

report was made by the Rev. Martin Thomas of Logan.

Report on Homes.

The report of the Deaconess' homes in the Utah mission was given by Miss E. C. Robinson, superintendent of the Deaconess' homes in Salt Lake. It showed a great work accomplished the past year.

All of the reports were adopted by the conference and ordered recorded in the minutes. An important resolution recommended by the committee on federation, was adopted with some amendments. It provides the union of the Methodist with other Christian denominations in Utah in their work in the state. It was urged because of the weakness of the various denominations in some places and the advisability of combining forces in the common cause of Christianity. It was strongly advocated by the Rev. H. J. Talbot of Salt Lake, superintendent of the Salt Lake mission.

Morning Session.

In the morning session of the conference, Park City, Provo and Logan were suggested as the next places to meet. A committee was appointed to decide upon the place some time during the year. This committee, appointed by Bishop Berry, is composed of the Rev. E. W. Moore, Ogden, H. J. Hansen, Salt Lake, and the Rev. D. W. Crane, Salt Lake.

The Rev. D. E. Carter of Milford, statistical secretary, gave his report, which showed a membership of 1469 Methodists in Utah; 2695 in Sunday schools; collections for benevolences, $2705; for pastor's salaries, $10,324. The treasurer's report, given by the Rev. D. W. Crane, statistically duplicated that of the statistical secretary.

The Rev. C. L. Anderson of Beaver, the Rev. D. E. Carter of Milford and the Rev. E. C. Moore of Provo were passed as undergraduates. A request was made of the upper Iowa conference that the Rev. H. W. Driver be ordained a deacon.

The conference board of home mission and church extension was appointed as follows: The Rev. F. B. Short, the Rev. D. W. Crane, the Rev. H. J. Hansen, A. Tracey, the Rev. H. J. Talbot, George S. Goodwin, U. S. H. Key, all of Salt Lake, and the Rev. E. E. Mork of Mt. Pleasant.

ASSIGNMENTS WILL BE MADE SUNDAY EVENING

The appointment of ministers to their work for the coming year will be made by the Methodist mission at its closing session at the First Methodist church this evening. The appointments have been arranged by the bishop and his cabinet of presiding elders during the session of the mission, which has been in session since Thursday. They have been kept strictly secret, however, and will not be made known until this evening.

Speculation is busy, however, and many guesses are being made as to the placing of the preachers for the coming year. It is practically certain that the Rev. D. W. Crane will be sent to the Third church of this city, to succeed the Rev. D. M. Helmick, who has been transferred to other work.

Dr. Crane has just resumed work in the Utah mission after a several years' absence as missionary in the Hawaiian islands. He came here at the opening of the mission from Los Angeles, where he has been since returning from his mission field. Dr. Crane first went to Hawaii in 1905. He came to Utah in 1908 and served the Methodist church at Ogden for one year and then returned to the islands, where he remained until going to Los Angeles.

No other changes are anticipated in the Salt Lake churches. The Rev. E. B. Short, pastor of the First Methodist church, is popular and wants to remain here. The same is true of the Rev. H. J. Hansen of the Waterloo church, and the Rev. H. M. Craven of the Liberty Park church.

Beaver, which has the distinction of having the largest Methodist school in the state of Utah under its charge, will have a change of ministers. The Rev. C. L. Anderson, who has served there for the past three years as pastor and principal of the school, will be sent to another field and the Rev. Ray L. Clark, recently graduated from the University of Denver, will supply his place. Miss Edith Marion Sherman will return to the school as teacher, after a year's sick leave.

The Rev. E. E. Gilpin, who has been at Bingham Canyon as pastor, will go to the coast and this church will have to be assigned a new minister.

BANQUET IS SERVED AT LIBERTY PARK CHURCH

A banquet was served at the Liberty Park Methodist church Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, in honor of Bishop and Mrs. Joseph F. Berry of Buffalo, N. Y., who are attending the conference of the Utah Methodist mission. The banquet was given by the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

The tables were arranged in the basement of the church, which was prettily decorated in ferns and gold. Two long tables were placed along the sides of the room, with two small ones at the end of each. Two tables were also placed in the center of the room. The tables were decorated in crimson gladioli, placed in tall vases. The place cards were hand-painted in violets and bore the inscription: "Bishop's Banquet, Liberty Park M. E. Church, August 28, 1909, 6 p. m." Covers were laid for 100 guests. The menu was elaborate and daintily served.

Following the banquet, a number of bright toasts were given, which were purely impromptu. Dr. H. J. Talbot of

Vital Strength

Comes from proper food. If you want to be ready for opportunities, food that is quickly absorbed by the blood and stored up in the brain, nerves and muscles as vital energy, must be made a part of your regular routine.

