

POINT FRANCHISE IS RECONSIDERED

NECESSARY DELAY IS CHARGED ON AQUEDUCT

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

By the skin of the teeth Mr. Black's motion to reconsider the granting of a point franchise to the Oregon Short Line and the Salt Lake & Ogden Railway companies for a line of track on Third West street, prevailed in the special meeting Monday evening.

McKibbin THE HAT That Made This Enough

JOSEF LHEVINNE IS TRULY GREAT ARTIST Famous Young Russian Pianist Captivates Audience at First Salt Lake Recital.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

There's a wide gulf between Bach and Weber, between Schumann and d'Albert, and only the truly great artist can interpret each with skill and genius, as Josef Lhevinne, the noted young Russian pianist, did before a select and enthusiastic, but small, audience of music lovers at the First Methodist church Monday night.

GENUINE BATTLE WITH THE INDIANS Continued From Page One.

reconcentration camp will be established. This morning the military authorities expected to avoid a pitched battle, but regarded it as certain that numerous smaller engagements would be fought.

The Indian killed by the posse was the only fatality of the day reported to Colonel Hoffman. There are numerous rumors of engagements here and there, with varying numbers of fatalities. It is reported that a posse of farmers near Cheoteah fought a large band of negroes and killed twenty. This, with similar reports, cannot be confirmed.

As the troops prepared to enter upon the activities of the night, it was thought that the posse had carried out his intention of seeking refuge in the Hickory hills, and that he was supported there by some of his leaders. Scores of cowboys and frontiersmen, all expert gunfighters, joined the militiamen in the chase during the day and evening. They know the rugged country as well as do the Creeks. These men declared that if Crazy Snake was anywhere in the district, he would be run down before morning.

Chief's House Burned. The house of Crazy Snake near Hickory Grounds, was burned today by Indians to divert attention from the bushwhacking fight nearby, in which the Indians were killed. This was related by Deputies Jones and Frank Smith, after they reached Cheoteah tonight for more ammunition.

Deputy Flynn took Tabler to the Okmulgee jail, after passing part of the night with the militiamen. He said bloodhounds had been placed on the Snake's trail and that the chances were favorable for his capture within twenty-four hours.

Those negroes and Indians are not afraid of bluecoats, said Flynn. "They know no fear as long as they stand their ground, and it was wise generalship in scattering them. I regret to say that the situation is more critical than it appears on the surface. The visitor goes over the country and sees no excitement and concludes there is no danger, but the people who live here know better. Though the trouble has consisted principally of skirmishes, the lives of many people are continually endangered."

Several families have deserted their homes in the vicinity of Pierce on account of Indian troubles. Treacherous and fearless, the redskins hang about that region, hiding in the woods and hills, and occasionally coming into the open.

Further Details of Recent Inspection. A circular was issued by Adjutant-General E. A. Wedgewood of the Utah National Guard Monday, showing some comparisons as to how the militia compare at the present time with that of past years, as exemplified at the recent inspection. At the inspection the officers ranged at 92.33 per cent and the enlisted men at 83.38 per cent.

Major James M. Arrasmith of the Fifteenth Infantry reports that owing to the fact that the drill of the signal corps and the band is so limited in scope, he was unable to make a fair comparison between these organizations and the other branches of the service. He says that the Salt Lake battery stands at the head of the entire organization, and will be awarded the first prize. The second prize was won by company B of Ogden, and the third by company F at Mantle.

RALEIGH WANTS TO BE INVESTIGATED AGAIN

Street Supervisor Demands That Charges Made Against Him Be Sifted.

Street Supervisor Jake Raleigh is to be investigated again, this time at his own instance. Monday night he sent a communication to the city council setting out that Councilman Black had been making damaging insinuations against him as to what disposition he had made of the good timbers taken out of the old White bridge over the Jordan river at North Temple street, recently torn down, and demanding an investigation of the purported charges of Mr. Black.

Mr. Raleigh says in his communication that he is "thoroughly disgusted with the insinuations that have been passed out from time to time by the said T. R. Black," and insisted that the council take some action, asking that a committee, numbering Mr. Black as one of its members, with the mayor associated, be appointed to investigate and report back to the council.

As soon as the recorder finished reading the communication Mr. Cowburn moved that it be filed, but Mr. Ferguson insisted that an investigating committee be called for its appointment. "I see no objection," said Mr. Black. "It might be just as well, now that the matter has reached this stage, to go ahead with the investigation and find out what became of those timbers. I, for one, would like to know."

Mr. Ferguson's motion carried, and President Davis then named the mayor and Councilmen Black, Fernstrom, Reedall and Ferry a committee of five to make the investigation, but Mr. Black asked to be excused from serving and Mr. Raybould was named in his place. Raleigh's communication is as follows:

It has come to my attention that Councilman T. R. Black has requested one of the daily papers to take up and investigate what "Raleigh" had done with the timbers and material from the old White bridge over the Jordan river which was recently torn down.

Now, I would respectfully ask your honorable body to appoint a committee of which Mr. Black shall be a member, with the mayor associated, to investigate and report back to this council its findings in the matter.

I am thoroughly disgusted with the insinuations that have been passed out from time to time by the said T. R. Black, and I must insist that the council take some action in regard to the above.

