

SCHOOL EXHIBIT FOR WORLD'S FAIR

Utah Expected to Make a Good Educational Showing Among Her Sister States.

IT IS safe to predict that the educational exhibit gathered from the work of the pupils in the Salt Lake City public schools will merit and receive prominent recognition at the St. Louis exposition.

Owing to some misunderstanding, Utah was not given space in the educational building at the time allotments were made, and it looked for a long time that no exhibition would be made by this State.

What City Schools Show. Superintendent D. H. Christensen of the Salt Lake schools has worked indefatigably in the interest of the exhibit from his schools and is well satisfied with the showing that has been made by the pupils.

Deserving of special mention are the charts prepared under the supervision of Miss Rosalie Pollock, primary supervisor, illustrating the study of the local year in the high school.

TEACHERS' RATES HIGHER THAN BEFORE

Announcement was made yesterday at the local ticket office that the Western Passenger association had adopted teachers' rates from Utah points to all places within Western Passenger association territory, east of and including Colorado, common points to and including Chicago, Peoria and Memphis.

These rates are not as good this year as they usually are. In former years the teachers have been able to obtain a rate of one fare, but this time they have to pay one fare plus $5.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

REPUBLICANS of the Third Judicial district express general satisfaction with the ticket nominated by the Judicial convention Monday. While there were some personal disappointments, there are no elements of serious antagonism left.

It would have been difficult, the politicians say, to have named a weak ticket out of the candidates whose names were presented. But it is almost a general expression that unusually strong men are named.

There is a growing belief that former President Cleveland will yet be obliged to take the leadership of his party this fall. During the past ten days the politicians have been talking Cleveland more than for years.

Senator Thomas Kearns says the Republicans nominated an unusually strong ticket Monday. The candidates are all high-grade, he says, and will certainly be elected.

It is not known whether Judge Tanner will be a candidate for re-election to the city judgeship. His friends are urging him to do so, since he was unsuccessful in the Third district convention.

Democrats claim that they have a strong Judicial ticket for the Third district, but they are leary about their City Judicial nominees. One of the Democratic candidates in the convention said that if Judge Chris Diehl is re-nominated, he will receive more votes than either of the Democratic candidates.

Postmaster B. W. Watt of Mercur is a candidate for Auditor of State. He is being supported by the Mercur people, and is being supported in several of the neighboring counties, it is said. Mr. Watt was in the city Monday and called at the office of the State Auditor to see how he thought he would like the quarters.

MRS. HOLMES WANTS $30,175 DAMAGES

The Portland Cement company is the defendant in a suit filed yesterday afternoon in the Federal court by Rachael Holmes, et al. The plaintiff seeks to collect damages amounting to $30,175, alleged to be due on account of the death of her husband, Frederick W. Holmes, who was killed at the company's plant on July 20, 1903.

COURT NOTES

Petition for letters of administration of the estate of Dr. Charles M. Garrison, who died in this city on March 26, 1904, was filed in the probate division of the District court yesterday by Edward W. Girdley and George P. Decker. The value of the estate of the deceased within this State is placed at $16,018.

In the Supreme court yesterday the following cases were argued, submitted and taken under advisement: F. T. Tilton vs. the Sterling Coal & Coke company, appellant, by C. C. Dey for appellant and E. A. Wedgwood and T. R. Thurman in reply; John W. Meyers vs. the Highland Boy Gold Mining company, appellant, by George H. Sutherland in reply; Amelia Stockdale, et al., vs. the Rio Grande Western Railway company and the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association, appellants, by E. M. Allison for appellants, and by Arthur E. Thomas in reply.

Suit to recover $416.50 was filed in the District court yesterday by the Utah Mining Machinery & Supply company against the Comstock Silver Mining company. The amount is alleged to be due for supplies and merchandise furnished by the plaintiff to the defendant between the dates of December 16, 1902, and March 24, 1903. The plaintiff asks for interest at the rate of 12 per cent from April 1, last year.

Judge Stewart, upon motion of Attorney Ray Van Cott, yesterday dismissed the action for damages brought by Cressie Rugg against Sergeant John Hempel and Officer Emil Johnson of the police department. The plaintiff charged the defendants with false imprisonment and defamation of character and sought damages in the sum of $1955.

All of the testimony in the case of the State vs. Thomas Brown, now on trial in the District court for burglary, was heard yesterday and the arguments to the jury will be made this afternoon. The defendant is charged with burglarizing the store of C. C. Crapo at Sandy. District Attorney Smith is prosecuting the case and the defendant is represented by Attorney E. O. Leatherwood.

EVENING OF MUSIC GREATLY ENJOYED

Young Singers and Violin Players Win Plaudits From a Large Audience.

MANY times has the First Congregational church been crowded with lovers of music, but never has it held a larger or more enthusiastic audience than that which gathered last evening to hear the song and violin recital by the pupils of Mrs. A. D. Melvin and George E. Skelton.

Senator Thomas Kearns says the Republicans nominated an unusually strong ticket Monday. The candidates are all high-grade, he says, and will certainly be elected.

It is not known whether Judge Tanner will be a candidate for re-election to the city judgeship. His friends are urging him to do so, since he was unsuccessful in the Third district convention.

UTAH'S EXHIBIT MUCH ADMIRABLE

Miniature Concentrating Plant of the Interesting Features of the World's Fair.

THAT Utah's exhibit at the World's Fair is attracting some degree of attention, and that the miniature concentrating plant included in the mining display is one of the features of the big exposition may be gathered from the following, which appeared in the St. Louis Republic May 11:

"It doesn't pay," said B. A. Perce of the Utah mineral exhibit, "to freight rates on low-grade ore to the mines to the smelter. Yet, with this item of expense reduced, opportunity is given to make low-grade ore the best of dividend producers."

The elimination of the heavy freight tax is accomplished by concentrating mills. One of these, used to handle per ore, is now complete at the Utah mine in the Mines and Metallurgy building. It is not only a model, but does the work. The whole process is shown to every fair visitor, and it is a great success.

From the ore bin at the top of the shaft, the rock is fed into a model by means of an automatic feeder. A Gates gyrating crusher. From through this, the ore comes out in shape of comparatively small pieces. Elected again, it passes over screens which are arranged to separate the ore into the bits which are to go through further steps of the process.

From the screens the powdered ore is put through three rollers. These are simply three rollers, from the bottom of which, through a pipe smaller and with a water plays upward. The heavier particles, of course, contain the metal which is desired, and are nearly as possible by this method. The lighter material, the worthless part of the rock, is called "gangue." It is called. From the classifiers the already partially concentrated copper passes in pipes to the name indicators, are simply bearings or tables, designed upon a slight incline. Parallel along them are lines of ridges or corrugations. A shaft flow of water passes over these tables, in direction perpendicular to the corrugations.

The half-concentrated copper, coming from the classifiers, is carried by the water across the table. The particles are washed over the ridges of the classifier, and are stopped in the grooves. This is the final picture of Grand canyon, painted on the Utah side of the canyon, where forms the boundary line between Utah and Arizona. The picture shows a variety of tints of the canyon walls, which are multiplied by the reflections of light upon the colored stone. It is a work of H. L. A. Culmer and is one of several excellent water colors which he contributes. An oil painting called "Sunset in the Canyon" by Mr. Culmer, portrays a bit of rural scenery near Salt Lake which is familiar to persons from Salt Lake.

Woodland scenes and pictures of corn in the shock, by John Hafen, among the pictures shown by Mr. Culmer, and J. T. Harwood contributes a large canvas called "Salt-Crested Rocks Salt Lake," which has been much admired.