Suppose you try GRAPE-NUTS with cream for breakfast. Eat slowly and note the comfortable feeling of vitality that "stays with you" till noon. "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

this city acted as toastmaster. The first toast was "Experience in a Mining Camp," responded to by the Rev. Samuel Allison of Eureka. He told some amusing stories of mining camp life.

The Rev. Hanson P. Nichols of Price responded to "The Programme Educational." Mr. Nichols said in part: "I can say with Peter, 'silver and gold I have none, but such as I have I give unto thee.' The Methodists have little silver and gold to give, but we can give something in education, which develops character and enables the one who receives it to make silver and gold."

"Recollections of Early Days" was responded to by the Rev. Henry W. Park of Falls City, Ida., formerly of this city. He said that he remembered helping to organize the first Sunday school at Liberty park. The first meetings were out of doors and later in a tent. The Liberty park people, he said, were noted for giving good gifts. He spoke feelingly because a former member of the church was now the head of his home.

Dr. Wherry of this city gave "A Professional Man's View of Church Work." It was a bright and practical talk. "The Spirit of Mission Work" was handled by Miss Josephine Kelloff of Provo. Only that which is done in the spirit of love of any value, according to Miss Kelloff, she quoted from "The Vision of Sir Launfal," and said that the lesson he learned in his search for the Holy Grail was one which all mission workers had to learn.

The programme closed with an excellent talk by Bishop Berry on "What of the Future?" He reviewed the work of the mission, pronounced it good and made optimistic predictions for the future. He strongly advocated the federation idea adopted by the conference of combining with other denominations in the religious work in Utah. He said that denominational lines are fading but that the cause of Christianity was broader than any church organization and should come first. He exhorted the Utah Methodists to carry on their work in the name and spirit of Christ. A vote of thanks was extended to the Liberty Park church for the entertainment. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. E. E. Mork of Pleasant Grove.

Bishop Berry will leave Monday morning for Glenwood Springs, Colo. to visit his brother, and will go from there to Pueblo, to hold the Colorado conference, which will open Wednesday. Mrs. Berry will accompany him.

OHIO SURVIVORS' AWFUL EXPERIENCE

a resolute seaman, kept them off. The boats were launched with difficulty. Boat load after boat load was sent away to the beach, the women and children going first, while some of the men took life belts and swam to shore.

Meanwhile Operator Eccles had been sending calls for assistance into the night. Ketchikan got them, but it was through staying at his post as long as possible that Eccles lost his life. The last boat to leave the ship was overcrowded and twenty men had to swim. Eccles and two freight clerks jumped overboard and the clerks were picked up by a lifeboat. Eccles was struck on the head by wreckage and drowned, but his body was recovered and taken ashore.

Darkness Adds to Horror.

The dynamo kept working until half of the passengers had been transferred and then electric lights died away and darkness added to the horror of the situation. Blue flames were seen and by their aid the pallid faces of the passengers huddled on the rocks could be seen from the ship.

The nearest settlement was at Swanson Bay, twenty miles away, and it was decided to send a boat in that direction. Second Officer Stewart got a crew together and manned one of the boats and set off at top speed. They covered the distance under adverse conditions in three hours. At Swanson Bay they found the New England fishing company's steamer Kingfisher, Captain Holmstrom.

Anchor was hoisted at once and under full steam the fishing vessel set off for Carter Bay, which was reached at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. In 45 minutes every one of the passengers and crew, with the exception of Captain Johnson, the mate, chief engineer and boatswain, those along the strand by the wreck, was transferred to the Kingfisher.

Hospitable Fishermen. The fishermen gave the refugees warm clothing and their torn rags were dried out in the engine room. The Kingfisher made the run to Swanson Bay in one hour and forty-five minutes. By this time the Rupert City was hurrying to the scene and the 131 people were transferred to her and brought to Vancouver. The Humboldt took twenty-two of the passengers who wished to continue their journey north.

The known dead are: Operator George C. Eccles, whose body was brought here on the Rupert City; Purser Frederick Steyens, Quartermaster Alford E. Anderson, a soldier and a steamer passenger.

Anderson lost his life in an attempt to rescue the soldier, who was bound for the United States Alaskan posts. Anderson went to the man's aid and was trying to get him out, for the door had jammed after the collision. Anderson was seen to take an axe and smash at the door and as he disappeared after that there is little doubt that he sacrificed his life.