Tribune Want Ads. Bell Main 5200, Ind. 360.

Does not Color the Hair Ayer's Hair Vigor is composed of Sulphur, Glycerin, Quinin, Sodium Chlorid, Capsicum, Sage, Alcohol, Water, Perfume.

MACADAM ROCK TESTS SUBJECT OF BULLETIN Matter Is Prepared by Prof. Beckstrand of the State School of Mines.

"Tests of Macadam Rock" is the title of the second bulletin gotten out by the State School of Mines of the University of Utah. The bulletin, which appeared Monday, was prepared by Professor E. H. Beckstrand, head of the department of mechanical engineering, and contains a large amount of valuable and practical information and data relative to the adaptability of various rocks found in the vicinity of Salt Lake for road-making material.

The work is done in conjunction with the city engineers, who selected a number of the samples which were tested. About 100 pounds of rock was taken from each of the localities selected, so that the results show the comparative strength and durability with considerable accuracy. The experimental work was done under the direction of Professor Beckstrand by R. L. Woolley in the testing laboratories at the university. There are four principal tests made. These are tests from abrasion, toughness, cementing quality and weathering processes.

In introducing the bulletin, Professor Beckstrand says: "The state of Utah and surrounding states are provided with rock of nearly every variety that could be desired for road-building, and most in sufficient quantities, as well as being situated accessible, so that it could be used in road-building. There are found in the foothills ledges and quarries of many kinds of rock, such as limestone, quartzite, granite, trap, sandstone, a large variety of pure igneous, as well as many other kinds of rock, surrounding every town, and accessible situated, so that every road could be improved with a minimum cost for transportation."

Copies can be secured by any one who cares for them by addressing the State School of Mines, Salt Lake City, Utah.

AMUSEMENTS IN SALT LAKE THEATERS. COLONIAL THEATRE—"Tribby" By Willard Mack and company. Matinee, 2:15. Evening, 8:15.

ORPHEUM THEATRE—Advanced "Cripple Creek" Matinee, 2:15. Evening, 8:15.

GRAND THEATRE—TONIGHT WILLARD MACK—MARY HALL. And associate players, present Paul M. Potter's celebrated story.

TRILBY. Last seen here at the Salt Lake theatre with Willard Mack at the two dollar scale of prices.

Davis HONEY-BACK-SHOES

The law requires thirty days further notice To stockholders and creditors before Dissolution can be effected.

We will make strenuous efforts during the next thirty days to turn over most of our stock.

Daily specials will be offered on stylish, new spring footwear that will surpass any shoe offers ever made in this city.

Our windows tell the tale.

THE SALT LAKE THEATRE 3 Nights Starting Thurs. April 1 MR. CHARLES B. HANFORD

PRESENTING Thursday night, Saturday matinee, "THE WINTER'S TALE." Friday night, "OTHELLO." Saturday night, "MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING."

BOTH PHONES 3569 MATINEE TODAY All Seats Reserved

ADVANCED VAUDEVILLE MISS HELEN GRANTLEY IN ISRAEL ZANGWILL'S "NEVER, NEVER LAND."

COLONIAL THEATRE Bell 424, Ind. 199. TONIGHT WILLARD MACK—MARY HALL

SALT LAKE THEATRE GEO. D. PYPHER MANAGER The Annual Show of the Press Club "The Bungle" A Paroxysm of Political Purity By Burl Armstrong Played by a Company of Genuine Reformers Under the Direction of H. L. A. Culmer Here Is the All-Star Cast R. E. Forme, the new mayor John S. Goodwin Willie Workem, the political boss John S. Critchlow L. Ed Pype, a political plumber Parley P. Jensen Chlora Workem, daughter of the boss Carl R. Williams Ida Gress, stenographer for the B. & G. Kenneth C. Kerr Fuller Pruehns, a mining prospector R. A. Read STAFF OF THE TRI-DAILY HAMMER—Canny Cuttitt, city editor of the Hammer—Burl Armstrong Carr Toone, a newspaper artist Ernest J. Evans Caesar Skupe, star reporter W. M. Hughes Harry Mann, railroad editor M. J. Brines Iodo Forme, society editor and sister of the new mayor Jay E. Johnson I. Nishel, sporting editor John F. Tobin Hasa Grouche, foreman of the press room Dr. Ned Hewlett Pessy Myste, dramatic critic F. V. FitzGerald Rev. P. Arson, a minister with a sermon L. H. Harding Verma Forme, messenger boy T. DeWitt Foster Hip Sing, a servant Dr. J. L. Davis Citizens, politicians, Mormons, Gentiles, policemen, messenger boys, newboys, etc., etc.

That Dull PAIN in Pit of your Stomach Kodol Indicates that You Need

See How the Boys Act in Directoire Gowns See Carl Williams, Kenneth Kerr and Jay Johnson in Latest Spring Creations Wednesday MATINEE AND NIGHT March 31 Matinee prices, 25c to $1.00; children, 25c. Evening prices, 25c to $1.50; stalls, $2.00 SEATS NOW SELLING

ROYAL Baking Powder Absolutely Pure

TRIBUNE WANT ADS BRING RESULTS