

JOHNSON'S VIEWS ON PRESENT-DAY EVILS

Centralization of Federal Power and of Business Menace Nation, He Declares.

DETROIT, April 29.—Two evils menace America today, said Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota, in a lecture tonight on "The Majesty of the Law," before the Alumni association of the Western high school. They are, "the centralization of power in the Federal government and the centralization of power in the hands of a few men."

"Executives, too, are frequently governed by expediency," he said. "Expediency is always fraught with danger. The political organization which disregards expediency and sticks to a principle is the one which will become a great world power. Her progress has been phenomenal. It has brought a system of centralization of power in the hands of a few men, and for the people, it seems to be becoming a government by people and for people who have been enfranchised by the people to do a quasi public business."

Control by Few Men. "Some things have happened in the last few years which seem to indicate that a few men are trying to control everything. We have now in this country an oligarchy as great as was the oligarchy of Rome. It is the oligarchy of business. The men who are responsible are making a mistake. And I think that they will be called to account soon. There is a demand from certain people that there be more centralization of government in Washington. The Declaration of Independence is a great world power. There are two evils which menace America today. They are the centralization of Federal and business powers. The fathers came to this country to create for themselves and their posterity a new government. They gathered from the various States in the Continental Congress and adopted the Declaration of Independence. Now, 132 years afterward, we are told that the Declaration of Independence has no particular force or effect, and that the Constitution is a flexible document, all so that we may become a great world power. I cannot make myself believe that they have ceased being living, breathing forces."

WEATHER IN MAY FOR THIRTY-THREE YEARS

A summary of the weather conditions average for the month of May for the past thirty-three years was issued by Doctor Hyatt of the Salt Lake City office of the United States Weather Bureau Wednesday. Doctor Hyatt says that while the statement is an average of the month for the past thirty-three years, it must not be construed as a forecast for the coming year.

The summary follows: Temperature—Mean or normal temperature for the month, 59 degrees. Average for 1875, with an average of 62 degrees. The coldest month was that of 1877, with an average of 54 degrees. The highest temperature was 73 degrees, on May 21, 1897. The lowest temperature was 25 degrees, on May 2, 1897. The earliest date on which "killing" frost occurred in autumn, October 18, 1886. The latest date on which "killing" frost occurred in spring, April 23, 1897. The latest date on which "killing" frost occurred in spring, June 18, 1897.

BOYS WILL WORK UPON ZION DETENTION HOME

Now that it is an accomplished fact that the old Utah school building is to be turned into a detention school for the juveniles court, Chief Probation Officer Brown will be busy man for the next few days. It is necessary to make a number of changes at the building and Mr. Brown and a number of boys, who will be placed in the school, will be busy for some time doing their part of the work. It is estimated that four people will be needed to care for the building and parties—a superintendent, warden and two other persons. Judge Gowans has a number of applications for the chief positions, but said Wednesday night that he had not reached a decision in the matter.

CLERK WILLIAM JENKINS TAKES SPOUSE SECRETLY

It was learned Wednesday that William E. Jenkins, chief clerk in the office of County Clerk J. C. Eldredge, was married to Mrs. Emeline Spilking, in this city, April 15. The ceremony was performed by J. C. Eldredge, Sr. Mrs. Spilking was the widow of Thomas Spilking, who was killed by a street car on Second South street, near Main street, nearly six years ago. The supreme court recently affirmed the judgment of the lower court in Mrs. Spilking's damage suit against the Utah Light & Railway company for $18,000. The amount was paid to her attorneys by the railway company.

Important to All Women Readers of this Paper.

Women are as subject to kidney trouble as men, which fact is often overlooked.

Many women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they will cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe dependent; it makes any one so.

But thousands of irritable, nervous, tired and broken-down women have restored their health and strength by the use of Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

Swamp-Root brings new life and activity to the kidneys, the cause of such troubles.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy, will do for them.

Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, may address Dr. Kilmer, 101 West Broadway, N. Y., and receive sample bottle free by mail, and receive sample bottle free by mail.

The Aldrich currency bill and pleaded for passage of his bill to create a currency commission.

Mr. Williams, Mississippi presented a petition, signed by 164 of the 166 Democrats composing the minority, asking the Speaker to recognize some member of the House to move the discharge of the Ways and Means committee from further consideration of the Stevens bill for the removal of the duty on wood pulp and print paper, and to pass that bill or a similar one.

