AMUSEMENTS

Price Players in Strong Drama. "The Woman in the Case," a drama of intense power, by the late Clyde Fitch, will be the offering of the Price Players at the Academy this week. It is a story of modern New York life, and is based on the theme of a young wife's devotion to her husband when great trouble overwhelms him. He is wholly innocent, but a cobweb of intrigue holds him fast in a mesh of circumstantial evidence. A malicious woman is one of the chief conspirators against him. The wife disguises herself and gains her confidence, and there is a tremendous dramatic scene, in which the woman is made to confess the truth. Throughout it all runs a counterplot of comedy and youthful sentiment. Catherine Proctor and Viola Leach play the two women of diverse types and Richard Dix is the accused man. Beverly West, the new ingenue, appears for the first time.

Living Pictures at Lyric. Topping the bill at the Lyric for the first half of this week are "Madame" and her company of English girls, who will offer one of the most beautiful old songs ever seen in vaudeville. It is promised. The act is a recent importation. "Porcelain" is the title of the series of dainty exhibits. In living pictures are represented the exciting china pieces that have made Dresden famous. Cliff Bailey, a new entertainer, goes it alone on the bill, and as a laugh-getter, according to advance reports, he is "going some." Stewart and Donahoe, a versatile team of singers, dancers and patterologists, have a standard variety act, and Billie Nell and Gibney, a comedian and a pretty girl, promise a breezy fifteen minutes of jollity, with song and dance accompaniment. A picturesque number is the act of Claudius and Scarlet, musicians and interpreters of the songs of long ago. They feature the old songs which they present with pleasurable interpolations to illustrate the sentiment in each, and give a display of their skill as banjoists. With the new vaudeville bill will come some stirring camera films, the European war zones and Mexico, and the usual "movie" miscellany.

Bell-Wilson. WILMINGTON, N. C., May 21.—Of interest to a host of friends in Wilmington was the news received yesterday of the marriage of Miss Lassie Price Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Wilson, and Zack K. Bell, both of this city, which was celebrated in Charlotte on Thursday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. A. McGeachy, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, of this city.

Mrs. Bell left Wilmington a few days ago to visit friends in Washington, and from that city to Charlotte to visit her brother, James E. Wilson, Jr. Mr. Bell left this city Tuesday in his automobile and motored to Charlotte. Immediately after the arrival of Miss Wilson they decided to have the marriage ceremony.

They will be away on their honeymoon for about ten days, and upon their return to Wilmington will be at home to their friends at 308 South Fourth Street.

OFFICIALS WERE IN ERROR. Under Impression Man, a Negro, Was "Prominent" Resident.

DANVILLE, VA., May 21.—State officials, laboring apparently under a misapprehension, have just authorized the offer of a reward of $200 for the arrest and conviction of the man who last March killed Frank Epperson, who has been styled as "a prominent Pittsylvania resident," but who, in reality, was a negro youth, whose dead body was found lying on the road not far from Danville several weeks ago.

The county supervisors were aware that the man was a negro, but the State authorities seem to have gained the impression that the victim was a white man.

NO VOTE ON LIQUOR UNTIL AFTER FALL ELECTIONS

Constitutional Amendment for Nation-Wide Prohibition Not to Be Pressed at This Time.

POLICY OF WATCHFUL WAITING

Program Sanctioned by Anti-Saloon League, Which May Independently Seek Platform Expression Both at Chicago and St. Louis.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Constitutional amendment for nation-wide prohibition pending before the House Committee on Judiciary will not be pressed for action until after the fall election, which is understood to be the program sanctioned by the anti-liquor forces. This delays prohibition in the House until the December session, when the advocates expect to secure a report from the Judiciary Committee that will place the amendment before the House for a vote.

Prohibition is not to be made an issue in the national campaign this year, with the consent of the Anti-Saloon League, although it is anticipated that some independent effort will be made both at Chicago and St. Louis to obtain a favorable platform expression. The league members have adopted the policy of watchful waiting over political events, and believe that their sentiment is growing in all sections of the country. It is admitted that unless the amendment passes in Congress in the meantime, national prohibition will be made a full-fledged issue in the campaign of 1920. Shortly after the two national political conventions the Anti-Saloon League will hold a big convention in Indianapolis for the purpose of giving further impetus to the movement.

