From Tonopah to Ely Would Fill Gap and Complete Road.

WENHEIMS SAID TO BE INTERESTED

Construction of This Line Would Give Western Pacific Another Outlet.

Reports be true and indications for anything, the proposed rail line from Tonopah to Ely will be under consideration for some time more than probable that the capital will be behind the members of the Guggenheim family have been in Nevada quite a while and it is said that this proposed line was one of the matters they devoted their attention to. It is produced at Tonopah, it is necessary for the proper smelting by ore at the great smelter plant, erected by the Guggenheims would be an inducement to the line. Another is that it will pass through a highly developed region, and will develop another incentive will be that it will make a new route to Los Angeles, via Tonopah and Ely, via the Western Pacific.

Outline of the Route. The route and the distances, as outlined by a representative on the line, are as follows: Miles. Salt Lake to Shafter, Western Pacific... 121 Ely, Nevada Northern... 161 Tonopah, Nevada... 179 to Los Angeles, via Tonopah and Ely... 479 to Los Angeles, via Tonopah and Ely... 919

LAND AGENT NAMED FOR HARRISMAN LINES

FRANCISCO, Sept. 24.—Following the meeting of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific, Central Pacific and Oregon & California railroads today, it was announced that B. A. Miller had been elected land agent for the three corporations. His appointment became effective last Monday. The first time that the three railroads have been represented by a single agent. The Southern Pacific has permanent land agent for several years, the office having been transferred during that time. The Pacific has been similarly situated since the death of W. H. Mills. Miller was until recently land agent of the Union Pacific, with headquarters in Omaha. With his appointment it is expected that there will be considerable activity in land held by the companies.

WHAT COURT HAS RIGHT TO FORFEITURE

LAND, Ore., Sept. 24.—Denying the United States court has the right to declare a forfeiture of the lands of the Oregon & California railroad, by a majority of 4-3, the United States supreme court today has ruled that the company for the recovery of the lands alleged to have a value of $40,000,000.

900,000. The case involved is that of the United States vs. the Oregon & California Railroad et al., wherein, it is alleged, that the terms of the grants by congress of certain alternate sections of land have been violated by the action of the company, wherein it is said the company has sold tracts of more than 160 acres and for prices lower than $2.50 per acre.

WINCHEL FAVORS THE INTERSTATE COMMISSION

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 24.—President Winchel of the Rock Island railway, in an interview here, declared that he was in favor of an interstate commerce commission, having jurisdiction over all the roads in the United States, and he was in favor of abolishing the state commission. For no two states have the same regulations. This has caused extreme annoyance to the railroads and affected their credit, while shipper and consumer are bewildered by the maze of laws each state commission has put in force. A federal commission, with full power, would clear the air of all uncertainty and work with the same satisfaction of other federal departments.

ST. PAUL'S PACIFIC COAST EXTENSION WILL OPEN OCT. 3

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—It was announced today by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad that local service to Butte, Mont., on the new Pacific coast extension, would be inaugurated on October 3. The distance by the new line from Chicago to Butte is given as 1,528 miles, and from St. Paul as 1,113 miles.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Thursday a meeting of officers and the executive committee of the senior class was called by President Swam for the purpose of training a constitution and by-laws and to regulate class dues. The constitution of the class during the junior year was selected, but several changes will be made before it is put to a vote. A meeting of the class will be held Monday noon, when the constitution will be submitted. The matter of class emblems and pins will also be considered, when several designs from local jewelers will be put before the class.

The senior class is always the leading class in social events, and the coming year promises to be a big success along this line. The first dance of the year is generally in honor of the football team and given by the senior class. The class will consider the matter Monday and will probably turn it over to the executive committee.

Thursday was the first disagreeable day since the beginning of school, but in spite of the rain, punctuality and attendance were good and every one was cheerful. The crowds that usually gather around the buildings were grouped into the assemblies and halls. During the noon hour a few students ventured out on the lawn, but the majority stayed in the halls and cafe to await the fifth period. The janitor was about the happiest person around the school, as the cement walks between buildings kept the mud from being tracked into the halls.

ROCKEFELLER WRITES ARTICLE IN DEFENSE OF STANDARD OIL

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—John D. Rockefeller appears for the first time in the role of an author in a series of articles on "Some Random Reminiscences of Men and Events," the first of which will appear Friday in "The World's Work."

Mr. Rockefeller gives as a reason for speaking now that "if a tenth of the things that have been said are true, then dozens of able and faithful men who have been associated with me, many of whom have passed away, must have been guilty of grave faults. For myself, I had decided to say nothing, hoping that after my death the truth would gradually come to the surface and posterity would do strict justice; but while I live and can testify to certain things, it seems fair that I should refer to some points which I hope will help to set forth several much discussed happenings in a new light. I am convinced that they have not been fully understood."

