

Useful Hints Woman and Home Ethical Talks

Woman's Idea of Justice Sympathy Plays Big Part in Her Judgments.

"You women are so critical that it is a wonder to me you don't become judges or serve on the jury or administer justice in other forms," said the Junior Man, after listening to some of the University Girl's views.

"Never! I think a woman with a stone heart and no feelings is the best possible symbol."

"I heard a woman say the other day that if she were on the jury she would acquit everybody," he repeated.

"Of course you should! Do you suppose I should ever have a man's death or imprisonment on my conscience, no matter how much abstract justice was involved? He might have a poor mother or a wife and little children, or perhaps hadn't had half a chance. We don't care much for abstract justice and I'm proud of it."

"There would be a few good men then there are in the world if women didn't mix a bit of sympathy with their abuse of justice," mused the Junior Man.

"And fewer happy men!" laughed the girl, suddenly thinking of something. "I was so surprised the other day," she went on, "when a friend of mine told me of her engagement to a man who had served for her a long time, but whom I heard her say she would not marry."

"I think more than one girl could make it, if she would."

Beautiful Hands (BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.)

You can have beautiful hands if you are not content about wanting them. I know ever so many women who give their complexions all the attention and care necessary to keep the skin clean and clear and beautiful, but they let their hands go as neglected and as unclean for crimes that are unpardonable.

Now, the skin of the hands is exposed to much harder usage than the skin of the face, therefore, if any preference should be shown, it were better to give the hands the benefit of the few extra moments.

It is possible to have lovely hands and do your own housework, and that happens to be your lot. Extreme cold or temperature such as are involved in splashing the hands alternately in hot and cold water should be avoided. Never wash your hands except you do it thoroughly. Half-hearted washing grates the skin in an irritating way, and makes it red and raw.

New One-Piece Dress Just the Thing for Autumn

Smart indeed are the new one-piece dresses. It is said that they will play a most important part in the autumn wardrobe. Some of them will be worn late with furs, and others, of a lighter weight, will be worn with the new long coats, which entirely envelop them.

For rough, coarse and red hands, twice a day rub in olive oil or cocoa butter. In cases of persistent hardening of the following formula is recommended: tincture of benzoin, four drams; alcohol, six ounces, and water, ten ounces.

Antoinette Donnelly's Answers. Frances—There are two causes for ingrowing toenails. Improper footwear is one and cutting the nails wrong is another.

Janet—When practicing deep breathing always inhale through the nostrils with the mouth closed. It is not only bad for the health to breathe through the mouth, but it makes the lips thick.

Blanche—Lemon juice will remove the stains from your hands. If that is not sufficient mix it with powdered pumice. If you will pour boiling water over the peaches the skin will come off itself and you will not need to get your hands stained by paring them.

Imma A.—The cause of acne is the formation of blackheads. Blackheads are fat and debris which have lodged in the pores of the skin.

Keeping a house clean for the sake of cleanliness is a duty, but cleaning a house for the effect it will have on the inhabitants is a pleasure.

And that is where most of us lose our grip. We go through our work because it has to be done and generally are of the opinion that the sooner finished the better.

We stick to the ideas and methods that have been handed down to us and do not attempt to bring them up to modern requirements.

We get up at certain times, do our housework in the way we have always done it—certain things for each day. We never care to change the furniture in our rooms—we probably don't even think of it nor of the pleasure such a change may be for home people.

In cooking, too, we pursue the same regular habits, serve up meals in the same old way—it never occurs to some of us to surprise our family by a change in the menu.

Capable women in demand. This indifference often follows us to the extent of affecting our personal appearance, and we cling to certain modes of hair dressing and clothing just because we think they suit us.

By making the trivials of every-day existence a part of our life's interests, instead of regarding them as hindrances, we shall not only be home-making in the truest sense of the word, but we shall be demonstrating to all with whom we come in contact the extent of our possibilities.

Capable women are always in demand, and undoubtedly the time is not far ahead when greater opportunities than have hitherto presented themselves will be given to women, and the true home-maker will stand a fair chance of showing in a more literal sense than is generally accepted, that the hand which rocks the cradle will, at any rate, help to rule the world.

so, it is mighty unpleasant medicine and we don't blame our victims for getting as mad as they oft-times do. We were mad ourselves. We were real angry, and we sat down and pounded off a scathing rebuke to that editor—some one in his office had committed the unpardonable crime of mutilating the manuscript by punching pinholes through it, a thing no editorial office can do with our manuscripts without hearing from us.

