Mrs. Bayly's Charming Tea.
Yuletide colors were everywhere used in the beautiful decorations at the tea given by Mrs. William Bayly, Jr., yesterday afternoon in honor of her mother, Mrs. B. L. Harding, of Los Angeles. The University club was the scene of the tea, and there from 1 to 5 o'clock more than 150 of Salt Lake's charming maids and matrons gathered. Guests were received in the parlor, Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Bayly and Miss Emily Read standing in the receiving line. Punch and refreshments were served in the dining-room. Mrs. O. J. Salsbury, Mrs. Hoyt Sherman, Mrs. W. S. McCormick and Miss Keogh presiding. Assisting were Mrs. Union Worthington, Mrs. Arthur Bird, Mrs. Don Carlos Roberts, Mrs. Charles Post, Miss Sherman, Laura Sherman, Miss Salsbury, Miss Kinney, Miss McMillan, Miss McGrath, Miss McCormick.
Wreaths of holly tied with bows of brilliant red satin ribbon hung from each of the wall lamps in the parlor where the guests were received. Sprays of the same brilliant green were festooned over the tops of the curtains, while masses of it filled the grate and beautified the mantel. A very handsome candelabrum imbedded in a mass of holly stood on a table in one corner, with smaller candelabrum on the mantel. In the dining-room the same color idea was carried out. A small Christmas tree, gay with tinsel and other bright trimmings, occupied the center of the dining-table, over which was thrown a handsome cloth of Mexican drawn-work. At each corner of the table was a crystal candlestick holding a candle of white, the candlesticks tied with handsome bows of green or white ribbon and rising from a bed of holly. The sideboard also was a picture with its branches of holly and bows of scarlet, the punch table showing the same idea in decoration. An orchestra stationed on the main landing furnished an altogether delightful programme and the event was one which will be long remembered by the guest of honor, who leaves today for her home, and the many who had the pleasure of greeting her.