"It has been said that I forced the men who became my partners in the oil business to join with me. I would not have been so shortsighted. If it were true that I followed such tactics, I ask, would it have been possible to make of such men life-long companions?"

Defense of Oil Trust.

Mr. Rockefeller speaks of the development of the Standard Oil company, and says that the plan of selling direct to the consumer, and the exceptionally rapid growth of the business, "bred a certain antagonism, which I suppose could not have been avoided." Of the direct selling to the consumer he says: "This was done in a fair spirit and with due consideration for every one's rights. We did not ruthlessly go after the trade of our competitors and attempt to ruin them by cutting prices or instituting a spy system."

If any of the employees of the company were over-zealous in going after sales, he says, that they acted in violation of the expressed and known wishes of the company. Mr. Rockefeller says that in the early days the oil industry was considered a most hazardous undertaking, not altogether unlike the speculative mining undertakings we hear so much of today. "None of us," he says, ever dreamed of the magnitude of what proved to be the later expansion."

Further on he says:

Denies Crushing Competitors.

"Another thing to be remembered about the so-called 'octopus' is that there has been no 'water' introduced into the capital. (Perhaps we felt that oil and water would not have mixed.) Nor in all these years has any one had to wait for money which the Standard owed. It is a common thing to hear people say that this company has crushed out its competitors. Only the uninformed could make such an assertion. It has had and always has had and always will have hundreds of active competitors. The Standard has not now and never did have a royal road to supremacy, nor is its success due to any one man, but to the multitude of able men who are working together."

In discussing the "modern corporation," Mr. Rockefeller says: "Beyond question there is a suspicion of corporations. There may be reason for such suspicion very often; for a corporation may be moral or immoral, just as a man may be moral or the reverse. It is folly to condemn all corporations because some are bad, or even to be unduly suspicious of all, because some are bad. But the corporation in form and character has come to stay; that is a thing that may be depended upon."

"It is too late to argue about the advantages of industrial combinations. They are a necessity. And if Americans are to have the privilege of extending their business in all the states of the Union and to foreign countries as well, they are a necessity on a large scale, and require the agency of more than one corporation."

Mr. Rockefeller recalls what he said at an official hearing that "if I were to suggest any explanation regarding industrial combinations, it would be, first, federal legislation under which the shalter-sheds and other buildings, if that be possible; second, in lieu thereof, state legislation as nearly uniform as possible, encouraging combinations of persons and capital for the purpose of carrying on industries, but sufficient to prevent frauds upon the public."

Dope From the Police Court

Although there were but few prisoners arraigned in the police court Thursday afternoon Judge C. D. Diehl imposed a fine on George Larsen, a State street second hand dealer, which will be a good deal more than pay the expenses of the court for the day. Larsen was fined $50, being found guilty of petit larceny. His case was tried on Tuesday, Larsen being charged with stealing a table leg from Herbert R. McMillan of 145 South Fourth East street. The case against Dan Davyon, Heber Richens, Almond Richens and J. S. Pawcett for befouling waters of a stream was called and continued for trial indefinitely.

DENVER COLISEUM, AN OLD LANDMARK, BURNS

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 24.—The Coliseum on Champa street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth, this city, was completely destroyed by fire of unknown origin this morning. Adjoining the Coliseum on two sides were rooming houses, the inmates of which became panic-stricken, but all escaped in safety. The Coliseum was one of the city's landmarks and, until the completion of the city auditorium, was the largest public hall in the city. For a number of years it was used as a prizefight arena. It was located in the block purchased last year by the government and would soon have been torn down to make room for the new postoffice. The total loss does not exceed $25,000.

BOYS ARE ARRANGED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

John Moore, Joe Gardiner and George Thompson, three youngsters who are charged with highway robbery, were arraigned before Judge C. B. Diehl Thursday forenoon. When arraigned before Judge Whittaker a number of days ago the boys pleaded not guilty, but Thursday Gardiner and Thompson changed their plea to guilty, and were bound over to the district court in $500 bail, which they could not furnish, so they will await trial in the county jail. John Moore still held to his plea of not guilty, and his trial was set for Monday, September 28. The boys are charged with a holdup.

RANGE SELECTED FOR PRESERVATION OF BISON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The bison range in the Flathead Indian reservation in Montana, to establish which congress at its last session appropriated $40,000, has been selected. It lies directly north of the Joeko river, near the towns of Ravalli and Joeko, embracing approximately 12,800 acres, which will be fenced in a substantial manner. Only $10,000 will be available for fencing the range and constructing the shelter-sheds and other buildings. The remaining $30,000 is to be paid to the owners of the lands, many of whom are Indians. Funds for the purchase of bison are being raised under the auspices of the American Bison society.
