

HORACE G. BURT TO HELP RUSSIA

Well-Known American Railroad Man Will Make an Expert Report on the Trans-Siberian Road.

It develops that in the alleged pleasure trip to the Orient Horace G. Burt, late president of the Union Pacific railroad, there is in reality a year's employment by the Russian Government...

As near as can be ascertained Mr. Burt is to consult with the Russian engineers on the problem of building around Lake Balkal instead of using a ferry system forty-eight miles in extent across the lake.

The Orenberg and Tashkend line is intended to shorten the distance and lessen the difficulties of conveying troops to the Afghan frontier and the Pamirs, and likewise reduce the distance between the heart of Russia and the Chinese frontier by many miles.

Mr. Burt recently resigned, very abruptly, his position with the Union Pacific, which paid the modest sum of $25,000 a year, and almost immediately set sail for the far East. It has just been learned that his mission was to accept a year's employment as an expert, the position having been tendered by the Russian authorities on communications and railways through Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador to the United States.

CHANGES PREDICTED FOR THE RIO GRANDE

The Denver Post asserts that General Superintendent Coughlin of the Rio Grande is to become general manager of the K. C. & S., and is to be accompanied by W. J. Donovan, assistant superintendent of the second and third divisions.

Railroad Notes

H. O. Wilson, general agent of the Short Line at Butte, was in the city yesterday.

George T. Hull, district agent of the Pennsylvania lines, with headquarters in Denver, was a visitor yesterday at the local railroad offices.

The Bostonian Opera company arrived in the city at 3 P. M. yesterday from the Northwest, coming in over the Rio Grande. After completing its engagement here the company will be taken East by that road in special cars.

A HISTORIC PARALLEL

Editor Tribune—The testimony of Joseph F. Smith to the fact of having five wives and forty-two children recalls a passage between the Republics of Virginia and Thomas H. Benton of Missouri in the United States Senate in 1826.

Benton was a large, robust, virile man with a heavy bass voice, while Randolph was a spare, slight, effeminate man with a thin, snaky voice. The two men were always at sword's point.

LOCAL ARCHITECTS APPRECIATED ABROAD

The productions of Salt Lake's architects meet with favor both east and west. An Indiana man who visited the city recently was struck with the style of architecture of the new Presbyterian church which is being built on Brigham street, and after reaching home he wrote to W. A. Trezza, the architect, opening negotiations for a duplication of the plans for a church which is to be built in his home town.

STUDENTS PREPARE FOR BIG DEBATES

The college students of the University met yesterday morning and finally decided to enter the "national oratorical contest." Oscar Carlson was then unanimously elected to be the representative of the student body and to co-operate with Miss Babcock, the faculty representative, in carrying on all correspondence with the national committee.

Nervousness and Nerve. The more nervous a man is, the less nerve he has. That sounds paradoxical, but it is true. For nerve is stamina.

OFFICIAL CALL FOR REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE

April 8, 1904. TO THE REPUBLICAN ELECTORS OF THE STATE OF UTAH.

In accordance with established custom and in obedience to instructions of the national Republican committee, the State Republican committee of Utah directs that a State convention of Utah representatives of the Republican party be held at Salt Lake City, Utah, for the purpose of electing six delegates-at-large and six alternate delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention of 1904, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

The said State convention shall consist of 60 delegates apportioned to the several counties of this State on the basis of one delegate for every ninety-five votes, or a majority fraction thereof, that were cast for Hon. Joseph Howell for Representative in Congress November 4, 1902, in said counties, respectively. Herewith is the apportionment to each county:

Table with 3 columns: County, Vote, Delegates. Lists counties like Beaver, Boxelder, Cache, Carbon, etc.

All delegates shall be elected not less than five days before the meeting of the State convention. The respective county committees are requested to arrange for the election of delegates to the State convention. The chairman of the respective county committees will forward to the chairman of the State committee, immediately after their election, a full list of the delegates chosen.

The Republican national convention is to assemble at Chicago, Ill., at 12 o'clock noon, on Tuesday, the 21st day of June, 1904. Delegates and alternates elected thereto will receive credentials duly signed and attested by the chairman and secretary of the State convention electing them.

By order of the Republican State committee.

JAMES H. ANDERSON, Chairman. TOM PITT, Secretary.

MR. ANDERSON EXPLAINS.

Editor Tribune—In your editorial this morning on the Republican State convention you say: "There is somewhat of a departure from the usual rule in vogue here in the matter of choosing the delegates, as applied to this county especially. The present call requires a county convention, and you insist that 'that makes more red tape in the transaction and requires an additional intermediary convention.'"

PLENTY OF SNOW IN UTAH'S HILLS

The following reports for February from the various points in the Great Salt Lake watershed indicate a good year, with plenty of water for this part of Utah:

Beaver River City.—The snow is well settled and dense, as considerable rain has fallen to make it more compact. Corinne.—The snow in the adjacent mountains is well packed and very deep. Riverside.—More rain and snow has fallen during February than for several years past. The snow is well drifted. Snowville.—The snow has all disappeared with the exception of the drifts. Thatcher.—We have had an ideal winter, with plenty of snow. Hyde Park.—The snow in the hills is well settled because of the mild weather that prevailed during February. Hyrum.—The snow that fell before Christmas is well packed in the mountains and will last until late summer, but the late snows will soon melt.

