

PRESIDENT WELCOMES JAPANESE EMBASSADOR

Mutual Expressions of Good Will, and Ideals of Peace Keynote of Speeches.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The formal reception of Baron Takahira, as ambassador of the Japanese to the United States, took place at the White House at 2:45 this afternoon. The ambassador was brought to the White House by President Roosevelt's private carriage accompanied by Colonel Brownwell, the President's military aide.

The suite of the ambassador in diplomatic, military and naval uniforms, was present at the reception. The speeches exchanged between the President and the new ambassador, while on their face merely formal, were characterized in each case by an undercurrent of strong desire for the preservation of peace. The ambassador, for instance, said:

"The maintenance of lasting peace with all nations and the promotion of the rights and interests of all people are the cardinal objects of my august sovereign."

"For his part, the President even more than reciprocate these assurances—I most sincerely pledge—the earnest co-operation of the United States to increase the good we mutually bear," etc.

Upon being presented Baron Takahira addressed the President as follows: "Mr. President, The Emperor, my august sovereign, sincerely desiring to maintain the historical relations of friendship and sympathy which happily unite Japan and the United States, has been graciously pleased to appoint me as ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary near the government of the United States, and I am deeply honored to be entrusted with such high duties."

"Fully cognizant of the growing importance of our relations, I confess I am not insensible of the great responsibilities involved in this important mission. I am largely encouraged by my vivid recollections of the pleasant experience I had during my last tenure of office as his majesty's minister in this capital, which were, I dare say, entirely due to the cordial cooperation which I was fortunate enough to receive from your government, as well as the high sense of justice and equity which characterized its attitude toward my country."

"I will strive for peace with all nations and the conservation of the rights and interests of all people are the cardinal objects of my august sovereign in his international dealings, and I assure you, Mr. President, that my attention will be constantly directed to the attainment of that high ideal, and that I shall endeavor to maintain in that direction."

HARRIMAN IS VICTOR IN HIS FIGHT AGAINST FISH

merce commission are not evidence in this case, and declared that he had power to enforce the Sherman act, and quoted numerous legal decisions in support of his assertion. The decision then continued:

Only One Vital Point. "There is but one ground upon which this bill can be maintained. If the Union Pacific has no right to buy, hold or own the Illinois Central or the Securities company, or either of them, then I think bona fide stockholders, without alleging irreparable injury, may ask the court to throw them out."

"This brings us to the question, is there in the public policy of this State prohibition against the voting by a foreign corporation of stock in a domestic corporation, which stock it purchased and paid for, and holds under an express power granted to it by the State of its creation?"

"The court declared that corporations per se are not barred from using and holding the stock of other corporations, and said that the fact that the purchaser might be a foreign corporation and the stock that of a domestic corporation could not change the rule of law."

"The reason why purchase of the stock of the Illinois Central by the Union Pacific and the Railroad Securities company are invalid, if they are invalid, must be found elsewhere than in the fact that they are foreign corporations."

Power of Corporations. The court denied that there is any rule of the American common law prohibiting one corporation from holding stock in another corporation when the first corporation has in its charter special power to do so. In this case, he said, it was proved and not denied that the Union Pacific and the Railroad Securities company each has express power granted to it by the State of its creation to buy, own and hold stock in other corporations.

The court then entered upon a long and extensive discussion of various statutes regarding the holding of stock by corporations in other corporations, declaring finally that such holdings are not prohibited by law, nor opposed to the public policy. He then said:

"The right of the Railroad Securities company to vote its Illinois Central stock is unimpaired by the fact that the Union Pacific owns practically all of its stock. So long as the voting power of the Securities company is used in a lawful manner, and for lawful purposes, it is immaterial who owns it."

Not Competing Lines. The decision further declared that the Union Pacific and the Illinois Central are not competing lines, but controlling lines, and that the Union Pacific under its charter and the laws of Utah has a clear right to own shares of stock of Illinois Central, which it purchased in 1905, and that it has the essential right to vote that stock at meetings of the stockholders of the Illinois Central, unless the right is forbidden by the laws or public policy of Illinois. The court said in conclusion on this subject:

"Such prohibition does not exist unless it affirmatively appears. It is not established by the mere lack of legislation upon this subject."

In concluding his decision, Judge Ball said: "The usual office of a preliminary injunction is to continue the status quo until a final hearing. To sustain this preliminary injunction and thus to prevent the Union Pacific and the Railroad Securities company from voting that stock at the coming election would be to change the status quo before the right of these corporations to own and vote such stock has been fully and finally determined by the court. With these conditions barred out, the meeting might result in an entire change in the management of the Illinois Central. To dissolve the injunction and let the action of the court in regard to the ownership and voting power of this stock await the final hearing means no more than the continuance of the present management with the change of the director only, and the right of the director defendants would be an able, competent man, neither controlled nor connected by or with the Union Pacific. The balance of convenience and justice is clearly with the defendants."

Right to Vote Stock. "I am of the opinion that the Securities company and the Union Pacific are co-owners of the shares of the stock they hold in Illinois Central, including the right to vote that stock at the coming meeting of stockholders, and that such right to vote is not forbidden by the constitution of this State or by decisions of our Supreme court, nor by the public policy of Illinois."

"The motion to dissolve the injunction is allowed."

RELEASES YOUTHFUL GRICE WITH GENTLE ADMONITION

Moroni Grice, son of the notorious Sam Grice, made such an excellent impression upon Judge John Gowan Thursday that he was told to go and sit no more. The boy admitted that he had secured food at the Portland Hotel, which he had paid for, but he promised not to repeat the offense. In addition, a man named Larson, for whom young Grice worked last summer, said that the boy was one of the best workers he had ever seen, and that he would be glad to give him employment again. For these reasons the boy was discharged.

ANNAPOLIS CREW WILL NOT ENTER REGATTA

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Much regret is expressed in rowing circles in New York college clubs over the refusal of the Annapolis crew to enter the regatta at Annapolis to grant permission to the midshipmen to take part in the annual college regatta at Annapolis, Feb. 27 to 29. Last year the midshipmen rowed in the race for the first time and secured third place. This year the Annapolis crew is said to be stronger than last year, and were expected to make an even better showing against the other crews. Hope is still expressed that the authorities will be induced to change their ruling but of that there seems little probability unless the Annapolis crew or the Secretary of the Navy take the matter up, which is not likely as they seldom interfere with the internal workings of the academy.

SECURITY

Catarrh is not merely a disease of the mucous membranes and inner linings of the body as some of the symptoms would seem to indicate; it is a deep-seated blood disease, in which the entire circulation and the greater part of the system are involved. Like all other blood diseases, Catarrh comes from poisons and impurities accumulating in the circulation which irritate and inflame the tissues and mucous surfaces, and then the unpleasant symptoms of the disease are manifested. There is a ringing noise in the ears, a thin, watery discharge from the nostrils, filthy matter drops back into the throat, the breath has an offensive odor, and many other annoying and unpleasant symptoms are characteristic of the trouble. Sprays, washes, inhalations, etc., cannot reach the blood, and are therefore valuable only for the temporary relief they afford. To cure Catarrh the blood must be purified. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose; it goes down into the circulation, removes the catarrhal matter, purifies the blood and makes a lasting cure. When S. S. S. has removed the cause, the blood being pure and healthy nourishes the membranes and tissues instead of irritating them with noxious matter, and the symptoms all pass away. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.