Delegates selected from the State at large: L. B. Moore, R. Yellowley, Chas. W. Johnson, and W. H. Johnson.

The "boilers" elected a full list of delegates, adopted resolutions denouncing the present administration and instructed their delegates to vote for Senator Foraker for the presidential nomination.

EVIDENCE SHOWS THAT THERE IS PAPER TRUST

WASHINGTON, April 29.—More evidence tending to show that there is a combination of paper manufacturers to fix the price of news print paper in the United States was adduced today before the special committee of the House, which is investigating the subject of duty on wood pulp and print paper as affecting the price in the United States.

When the convention was called to order Temporary Chairman Constock invited the speaker of the convention, Thomas M. Waller. The county and congressional district delegates were accepted as fast as they were named.

Of the delegation the personal preferences of only four are outspoken for Mr. Bryan. One of the delegates, who is a personal friend of Bryan, each has the right by convention vote to appoint his own delegates to the national convention.

Resolutions also were adopted endorsing the administration of President Roosevelt.

Delegates at large were elected by acclamation as follows: Senator W. P. Dillingham of Montpelier, Governor Fletcher D. Proctor of Proctor, Conn., and W. George of St. Albans, and Allen M. Fletcher of Cavendish.

The platform recommends a revision of some of the laws of the Territory, and insists "that the fundamental principles of adequate protection to the producers of American industry be kept always prominent in the mind of the legislature."

It urges early legislation looking to a more elastic currency, favors reasonable ship subsidies, and concludes: "We sincerely admire and commend our beloved President, Theodore Roosevelt, and hereby record our approval of his policies, and we urge their continuance."

DR. TALMAGE LEAVES TO ATTEND MUSEUM CONVENTION

Dr. J. E. Talmage, president of the Desert Museum, left Wednesday for Los Angeles, where he is to attend the annual session of the American Association of Museums, of which organization he is a life member and councillor.

The association was organized in New York three years ago, since which time Dr. Talmage has been a councillor. The Desert Museum has been prominently connected with the association. The collections at the Desert Museum are not at present accessible owing to the inability to secure a suitable building, but the exhibit is becoming richer with valuable antiquities and scientific relics every day.

Latest Developments in Political Circles

BIRMINGHAM, April 29.—The Alabama Republican State convention of the anti-administration faction of the party was held in Birmingham today, with practical every county in the State represented.

The surprise of the convention was the affiliation of National Committee Chairman Scott with the anti-administration faction of the party. Mr. Scott was elected permanent chairman of the convention, and made a stirring speech calling for an independent Republican party in Alabama untrammeled by the influences of federal officeholders.

The sessions appeared to be harmonious, the only ripple being created when there was an attempt on the part of the negro delegates to make H. V. Cashin, one of the best-known negroes in the State, temporary chairman. The colored delegates, however, were given places on all of the committees. The convention endorsed the anti-administration platform, and the Congressional conventions recognized the legitimacy of the Davidson wing of the party. Candidates for all State offices to be filled at the November election were named. Four delegates at large to the national convention at Chicago were chosen as follows:

At large: R. H. Stratton, Charles D. Alexander, W. R. Pettiford (colored), Major Charles J. Allison.

The resolutions committee was modified considerably. An amendment it endorsed the national Republican administration, its entire non-administration candidates for the Presidential nomination, and takes a pronounced stand against the anti-administration activity of the Democratic party in Alabama.

The administration wing of the party, headed by J. O. Thompson of Enterprise, will be the majority at the Birmingham next Wednesday.

JACKSON, Miss., April 29.—The Republican State convention held here today proved rather tumultuous, a lively fight preceding the opening of the session, when a number of delegates favored the nomination of Senator Foraker for the presidential nomination, attempted to force their way into the convention, which was controlled by the supporters of President Roosevelt and the policies of the present administration.

When the convention was called to order Temporary Chairman Constock invited the speaker of the convention, Thomas M. Waller. The county and congressional district delegates were accepted as fast as they were named.

Of the delegation the personal preferences of only four are outspoken for Mr. Bryan. One of the delegates, who is a personal friend of Bryan, each has the right by convention vote to appoint his own delegates to the national convention.