Woman Tells Story. "I never saw a steamer's smoke with greater joy than when the little Kingfisher came in sight," said Mrs. C. D. Murane of Tacoma, who with her three little sons was among the rescued. "For five hours we sat on those awful rocks watching the pouring rain, and it was the absence of light as much as anything that made it seem so terrible. When the Kingfisher came into the bay I nearly cried, for in a minute the bay was full of dories and those good men were looking after my little ones. They could not do enough for us, and although we wanted to give them some sort of testimonial the men would not take a penny from us. Every Jack the cook who was so terribly overworked, would not take a penny."

Mrs. Ira P. Ramsey of Chicago stated that there seemed to be an absence of life among the trees. "The officers worked hard, but the men did not seem to know what to do. If they had only got those boats in the water as fast as the fishermen threw their dories over the promenade deck of the Humboldt. He was pointed out by people tenderly surrounded by people tenderly surrounding their thanks through him to the Kingfisher."

The Ohio will probably become a total wreck, for she had more than forty earloads of rails among her cargo, and with the enormous load tipped in her hull the crew believes there is little chance of raising her.

CHURCH APPOINTED SECTION DIRECTOR

Efficient Employee of Local Weather Bureau to Leave the City.

Verne H. Church, the popular and efficient first assistant in the local weather bureau section, who was recently appointed section editor of the Tenth climatological district, has been still further honored by receiving from headquarters at Washington the appointment as section director for the state of Indiana, with his main office in Indianapolis. The appointment, which is one of the largest and most sought after in the entire national department of this branch of civil service work, came entirely unexpectedly to Mr. Church, who appreciates very much the compliment paid to his ability and standing in the service. Mr. Church does not know just when he will leave for Indianapolis or who his successor in Salt Lake will be.

Some idea of the size and importance of the Indiana bureau may be gained from the fact that there are sixty stations in the state, over which Mr. Church will have supervision, a position relatively similar to that held by R. J. Hyatt in Utah. Mr. Church will have five men under him at his new station. There are only five weather stations in the country larger than the one at Indianapolis, and Mr. Church feels truly complimented by the appointment owing to the fact that he has been in the service but eight years.

Mr. Church received his first appointment in the service from his native state, Michigan, and was sent as assistant director to the station at Columbia, S. C. From there he went as assistant director to Toledo, O., and has served in like capacity at Chicago, Ill., Cheyenne, Wyo., and in Salt Lake, having come to this city two years ago.

Mr. Church begins leaving Salt Lake, having made many warm friends here and being enamored with the city, its people and its desirability as a place in which to live. However, the new position offered him will in all probability bring him a raise in salary, and will be a stepping-stone to still more desirable positions in the service.

Mr. Church's many friends, while pleased to learn of his advancement, will regret to see him leave Salt Lake.

B., University of Wooster, Ohio, domestic art, Latin and German; Mand Williams, B. A., University of Utah, instrumental music, physical culture and English; Lorenzo W. Clark, supervisor of music.

DELEGATE JOHN M. HAYS TO LEAVE CITY MONDAY

John M. Hays, delegate from Salt Lake, lodge, No. 83, Brotherhood of Railroad Carmen, to the national convention of railroad carmen, to be held in Atlanta, Ga., on September 14, will leave Monday, accompanied by his family, for the convention city. Mr. Hays and family will spend a month in the south before returning home.

Mr. Hays is proud of the record made by the local organization of carmen, and states that never yet have any difficulties arisen which have not been satisfactorily adjusted by the local association, without reference to the national brotherhood. Mr. Hays says that it has always been the policy of the local members to handle all disputes and differences in a diplomatic and peaceable manner, and that the loss of feeling accordingly exists between the employer and employees.

Secretary Wilson is on his way to the Seattle fair.

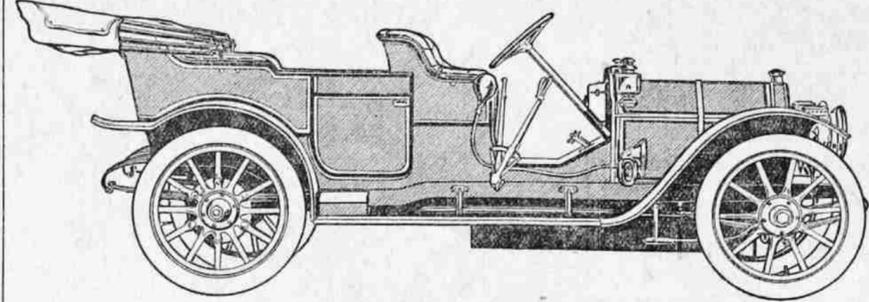

It is possible that Mr. Wilson may visit Salt Lake City. He has not been here for a number of years.
