

SOCIETY

Society's calendar for the autumn has been sadly lacking for the months of September and October, owing to the epidemic of Spanish influenza. Almost no plans have been made for the winter season, and there isn't even a whisper concerning who will be the debutantes of the year.

Of course, the younger society set which is done with school and ready for the gay and happy things of pleasure that follow to them by right, will be entertained in some informal fashion, but most of these girls are tremendously interested in very serious things. It isn't at all the fashion to be a butterfly these days. If you study the history of some things you find that one is a butterfly so long as one is young and young, but when one grows on in life, one is expected to give nothing, only to take from others. One is generally known as a parasite, which is a very harsh and unpleasant sort of thing to be. The day of the woman who does nothing but gossip and complain of her neighbors is past. The world merely wags by with only pity in its heart, should the world be kind, for the woman who sits fingering the empty husks of last year, when all the garden of flowers of to-day lies before her.

And so there are little or no plans for the social season as yet. The women are very busy helping wherever there is need to help. You have only to lift a curtain in the parish house kitchen and see society busily engaged in washing bottles and making broth for all who are suffering and in need. Mothers and big sisters that have for years taken care of their families have been busy with the epidemic, and it is no charity, but a real and sympathetic, that has prompted the work of the women and girls who have served so long and faithfully in the soup kitchens organized to meet this need.

A few weddings of interest, some sessions in the interests of the next big war work drive, the talk of peace around the tea tables, and that is the chronicle for the week that has past, so far as Miss Society is concerned.

BRENT WITT.

Big Theater Parties Planned. Fashionable society will be out in force to-morrow evening, if the influenza ban is lifted, to attend the opening performance of "The World at the City Auditorium, and a great many prominent people will entertain parties of guests for that event. The Governor of Virginia and Mrs. Westmoreland have been invited to give a luncheon at the City Auditorium, and Mrs. Westmoreland will be the hostess for a number of their friends on this occasion. Mrs. Norman H. H. H. has been appointed a committee of one to see that a group of Confederate veterans from the Soldiers' Home are entertained on Monday evening, and a large and representative audience will be present.

Prominent Wedding. Of much interest in Virginia and one of the most brilliant affairs of the season was the wedding of Miss Katherine Greenway, daughter of the late Mr. Greenway, who was married to Mr. J. H. Greenway, son of the late Mr. Greenway, at the home of the Prestons, near Staunton, on Saturday, October 26. The bride was accompanied by her father, and the groom by his father-in-law. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Felix F. Kaup, pastor of the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, Winchester. The ceremony was performed in the presence of only the families and a few intimate friends.

To Sell Stamps. The war savings stamp booth at Seventh and Broad Streets will be in charge of the Women's Club, of Ginter Park, during this week. The president, Mrs. Thomas S. Gardner, has appointed the following committee to be assisted by members of the club: Monday, Mrs. W. O. Lewis; Tuesday, Mrs. E. W. Farley; Wednesday, Mrs. J. E. Cox; Thursday, Mrs. Charles P. Smith; Friday, Mrs. Roy Cabell; Saturday, Mrs. George Call.

Formal Luncheon. An attractive affair of this week was an informal luncheon given Thursday at 2 o'clock at the food demonstration office, corner Sixth and Broad Streets, by the food plant in honor of Miss Mary Frayser, the former urban emergency agent of this war, who has recently resigned to take up her duties with the Antituberculosis Association. The luncheon was given by Mrs. S. H. Boniss, assisted by Mrs. Frayser, Miss Agnew and Mrs. Polhill. The menu included: soup, chicken, beef, turkey, fish, oysters, and dessert. The room was decorated with flowers, and the atmosphere was most pleasant.

ORANGE. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) J. Martin has returned from a trip to Washington. Ben E. Roberts, of Charlotte, N. C., visited friends in Orange this week. C. C. Tallaferro, Jr., has been commissioned a lieutenant and will shortly for Camp Humphries for training.

Return to Washington. Mrs. George B. Gardner, wife of the major-general commandant of the marine corps, who is now in France, and her daughter, Miss Lillian Gardner, returned to the commandant's house in the marine barracks in Washington. Mrs. Gardner and her two daughters spent a short time in their country place, Wakefield Manor, Va.

Wedding. A marriage which recently here was solemnized October 19 in Asheville, N. C., when Miss Alva Cooper and J. Stuart Gardner, of Richmond, were married. The wedding took place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, on Cumberland Avenue. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Felix F. Kaup, rector of the Trinity Episcopal Church, officiated. On account of the epidemic of the Spanish influenza, the wedding was a very quiet affair; only the relatives and close friends of the bride being present. The drawing room, where the ceremony was performed, was simply and artistically arranged with quantities of large yellow and white chrysanthemums. The bride was modestly gowned in a suit of wood-brown cloth, with hat to match. She was unattended by her bridesmaid, who was given in marriage, wore a tailored suit of midnight blue broadcloth, with hat of black velvet and of crepe, and a corsage bouquet of orchids. Miss Anna Gerwin attended the bride as maid of honor and Lillian Latham was best man. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Greenaway left for a Northern wedding trip, and will also visit Winchester, the home of the groom.

The wedding took place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the residence of the bride's parents, on Cumberland Avenue. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Felix F. Kaup, rector of the Trinity Episcopal Church, officiated. On account of the epidemic of the Spanish influenza, the wedding was a very quiet affair; only the relatives and close friends of the bride being present. The drawing room, where the ceremony was performed, was simply and artistically arranged with quantities of large yellow and white chrysanthemums. The bride was modestly gowned in a suit of wood-brown cloth, with hat to match. She was unattended by her bridesmaid, who was given in marriage, wore a tailored suit of midnight blue broadcloth, with hat of black velvet and of crepe, and a corsage bouquet of orchids. Miss Anna Gerwin attended the bride as maid of honor and Lillian Latham was best man. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Greenaway left for a Northern wedding trip, and will also visit Winchester, the home of the groom.
