The ambassador's representations in London were successful, and Mr. McClure was permitted to land.

Mr. McClure is expected to set foot on English soil, but Thomas Hughes Kelly must come back.

SUFFERED WITH ECZEMA 8 MONTHS. All Over Face, Neck and Body. Broke Out in Blisters. Could Get No Sleep for Itching.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT. "For about eight months I suffered from a bad form of eczema all over my face and neck, and it was soon all over my body. It first broke out in blisters and then my skin became inflamed in red splashes all over my body. I could get no sleep for the itching and irritation, and I was compelled to scratch. My clothes stuck to my skin and my face was in such an awful fix I was ashamed. I saw Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised and I purchased a box of Cuticura Soap and a bar of Cuticura Soap. When I used three boxes of Cuticura Soap and two bars of Cuticura Ointment I was healed completely." (Signed) Miss Susie Reed, Route 1, Baugh, Tenn., April 6, 1916.

BOY HEARD WOMAN SCREAM. Messenger Gives Startling Information in Connection With Keister Mystery.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, Va., July 25.—Sensational developments in the Keister tragedy are expected to be brought to light at the coroner's inquest into the death of Mrs. Z. E. Keister on Thursday. Z. E. Keister, a real estate man, fired a bullet into his brain early last Thursday morning, following the destruction of his residence in Colonial Place by fire and the discovery of his wife's charred body in the ruins. Keister is in a critical condition at the Protestant Hospital, although there is a possibility of his recovery.

A report made to Captain Leonard Knapp at police headquarters by A. S. Barnes, a Western Union messenger boy, gives information of a startling character. The boy told Captain Knapp that about 1:30 o'clock last Thursday morning he was sent with a message to Colonial Place, and that on his way back to the city he heard screams coming from a house at Gosnold Avenue and Thirty-eighth Street. He said he stopped and listened, and he heard a woman scream, "Don't hit me any more." The boy said he met a police sergeant a few blocks off and told him that a fight was going on in the house on Gosnold Avenue. Two hours later the fire in the Keister home at Thirty-eighth Street and Gosnold Avenue, was discovered. Captain Knapp investigated the boy's story, and learned that he actually had made a report of a fight going on in a house on Gosnold Avenue to Sergeant T. J.

Bunting is positive that the fire in the Keister home was started both in the basement and the attic.