GLAD TO PUT OFF FIGHT UNTIL AFTER ELECTION

The decision to sidetrack the Sheppard-Webb amendment until December is particularly pleasing to many members of the House who have had fights for re-election, and whose bills are endangered by their votes cast in the House before election time. This feeling is said to obtain on both sides of the chamber. After the fall election, some of them admit, they will be ready to face the issue. While there is no intention to dip into national politics with the prohibition question, it has been the purpose of the Anti-Saloon League all the time to exert itself in the congressional elections with the expectancy of increasing its forces in both the House and Senate. The leaders frankly admit they probably will not secure the necessary two-thirds vote in the next Congress. Practically every one realizes, however, that the issue cannot be avoided for a great length of time, and it is apparent to those who have observed the trend of events that sentiment for the amendment is growing among members of Congress.

IDENTITY OF WOMAN WILL NOT BE DISCLOSED

It is fairly certain that the identity of the woman will not be revealed at the coming trial, as an agreement is said to have been reached between the aviator and his wife to that effect.

Certain letters, however, will be read in evidence, one in particular from Mrs. Grahame-White to her husband, stating, "I have done my best to try to break off your attachment for this woman, who has made our lives unbearable." The woman referred to is said to be the revue actress already mentioned.

Grahame-White replied to this letter while his wife was staying with Lady Portlinton, in Scotland, denying that she "was entitled to say another woman had been the cause of our parting."

Grahame-White claims that incompatibility of temperament was the cause of the separation. Those who have known the Grahame-Whites intimately since their marriage believe that there is a great deal of truth in the husband's claim, for it is an open secret that long before the final break the young couple were unhappy in their married life.

Naturally, Grahame-White, who has always been something of a hero with the English public, and very popular with the fair sex, was much run after by white his wife, who, besides being much admired for her beauty, was extremely vivacious, demanded constant and undivided attention from her aviator husband. Mrs. Grahame-White denies, in her petition, that the divorce suit was brought in collusion or connivance between herself and husband.

HILLS AND HOLLOWAYS SEARCHED, BUT NO STILLS ARE FOUND. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] STANARDSVILLE, VA., May 21.—Internal revenue men have been unusually active in the mountain sections of Greene and Madison Counties, but, although they have searched the hills and hollows, they have found no recently operated stills. At the recent session of Madison Court Judge Fishburne granted six distillers' licenses for a period of three months each. He declined to grant licenses until October 31, saying he was only giving the whisky men time to close up their business without inconvenience or loss to them.

ELECTION IS ORDERED ON COURTHOUSE REMOVAL

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] ASHLAND, VA., May 21.—Judge H. H. L. Chichester, of the Hanover Circuit Court, sitting in vacation at Fredericksburg, on Saturday, ordered that an election be held on August 15, at which the voters will decide whether the county seat will be removed to Ashland or permitted to remain at Hanover Courthouse. The petition for the writ of election was presented to Judge Chichester by Commissioners Ellis, Moss and Winston, who certified that they had checked up the list of signers and found that they represented more than the necessary number of qualified voters of the county.

SEEKS ABSOLUTE DIVORCE FROM GRAHAME-WHITE

Beautiful American Wife of English Aviator Sends Petition to Court.

LAST ACT IN DOMESTIC TRAGEDY

Prominent Society Woman and Well-Known Revue Actress, Whose Identities Are Not Revealed, Accused in Action.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] LONDON, May 21.—The last act in the domestic tragedy of Claude Grahame-White and his beautiful American wife is set for hearing in the Divorce Court here at an early date. It is a suit for absolute divorce brought by the young and attractive Dorothy Grahame-White, daughter of Bertrand Leroy Taylor, of New York, from her famous aviator husband.

A few weeks ago the courts ordered Grahame-White to return to his wife within fourteen days. This order he has disobeyed. Hence the major suit. Mrs. Grahame-White, in her petition, sets out that she was married to the aviator on June 27, 1912, at the village church in Walford, Essex, and that they lived together happily for some time at various places, but that there were no children of the marriage.

She claims that by disobeying the order of the court to return to her Grahame-White is guilty of desertion, and, further, "that on the 15th of January last, at Fischer's Hotel, in London, Claude Grahame-White was intimate with some woman." The identity of this woman is clothed in mystery.

Rumor names a well-known society woman with whom the aviator has been friendly, and also a well-known revue actress, not known on both sides of the Atlantic.

It is fairly certain that the identity of the woman will not be revealed at the coming trial, as an agreement is said to have been reached between the aviator and his wife to that effect.