Prolong Life

In hundreds of instances Dr. Miles' Heart Cure has prolonged life many years, after all hope had been abandoned. It is a heart tonic. By its strengthening influence upon the heart nerves and muscles, the heart action is increased.

"My heart was weak and at times I thought I would die. I lost consciousness one morning, and did not recover for hours. My wife gave me whiskey and applied mustard. A friend advised Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I took two or three bottles and it kept the old heart going right along. I have never had one of those spells since. I should have been there long ago had I not come relief in this valuable remedy."

AMUSEMENTS

IN SALT LAKE THEATERS. SALT LAKE THEATER—John Drew, 4th and 5th, in "My Wife." Evening, 8:15.

GRAND THEATER—"East Lynne," by the Theodore Lorch company. Evening, 8:30.

ORPHEUM THEATER—Advanced vaudeville. Matinee, 2:15; evening, 8:15.

One of the most important theatrical events of the season will be the appearance here of John Drew, who comes to Salt Lake theater, "My Wife," the comedy made such a profound hit earlier in the season at the Empire theater, New York. Drew has appeared in this country in many plays in which his acting has been the source of much of the success of the present offering, "My Wife." It has afforded him the finest opportunities for his graceful and beautiful acting, and the charm and beauty of the comedy itself have made an unusual production of bringing about financial success for the play, and Mr. Lorch will be glad to have the assistance of Drew and his company appear in the famous old play, and the star is directing the production of the play personally. Special scenery has been constructed for the play, and Mr. Lorch will be glad to have the assistance of Drew and his company appear in the famous old play, and the star is directing the production of the play personally.

He was charged with stealing a set of harness from W. H. Kingdon on April 3.

High School Notes

The junior high school class held a meeting Wednesday morning to consider the proposition of giving the money in their literary fund to the cadets. It has been the custom for a great many years in high school for the juniors to give the literary class a reception. The juniors, wishing to overlook this reception for the present year, sent a letter to the senior class asking them to donate the money that would be spent in the entertainment, to the cadet battalion.

The seniors will hold a meeting this afternoon to consider the matter and if they think favorably of it the cadets will receive about $200, otherwise not. Doubtless the other classes will follow the example of the juniors and give all their surplus capital to the cadets.

The high school athletic association and the high school girls' athletic association are talking of turning their treasury over to the use of the cadets. These two associations are the richest in the school and some very substantial aid is expected from them.

George Swanson was elected editor in chief of the Red and Black, the school paper, for the coming year. Wednesday, at the junior meeting. The editor is not generally elected until after the summer vacation, but the next year's senior class, who have charge of publishing the paper, intends to have the first election ready the day school opens.

LIVING RATES DEMANDED

Although the independents and the Bell in many places are competitors, there is no actual business reason why both should not have a living rate for service. If there is room and need for two telephone plants in a city, both should have a fair rate for service.

If they do not get a living rate it is most likely the fault of the companies themselves.

Competition, as a principle of business is not for the purpose of destroying someone who opposes, but is to keep the price of a commodity within reason and assure good material or service.

Who should telephone companies operating in the same community or reduce prices below cost and donate other valuable service to the public in their desperate attempt to drive each other out of business? Such a policy is called for. The courts have ruled that even competitors have a right to agree upon and maintain a uniform price for a common commodity or service, providing the price is reasonable.

Because both the independents and the Bell have made mistakes in times past is no reason why they should continue in a policy that is destructive of the interests of the public. A financial showing made by some competing companies indicates that it is time to get down to business. For one company to attempt to embarrass another company which is seeking to raise its rates to a living basis, by cutting rates below the actual cost of service, is an antiquated method no longer practiced by large business concerns, like department stores, manufacturers, railways or telegraph companies. The cut-rate policy not only demoralizes the general business, but reacts in a baneful manner upon the company inaugurating it.

For telephone companies the policy of destructive competitive warfare should be past, and each system—whether independent or Bell—should be making a proper return upon its investment. There is business enough in equitable rates, for all first-class exchange and toll equipment now in the field. Are the men back of the business equal to the occasion of bringing about financial competition where competition must exist, or unification of service in places or along lines where either system has complete control? Bulletin of the Indiana Independent Telephone Association.