But anyway it is pleasant to know that the younger generation of medical practitioners is able to keep house without camel. The young men are the ones that count in modern medicine. Nowadays, doctors do what they think is right, not what the medical ancestors believed was right.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Minim Menu Drop. What is the meaning of the term minim? Answer—a minim is approximately one drop.

The Brown Haired Lady Rises. Have a heart. What of the brown haired readers whose locks are turning gray—would you leave us alone with our sorrow? Are the raven haired ones to monopolize your interest? A husband's thatch may be medicinal and white as Father Time's, but does he really admire silver threads among the brown? Nay, nay. Time was when the way to keep a husband's hair from falling out was to have a few days of affliction, the first commandment for successful house-keeping is "Doll up."

So, please, dear doctor, open your big Irish heart and help restore our brown crown of glory.

Answer—We have it direct from Ponce de Leon: Boil to the consistency of an ointment two ounces of corticis fructus juglandis, half an ounce of calca. contus. and an ounce of sodium chlorate, one ounce of orange peel and a quart of water. To dye the hair brown, saturate a cloth and pull a few strands of hair at a time through the cloth. Try it where it won't show at first, before you plunge. You know, there are divers shades of brown.

Best Way to Clean Glass. Wash cut glass with soap suds and do not rinse, but wipe with a good quality Turkish towel kept especially for this purpose. Such a towel leaves no lint and gets into the deep cuts in the glass, as no ordinary towel will do.

Scaping Babies. A small baby can be soaped much better with the hands than with a wash cloth. The hands can feel into the cracks and crevices of the fat little body more effectively than a cloth, and are, besides, much softer.

Household Suggestions How to Save Paper Patterns

In opening a dress pattern write the number of the pattern on each separate piece of tissue paper. This will save much time and trouble in identifying stray pieces when replacing them in their proper envelopes.

To Save the Umbrella Stand. Keep a sprig inside a porcelain umbrella stand to absorb the water from wet umbrellas, and to prevent the umbrellas from breaking the jar when they strike the bottom.

Saving Invalid's Nerves. Never let visitors to a sick-room sit on opposite sides of the invalid's bed and talk to each other across it. Nothing is more nerve-racking for an invalid than to be forced to keep his head turning from side to side to follow the rapid-fire conversation going back and forth.

The Daily Round Discontent of House Wife Is Heard Everywhere.

(By Irene Weston.) Nowadays a great deal is heard on all sides of the discontent of the housewife. Work that used to be so important to our sex of the preceding generation in many cases holds little or no charm to the modern wife.

Women have begun to realize that something more than the actual scrubbing of floors, dusting and general work necessary for the maintained cleanliness of the house, is required to make their lives interesting and useful.

And this state of affairs is peculiar to girls who have given up an arduous office life for the "earth. They find their brains, which have been quickened and kept in good working order for many years, have little occupation in the homely tasks that fall to the lot of the wife, and they feel they are "dropping out of things" and losing much that made life so interesting.

To become discontented with housework is the very worst thing, because it means that the hundred little things that comprise home-making, and which, mechanically, will be done, or less, mechanically, will be done, irksome.

The daily washing of dishes will be a thing to dread and generally to take a pride in her work will be the last thing thinkable for the discontented woman.

Carried Out As Burdens. Keeping a house clean for the sake of cleanliness is a duty, but cleaning a house for the effect it will have on the inhabitants is a pleasure.

And that is where most of us lose our grip. We go through our work because it has to be done and generally are of the opinion that the sooner finished the better.

SHE WAS A MERE SKELETON This Lady Suffered From Severe Pain in Left Side, Was Very Weak, and Confined to Bed For Month at a Time.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Mrs. Dora Funderburg, of this city, says: "When I was 14 years old I was very poorly, and was told that my case was very bad, and that it might go into consumption, as I had an awful cough. The medicine I took did not do me much good, and I only spent my money for nothing, as I got no relief, but when I commenced taking Cardui I began improving."

Before taking Cardui I was a mere skeleton, and was very weak, and was confined to my bed at times, sometimes as long as a month at a time. I was unable to go to school regularly for two years, on account of my bad health. I had cramping every month, and a severe pain in my left side.

My mother told me of Cardui, and after taking one bottle I was greatly relieved of the pains. I have continued taking it until I feel like a different woman, and I cannot praise Cardui enough. I am now gaining in weight, and all my friends that see me speak of how much better I look in the last month, and I tell them I am taking Cardui. I highly recommend it to all suffering women."

Try taking Cardui for your troubles. Get a bottle to-day. You won't regret giving it a trial. Your druggist sells it.
