CITY FATHERS DEAL OUT SOME CRITICISM

Simon Bamberger Is Blamed for Condition of Several of Ogden's Streets.

Special to The Tribune.
OGDEN, Feb. 23.—President Simon Bamberger and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway came in for some criticism over the condition of certain streets in the city, from members of the city council tonight. A petition, headed by Robert C. Carr, was presented protesting against the condition of Piquette, Wall and Stevens avenues, which are declared to be badly blocked with walls of sand from excavation work done by the company. The petitioners asserted that Thirty-second street, from Wall to Stevens avenues, is almost impassable from excavation and trestle work. The matter was referred to the railroad and street committees with the city attorney and city engineer for an investigation.

On complaint of Councilman Austin, the city engineer was instructed to make necessary surveys on Healy avenue from Lincoln to Washington avenues. The engineer was instructed to submit these surveys to President Bamberger, with directions to grade the streets in conformity. The city recorder was also directed, upon motion of Councilman Austin, to notify the president of the road to fill in all of the tracks where they crossed the streets of the city.

A petition from residents living in the vicinity of Seventeenth street and Wall avenue requested the council to take some action towards strengthening the banks of the Ogden river at this point. H. W. Murdock explained the prevailing conditions. The street committee, law committee, with the city engineer and the city attorney, were instructed to make an examination and furnish a report.

The street committee was given power to fence in several gravel pits owned by the city on Twentieth street, between Madison and Monroe avenues, on motion of Councilman Thomas, who complained that the public is encroaching on the property.

A recommendation offered by the special waterworks committee was adopted providing for the purchase of 3000 feet of water mains and twelve Ludlow fire hydrants for the contemplated improvements to be made in the waterworks system.

Residents on the west side of Grant avenue, between Thirty-first and Thirty-third streets, petitioned the council to create this portion of the city a sidewalk district. This was referred to the sidewalk committee.

The city auditor reported that the amount due to P. J. Moran of Salt Lake City for paving Twenty-fourth street between Grant and Washington avenues is $8000. The claim was referred to the street committee and the city attorney.

OUTRAGED HUSBAND IS DUPED BY HIS WIFE

Special to The Tribune.
OGDEN, Feb. 23.—An outraged husband, with an infant baby nestling close in his arms, attracted the attention of Oscar Gutke, the depot inspector, this morning at the Union depot. The man was apparently expecting some one on an incoming train, as he was seen to step from the depot whenever trains arrived at the station. Mr. Gutke finally learned the man's story, which was told in a confiding manner. From the facts as related to him it appeared that his wife had promised to meet him in Ogden on a morning train from Salt Lake, where they had been living, and together with their child they were going aboard to remove his wife from the influence of a man who had stolen her affections.

The stranger, who refused to leave his name with the railroad official, declared that his wife had agreed to leave with him, and all that had happened had been made for their departure when she telephoned him to come to Ogden with the child and she would join him on the next train. The stranger took an afternoon train back to Salt Lake to place the child in the care of relatives before he continued his way east.

IDAHO SOLONS GET THEIR WIRES CROSSED

Special to The Tribune.
BOISE, Feb. 23.—In the house today were discussions clearly indicating that the lower branch of the legislature had transacted business in a careless manner. Upon one occasion it got its wires crossed and attempted to consider the local option bill, which it had been supposed to have considered.

The resolution providing for a reapportionment of the members of the legislature, the Kerns railroad bill providing for better depots and the community property act received favorable consideration by the senate.

The bill from the state industrial school at St. Anthony arrived in the city early this morning, and about noon today it gave a concert at a joint meeting of the two houses of the legislature. DOWN GIVEN A LONG TERM IN STATE PRISON

Man Who Stole $1200 From Studebaker Brothers Draws Three Years.

Special to The Tribune.
PROVO, Feb. 23.—T. H. Bolin, formerly the local agent of Studebaker Bros., who entered a plea of guilty on Saturday to embezzling $1200, was sentenced to the district court today for a term of three years in the state prison. Judge Booth said: "I have to say, judge, is that I made the mistake of my life, and I am here to make amends. I came here willingly, and if there is any mercy for a man in this position I shall be grateful for it."

Judge Booth—There is something I don't understand. In the talk had with you the other day, you said that this was the only thing against you. After that I married my sister, and I am very anxious that action be taken against you for bigamy. Mr. Ross is your brother-in-law, is he not?

Bolin—Yes, he is supposed to be.

Judge Booth—Do you mean to say that you did not marry his sister?

Bolin—No, I married his sister, but owing to the way he and the family have treated me, I have had nothing to do with her since. The argument of the state against me is something that has been gotten up by my enemies. Mr. Ross visited a few days ago, Miss Mary Brown, a visitor in the city, was stricken and the case reported to the health department. The patient has been placed in the care of a nurse and under strict quarantine.

Judge Booth—Well, the newspaper reports will have nothing to do with this. You did, and I could not reconcile the two statements. The argument of the state is that you be confined in the state prison for a term of three years.
