigh considered an inquest unnecessary and turned the body over to friends.

Mrs. Childress went to Petersburg last night to take charge of the remains. The body will be brought back to this city for burial.

MILK PROBLEM BEFORE HEALTH BOARD TO-NIGHT

To Avoid Milk Famine, Dr. Levy Recommends Extension of Time for Tuberculin Test.

MILK IS NOW PASTERIZED
For Protection of All Interests, Health Officer Proposes Dividing Milk Into Two Grades, Which May Differ in Retail Price.

The City Board of Health will tonight resume discussion of plans to avoid a milk famine here, and to enforce certain requirements as to the testing of milk for the protection of the public.

As has been previously published, the Board of Health on March 30, 1914, passed a resolution declaring that on and after September 1, 1915, all milk sold in Richmond must be pasteurized, which have passed the tuberculin test. Seventeen months were allowed the dairymen to meet the situation. It has been brought out, however, that the dairymen have not made preparation for the new requirements, and if the tuberculin test be made mandatory many of the larger herds near Richmond would be reduced in number, and the milk supply correspondingly curtailed.

LEVY RECOMMENDS CONDITIONAL EXTENSION
In order to meet this new problem and in the interest of the public, Dr. Levy, Chief Health Officer, has recommended that the time limitation be extended, but that milk be graded under certain prescribed conditions.

Grade A, according to Dr. Levy's recommendations, will consist of milk from tuberculin-tested cattle from which all reactors have been eliminated, which score on examination 55 or more, and have a low bacteria count; this milk to be sold either raw or pasteurized, as the dairymen and patrons may prefer.

Grade B shall consist of milk from herds which have not been tested for tuberculosis, but which otherwise come up to requirements, and which score on inspection not less than 75, and with a bacteria count within the limit prescribed for the sale of milk in Richmond; all Grade B milk to be pasteurized under the supervision of agents of the Board of Health.

It was stated at the meeting Thursday night that there is only a fractional danger, as approximately 92 per cent of the milk sold in Richmond at the present time is pasteurized.

POLICEMAN LEAR FIRES AT BURGLAR, WHO ESCAPES

Sees Man Drop From Rear Window of Clyde W. Saunders' Printing Establishment.

Policeman S. S. Lear last night discovered a negro in the act of dropping from a window in the rear of Clyde W. Saunders' printing house, 1118 East Cary Street, and shot the man in the leg. The negro dropped to the ground about ten feet below, and the officers proceeded to the second floor without knowing of the shooting. His first intimation of the killing was gained when they opened the back porch door and saw the body of the dead man. Inquiries brought to light the fact that the son of the burglar, who came upon the lower floor would say what he saw, and the officers proceeded to the second floor without knowing of the shooting.

Headquarters were notified at once, and Detective Whitshire, with Coroner Taylor, hurried to the house. Coroner Taylor arrived first and listened to the story told by the son. Detective Whitshire then entered the house simultaneously with Attorney Smith. The detective heard the son say that he had secured the pistol from his father's dresser when they started to shoot the burglar, and that the mother was on the front porch at the time of the shooting.

Whitshire went to the mother and from her learned that both of the men were armed, and that the son had borrowed his weapon during the early night.

DETECTIVE WILTSHIRE FINDS BUT ONE PISTOL
The detective made an extensive search for the weapons, but found only one. It was located in a flower pot, and contained an exploded shell. Maggie Walker, wife of the slain man, is one of the wealthiest negroes in this city. Armistead Walker was formerly a mail carrier, but more recently has been engaged in brick contracting with his brother, Russell Walker, the son who caused his death, is manager of the concern.

Russell Walker was arrested by Detective Whitshire and Policemen Wills, W. E. Clarke and J. H. Harris following a brief investigation of the shooting. At the direction of Judge Richardson, he was bailed for his appearance in Police Court on Wednesday. Bail was granted at $1,000.

No arrangements for the funeral of Walker had been made last night, and it is probable that they will be postponed, pending Coroner Taylor's decision as to the necessity of an inquest. The coroner will decide the point this morning. Walker's body was turned over to Undertaker Price to be prepared for burial.

