SMITH THANKFUL FOR WIVES AND PROGENY

Makes Declaration at Priesthood Meeting of the Weber Stake.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, June 23.—"I thank God for all of my wives and all of my children." Thus did President Joseph F. Smith deliver himself in the presence of members of the first presidency, other high dignitaries of the Mormon church and about a hundred members of the faith at a gathering in the Weber Stake academy lecture hall Monday afternoon.

The occasion which was being celebrated was the annual reunion of the priesthood of the Weber stake, which was joined by representatives from other stakes and high church officials.

President Smith was delivering an address at the time the above remark was made, and seemed to be in an unusually happy mood. Alluding to the number of young ladies who were fitting from the side of the hall to the other serving refreshments to them in attendance upon the convention, the spirits of the head of the Mormon church effervesced, and he loudly proclaimed his thanks to the Almighty for the women of the land, commencing with a fervent acknowledgment of his own many blessings in the same line.

The convention was largely attended, and other speakers delivered addresses, among whom were Gov. J. C. Cutler, Apostle D. O. McKay, Congressman Joe Howell and Judge H. Rolapp.

Harquet was served after the business session had concluded, and the convention will close Tuesday night with a big banquet.

Others who were present were John H. Winder and Andrew H. Lund, of the first presidency; Patriarch John Smith, Apostle Hyrum Clawson, Hyrum Smith, Presiding Bishop C. W. Nibley, Joseph W. Murkin, Charles H. Haugby, N. Stahl, president of the Box Elder stake, and a number of others.

MANAGERS OF DENTAL CONCERNS COME TO BLOWS

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, June 23.—At an outcome of the recent differences between the Union Dental company of this city and the company with the same name of Salt Lake City, T. W. Matthews, one of the members of the local concern, and J. G. Davies, a representative of the company in Salt Lake, came to blows about noon Tuesday.

Mr. Matthews declares that Davies entered his place and used insulting language, which precipitated the personal difficulty. Later Davies applied to the city attorney and swore to a complaint charging Matthews with assault and battery.

The differences between the two companies began when the Ogden office applied to the Secretary of State for a charter with a copy of its articles of incorporation. The Salt Lake company claims that the name used by it, which is the Union Dental company, is being infringed upon by the company in Ogden, and has secured a temporary injunction against Secretary of State Tingey, prohibiting the filing of articles until the matter is settled by the courts.

Davies came to Ogden Tuesday with the evident purpose of adjusting the differences between the two companies, using insulting language in the local office, in the presence of several persons, provoking the attack of Matthews.

STRIKING LINEMEN GO BACK TO WORK

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, June 23.—After lasting since May, 1907, the strike of telephone linemen employed by the Bell Telephone company of this city has been officially declared settled at a meeting of the Trades and Labor assembly.

Of course, it had been so long since the strike was declared to be over, that it was not exactly certain as to what the differences really were when an adjustment was proposed. A final agreement, however, was reached by which the strikers will be reinstated at $3.50 a day, wages, which is a half-way compromise on what was demanded by the strikers and refused by the company.

The assembly also took occasion at the meeting to commend and approve the action of the Board of Education in calling another bond election for erecting a new high school. Plans for Labor Market were discussed and a committee appointed to arrange the programme, with an interesting address from Rev. J. E. Carter, before the meeting adjourned.

Makes Serious Complaint.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, June 23.—The silent indignities and insults ranging from threats and attempts to kill to spitting tobacco juice in the face, are charged against John M. Etherington by his wife, Mrs. A. Etherington, in an action for divorce begun Tuesday.

Mrs. Etherington says they were married in Slaterville, in January, 1890. For some time past, she asserts, her husband has endeavored to furnish her and her family with the common necessities of life, the sides being almost constantly under the influence of liquor.

In addition to a decree of divorce she wants a portion of the estate and all rights with the custody of the minor children. Etherington is a prosperous farmer of West Weber.

WILLARD DONE LOOKS AT THE OGDEN RECORDS

It is Rumored That Governor Cutler's Daughter Will Sue for Divorce.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, June 23.—That the family of Gov. J. C. Cutler will in the near future invoke the aid of the courts toward securing a legal separation of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Butler, the latter being the eldest daughter of the executive who figured so conspicuously in an elopement from Salt Lake to this city about three weeks ago, was made evident Tuesday when Willard Done, private secretary of the Governor, called at the County building and made a searching inquiry into the issuance of the marriage license and other details connected with their subsequent marriage.

This investigation, it is believed, was conducted by the secretary at the special instance of the Governor with the hope that some irregularity could be unearthed which would render the marriage void. By Elder George Folkman null and void, or some loophole discovered which could be taken advantage of should a divorce be applied for.

It is rumored here that an action for divorce will be instituted soon by Mrs. Butler on the grounds of the inability of Butler to furnish her with a support. It is a known fact that when the couple was in Ogden dodging the Governor, they ran short of funds, and went up to the foot hills, each with a pocket full of soda crackers, to spend the day.

COUPLE MARRIED ON STAGE OLD HANDS AT THE GAME

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, June 22.—It became generally known in the city Tuesday that the couple who were married on the Utah theater stage Monday night had been divorced several months ago and accepted the offer of the management of the theater to be married in matrimony in consideration of a cash prize and ad expenses of the ceremony being paid.

The young lady gave her maiden name in the ceremony as Hannah Margaret Jacobsen, but she was really the divorced wife of Clark Cleveland Howard, the man she was marrying. They have a daughter three years of age, and were divorced only a short time ago. Rev. C. W. Hastings, pastor of the Center of the Christian church, performed the ceremony before one of the largest crowds ever gathered in the Utah theater, with members of the stock company now playing an engagement at the Utah as the attendants.