Newton.—The snow is well drifted in the hills, but on the level ground it all melted. Providence.—Most of the snow lies as it fell, as there was not much wind to drift it. Smithfield.—The snow in the mountains is well packed and the drifts are very wet and solid, but the late thaw has melted all the snow in the valley. Laketown.—The snow is well drifted and packed. Randolph.—The wet snow has frozen and is now packed solidly. Woodruff.—The snow is well drifted and packed, and contains considerable water. Eden.—The snow has melted rapidly, owing to the warm weather, but in the mountains is very wet and solid, and not well drifted. Uintah.—Snow solid, but not well drifted.

Morgan.—The snow in the mountains is drifted and well packed, but in the valley is all gone. Clearfield.—The snow in the mountains is in much better condition than usual as we had considerable rain and sleet which packed the snow into a solid body of ice. Syracuse.—Snow is well drifted and solid. Henefer.—The snow is fairly well packed. Marion.—The snow is well drifted and packed because of the warm rainy weather of the latter part of February. Oakley.—The snow is now well packed and the drifts are large compared with the snowfall. Peoa.—Snow well drifted in the mountains. Rockport.—The snow is not as well drifted as usual, but is quite solid. Wagon Wheel.—The snow in the hills solid and well packed.

Draper.—Snow well drifted and well packed. Granger.—The snow is now nearly all melted. Hunter.—The snow is well packed in the mountains. Murdock.—The snow is evidently well packed. Sandy.—The snow is not as solid as usual. Tooele.—The snow is well drifted. Vernon.—The snow is rather well drifted. The snowfall in the mountains is in much better condition than usual as we had considerable rain and sleet which packed the snow into a solid body of ice.

ORANGE SEELY FOR PENITENTIARY WARDEN

Speaking of choosing a new warden for the State penitentiary, the Castle-dale Progress has a solution that it thinks will be agreeable to all that part of Utah. Here is the idea:

"The State Board of Corrections, which has the choosing of a successor to the late Warden George N. Davis, could make no better selection than by naming Hon. Orange Seely of Emery county for that position. Among those heretofore suggested for that office are men who have frequently been in the Republican party of the State and particularly of this section, and both he and eastern Utah are fully entitled to just such an office as the Board of Corrections now have the opportunity to bestow upon one of the true and faithful. Mr. Seely possesses all the qualifications for an ideal warden—such as the late Warden Dove—and no better selection can or will be made. Why not Warden Seely?"

Notice is hereby given that on the 5th day of March, 1904, the said McConahay Jewelry Co. was duly adjudicated a bankrupt and that the first meeting of its creditors will be held at its office in the Commercial block, Salt Lake City, on the 21st day of March, 1904, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

GRAND ARMY BOYS RESENT HIGH TAX

Movement Said to Be on in Ogden to Dissolve the Utah Department for Economical Reasons.

There is said to be a movement on foot, originating in the Dix-Logan Grand Army post at Ogden, to dissolve the Utah department of the Grand Army of the Republic. It is argued that the membership of the department is so small that it necessitates too high a tax on the individual members to support it.

When F. H. Clark, the department commander, was interrogated about the story last night, he said that he had heard nothing of such a movement and thought it was absurd. The present per capita tax, he stated, is only 50 cents, and can be fixed as high or as low as the encampment sees fit. The money is used to pay for postage, printing and other incidental expenses of the department.

IN MEMORY OF THE OLD BRIGADE

Editor Tribune—Thirty-seven years ago today the last of the grandest cavalry brigades of the Army of the Potomac, Gen. George A. Custer, Michigan brigade of cavalry, was discharged at Fort Douglas. The command came to Utah in November, 1863, direct from the front in Virginia after the surrender of Lee. The only remaining familiar faces of the old fighting brigade on our streets are Thomas Loughney and Dr. A. K. Smith. Thomas Loughney has the distinction of being the youngest soldier of the Civil war and the youngest prisoner of war, as he was in Andersonville prison in his fourteenth year, amid all its horrors.

He was Custer's bugler during part of his service in the Army of the Potomac, and was at the General's headquarters. He came as bugler with the old brigade of Utah, and was chief bugler at Fort Douglas until discharged March 10, 1864. Dr. A. K. Smith served with distinction as surgeon of the First Michigan cavalry, and at times, when the commanding officer was all knocked out, he commanded his regiment. He has the distinction of being the last wounded in the volunteer service of the great war. He and a Sioux Indian came together down near the Laramie plains. He made him a good Indian and the doctor had a badly wounded arm as a remembrance of the battle. Mr. Loughney was 16 years old when discharged after three years' service. He was wounded at Falmouth, Va., and Dr. Smith dressed the wound.

Thirty-seven years is a long time ago, but Mr. Loughney seems yet a boy. Dr. Smith can be seen upon the streets any day with the commanding military attitude of a soldier thirty years old. Long may they live as souvenirs of that great old fighting brigade in the greatest struggle for the right of modern times. D. Salt Lake City, March 9, 1904.

Counterfeits.

Read what one of the GREATEST NEWSPAPERS IN AMERICA has to say on this subject:

"The manufacturers of Castoria have been compelled to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to familiarize the public with the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. This has been necessitated by reason of pirates counterfeiting the Castoria trademark. This counterfeiting is a crime not only against the proprietors of Castoria, but against the growing generation. All persons should be careful to see that Castoria bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, if they would guard the health of their children. Parents, and mothers in particular, ought to carefully examine the Castoria advertisements which have been appearing in this paper, and to remember that the wrapper of every bottle of genuine Castoria bears the fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, under whose supervision it has been manufactured continuously for over thirty years.—Philadelphia Bulletin.