SHOT BY HIS SON WHILE HUNTING FOR BURGLAR

Armistead Walker, Colored, Husband of Maggie L. Walker, Is Instantly Killed.

POLICE ARE INVESTIGATING
Russell Walker, the Son, Is Placed Under Arrest and Bailed in Sum of $1,000—Family Is Prominent Among Negroes of City.

Armistead Walker, colored, husband of Maggie L. Walker, president of St. Luke's Penny Savings Bank of Richmond, and secretary-treasurer of the Right Worthy Grand Council, I. O. St. Luke's, was shot dead by his son Russell E. T. Walker on the back porch of their home, 110 East Leigh Street, about 9 o'clock last night.

The killing was accidental, according to statements made by members of the family who claim the son mistook his father for a burglar for whom both were searching. Detective Sergeant Wiltshire noted several discrepancies in the statements given him, and is conducting an investigation. Coroner Taylor viewed the body last night, but announced that he would reserve his decision as to an inquest pending the result of the police investigation.

The family was aroused Saturday night by noises in the house which were thought to have been made by a burglar. The police were notified, but a search of the premises failed to disclose any evidence of depredations. Yesterday, the father and son are said to have borrowed pistols and to have awaited a possible return of the supposed burglar. A half-hour after the weapons had been borrowed, it is said, the shooting occurred.

WERE SEARCHING FOR BURGLAR ON ROOF OF THEIR HOME
A composite statement, from the several made by members of the family and the police, is that the father and son were on the roof of the house shortly after 9 o'clock last night. Both went to the roof, but found nothing. The son is said to have come down to the second floor from the front yard, while the father is said to have descended by means of a rear flight of stairs. The son, coming down the second story hallway, heard a noise on the back porch near one of the posts. He fired and the man fell. It was his parent, Walker, who died within a few seconds, the bullet having penetrated the left temple. The sound of the shot attracted widespread attention throughout the neighborhood, and the house was soon filled with a large crowd of negroes who live in the vicinity. Several physicians were summoned at once as was Attorney E. M. Stephens, Jr., counsel for Maggie Walker. The police were not informed of what had transpired at the house.

POLICE LEARN OF TROUBLE AND FIND BODY
Policemen J. H. Harris and Wills learned of the disturbance and went to the house. None of the negroes on the lower floor would say what he saw, and the officers proceeded to the second floor without knowing of the shooting. His first intimation of the killing was gained when they opened the back porch door and saw the body of the dead man. Inquiries brought to light the fact that the son of the burglar, who came upon the lower floor would say what he saw, and the officers proceeded to the second floor without knowing of the shooting.

GANS-RADY COMPANY

STATE LIME-GRINDING PLANT IS NEARLY READY

Will Be Furnishing Agricultural Lime to Farmers Early Next Month.

MACHINERY BEING INSTALLED
Most of the Work of Operating Plant Will Be Done by Convicts—Lime Is to Be Sold by State at Cost of Production.

Assurances have been given that the machinery for the State lime-grinding plant near Staunton will be ready for operation by July 1. The contractors, Smith-Courtney Company, of Richmond, are rushing their work as rapidly as possible, and, barring unforeseen delays, they expect to have the plant ready for tests by the last of June and ready to turn over to the State authorities early in July.

Everything else is in readiness and waiting for the machinery to be installed, and grinding on a regular schedule will be carried on before July 1 is far advanced. The State board, in charge of the plant, composed of Governor Stuart, Commissioner of Agriculture Kolner and Superintendent Wood, of the penitentiary, have met with many obstacles in getting the plant in operation. The weather last winter had back the construction of a railroad belt line to the plant by a convict force, and when that was completed, other delays prevented the machinery contractors from completing their work as early as expected.

MOST OF THE WORK WILL BE DONE BY CONVICTS
J. E. Vines, who will be superintendent of the plant, is on the ground with a force of convicts, for whom quarters were erected some time ago. Mr. Vines was formerly in charge of one of the convict gangs on State road construction.

