PREMIUMS AT FAIR WILL BE INCREASED

Number of Specials to Be Added to List Heretofore Announced.

On recommendation of C. G. Adney of Brigham City, supervisor of cattle, the state fair association, at its regular meeting last night, decided upon a general increase of premiums and prizes for Jersey-bred cattle entered at this year's fair.

In addition to premiums already announced, there will be special premiums for Junior Jersey bulls, junior heifers and milk cows. Silver cups will be awarded in the champion class for champion bull, champion female, champion aged heifer and champion young heifer. Special premiums will be given for the four best offspring from one sire and the two best from one dam. These will be in the sweep-stake class.

Eight supervisors of the various departments of the fair were present at the meeting and reported excellent progress in their respective departments.

W. J. Halloran and Herbert S. Auerbach, representing a committee of business men, waited upon the fair association last night. The electric carnival to be held October 5 to celebrate the completion of the "White Way" lighting system on Third South street, to be included in the regular fair program. The request was taken under advisement.

George S. Ensign, secretary of the association, reported that he had secured the services of Hugh Van Pelt, conceded to be one of the most expert judges of dairy cattle in America, to act in that capacity during the state fair.

District Attorney Whitman looks upon the confession of "Dago Frank" as of the utmost importance. It brings the actual commission of the murder home to certain named individuals and corroborates the confessions of "Jack" Rose and "Friday" Washburn.

Following fast on the confession of Cirofeli, though not directly connected with the murder, he has been suspected.

PRESIDENT IS DULY NOTIFIED BY ROOT

than a mere expression of choice between party leaders representing the same ideas. You have been nominated because you stand prominently for certain fixed and essential principles which the Republican party maintains. You believe in the rule of law rather than the rule of men. You realize that the only safety for nations, as for individuals, is to establish and abide by declared principles of action.

Rule of Right. "You are in sympathy with the great practical rules of right conduct that the American people have set up for their own guidance and self-restraint in the limitations of the constitution—limitations upon governmental and official power essential to the preservation of liberty and justice. You know that to sweep away these wise rules of self-restraint would not be progress, but decadence. You know that the great declaration of principle in our constitution can not be made an effectual guide to conduct in any other way than by judicial judgment upon attempts to violate them; and you maintain the independence, dignity and authority of the courts of the United States. You are for progress along all the lines of national development, but for progress which still preserves the good we already have and holds fast to those essential elements of American institutions which have made our country prosperous and great and free.

"In respect of all these things our country is threatened from many sides. It is your high privilege to be the standard-bearer for the cause in which you believe; and that cause of peace and justice and liberty the millions of your countrymen who believe as you do will stand with you and the great party which was born in a struggle for constitutional freedom will support you."

President Taft's formal speech of acceptance delivered to the official committee of organization headed by Senator Root defined in detail the issues of the campaign as he saw them, but he reserved the right to amplify his statement in a letter as the campaign develops.

The supreme issue that confronts the voters, the president declared, was that of the maintenance of the nation's institutions and the preservation of the constitution, threatened, he said, on the one hand by the Democratic party, and on the other by those Republicans who had left the party to try their fortunes in the new one.

Next in importance, Mr. Taft placed the tariff. In the proposals of the Democrats for reductions in the present schedules, he said, lay danger of business depression and hard times. The Republican principle of revision only where scientific investigation shows it necessary, marked the straight road to continued prosperity and commercial peace.

In discussing the tariff, the president said that it was untrue that to its door could be traced the high cost of living, and pointed out that conditions of living were alike over the world.

As an issue only less important than the tariff, the president placed the regulation of trusts. He said the Sherman law had been enforced with success.

NEW DIRECTORY OUT; GIVES 59,936 NAMES

Credits Salt Lake City and Environs With Population of 119,916.

It would appear at first glance, from the size of the 1912 directory for Salt Lake City, issued yesterday by L. L. Polk & Co., that this city had shrunk in population, but it is only that the volume has made smaller and more convenient to handle. The 1911 directory was rather bulky and had the company not used a condensed style of type in this year's volume, it would have been as large as an unabridged dictionary.

The statistics set forth in the new volume show an increase of 737 names in the past five years. The directory includes 59,936 names, an increase of 206 over the 1911 directory. The computation of the Polk company gives the population of Salt Lake City, including Murray and other suburban towns, as 119,916. In the 1911 directory 123 apartment houses are listed as against 105 in 1911.

But two individual names are listed under the letter X, but one of these, that of X. N. Xanthopoulos, is also the longest in the entire volume. The greatest number of names are listed under the letter S, there being 604 under that heading. Joseph E. Caine, secretary of the Commercial club, is the author of an interesting article in detail, which concludes with the year's progress in the affairs of Salt Lake.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

AMUSEMENTS. About one-half of the new bill at the Empress is devoted to music, vocal and instrumental, but the rest of it is sufficiently replete with comedy, juggling and dancing to please those who prefer a diversified type of vaudeville. The eight Saxons, in their musical dancing act entitled "The Transparent Dressing Room," are one of the hits of the bill. A feature of their act is a dance in which a light comes in for some novel use by the artistically costumed dancers.

Yesterday afternoon's crush at the Orpheum again testified to the popularity of Willard Mack and his associate players, who this week are presenting that romantic drama of the eighteenth century, which opens Sunday night. The play selected is Israel Zangwill's masterpiece, "The Melting Pot," which will be seen in Salt Lake for the first time at the Orpheum next week.
