

PARTY WANTS NEWSPAPER BAD

Associated Press Bill Passes Senate.

President Love Only Republican Who Votes Against the Measure.

Bucket Shopping in Ill-Favor—Johnson's Osteopathy Bill Succeeds After Hard Fight.

With the exception of President Stephen H. Love, all Republicans voted for the passage of the Associated Press bill yesterday, and all Democrats against it.

Senator Lawrence, who introduced the bill by request, explained its purposes. He said it was destined to compel the Associated Press to sell its news service to any person who is willing to pay the usual fee for the service.

Senator Bamberger said it is not within the power of the Legislature to compel the Associated Press to yield to other information it has collected for its members, else such a thing would have been done by other States.

Senator Bennion explained that the Associated Press is an organization of newspaper men regardless of politics, to collect the news.

On rollcall Bamberger, Barber, Bennion and Lovell voted against the bill. The remaining fourteen members (Republicans) voted for it.

For some time the passage of such a measure has been sought by the osteopaths in Utah. The State Board has made it practically impossible for osteopaths to secure license to practice in Utah.

Several other amendments were attempted by Clegg and Rasband, and which they would have destroyed the bill, and they, too, were unsuccessful.

Senator Lawrence admitted that the measure had originated with bucket-shoppers, but he argued that the best recommendations regarding gambling often come from persons who have been "hit."

When the Senate was considering the bill, Senator Bamberger introduced several amendments, which were said to make the bill the more effective.

calling attention to the millions of persons the railroad would haul and who fair were a success. Mr. Joseph secured the adoption of an amendment relieving the State from any responsibility for the deficit that might be created.

Mr. Stookley moved an amendment that the act should take effect when the citizens of the State who would be the chief beneficiaries of the measure passed the amendment was lost.

Miller Gets a Jolt. There was one man in the Senate chamber yesterday who went home with a disappointed heart even though he did smile as he took his medicine.

That man was County Commissioner E. D. Miller. He had been restlessly awaiting the action of the Senate on House Bill No. 168, and as the bill had passed the House he had doubtless thought the measure would be equally as favorable as were the Representatives.

Miller's disappointment was fathered by Representative Edward, who was an innocent looking measure, and was doubtless the result of a conversation had last month between Miller and the State Board of Examiners.

FISHBURN BILL NOT IN FAVOR

Its Passage Would Be Ill-Advised.

No Good Reason for Extending Terms of Present Municipal Officers.

How a Number of Well-Known Salt Lakers View Measure Now Before the Senate.

Every day finds more opponents and fewer supporters of the bill extending the time of electing municipal officers. This bill, known as the "Fishburn Bill No. 111," passed the House last week after some of the local Republican leaders made it a caucus measure, and it is now before the Senate.

It was said last week that Chairman Spry promised to see the bill through the Senate if Speaker Hull and others would put it through the House. Senators now decline to have it said of them that Chairman Spry has such control of them and several have openly declared opposition to the bill and will either amend the life out of it or vote against it in its present form.

The Young Men's Republican club is fighting the bill and so are hundreds of other Republicans, but certain friends of the Utah Light and Railway company, Speaker Hull in particular, is a diligent friend of the measure and all right men in this is frequently alluded to in conversation.

There are a few of the expressions heard on the Fishburn bill yesterday: "King Does Not Like It."

Judge W. H. King said: "You may quote me as saying that I am opposed to such a bill as the one proposed, but I do not think it is a corruption in municipal affairs is the rule and we certainly do not want to do anything to increase it."

Would Carry Bad Men Into Office. "In this same line of argument might be mentioned the fact that if the bill had been passed by the Republicans last fall, could have been elected, as people looked at the head of the ticket and the fact that the bill would have been passed, it is a question of whether or not the bill would have been passed."

Would Be Ill-Advised. "I am of the opinion that it would be a good idea to extend the term of office of municipal officers, but it is a question of whether or not the bill would have been passed."

McCormick Favors Fewer Elections. "Elections 'disembowel' everything," said W. S. McCormick. "Consequently, I am in favor, in a general way, of having them as far apart as possible. In fact, I would favor the abolition of all municipal elections, if it could be done."

Would Be Too Complicated. "I am inclined to think that back of all the talk about a move on for to keep men in office, said E. W. Wilson, "and that instead of having the welfare of the voters and taxpayers at heart, some of the prime movers are actuated by entirely different motives. For some reason I would like to see the bill passed, but I am quite anxious to see it defeated."

Legislative Party Royalty Entertained by Representative Dailey. One of the most pleasant junketing trips had by the members of the Legislature during the session was the one enjoyed by a few of the Representatives and ladies Sunday, when they were royally entertained by Representative Dailey of Park City superintendent of the Silver King mine.

APPOINTMENTS COMING. Governor Expected to Send in Big Batch This Afternoon. Many of the appointments of Governor Cutler will be laid before the Senate this afternoon, it is expected. They will be read in open session and the Senate will act on them later in executive session.

Goodwin Is Emphatic. Judge Charles C. Goodwin said: "No Republican Legislature would move to give a Democratic Council a longer term of life except there was something sinister behind it, some scheme to carry out some purpose that would be to the benefit of the State and not of the people."

Looks Bad on Its Face. "Really I am not familiar with the details of the bill, but would be opposed on general principles to the legislation extending the term of office of any officials regularly elected," said E. M. Allison. "When the terms of office of any set of men expire, they should be willing to submit themselves to the people for re-election."

J. E. Dooly Is Sarcastic. "Just say for me," said J. E. Dooly, as a small amusement crossed his face, "that any City Council has done as much for Salt Lake City's advancement, as the elected and appointed officials of the city and the spectacular falls they intend to create in Parley's canyon, ought to be continued in office for life."

Heber M. Wells Said. "I am of the opinion that it would be a good idea to extend the term of office of municipal officers, but it is a question of whether or not the bill would have been passed."