The output of the lime-grinding plant will be sold at cost, but the board has not yet been able to get definite figures upon which to base a sale. Practically all of the work will be done by convict labor, and the maintenance of the State's investment continues an allowance for depreciation, will be taken into consideration.

MEN WANTED TO CONVOY HORSES TO WAR ZONE
City Employment Bureau Can Provide Employment for Many Men in Handling War Supplies.

While talk of mediation by the United States between the warring powers of Europe continues, the allied forces are engaged in more and larger contracts in this country for uniforms, clothing and other supplies and horses and mules. Several boatloads of horses and mules are scheduled to leave New York City this week for French and British ports, and men are being sought by the various employment agencies as "punchers." The agencies offered are attractive, and transportation is provided, as it is possible to make it on the way over and on the return trip, and free board and furnished during the few days' stay on the trip.

Many Richmond men have taken the trip, employment having been furnished them through the offices of the Richmond City Employment Bureau. There have been few complaints on their return, and most of the "punchers" have come back glad that they took the trip and had the experience of an ocean voyage and of seeing the great cities of Europe.

Latest talk by the military experts of Europe is to the effect that the war may last for two or three years more, and that the commerce in munitions and war supplies will continue to increase. Powder factories have sprung up in various sections of the country, and machine shops have been turned into factories devoted to the making of shells, shrapnel and ammunition. Shrapnel will be manufactured on a large scale here at the Richmond branch of the American Locomotive Works, and as soon as the necessary machinery is installed, 3,000 men will be employed. Powder will be furnished by the Du Pont factories at City Point, where already a small town has arisen and where thousands of men are employed.

Between forty and fifty men will be sent to Newport News to-day to take position on the animal transports leaving there this week, and a like number will be needed next week. It was pointed out yesterday that not a single animal transport has been torpedoed or sunk. Most of the boats go directly to France, to the eastern ports, and do not pass in or near the war zone established by the Imperial German government.

EAR CUT BY BOTTLE
Nevilly Stephenson Hurt by Unknown Assailant—Colored Child Injured.

Nevilly Stephenson, colored, 820 North Second Street, was hit in the head by a bottle early last night and his ear was cut through. Ambulance Surgeon Stern dressed the wound. Stephenson said his assailant was another negro, but he could not give his name.

Carrie Davis, a colored child three years old, living at 1520 Blair Street, put the pin-nozzle of an insect spraying machine in her mouth yesterday afternoon and it lodged in her throat. Ambulance Surgeon Stern removed the obstruction.

WILLIAM E. REYNOLDS
William E. Reynolds, of 922 McDonough Street, South Richmond, died at 9:12 o'clock Saturday night. He leaves three children, Miss Mary E. Reynolds, Mrs. Minnie E. Cottrell and Thelma O. Reynolds, and three brothers, John M. Reynolds, Ira H. Reynolds and Robert B. Reynolds. He was fifty-five years of age.

The funeral will take place from the residence at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

TURKS TAKE A HAND
They Seek to Stir Up Sennoussis Tribe Against Italy.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.]
PARIS, June 20.—The Ministry of Marine makes the following announcement: "A French destroyer has captured between Cape Matapan and the Island of Crete a Greek sailing vessel, navigating with false papers and having on board a commission of Turkish officers bound for Tripoli under orders from Enver Pasha to convey gifts to the heads of the Sennoussis tribe."

The Sennoussis tribe are hereditary enemies of the Italians, and, apparently, the purpose of the gifts was to force their further warfare against the latest recruit of the allies.

The Bank and the Community

Mr. W. H. Kniffin, Jr., in a lecture to the school children of New York City, made this remark: "The man who carries on his person or in the home more money than the actual needs require is doing an injury to himself, the bank and the community. To himself, because of the risk of fire, theft, loss both of principal and interest; to the bank, in depriving it of the fund as the basis of credit and the profit that attends banking operations; and to the community, in depriving it of its circulating medium and the credit structure that rests upon the foundation money builds."

The attention of each individual to his own obligations helps the other man meet his. The banks are the mediums through which financial dealings are conducted with the greatest assurance and satisfaction.
