

SUMMER SCHOOL OF U. OF U. SUCCESS

Largest Attendance and Most Successful Work of Any of the Years.

MANY NEW MEMBERS OF FACULTY ARE CHOSEN

Preparations for Coming Year May Include a University Students' Bookstore.

The summer school which has been in session at the University of Utah closed Friday afternoon amid the grind of a big bunch of final examinations and the congratulations of the many friends of the school upon the closing of the present and most successful session that has been given under the auspices of the institution. Not only was the present session very successful as regards attendance, but also with regard to the character of work done.

Over 725 students were enrolled during the term of six weeks just passed. They represent Utah, parts of Nevada, Colorado, Idaho, Wyoming, Arizona and even California.

The rule established by the faculty forbidding more than twelve hours of work insured thoroughness. A large amount of ground was thus covered, but only in a few branches. Most of the work done was in the school of arts and sciences, the work in this department being of such a nature that it can be broken off more readily than that of the engineering school and further because there was a demand for this kind of work, whereas the engineering school does not appear to have appealed to many. The reason, however, is evident; most of the students being grade high school teachers anxious to do that particular work which would more fully qualify them to fill their positions during the coming winter.

In order, however, to give all attending the school a better idea of the scope of the work possible and the many branches followed during the winter session, the shows of art and labor about the institution were thrown open for inspection.

Plans for Coming Year. From now on until the middle of September the officers of the university will be busy arranging the work for the opening of school. One of the most important features and the one which no doubt will be most appreciated by the students is the establishment of a bookstore by the regents of the school. This bookstore will be maintained entirely for the benefit of the students and with no view of making money. The regents will forward the funds to buy the text books and they will be sold to the students at as near cost as is possible. The only increase that is to be made will be the necessary to pay the expense of handling the books. As it is expected that a branch post-office may be established at the school, the two will no doubt be merged and this cost further decreased. The establishment of this bookstore will be the means of saving many hundreds of dollars and one which will further make possible a college education to many who now feel that the expense connected therewith is too high. On the other hand, the bookstore which the regents will also feel the effect of this action. One of their great sources of revenue throughout the year is from student supplies. Especially in the engineering and law courses, this action will be appreciated by the students. Often the retail price is as much as 50 per cent more than the wholesale figure. The cost of books to a student in the engineering courses usually amounts to $20. With the new library fees now charged at the school, this further action of the regents will do much good toward assisting the poor student who is working his way through school. This plan has successfully been tried in the east.

Changes in Faculty. A number of changes in the faculty will also occur. Among the most important will be the filling of the chairs of anatomy and geology. Assistants in the department of civil engineering, chemistry and the shops are also being employed.

The chairs of anatomy and geology have already been filled by men who come highly recommended to the institution.

The vacancy in the department of anatomy was caused by the resignation of Dr. E. G. Gowans, the present judge of the juvenile court. Judge Gowans didn't like the new rule made by the regents with regard to outside work and he resigned, telling the board in no uncertain way what he thought of their action. Some difficulty was experienced in filling the position to the satisfaction of all concerned, but Dr. John Swindell, who has been an instructor of the Rush medical college, was chosen to fill the vacancy. He comes to the institution with the highest recommendations of his associates and superiors at the Chicago school.

Dr. J. E. Talmage just recently resigned from the only endowed chair at the school. To fill his place the nominating board of the Salt Lake Scientific and Literary society, this society having endowed the chair, recently selected Fred J. Pack, a former student of the school and last year professor of geology at the Brigham Young college at Logan.

The many years of practical experience which both Dr. Gowans and Dr. Talmage possessed made them extremely valuable men at the school and their names gave its graduates an introduction to the respective spheres in which they had been chosen.

Chemistry to Williams. Kenneth Williams has been selected to fill the assistant professorship in the department of chemistry. He is a Pennsylvania man. The record made at the school by other men from that institution has given the officers of the university much confidence in Penna. graduates; and though Mr. Williams' practical experience is limited, he will no doubt amply fill the position for which he has been chosen.

The position of assistant professor of civil engineering is proving more difficult to fill than was expected when Prof. Edward Wilson resigned to do practical work for the government at a much larger salary. This position has now been vacant for over a year.

Usual Weekly Matinee Is a Poorly Attended, Tame, Listless Function.

Mary E. Britcher of Bingham was the next candidate for marriage dissolution. She told the court that she had married James E. Britcher at Laramie, Wyo., May 22, 1902, and that he had deserted her at York, Pa., in January, 1904, and joined the United States navy, leaving her and her child without support. She came to Bingham, where her parents live. She has not seen her husband since, but has heard from him and knows that he deserted from the navy and was captured and taken back. She was granted her decree and the custody of her child.

Mary Harrington was granted a divorce from John Harrington and the custody of her minor child on the ground of desertion. They were married at Fall River, Mass., February 2, 1893, and she said that he deserted her on December 28, 1895.

MENTAL EXAMINATION OF E. J. MELROY SOON

E. J. Melroy, a Commercial street saloonkeeper, was taken into custody by the police Friday afternoon and probably will be subjected to a mental examination. About three months ago he was committed to the State Mental hospital, but was released after he had spent about one month at the institution.

Wednesday afternoon he wandered to a doctor's office on Main street and his actions were peculiar during the consultation that the man of science turned him over to the police.

TEDDY BEAR MAN ARRESTED AT BOISE

James K. Castle Passes Worthless Checks on A. Fred Wey.

SAILS HIGH IN SALT LAKE AND SPENDS OTHERS' COIN

An Elks' Button of Considerable Help to Castle While in This City.

James K. Castle, a so-called Teddy Bear salesman, has been arrested at Boise on complaint issued by A. Fred Wey.

Wey charging him with passing fictitious checks for the sum of nearly $275. Castle had been at the Wilson hotel early in June, and as nearly as could be learned, paid all of his bills in the coin of the realm during his sojourn. He returned later, however, and found it desirable to issue checks in order to secure the wherewithal to pay as he went.

In securing an Elks' button and involving the good offices of a young Salt Lake business man, he experienced no difficulty in securing funds from his landlord. Mr. Wey cashed several $50 checks, and his clerk made numerous loans of $5 and less. The checks were issued on Cincinnati banks, and about the time when returns from that city were due and during the absence of Mr. Wey, the most disappointing feature of the case was revealed.

Mr. Wey immediately notified the chiefs of police of the Northwest to watch for his man, and while he was preparing notices for the hotel men of the intermountain country, he received word that Castle had been apprehended. Requisition papers were prepared on Friday morning and Deputy Sheriff Burdick left for Boise Friday afternoon to bring Castle back to this city. Castle informed Mr. Wey by telegraph that if he was granted twenty-four hours' time he would settle all of his accounts, but Mr. Wey said he preferred to bring Castle back to this city.
